GREATNESS OF AMERICA

Pastor Schenck Finds Patriotic Hope in an Aroused National Conscience.

AWAKE TO THE RIGHTS

Encouraging Sign in Overthrow of Bosses—Distinctly a Christian Nation.

National optimism was the theme of an Independence Day sermon preached last night by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, at Trinity Reformed church. Taking his text from Romans 8:24, "We are saved by hope," Dr. Schenck said, in part:

"Nations are saved by hope, not by pessimism; saved by the eyes that see the things worth striving for before they come into the possession of the people. Hope, however, must be intelligent; it must rest upon something. I will give you four or five reasons for the hope of a patriotic American optimist.

"Take the Providential history of this land from the beginning; the handwriting of the Lord is on every page. Consider its opportune discovery, its settlement by people having the grace, the culture, the religion, the tendencies that fitted them for the creation of this nation. Take the development of national life along various lines; growth and advancement in everything that makes nations strong and great. The conclusion seems irresistible that God has been with us in the past; may we not confidently believe that he will be our covenant-keeping God in the days to come?

"Another instance is the way in which the great crises of the country have been met. He showed Himself to be our keeper and our God in those times. Instances abound, but take the Civil War for the one great example. He carried us through and over that crisis, and we see now how the Almighty intervened and interposed all through the struggle to keep the country one and indivisible, as the fathers had planned.

"Consider, again, the way in which the people rise to opportunity. The people of this country have a remarkable capacity for government, a capacity for solving new problems. Consider how we go on from time to time, safely along new and untried lines, thus showing God's hand is with us.

"Another reason for our patriotic hope is the aroused national conscience. That conscience is alive. It sometimes seems to be slumbering and we appear indifferent to vice, yet evidences abound that the national conscience can be aroused, and when a nation has a sense of right and wrong there is hope for that nation. The people have indicated the arousing of their conscience in the insurance troubles and other things during the past year. I believe that many of those connected with the insurance frauds were doing wrong unconsciously, that the system grew up so gradually and so strongly they did not realize the wrongs they were committing. The fact that the people were alive to the right and the wrong of the matter, and inflicted merited castigation was an inspiring evidence of the activity of the national conscience.

"Another reason for the hope in the future of this land of ours is that we are alive to the perils ahead. The patriotic optimist sees the dangers before the county. The fact that you and I are alive to our perils as a nation is a good sign. Take one or two instances of this, the peril of immigration, for example. The incoming ships are flooding us with peoples unlike those that came five, ten years ago—strange peoples, coming from lands from whence we do not want immigrants. They come here merely to earn higher wage than they can get at home, with no intention of remaining to help build up the land. But the peril is being met; we are not slumbering, and I firmly believe that this problem, like others in the past, will be solved.

"Again, consider how the people are awakening to their rights of government and of ruling. How they have overthrown political bosses, and made the term "boss' one of ignominy and disrepute. That is one of the most encouraging signs.

"There is reason for the belief in the future of our nation in the conviction that the God is our God still. We believe in Almighty God; this is not an atheistic or an infidel nation; it is a Christian nation. Let us not hang our heads. There are bad things in our sight, but they are balanced and more than balanced, by the good signs before us. We have not fallen from grace as a people. We believe in God and in the future of our beloved land."

Kerro Knox, of Williams College, has returned to his home on Rockview avenue, accompanied by a college friend.

FIRE IN A CLOSET CAUSES $1,000 DAMAGE

IN EXCITEMENT BOROUCHITE CALLS UP CITY DEPARTMENT FOR AID.

From a cause as yet not ascertained, fire broke out about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in the closet of a rear bedroom at the home of Daniel Hulick, 114 Grove street. The flames gave the firemen a stubborn fight and compelled them to use a hydrant stream causing a considerable loss by water. The total damage is placed at $1,000, half of which Mr. Hulick places on wearing apparel and personal property. It is covered by insurance.

The fire was first discovered by Mrs. Hulick and she aroused her husband who was sleeping downstairs. He made an attempt to enter the room with a pail of water but the smoke was so dense it forced him back and he essayed to call the borough department by 'phone. By mistake he called city headquarters, but in the meantime a neighbor had called the borough department.

When the apparatus arrived, volumes of thick black smoke were pouring from the upper windows and the chemical stream had little or no effect upon the seat of the trouble. Water was finally resorted to and the flames were quickly quelled but at the cost of ruined ceilings and flooded floors. The wearing apparel destroyed included all of Mr. and Mrs. Hulick's summer and winter clothing, excepting what they wore, while one pair of trousers completely consumed had contained $16 in bills.

A Mrs. Stewart, an elderly woman who makes her home with the Hulicks, was sleeping in a front bedroom when the fire was discovered and it was with difficulty that she was gotten out. She was badly frightened and all but fainted before she was taken to a neighbor's house.

Mr. Hulick cannot account for the blaze as no one had been near the closet and there was no fire of any kind in the house. He felt very grateful for the prompt response of the department and thanked the members. The house is owned by Irving VanHorne.

STATE CHAMPIONS PLAY HERE WEDNESDAY

ROEBLING TEAM TO MEET PLAINFIELD ON CRESCENT OVAL.

The crack Roebling team, of Trenton, which claims the State championship, will appear on Crescent Oval Wednesday morning, Fourth of July, for the first time in the history of local baseball. Every fan knows the strength of this team has defeated a majority of the leading semi-professional aggregations and many league clubs. The game will start promptly Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock, and this will be the lineup of the Roeblings:

Bennett, 3b; Horton, cf; Justice, 1b; O'Neill, lf; Shackleton, rf; Young, 2b; Wells, ss; McCune, c; Egner or Hart, p. In the afternoon the Plainfield team will play the Roeblings at Trenton, on the Greenwood avenue grounds, near Chambers street. The game will be called at 4 o'clock.

BABY'S ODD DEATH.

Ten-months-old Son of Italian Woman Dies In Her Arms.

Taken sick on the train due here at 5:45 o'clock yesterday morning, the ten-months-old baby of Mrs. Calocioco Saio, an Italian woman who came to this country two weeks ago, died as the mother was carrying it off the cars at the North Avenue station. The child was seized suddenly with summer complaint, and Conductor Frank Webster advised the woman to stop here for medical attention.

Mrs. Saio was on her way to join her husband at Clearfield, Pa. She was accompanied by another young child, and a nephew. After County Physician Westcott had examined the body and granted a permit for its removal, General Manager Besler, of the railroad, who was telephoned in behalf of the bereaved and penniless mother, gave her a pass for the infant's body. She had no ticket for it in the first place, and a dead body calls for two fares.

Young Carrier Pigeons' Trial Fly.

Walter Arnold and Samuel Rottberg, of the West End, took four carrier pigeons to Lake Hopatcong, yesterday, for the purpose of giving them a trial fly. Though they are but three mouths old, three of the birds returned home in a short space of time, but the fourth has not yet appeared.

WESTFIELD VERY EASY

Daab's Men Didn't Have to Work to Win the Game.

ERRORS GIVE THEM RUN

And the Visitors Couldn't Get Any Themselves—Last Appearance of the Limping Invaders on the Local Field.

Westfield played to form Saturday afternoon, and consequently lost. Loose fielding at critical junctures opened the gates for Plainfield runners with painful regularity, and the home team had no trouble at all to can the game. Score, 6 to 0.

Levy pitched a passably good game, but he started wild, and got no support, neither then nor after he steadied down. Seery caught snappily and threw to bases like a scientifically constructed machine, and that completes the tale of Westfield's virtues in the field.

Plainfield played a workmanlike game. Snow, in Curley's place at short, handled himself well. He fumbled two rollers, but they were the sort that are always apt to happen; he showed his form by two brilliant scoops of ducking drives. Goodman made two fine running catches of flies back of second. Dan Connolly was welcomed back to the old uniform, in Bertwhistle's place in left. He had nothing to do in the field, but he made two hits, and handled himself like the dependable veteran he is. Smith pitched a tight game all through. The visitors got only two hits, and never looked dangerous at the bat. They got a man as far as third only once, with two out at that; and the next man peacefully flied to center.

Plainfield scored three in the first on Connolly's saunter, Goodman's sacrifice, Henriques' hit by ball, Campbell's woozy chuck of Reardon's punky little bounder that let in Dan and Frank, and a wild pitch.

In the third Goodman dumped one to advance Connolly, and Levy winged it over second. Connolly was caught a few minutes later between home and third on an attempt to steal, but Frank stole second and loped in on Henriques' welt to center. Two more in the sixth, on Leonard's infield hit, Heffron's hit to right, a wild pitch to second and McGee's foozle of Smith's tap.

After the seance, Manager Daab made the welcome announcement that Westfield was marked "23" for the rest of the season. This was the best thing connected with the game.

A speed of one mile in five minutes where such street or highway passes through the built up portions of a city, town, township, borough or village where the houses are an average of less than one hundred feet apart.

The number of machines registered up to last week were 8,418. The total number of drivers licensed to run motor vehicles up to that time was 4,085, and the number of motor cycles registered was 253. These figures are unofficial.

Up to this morning, the number of autoists registered by Commissioners J. L. Martin and George MacIntyre was 275. There are seven such places for registration in the State. They have no particular territory, being purely to license all autoists who apply.

MISS KUENLEN BURIED.

Three Ministers Officiate at Services Held in Her Mothers Home.

The funeral services of Miss Helen Kuenlen, who disappeared from her home on Saturday, April 21, and whose body was found in the North river, New York, on June 22, were held at the late home in West Front street, Saturday afternoon. There was a very large attendance of relatives and friends, including many young people who had known Miss Kuenlen for a long time. A large and beautiful display of floral tributes completely covered the casket.

The services were in charge of Rev. Charles H. Schneegas, pastor of the German Reformed church, assisted by Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, where Miss Kuenlen attended Sunday school and frequently the church services. Both pastors spoke words in praise of the young woman, referring to her exemplary Christian life. Words of comfort were also spoken to the bereaved mother.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, a neighbor and friend, pronounced the benediction at the close of the service. The pall-bearers were Messrs. F. S. McCarthy, H. D. Williams, A. K. Smith, Ulick, Revling and Trust.

The interment was made in the family plot at Bound Brook.

SERMON TO JR. O. U. A. M

Rev. E. E. Roberson Makes Address on the Country, Public School and the Church.

DEFENDS BIBLE'S USE

Preacher Counsels Juniors Not To Allow Word of God To Be Removed From the Schools.

The members of Franklin, Somerset, Benevolent and Plainfield Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., of this city, together with delegations from the Daughters of America and Daughters of Liberty, and Pioneer Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of Bound Brook, of which Rev. E. E. Roberson is a member, attended divine services at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, last night, when Mr. Roberson preached a patriotic sermon. It was upon the pastor's invitation that the members of the lodges turned out, it being the custom on the Sunday night before Fourth of July to attend such a service.

The members of the church decorated the edifice appropriately for the occasion, there being a display of the Red, White and Blue in bunting, also the emblem, the motto, "Virtue, Liberty and Patriotism," and the word "Welcome," arranged above the pulpit platform. The seating capacity of the little church was tested to the limit, many persons being obliged to stand throughout the service.

The chorus choir of eighteen voices gave a programme of sacred music, including an anthem, "Rock of Ages," "America," "Battle Song of Freedom," while Miss Martin sang a soprano solo.

By way of introduction Mr. Roberson said that it was the custom of the Juniors to attend a Thanksgiving service every year as well as a service appropriate to Independence Day, and he extended a hearty welcome to the visiting members. The pastor then spoke enthusiastically and earnestly on the topic, "The Country, the Public School and the Church."

He referred to the grand and glorious country growing steadily and becoming more powerful every year, and pictured the probable effects on the country without churches and Christianity, which he said would bring a most deplorable condition of affairs that even the man of the world would not enjoy. Mr. Roberson spoke especially of repeated attempts to remove the Bible from the public schools and the effect that would result should such an effort be successful. He urged that every such movement be deefated and he counseled the Juniors to do all in their power to keep the Word of God in the schools.

In conclusion Mr. Roberson spoke of the principles of the order, "Virtue, Liberty and Patriotism," and briefly described the essential parts of each pointing out the good that is to be found in living up to them.

JUSTICE CLARK GETS 'PLAINS RECORDERSHIP.

His Agreement to Accept Salary of $50 a Year Ends the Deadlock.

The deadlock which has existed between Justice of the Peace Joseph Clark, of Scotch Plains, and the Fanwood township committee, over the appointment of recorder, was ended Friday night when the office was conferred upon the justice at a salary of $50 a year. The amount to be received by him is what caused the dispute, Clark being the only eligible candidate for the place but declining to do the work for less than $100 per annum. As this was the total police appropriation for the township, the committee couldn't see its way clear to accept his terms and so no appointment was made. When he cut his price in half, he got the place, the appointment being confirmed at a meeting held Friday night.

The new recorder is the only man in the township who could take the bench because of the new State law which makes it compulsory for the office to be filled by a justice of the peace and he held a monopoly on the honor.

Police were again put on duty at the 'Plains Saturday night and yesterday and will continue to look out for the Plainfield excursionsits each week. If the Bishops' bill fails to stop the piligrimages there is a possibility that the justice will make his yearly salary in a month.

Thought Shooting Threatened.

Told that he had purchased a revolver and was making threats to shoot holes in Michael Higgins, the police arrested Robert Evans Saturday evening. Evans acknowledged in court this morning that he had the revolver and some cartridges, but explained that they were only for target practice. Sentence was suspended.

ROLAND C. TREADWELL DIES FROM HEART TROUBLE

EXPIRED SUDDENLY IN BED EARLY YESTERDAY MORNING.

Roland C. Treadwell, Sr., a well-known local resident, died suddenly in bed at his home on First place at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. He had been a sufferer for many years with heart trouble and because of acute attacks recently his son, Roland with him. The latter was aroused at 3 o'clock yesterday morning by his father moving about uneasily and breathing deeply. He awakened him and he explained that he had had a nightmare and that it had brought on increased heart action. It passed over for the time being but at 4 o'clock the attack returned and he died before a physician could reach him.

Mr. Treadwell was fifty-six years old and was formerly in the printing business in New York but lately had been employed as a bookkeeper. He came to Plainfield from Scotch Plains where he had been an estimable citizen and a devoted worker in the Baptist church. He became affiliated with the Park Avenpe Baptist church and was untiring in his efforts to advance its interests. On returning from business Saturday he went to the church to investigate the damage that had been done to the steeple by lightning Friday night and also to make arrangements for Sunday's decorations.

As a business man he was considered one of the most conscientious in the city and his perfect faith in his associates proved detrimental to his own interests. He was always willing to lend a helping hand and his generosity knew no limit. Beyond his home, his church and his daily occupation he had no great interests and was not known in an official way. He was a member of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, and its upper branch, the Loyal Association.

Mr. Treadwell leaves a widow, one son and a daughter. The funeral will be held from his late home tomorrow afternoon at 3:30.

PEACE ON EARTH THEME OF PASTOR

REV. DR. PARSONS SPEAKS OF FELLOWSHIP BETWEEN ENGLAND AND AMERICA

Taking as his text, "Peace on Earth," Rev. Dr. C. W. Parsons delivered an absorbing sermon in Grace M. E. church, last night, appropriate to the nearing national holiday. It was heard and appreciated by a large congregation.

In the course of his remarks Dr Parsons asserted that the world's hope is in amity of America with England, that cordial relations must of a necessiay exist between the two. Their interests are vitally one and the continuance of good fellowship means the future peace of the world.

As an instance of what has transpired between the two nations in the past, Dr. Parsons said that during the Civil War England was anxious for America to be divided as then it would be that much weaker and she could possibly gain the upper hand. Queen Victoria, however, was in sympathy with the North and prevented any assistance being held out to the Southerners. When Lincoln was assassinated she sent a friendly letter to the widow and when Garfield met the same fate a beautiful wreath came from England's sovereign.

Thrown by Express Train.

A well dressed young man who attempted to board a B. & O. express at the North Avenue station at 1:50 yesterday afternoon, was thrown about twenty-five feet and narrowly escaped being killed. The train was not scheduled to stop but slowed up before passing Park avenue and the would-be passenger caught hold of the last car. He was jerked from his feet and flung with enough force to leave him stunned for several minutes. He refused to give his name to the railroad attaches who picked him up.

Violated Junk Ordinance.

Morris Berlowitz, of West East street, was arraigned in Court this morning, charged with violating the junk ordinance. Sentence was suspended on his agreement to suspend business.

His First Communion.

Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, pastor, held his first communion service at Marconnier chapel, yesterday afternoon at 4:15 oclock. One new member was received by letter.

Mrs. H. Carr and Mrs. Gussible, of Brooklyn, have returned home after a visit with their brother, Frank Neidig, of Manning avenue.

FIRMS CANNOT RECOVER

Co-Partnerships Unlawful When Proper Statement is Not Filed of Record.

NEW LAW IN EFFECT

Important Communication From C. A. Marsh On Act Regulating Use of Business Names.

Business men holding connection with a concern advertised as a firm or partnership are liable to indictment unless a sworn statement of the nature of the business and the full names and residences of all the partners has been filed with County Clerk James C. Calvert, the new law having gone into effect yesterday. Moreover they are powerless to compel payment for goods sold and delivered or for services rendered so long as they fail to conform with the provisions of the statute.

An exposition of the statute and its effect will be found in the following communication from Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, president of the Union County Bar Association and one of the foremost lawyers of New Jersey:

"Editor The Daily Press:

"The attention of business men should be called to a law which goes into effect to-day (July 1st) which is likely to render some of them subject to indictment for misdemeanor, besides imperiling their ability to collect bills. Ignorance of the law will afford no defense, and, strange as it may seem, no criminal intent is necessary to constitute the offense.

"The statute referred to is Chapter 240 of the laws of 1906, entitled, 'An Act to regulate the use of business names.' The first section provides that any person using the designation 'and company' or '& Co.' as a part of the firm or partnership name shall file in the county clerk's office a sworn statement of the nature of the business and the full names and residences of all the partners.

"The second section prohibits the carrying on of any business under any assumed name or under any designation, name or style, corporate or otherwise, other than the real names of those conducting the business, unless such person or persons shall file in the county clerk's office a sworn statement setting forth the name in question, the full name or names and post office address or addresses of the person or persons conducting the business.

"The third section (if a blunder in the act reading 'section three' when 'section two' was meant, be disregarded) requires persons now conducting business under any assumed name, or any such designation as is referred to in section two, to file such certificate within thirty days from July 1st inst., and persons hereafter conducting business as aforesaid, to file such certificate before commencing such business.

"Section 4 relates to the county clerk's duties.

"Section 5 exempts corporations from the provisions of the act, and declares that it shall not be 'deemed or construed to prevent the lawful use of a partnership name or designation, provided that such partnership name or designation shall include the true or real names of all the members of such partnership.

"Section 6 makes any failure to comply with its provisions, as misdemeanor.

"The seventh and last section is a general repealer, and directs that the act take effect July 1, 1906.

"Misdemeanors are punishable by fine of not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment, with or without hard labor, as the court may direct, for any term not exceeding three years, or both.

"Perhaps two or three concrete illustrations will make clearer the meaning of this act.

"Jones & Co. formerly consisted of John Jones and his son, William. The father died. The son continues the business under the old name of Jones & Co.

"John and William Robinson are in business under the firm name of Robinson Bros.

"John Smith carries on the automobile business under the name 'Smith's Garage.'

"The persons so carrying on business will be liable to indictment unless they respectively file the requisite certificates on or before July 31st, 1906.

"One result flowing from this statute, but not stated therein, will be regarded by many as more serious than liability to indictment, namely, that as to goods sold or services rendered in contravention of the statute, there is no way of compelling payment, inasmuch as there can be no recovery in a court of justice for things done in violation of the criminal law.

"You may think it worth while to publish the substance of the foregoing for the benefit of Plainfield business men. Craig Marsh."

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The respectable patrons of the trolley company who are obliged to use the late cars Saturday night are obliged to witness some disgusting scenes. Saturday night the 11 o'clock car at Plainfield carried four drunks who passed a quart bottle of Jersey tonic around repeatedly. Not satisfied with this they began to swear. The conductor made no effort to stop the nuisance until the men began quarreling and it looked as though some glass might be broken. Then he interfered.

With the game 6 to 0 in favor of the home team in the sixth inning, the 'Plains team was defeated Saturday afternoon by the Raritans, of Perth Amboy, by the score of 8 to 7. The visitors could do nothing with Johnston's delivery until their half of the seventh, when they began to find him and landed on the ball for hits of all kinds from singles to home runs. The team went up in the air at the same time and before the hoodoo could be passed the game was lost.

The local ball team plays the Olympic F. C. team, of Elizabeth, on the morning of the Fourth at 10:30. In the afternoon the team plays the second game with the benedicts. The latter game will probably be witnessed by a large crowd as the benedicts have plenty of friends who will be on hand and help down the single men.

—The July meeting of the Common Council will be held tonight.

Don't forget the monthly meeting of the Good Government Club to be held tonight. Final arrangements for the picnic will be made. It is earnestly requested that every member be present.

Phil. Smith has pitched all the games for the Plainfield team and won every game—suffering no defeat and striking out 110. Where is the pitcher that can beat that record?

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

MOVING TIME IS HERE.

Many people who have been dissatisfied with their apartments during the past winter would like to move to better themselves, but cannot afford to.

Why not come in and talk with us? If you owe a little back rent or grocery bill or the doctor or coal man, or you need money for rent in advance, it might possibly be an advantage to get a small loan, say $10, $25 or possibly $50, of us, and then pay it back in small amounts, either weekly or monthly, to suit your convenience. We loan from $10 up—any sum—any time. The possession of household goods, piano, or horse and wagon, are sufficient evidence of your ability to pay. A postal will bring us to your door.

MAY BE A MURDER.

Hit on Head with a Brick He Dies in Hospital.

Elizabeth, July 2.—Raphael Ferrora died Saturday in the Alexian Hospital here from a blow on the head with a brick which he received yesterday morning while at work on the Port Reading coal wharves. The blow badly fractured his skull.

He was picked up unconscious and brought to the hospital here, but never regained his senses. As the matter now stands, it appears to be a homicide, but no one has yet been found by the police who will tell who hurled the missle and the case is involved in mystery.

The victim was eighteen years old, single and lived at Port Reading. The Middlesex authorities were notified today of his death.

ROBBED WHILE AT LUNCHEON.

Thief Obtains $1,000 Jewelry from Cottage at Long Branch.

Long Branch, N. J., July 2.—During luncheon yesterday a thief entered the summer home of Mrs. W. A. Bowels, in Club House Circle, Monmouth Beach, and stole diamonds and jewelry valued at nearly one thousand dollars. The discovery was made by Mrs. Bowles upon her return to her cottage.

The thief had ransacked her wardrobe and taken her jewel casket and contents. The police authorities at Monmouth Beach, Long Branch and Sea Bright were notified. Detectives belonging to Chief Layton's staff, in this city, claimed to have tracked a negro to the boat landing at Pleasure Bay, where, it is said, he boarded one of the river boats.

Had a Toe Cut Off.

Elias Terriberry, of High Bridge, a former resident of the West End and well known here, has been suffering for several weeks with a diseased bone in his foot. He has just been compelled to undergo an operation for the removal of one his toes. He is unable to use the foot, but the doctors are hopeful of rapid recovery.

IN A GIGANTIC JULY SALE.

At Prices Reduced Not Less Than Ten Per Cent. Many Worthy Pieces Are Cut One-Third.

THE GREAT JULY FURNITURE SALE WE INAUGURATE MONDAY, JULY 2nd, and will continue throughout the month, is immensely important to the people of New Jersey because it means possible savings to them of not less than $25,000. The salient facts which give the Hahne & Co. Furniture Sale such tremendous prestige are these: All the furniture involved in this sale is our regular dependable stock. Every price quoted as "Regular" is the price at which the piece has been marked—the price that will be on the original ticket as it was before the sale and as it will be after the sale. Every piece of furniture bears a green tag, on which the Special Price is marked. You can depend absolutely upon a saving of $10 on every $100 worth of furniture you buy. In many instances you will save $25.00 on the $100. Every piece of furniture in the house and all the beds and bedding are reduced during this sale, excepting only a few specialties, the prices of which are regulated by the makers. The published lists are but a fraction of the great stock on sale. New items will appear almost every day—watch the papers.

JERSEY'S APPROPRIATIONS.

Provides for Trenton, Jersey City, Elizabeth and Other Places.

Washington, July 2.—New Jersey is now to profit by the fact that one of her representatives, Senator Dryden, is a member of the Senate Public Buildings Committee.

After a hard fight Senator Dryden was able yesterday to secure the insertion by the Senate committee of an amendment giving $125,000 for the enlargement of the present building at Trenton, and the bill was so reported to the Senate in the afternoon.

The Senator was also obliged to work hard to prevent the committee from striking out some of the House items in order to let it in the amendment he desired added to the bill. It was insisted that New Jersey would be getting, with the Trenton item added, more than its just share of the total amount carried by the bill. Several House items were stricken out by the Senate committee in order to make room for additions proposed by various Senators from other States.

The bill now carries $125,000 for Trenton, $400,000 for Jersey City, $65,000 for Bridgeton, $7,000 for Perth Amboy, $50,000 additional for Elizabeth, and $5,000 for Atlantic City, or a total for New Jersey of $652,000.

On Bryan Dinner Committee.

New Haven, July 2.—"The New Haven Union," edited by Alexander Troup, a staunch friend of William J. Bryan, announces that Mr. Troup is to represent this state at the dinner to Mr. Bryan to be given by the Commercial Travellers' Anti-Trust League at Madison Square Garden, New York, on August 30. His associates on the committee will be James K. Jones, Tom L. Johnson, Bird S. Coler, Augustus Thomas, John H. O'Brien, Harry W. Walker, John S. Fitzgerald, O. H. P. Belmont, Thomas L. Feitner, F. Burton Harrison, Lewis Nixon, A. H. Eastman and Richard Croker, Jr.

Holds Up Saloon Licenses.

Rahway, July 2.—At the Board of Excise meeting last night a dozen saloon licenses came up for renewals. The raid Mayor Furber made the night before on a saloon had ruffled matters greatly. No arrests were made at the time, but the proprietor of the place last night withdrew his application for a renewal of his license. The application for Pommerehne's Irving street saloon and several others were held over, as it is claimed, it has been ascertained that many of the signers to the application were not property owners. The cases will come up for a further hearing next Thursday night.

MANY ARE HURT WHEN CAR PLOUGHS FIELD.

Staten Island Trolley Car Jumps the Tracks at Fast Speed and Crashes Through Fence.

Mrs. Susan Lapp, of White street, Tarrytown, and Robert Fisher, of Hudson street, Stapleton, were severely injured and a dozen other passengers were bruised when a Midland trolley car bound from St. George S. I., to Midland Beach left the rails on Richmond road at Berger avenue, Garretson, Saturday afternoon and, after running through a fence, ploughed into a field.

Mrs. Lapp sustained a scalp wound and her back was sprained. Fisher was cut about the head, face and arms and severely bruised. They were attended by Dr. Chase, of the S. R. Smith Infirmary, but refused to be taken to the hospital. Fisher was taken home and Mrs. Lapp was taken to the home of relatives not far away from the scene of the accident.

Harry Hullins was the motorman of the car when the accident occurred. The car was running rapidly and it jumped the track at a slight curve. Hullins explained that the brakes did not hold and that he could not slow up. When the car hit the fance the passengers were jolted about between the seats and several were thrown off.

BAPTIZED IN A BATHTUB BEFORE HE WAS HANGED.

Jersey Negro Murderer Wanted to Die a Baptist; Ceremony in the Jail Yard.

Freehold, July 2.—Edward W. Brown, the New York negro murderer, was hanged here Friday. It was two years and seventeen days since he shot and killed his former mistress, Rebecca Traynum, at Long Branch. Brown was formerly in the express business with Edward Bullups at 58 West 128th street, New York. For over a year he had lived with Rebecca Traynum at 127 West 128th street. Because of ill-treatment she left him and came to Long Branch, where she lived with Lizzie J. Hall at 75 Belmont avenue. On June 11, 1904, Brown took all the money of the firm and went to the Hall home at Long Branch. He reached there at 9:30 o'clock at night. He crept into the house without being observed and shot the Traynum woman while she was ironing. On April 18 of this year he was arrested in Chicago, where he had been conducting a restaurant business under the name of Edward Smith. He was brought to Freehold and tried and convicted May 22.

In the last week Brown became converted to the Baptist faith. Two weeks ago he dismissed the Methodist minister who had been attending him, and since that time the Rev. James Brown, of a Newark church, who lives in Freehold, and the Rev. J. A. Jordan have visited him daily. A few days ago he asked to be baptized.

The baptism was performed yesterday at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the old part of the jail. A large bathtub was used for the immersion. Brown's cell door was opened and he was allowed to walk out unmanacled for the first time since the sentence of death was passed upon him. He was clad only in a pair of overalls and a shirt. He walked to the tub between the two ministers, stepped in, and while the Rev. Mr. Brown read the baptismal service he allowed the other minister to shove him backward until he was entirely submerged.

Soon after being baptized Brown sent for Assistant Prosecutor Stokes and returned $1 the latter gave him that morning, Brown having expressed a desire to send a present to a woman friend in New York. He said he had decided not to send it; he did not want to transact any business. A little later he again sent for Mr. Stokes and gave him papers transferring a small bank account to a friend in New York. Since being incarcerated two money orders have been sent to Brown from Chicago by persons in charge of his business there, and the man in charge wrote he would sell Brown's horse and send him the money. Brown sent both money orders back and also wrote for the man to keep the horse. He said the person in charge of his business had a sick child and needed the money and he had no use for it.

HITS JURIES, BEEF TRUST AND INSURANCE FRAUDS.

Very Rev. Dean Gessner, of Elizabeth, Also Says This Is a Godless Nation.

Elizabeth, July 2.—The fortieth anuual commencement exercises of St. Patricks Parochial School, of this city, which is one of the largest schools in New Jersey, took place Thursday night at the Lyceum theatre here, which was crowded with friends and relatives of the pupils. A fine musical and literary program was rendered by the scholars. An operetta, "The Modern Cinderella," in three acts, was sung and played by a cast including dancers of forty-three characters. The Hussar drill and tableau were features of the play. The second act was "Trouble in the Garden," and the third act was the ball.

Dean Gessner made some drastic remarks about juries that are impaneled to try offenders failing to do their duty although the evidence before them is overwhelming. He said that some time ago he secured evidence to indict a saloon-keeper for Sunday selling and placed it before the grand jury. A true bill was found against the offender, but he was acquitted by a petit jury, to which he then gave a dinner in honor of the event.

Dean Gessner next rapped the Beef Trust and insurance frauds. He said that at one time this country was held up as a model of a great, glorious and God-fearing nation. In view of recent developments and scandals, however, he said, it had evidently fallen from its high estate and should now be held up to the view of other countries of the world as a godless nation.

Big Snake Dies on Train.

Morristown, July 2.—Laid out in a pine box, Peter, a thirty-two foot python, owned by Graybill & Rushmore, circus men, was buried here yesterday in the Lackawanna sand bank, near the railroad station. The snake was to be used at a carnival which opened here Thursday night. It was shipped over the Lackawanna road several days ago, according to the managers of the show, but for some reason did not arrive until Thursday. When the box containing the big snake was opened the python was dead. The circus men said the delay of the railroad company in getting the snake here was responsible for its death.

Plainfield, N. J., July 2, 1906.

Thanks to the Bishops' bill, which goes into effect on Wednesday; Scotch Plains will no longer be afflicted with excursions from Plainfield on Sundays. The thirsty pilgrims will have to find some other means of quenching their appetites for strong drink on that day for it is quite unlikely that the keepers of the resorts in the nearby village will take their chances by violating the rigorous law which goes into effect this week.

In another column will be found an important communication from Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh wherein the attention of business men is called to a statute effecting who have not already conformed to its provisions. It is well worth careful perusal.

Wouldn't the picture of a trust millionaire look pretty, framed in iron and crossed with bars of the same material?—Elizabeth Leader.

Altogether too common, Brother Drake, to be considered as possessing any special beauty.

This silence on the mayoralty is awful; neither Mr. Fisk nor Mr. Hall seemingly being willing to allow his name to be publicly announced for the nomination. Will the office go abegging?

MISS VANZANDT WEDDED.

Quiet Ceremony Makes Her the Wife of Henry Gauthier, of Newport.

Miss Jennie VanZandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Stryker VanZandt, of East Sixth street, and Henry Gauthier, of Newport, R. I., were married quietly Saturday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck at his home on West Front street. The young couple was attended by Miss Nelle VanZandt, a sister of the bride, and James Downing, of this city, a friend of the groom. The bride was attired in a travelling gown.

Directly after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Gauthier took their departure for a wedding trip that will embrace Newport and other points in Newark. On returning they will make their home in Newark, where the groom holds an excellent position in a machine shop.

GOLF ON LOCAL LINKS

Numerous Events Bring Out Large Field in Competitions.

MANY LOW SCORES

E. E. Iremonger Wins First Honors at Plainfield Country Club—Results at Park and Westfield Clubs.

The local golf courses were well filled on Saturday with enthusiastic players and in several instances remarkably low scores were made in the various competitions. While the day was almost insufferably hot this did not deter the contestants. There was a good breeze blowing across the links and made it more tolerable than elsewhere.

In the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup at the Plainfield Country Club, E. E. Iremonger won first honors with a net score of 76. Robert Abbott and W. D. Riggs were tie for second place, with a net score of 78. Abbott's playing was of the highest order, returning a gross score of 76, to which was added two strokes. Frank O. Reinhart and Fank C. Talmadge were on the course when the shower came up and they were unable to finish the eighteen holes. The scores for the Golf Committee cup were as follows:

E. E. Iremonger, 89, 13—76; Robert Abbott, 76, plus 2—78; W. D. Riggs, 93, 15—78; Hugh F. Fox, 97, 15—82; Stuart H. Patterson, 99, 13—86; James P. Murray, 101, 13—88.

In the play-off for the June cup, competition against bogie, L. A. Chase and Stuart H. Patterson were tie, both being three down to the "colonel." This will be played off on Wednesday. Robert Abbott won a leg on the semi-cratch cup with a score of 76.

An unusually large number of players were on the Park Golf Club course, Saturday afternoon, to compete for the President's and Park Golf Club cups. Alexander Gilbert, Rev. J. O. McKelvey and Charles B. Morse won points for the President's cup, while Mr. McKelvey, Mr. Gilbert and Charles A. Reed secured the points for the scratch cup. These scores were returned for the trophies:

Alexander Gilbert, 104, 18—86; Rev. J. O. McKelvey, 93, 5—88; Charles B. Morse, 108, 17—91; Leon R. Thurlow, 115, 18—97; Charles A. Reed, 105, 7—98; John L. Watson, 120, 21—99; Reuben Knox, 116, 16—100; J. B. Peirce, 125, 25—100; Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, 113, 12—101.

At the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday there were a number of events. The play for the June Handicap cup was concluded with the following result:

First Saturday—Woodward beat Tuttle, 1 up in 20 holes; Barr beat Simpson, 8 up and 6 to play; Worth beat Middleditch, 6 up and 5 to play; Townley beat Kerchner, 3 up and 2 to play; Lyons beat Howe, by default; Cruse beat Condit, by default; Bogert beat VanDyke, 7 up and 5 to play; Carroll Beat McCullum, 1 up. The first qualifying round for the Governors' Cup, sixteen lowest net scores to qualify, resulted as follows:

THE DAILY NEWSPAPER

By Elbert Hubbard, Editor of The Philistine and the Author of Little Journeys.

I know the newspaper business from cellar to cock loft. That is to say, from the big presses on the cement floors, to the place where the boys grind out copy on pine tables in an atmosphere of tobacco and profanity that is sweetened only by such frank good fellowship expressed by indirection.

I began life as a printer's devil and still have a few of that worthy's virtues. I have reported thing that never happened; written solemn, pellucid, pescud editorials by the yard about nothing; sat in the managing editor's easy chair, and I have checked the receipts from advertisements and chuckled over the balance in the bank.

I know the taste of the glue rollers, the mysteries of the waiting galleys, the slap-dash qaulity of the editorial room.

Some of the best men on earth are newspaper men—journalists are different. The newspaper man works for the paper that hires him; hates the people the owner hates; caps the paper's game and partakes of its prejudices, and wears out his life in loyal service for a management that does not give a tinker's tool for him or anybody.

The owner of the paper has no opinions on anything—no ideals—he has only a thirst, and a lust to own. What he wishes is to make money—have a big circulation, wield an influence and ride in a red devil automobile. He has certain bulldog qualities which the writing men have not, otherwise they would own the paper and he would be running a saloon. But as for honor and influence he is a bankrupt.

There may be exceptions, nothing is impossible with God.

The daily newspaper is the supreme corrupter of the life and morals of the people. It familiarizes the young with vice and crime and emphasizes everything that should be forgotten.

Not long ago the owner of the Indianapolis Star was in Washington making a plea before the senate committee in behalf of certain newspaper privileges. He argued that the daily newspaper was the educator and enlightener of the people. A member of the committee produced a copy of the Star and showed that one-third of the entire space was given to advertising pelvic diseases and men only abominations, and that four-fifths of the news items related to elopements, defalcations, seductions and unnamable crimes.

The daily newspaper the educator of the people? That senate committee should have adjourned to laugh—aye, or to weep.

The daily newspaper the educator of the people? No newspaper man ever had the effrontery to say so—only a fat and crinkle-necked proprietor, lachrymose with red rum, dare put forth such an assertion.

Take the papers, say in Buffalo, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Omaha apd Toledo, do any of them stand for higher endeavor, art, education and human betterment? Do any of them make in their policy to encourage that which is excellent and true? On the contrary, do they not all feature the base, the wrong, the trifling and the transient? Are not the men who own them without exception chuckle-headed ignorami, fawners and trucklers for place and power, boosting this grafting bigwig and that, and smothering the worthy with silence?

A half page of the trite, the true and the "unco gude" can never season the barrel of swill—it is a daily newspaper just the same.

Your private character is nothing to the newspaper owner—he of the wrinkled neck—he hires young men to rip reputations up the back and rend and tear your heartstrings with headlines about things that never happened, or if they did, are not the business of the public. He wants to sell his paper! He chases the stricken just as the wolves on the prairies follow the lame horse, the cow that is great with calf. The newspapers wax fat on calamity because there is an evil streak in our common natures that makes us gloat over the fallen and disgraced; laying the flattering unction to our souls that it is not we ourselves, but the other fellow who lies there on the cold marble slab in the morgue with a tiny blue spot over his heart, and his stiffened fingers folded just so, forever.

Redneck not only pollutes the public, but damns the souls of the young men he employs—they who are beguiled by the siren song of literature.

The newspapers give a "society page" and a "church page" on Sundays and Mondays, and lo! our orthodox brethren gloss the pennroyal pills and declare that life without the Morning Slopjar would be unendurable.

We are all in degree corrupted through the daily newspaper.

We are possessed with the hallucination that we must read the daily paper in order to keep informed on the news of the day. We allow our brains to be used as a sieve for sewage, in the hope of finding a grain of corn.

The newspaper habit is upon us and we crave the salacious morsel as a tumble bug turns to his dessert.

The insignificant price—one cent—makes it deadly easy to succumb, as the waiter at supper or the boys in the street thrust at us the latest issue, printed at 3 o'clock and marked "Six o'clock edition."

We speak sometimes of the "yellow journals"—they are all yellow—only some are deeper tinted than others.

When you read a newspaper and are not reading scandal you may be reading paid-for telegrams about the McCurdys. A straight "special telegram" in most of the newspapers last week reads this way: "The largest bottle order ever given, etc." It was from Milwaukee and cost the malt man two dollars a line in each of a hundred "high-class newspapers."

The daily newspaper the educator of the people! God help us, it may be so! It educates into inattention, vacuity, foolishness, folly and sin. It saps concentration, dissipates aspiration, scrambles gray matter and irons out convulutions.

Watch the genius commuter rush for his dope when he reaches the station in the morning. He may be a Sunday-school superintendent, a college graduate, a man of social standing, but he must have his matin-mess of rottenness or he would die of fidgets. He reads of how a man in Manitoba elopes with another man's wife, with consuming interest. He scans the advertising pages with their columns of fakery and filth, and it never occurs to him that a certain amount of the slime that slides into his brain must stay there and line the vacuum.

I knew one commuter, 10 years ago, who refused to read the daily papers, but instead carried a volume of Emerson. That man is now a marked personality, wielding a large healthful influence in a rational way. His old-time fellow passengers are still guzzling their last edition. Every city in the land has periodic perturbation about "Jack the Stabber," "Jack the Snipper" and "Jack the Peeper" fanned into flame by the molders of public opinion, these beneficent educators of the people. Even staid old Boston had a week of fits a short time ago, when every paper in the city combined to terrorize women and children by conjuring forth an awful "Jack," who finally ran to cover and was found to be a mischievous cigarette boy who should have been left, from the beginning, to the police and alienists.

DENTISTS ARE TO MEET AT THE SHORE.

State Society to Hold Annual Meeting at Asbury Park Next Month.

Dentistry as a fine art, as well as an exact science, with the mechanical side taking rank only just below the scholastic, will be exploited at Asbury Park on July 18, 19 and 20, when the thirty-sixth annual session of the New Jersey State Dental Society will be held in the big Auditorium near the ocean. As the programme point out, such annual gatherings constitute post-graduate courses in dentistry, and the day has passed "when a man can sit in his office, read in a desultory way one dental journal, never visit a dental society, and call himself a dentist." For this reason the coming session is expected to be a memorable gathering, and one which will confer distinct professional benefits upon those who attend.

Dr. Walter Woolsey, of Elizabeth, is a member of the executive committee and chairman of the essay and ethics committees. Dr. A. Percy Roberts, of this city, is a member of the clinical committee, and Dr. A. R. Eaton of the legislative committee.

The headquarters of the delegates will be the Columbia Hotel, which is very near the Auditorium. There the entertainment committee, of which Dr. J. L. Crater is general chairman, will see to the comforts of visitors. On Tuesday evening, July 17, the registration booth at the Auditorium will be open, to enable the members to register and receive cards of admission to the various meetings. Dr. Harvey Iredell will be in charge.

On Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock the opening session will begin. After roll call and prayer, Dr. J. E. Duffield, of Camden, president of the State society, will deliver his annual address, which later will be discussed. Miscellaneous society business, proposals for membership and payment of dues will follow and the exhibitors' meeting will open. In the evening Dr. Eugene S. Talbot, of Chicago, will deliver a lantern lecture on "Etiology and Pathology of Interestitial Gingivitis."

Thursday morning Dr. Talbot will read an essay on "Therapeusis and Treatment of Interstitial Gingivitis Due to Autointoxication." The discussion of the paper will be opened by Dr. M. I. Schamberg and Dr. I. N. Bromell, both of Philadelphia. Then Dr. A. P. Burkhart, of Buffalo, will follow with a short paper on "Higher Ideals in Crown and Bridge Work." Thursday evening Dr. James E. Power, of Providence, will read an essay on "Clinical Reports on Some Cases in Oral Surgery and Fractures." The ensuing discussion will be led by Dr. Schamberg and Dr. A. Flanagan, of Springfield Mass.

Friday morning Dr. W. B. Dills, of Brooklyn, will read a paper on "The New Era in Dental Prothesis," which will be discussed by Dr. R. Erwin, of amden, will relate "The History of Our State Society from the Beginning."

RAN TRAINS THROUGH FIRE.

Flames Leaped from the Openings in Bayonne Tunnel.

Passengers on New Jersey Central trains that passed Saturday morning over the tunnel that is being built at West Eighth street, Bayonne, were startled to see flames shooting up around the cars. Above the tunnel there are several holes about four feet wide.

Sparks or hot coals from a passing locomotive, it is supposed, fell through the holes, and the shavings and other rubbish in the tunnel caught fire. The four men who were at work in the tunnel made their escape by climbing a ladder.

Before the fire was extinguished flames burst from the holes and the trains were rushed through them at full speed.

Irvington Road Absorbed.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company of New Jersey filed a certificate at the secretary of state's office, declaring it had consolidated and merged with the Irvington Railroad Company. The registered office of the consolidated company is in Jersey City and David W. Meeker is named as agent in charge. The capital stock is $20,433,000. The consolidation is effected because the tracks of each company connect directly with each other at Lyon's Farms, Elizabeth station, Union county. The consolidated name is to be the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company of New Jersey.

This Is "It"

Nothing else is "just as good" because nothing else is suitable for Gas Ranges.

ENTHUSIASTS ATTACK THE NEW AUTO LAW.

Claim Made That Points Involving Police Bill Are in the New Measure.

Automobilists of this State believe they have discovered a fatal defect in the drastic Frelinghuysen automobile law, which went into effect yesterday. As the result of this there is no little elation among the owners and drivers of horseless vehicles. It was discovered yesterday that the section of the act which provides for a summary review of the convictions of auto offenders, was copied almost verbatim from an act declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court last Tuesday. It will be remembered that this act was the one providing for review of commission preceedings against accused policemen, and in its provisions and language it was almost identical in this despect with the "review" of the Frelinghuysen bill. It is presumed that the latter bill is in this respect equally as defective as was the police law.

Supreme Court Justice Reed, in deciding against the police law, held that the legislature cannot strip the Supreme Court of its ancient power to issue prerogative writs of mandamus, quo warranto and certiorari.

It is the prevailing belief in legal circles that the auto law will come under the same ruling. There is some question as to what effect this would have on the act in its entirety. The automobile law is full of provisions generally thought to be unconstitutional, but it also contains the clause providing that the unconstitutionality of one section or more shall not be taken to invalidate the whole.

The "review" section was inserted by house amendment at the time of the passage of the drastic senate measure for the purpose of giving autoists a means of escape from unjust penalties. If this section is declared invalid it would deprive the autoists of the intended benefit, although the common belief is that it would upset and render the entire act practically ineffective, thus leaving the automobile legislation as it is at present.

If the act is carried to the courts it is likely that before a decision could be reached the legislature would again be in session, thus permitting another automobile measure to be presented.

NO CURRENCY LEGISLATION.

Fowler Finds that Senate Leaders Will Block Action.

Washington, July 2.—Chairman Fowler, of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, has made an investigation into the prospect for legislation on currency questions and finds that the Senate leaders have decided to block all further action for this session.

Senator Aldrich thinks there would be opposition even if the bill passed the House providing for the issue of $5 gold certificates and $5 national bank notes. It has developed that there is opposition in the Senate, and that it would not be possible to put through this measure without discussion and delay. Currency reformers, therefore, feel that there is no chance of anything more until next session.

DESERTED IN PARK BY HER SWEETHEART.

Young Man Took Her to Manhattan to Get Trousseau and Be Married.

Deserted by the young man who took her to Manhattan Thursday, pretty nineteen-year-old Louise Naetzel, who has been employed as a servant in a family in Ridgewood, wept yesterday before Magistrate Barlow in Jefferson Market Police Court. Her fiance, Fritz Foedler, who was employed as a coachman by the same family, left her on a bench in Union Square Park Thursday afternoon and did not return.

Magistrate Barlow turned her over to the custody of his probation officer, Edmund Leigh, who will try to find Foedler.

Louise says she and Fritz had been engaged a long time and went to Manhattan intending to buy her trousseau, be married and begin their honeymoon by a trip to Coney Island. They visited several Sixth avenue stores, and in one place picked out a wedding gown. It had to be altered a little and Fritz left a deposit of $5 to guarantee his return.

They then walked to Union Square Park and sat down on a bench. After a while Fritz said he was going over to the Germania Bank, at Fourth avenue and Fourteenth street, to draw $150. He told Louise to wait on the bench for him. She says she saw him enter the bank, but she did not see him come out.

Louise waited from 3 p. m. until 8 p. m., and no Fritz appeared. She began to cry and sympathetic passersby called the attention of Detectives Reich and Sechler, of the Mercer Street Station, to her. They spoke to her in her own langauge and learned her trouble. She was kept in charge of the matron in the Mercer Street Station Thursday night.

LACERATED BY EXPLOSION.

Chargeman Has Four Fingers Blown Off and Is Otherwise Hurt.

Wharton, July 2.—Richard Adams, a chargeman, employed at the Hurd mine, is in All Souls' Hospital in Morristown as the result of injuries received Saturday afternoon by the accidental explosion of a box of detonating caps. Adams was preparing a blast when the box of caps exploded. The four fingers of his right hand were blown off, his left hand was mangled, one of his legs was badly injured and his face was lacerated.

The explosion also injured his eyes, causing at least temporary blindness. Dr. Henry W. Kice, of this place, who dressed Adams' wounds before he was sent to the hospital, said, however, that the sight might be saved. It is supposed that the explosion was caused by a spark from Adams' light. In the iron mines of North Jersey the miners work with candles or open oil lamps stuck in their hats, as there is no gas in the mines and it is not considered necessary to use closed miners' lamps.

RAISE A. O. U. W. RATES.

Supreme Lodge Aims to Wipe Out Indebtedness.

Montreal, July 2.—The Supreme Lodge of Ancient Order of the United Workmen has concluded its sessions. To place the order on a more substantial basis the following action was taken:

The present indebtedness of the order will be met by an assessment of ten cents per month upon each member until the arrears are wiped out; this to be applied to lodges which have failed to meet their obligations. Each high rate jurisdiction before receiving aid from the general order must agree to put in force the following rates before October 1: $1.24 per month $1,000 at the age of 18 years, and scaling up to $2.05 per thousand, at 35; $3.09 at 46; $404 at 52, to the extreme limit of $9.65 at 70 years. Specified forms of policies are exempted.

The guarantee fund established three years ago and which resulted in the secession of several grand lodges, has been abolished.

Must Change Bridge.

Orders have been issued by the War Department to the Boards of Chosen Freeholders of Passaic and Bergen counties to discontinue the building of a bridge over the Passaic River at Rutherford because the spans are not of the size required by the Department for bridges over navigable streams. It is ordered by the Department that the spans be made at least fifty feet wide. The alterations will cost the counties affected $50,000.

Dollar a Minute for Overtime.

Holyoke, Mass., July 2.—A dollar a minute is the price charged a member of the Stone Masons' Union for working overtime. The luckless mason labored twenty minutes more than the nine hours which the union prescribes as a day's work. He received 50 cents, an hour's pay, from his employer, and was fined $20 by the Stone Masons' Union.

Lightning Struck House.

The house of Martin Joyce, No. 151 Clendenny avenue, Jersey City, was struck by lightning during the shower at 7:30 a. m., Saturday. A bolt struck a brass bedstead and set the attic on fire. Another bolt tore shingles from the roof and damaged the bathroom. The fire caused a $200 loss.

PLENTY OF GOOD BASE BALL FOR THE FANS

TRENTON HERE WEDNESDAY MORNING AND CUBAN X GIANTS ON SATURDAY.

Plainfield ball cranks will have the opportunity of seeing two baseball contests this week. On Wednesday morning (Fourth of July) the crack Trenton team will be the opponents of the locals. Manager Dick Smith is anxious to lower the colors of the Plainfield-Hoboken combination and he is confident that he has the best semi-professional combination in the State. The morning game will start at 10:30 o'clock sharp. In the afternoon Manager Daab and his combination will pack their grips and go to Trenton for a return game. The baseball management decided on this schedule to give a clear field to the trotting races in the afternoon. It is expected that about 25 rooters will accompany the team to Trenton. Another big attractions is booked for Saturday, the Cuban X Giants. The Giants are stronger than ever this season, Manager Lamar having secured several of the crack players of the All Cubans last season. The colored team was always a favorite in Plainfield. They always played the fastest ball and enlivened the game with coaching.

Home Run Their Only Score.

The Somerville West Ends put up a most spectacular game Saturday, and beat the Atlas team, of Jersey City, by a score of 4 to 1. Nafis, the big southpaw of the West Ends, fanned twelve batters. The visitors' only tally was made by Kline, who cracked one over the fence for a home run. Not an error and timely stick work earned the game. Score:

West Ends	1	0	0	0	0	2	1	0	0—4

Lackawanna League.

But slight change resulted in the standing of the Lackawanna League Saturday. As the league leaders, Morristown and Chatham, played a tie, they cling to the honor positions. Irvington is now in third place through Dover's defeat at the hands of Summit. Some interesting games are likely to come off through the double-headers on the Fourth.

Saturday's Results.

Summit, 6; Dover, 2.
Morristown, 1; Chatham, 1.

Twelve Innings at Cranford.

Cranford, July 2.—The Cranford A. C. crossed bats with the Equitable A. C. at the Union avenue grounds Saturday afternoon and after twelve hard innings of exciting playing the locals won by a score of 3 to 2. Cranford tied the score in the twelfth inning when, with two outs and three men on base, Cooper swatted the ball into deep centre with the result that the winning run was scored. hTe pitching of Bargoes for the home nine was exceptionally good, the visitors being able to secure but four hits. The double plays made by Smith and Bargoes, of the home team, unassisted, were also features of the game. On Fourth of July morning C. A. C. will play Dunellen A. C., and in the afternoon the Singer A. C., of Elizabeth. Both games will be played on the Union avenue grounds. The score:

The score was 2 to 1 and the game was in the fast time of one hour and ten minutes. The game abounded in brilliant plays.

HOBOKENS SHUT OUT PATERSONS, 18 TO 0

NINETEEN HITS MADE BY MANAGER DAAB'S AGGREGATION YESTERDAY

The Hobokens had a runaway time of it at St. George's Cricket grounds, yesterday, with the Patersons, winning the contest by a score of 18 to 0. A few weeks ago Manager Daab's aggregation defeated the visitors in the "Silk City" and they hoped to get revenge yesterday. "Willie" Deegan was invincible, however, and allowed them but four hits, while the Hobokens touched the opposing pitchers for a total of nineteen hits. The score:

FINE RACING CARD PLANNED FOR WEDNESDAY.

Three Race Events Scheduled at Plainfield Driving Park.

What promises to be the best trotting meeting ever held in Plainfield is the three race event scheduled for Wednesday, July 4th, at the Plainfield Driving Park. The 2:18. trot and 2:21 pacing race with ten entries; the 2:24 trot and 2:28 pace with eleven entries, and the 2:30 trot with nine entries, completes an unsurpassed programme.

Never before has there been such a large list of horses coming here for the Fourth of July meet, which shows that the interest in trotting horses is keeping pace with that evinced for show and saddle horses. This is demonstrated by the fact that there are now twenty out-of-town horses stabled at the Driving Park training for the trotting meetings to be held throughout the season in other parts of the State.

Mr. Watson's string of blue ribbon winners, including Lord Baltimore, Lady Ophir and sixteen others, are also stabled there preparatory to being shown at the Atlantic City horse show.

Mrs. Alster was formerly Miss Florence Smith, of New York, where her husband also resided. The latter is foreman of the Baird works at East Fourth and Washington streets. They received many presents of an appropriate nature.

CITY COUNCIL ROUTINE

Much Minor Business Transacted at the Regular Monthly Meeting.

GRANT SEWER PERMITS

Transfer of $3,000 From General Fund to Fire Fund and $600 From General Fund to Poor Fund.

The Highland Park Realty Company, which is developing a section of the East End, known as Highland Park, petitioned the Common Council at the July meeting, last night, for the right to construct about 1,400 feet of sewers extending from George street, similar to that in Columbia avenue, the work to be done under the supervision of the street commissioner. On Mr. Gloak's motion the request was granted.

On a motion of Mr. Mellick, a fire alarm box was ordered placed at Dunellen and Jefferson avenues, in response to a request made by the residents in that end of the city.

A request from residents of Richmond street and Scott place for two lights was referred to the light committee for consideration.

Edward Conger, who was appointed a regular fireman at the June meeting of the Common Council by Mayor Buckle, tendered his resignation and it was accepted. Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported that twenty-three building permits were granted during June.

Notification was received that three electric lights, as ordered, have been placed on Darrow avenue, and the Plainfield Water Supply Company, reported that three new two-way hydrants have been located, one on Randolph road, one near the hospital and a third on Union street, near Stelle avenue.

The matter of the transfer of property on Prospect avenue from the city to J. Clarence Ogden, who requested the same and agreed to pay the taxes to redeem it and presenting a certified copy of the deed, the original having been lost, was reported on favorably by Chairman Daniel of the finance committee and the papers were filed.

Street Commissioner Gavett reported that from March 26 to June 26, 104 sewer permits were granted and $104 has been turned over to the city treasurer.

On the recommendation of Chairman Hibbard of the light committee, two new electric lights were ordered placed on Union street, and one light was ordered placed in Berkeley avenue near Denmark road. Mr. Gloak asked about the petition of residents for lights on Leland avenue, but Mr. Hibbard said that he did not know whether the Public Service Corporation would be willing to extend its lines to that point and he hoped to report on the matter at the next meeting.

Mr. Daniel made a motion, which was adopted, transferring $3,000 from the general fund to the fire fund and $600 from the general fund to the poor fund. His resolution that $30 be appropriated to L. Moraller & Sons for the care of the city clock for one year from July 1 was also adopted.

For the purpose of paying for the work of extending the sanitary sewer system in the southwestern part of the city, including Park avenue and Randolph road, Mr. Daniel offered a resolution which provided for the borrowing of $2,000 the same to be secured by a note in the usual way. The resolution was adopted. This extension of the sewer will take care of the hospital and other buildings in that part of the city.

Mr. Daniel called up the supplement to the tax ordinance providing for the raising of $73,000 for school purposes and it was adopted on third reading. Similar action was taken with the ordinance providing for the extension of the sanitary system of sewers in the southwestern part of the city; also the ordinance for the permanent improvement of streets in the East End of the city, Mr. Gloak calling up both ordinances. Mr. Gloak also called up on third reading the ordinance to macadimize Division street, between West Sixth and West Seventh streets and it was adopted on third reading.

Mr. Daniel stated that as he had not yet received satisfactory proofs regarding the ownership of property, he was not ready to report on the petitions for the closing of College place and Johnston avenue.

Mr. Gloak called up the ordinance granting the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company the right to open certain streets to construct the underground conduit work and it was adopted on third reading. After the report of the auditing committee the meeting adjourned.

Offering For Relief Work.

The offering at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Sunday will be for the Plainfield Relief Association.

DRUNKEN WOMAN PICKS UP BOY AND BITES HIM

ODD BEHAVIOR OF MARY MOORE, AFTER SHE HAD "LOST HER WAY."

A telephone message at 1:45 o'clock this morning told the police that a drunken woman was carrying on in the neighborhood of the sewer farm, and Patrolman Overbaugh rattled down in the hurry-up wagon. By the aid of a lantern, Overbaugh found Mary Moore, who weighs 250 pounds, rampaging about the neighborhood with a full-grown jag.

She had a four-year-old boy, scared and yelling, with her. The child said she picked him up in the woods nearby early in the evening, and wouldn't let him go. The boy had a bite on his cheek which he said she inflicted. Overbaugh took woman and boy to headquarters. The child was turned over to his parents, who lived near Rock avenue, a few minutes later.

In court this morning, Mary protested that she had not been drunk. She said she called on a friend in North Plainfield and lost her way, and that was all that ailed her. Yes, she had had a glass of beer, but only one, as the good Lord judged her, and that at noontime. Not one, no, not a single sip, after that.

"Oh, stop your talking," said Judge Runyon, disgustedly; "you don't expect me to believe that. Ten dollars or twenty days."

Mary heaved a sigh and went back to her cell.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS FAVORED BY COUNCIL

ORDINANCES FOR SEWER EXTENSION AND FOR MACADAM WORK READY.

Provisions for a further addition to the Richmond street storm sewer was made at the July meeting of the Common Council, last night, through an ordinance which was introduced by Chairman Gloak, of the streets and sewer committee. The ordinance was read for instruction at the last meeting of the Common Council and last night was adopted on first and second readings, ordered engrossed and advertised after a public hearing was granted. No one was present to speak for or against the improvement.

The ordinance provides that the sewer shall be extended from East Fifth street to North avenue, with inlets at East Fourth street, the railroad and Cottage place. Maps and specifications were filed and if the ordinances is passed on its third reading bids will be advertised for doing the work.

Similar action was taken regarding the proposed ordinance for the permanent improvement of streets in the East End of the city. An ordinance was adopted on first and second readings, ordered engrossed and advertised, after a public hearing was granted. In the case of the storm sewer the expense is to be a general tax on the city, while with the macadam work, the interested property-owners will be obliged to pay their proportionate share, which is two-thirds and the city one-third, as in similar cases. It is the intention of the street committee to keep adding to the Richmond street storm sewer until that end of the city is properly taken care of for the drainage of surface water, thereby preventing the flooding of property.

Judge Runyon One of the Speakers.

City Judge William N. Runyon, chairman of the Union County Republican Equal Taxation League, will be among the leaders of the reform movement, who will speak Tuesday night, July 10, at New Brunswick and Perth Amboy. The first meeting will be held at New Brunswick. After these meetings others will be arranged throughout Middlesex county in the various towns and townships to be addressed by Col. Fordyce, President Corey and other speakers and branches of the league organized.

The Weather Man Has Been Seen.

It is said that the weather man has been seen and he has agreed to furnish ideal weather for the First Baptist church Sunday-school excursion to Asbury Park on Thursday, July 12. It is worth the price of a ticket to take a good swim in the briny deep and as this will be the first excursion to the shore from here many will doubtless avail themselves of the opportunity to go.

Flowers For Service.

The young people of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church are interesting themselves in a request for contributions of flowers to be sent to the Abingdon Square flower service to be held in New York, Thursday night, July 12.

The appearance of the crack Trentons in Plainfield should result in a large crowd turning out to see the game. The baseball management decided not to play in the afternoon owing to the horse races at the driving park. Manager Daab has two more games scheduled with Trenton, one to be played in Plainfield on a Saturday, and one in Trenton.

In the afternoon and evening the Park Club will celebrate. There will be a tea and reception in the afternoon and in the evening a fine display of fireworks, followed by dancing.

The New Jersey Central will run its usual holiday excursion to Mauch Chunk and as heretofore they have proved very enjoyable many Plainfielders are expected to take the trip.

Two Charges Against Him.

Charles Waldron was arrested last night for drunkenness and disorder, on a charge preferred by his wife. In addition to that charge, he was accused of resisting arrest when arraigned this morning. At the request of Counsellor F. J. Blatz, his lawyer, the hearing was laid over until Saturday. Waldron was instructed to keep away from his wife, at the request of her lawyer, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr.

—Neuman Brothers' store will be closed all day tomorrow; open this evening a little later.

SILVER TRUST LOSES SUIT AGAINST ROGERS

C. A. MARSH'S CONTENTIONS SUSTAINED BY COURT OF CHANCERY.

Vice-Chancellor Stevens in the Chancery Chambers, Newark, today filed his opinion in the celebrated case of the International Silver Company against William H. Rogers, of this city, and by his decision Mr. Rogers has won a notable victory through his counsel, Craig A. Marsh. The case has been in litigation nearly seven years, the International Silver Company seeking to restrain Mr. Rogers from using his name in the manufacture of silverware, claiming that it showed fraud.

During the long legal fight Mr. Rogers made an entire change in his stamp and dissolved the corporation, using simply his own name in the conduct of his business. He has since erected a large new factory in the East End of the city, where he is planning to increase his business.

By the decision of Vice-Chancellor Stevens the litigation on this particular point, as to whether Mr. Rogers has the right to use his name, is finally settled.

E. ALLEN SHEAR DEAD.

Superintended Construction of Trust Company Building.

E. Allen Shear, who superintended the construction of the Plainfield Trust Company's new building, died suddenly at his home in Phillipsburg, Sunday afternoon. He had been working about the building all Saturday morning and at noon complained of feeling ill. He was helped to the 2:11 train by friends who thought he might have been affected by the heat and thought nothing serious of his complaint until a telegram announced his demise.

Mr. Shear was a Scotchman and was an expert in building construction. He was employed by Thomas Prior & Sons, of Trenton, who had the contract from the Plainfield Trust Company, and had been sent by them to all parts of the country. During his stay in Plainfield he made a great many friends, especially among builders and contractors and he was greatly liked. He was about sixty years old.

HAND, COURT OFFICER.

Retiring Justice of the Peace Gets Plum From Legal Octopus.

Justice Hezekiah Hand was appointed sergeant-at-arms of the District Court today. He acted for the first time this morning.

The appointment came close on the heels of the judge's retirement from active work as a justice. He has been engaged in court work of one kind or another for over twenty-five years, and is well-qualified for the post. The sergeant-at-arms draws a dollar a day for attendance at court, and gets fees for all papers served from the court. The job is worth from $500 to $800 a year, and will be worth more as the court business grows. The court officer in Elizabeth makes nearly $2,00 a year.

Carelessness Led to Injury.

Ira Bowers, who was hurt by the fall of a derrick that dropped a heavy iron grill on his foot—not through the breaking of a rope, as at first reported—is recovering. W. T. Kirk, of the Kirk Company, Bowers' employer, stated this morning that Bowers was injured as a result of disobedience of express orders. The grill was hoisted on the derrick, he says, in a way that it was not supposed to be used, and in a way he was warned not to use it.

City Judge's Report.

City Judge William N. Runyon presented his semi-annual report to the Common Council last night, showing that there have been 249 cases before him, of which number forty-six were fined, 164 sentence suspended, twenty-eight sent to jail, three juvenile court cases, seven dismissed and one put in charge of the probation officer. The sum of $264 was received in fines and deducting $46 in expenses, $217.50 was turned over to the city treasurer.

Mrs. Sullivan Gets Verdict.

Only one contested case was tried in the District Court this morning, the action of Mrs. Jesse Sullivan against Kussel Sachar, for damages. She sued to recover for damage inflicted in dispossess proceedings taken after the man from whom she rented apartments had settled the difficulty that started the landlord in his action. The court allowed her $10 and costs. F. J. Blatz appeared for the plaintiff.

City Clerk's Vacation.

Another resolution offered by Mr. Daniel and which was adopted, granted City Clerk J. T. MacMurray a leave of absence from July 15 to September 15, and appointed George B. Wean clerk pro tem. Mr. MacMurray is out of town and his plans could not be learned today.

GIFTS FOR JR. O. U. A. M.

Bible and Flag Presented to Plainfield Council By Local Women.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Mrs. William S. Angleman Makes Presentation Speech—Six Make Responses.

Plainfield Council, No. 293, Jr. O. U. A. M., recently organized, last night was presented with an American flag and a Bible for use on the altar. They were gifts of the wives of the members. The women were welcomed by the councilor and given seats about the altar. The presentation was made by Mrs. Winfield S. Angleman.

There were responses by Councilor Winfield S. Angleman, Past Councilor Peter H. Bennett, Financial Secretary H. H. Webb, Vice-Councilor Cratsley, Chaplain William Richards and Brother Smith, in which the women were thanked most heartily for the useful and appropriate gifts and the interest on their part in the council. This part of the affair was concluded with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," and "America."

The committee of women who arranged the presentation and who had charge of it consisted of Mrs. Peter H. Bennett, chairman; Mrs. Winfield S. Angleman, Mrs. Harry H. Webb and Mrs. J. Hervey Buchanan.

After the presentation the newly-elected officers of the council were installed by Peter H. Bennett, and they were escorted to their respective stations.

In her presentation speech, Mrs. Angleman said:

"I have been asked to speak on behalf of the committee of ladies, of which Mrs. Bennett, the wife of you junior past councilor, is the chairman and moving spirit. I regret exceedingly that she is not strong enough to speak to you herself, while at the same time I warmly appreciate the honor the committee has done me, in asking me to take part in the culmination of the movement, most of the hard work and leadership of which has fallen to Mrs. Bennett.

"Mr. Councilor, and members of the council, the ladies of your families have felt that they would like to show in some tangible way the deep interest and appreciation that they feel in the work that you are doing.

"The committee of ladies here present, and many members of your families, have made it possible for us to do so, in the presentation to you tonight, of two of the most beautiful and sacred gifts that we can offer. The one is an old old book, with an old old story, and yet it is forever new, forever bringing light and gladness, peace and joy, faith and courage, to those who seek within its pages; and forever it holds the story of God's unfathomable love to man, and the knowledge that this life is not the end of all, but only the beginning, the training school, the little while between this and the perfect life to come. Books have been written, are being written, and will be written, only to fade and be forgotten, but this old old book, with its old old story, will remain eternally new with, and to us, forever.

"The other, words fail me. One more day and the folds of the red, white, and blue, the stars and stripes, will float from every pole, from every mast, from every window, will be seen in the homes, in the gardens, in the streets, in the hands of men, women, and children, while its praises and its colors will be enshrined in the heart of every loyal American.

"Do you know the meaning of your flag? The red, white, and blue, the stars and the stripes. The blue is the blue of God's heaven, of God's mercy to this great land of yours; the white is the light of truth, which you can never dim, never put out, so long as liberty guards your land; the stars are like their namesakes above, ever striving to give light and beauty to other lands; the stripes, are the bands which bind these stars, one to the other in a union never to be dissolved; the red, the blood of millions, of men, old and gray, of young and glorious manhood, of frail and gentle womanhood, of tender, innocent childhood, these have laid down their lives, for the freedom of this land, the glory of this flag, that the folds of the red, white, and blue, the stars and stripes, might float glorious and free throughout the length and breadth of America.

"Brothers of Plainfield Council, We present to you, your faith and your flag, feeling sure that the glory and honor of both are safe in your keeping. God grant that your lives may never lose or deny the one, never lower into the dust of dishonor the folds of the other!"

THEY ASK THE CITY TO VACATE STREET

PROPERTY OWNERS WANT SECTION OF CHURCH STREET ABANDONED.

David C. Smalley and Charles Mc Ginley, interested property-owners, who at the June meeting of the Common Council requested that that portion of Church street, extending from East Third street to the railroad, be vacated, secured favorable action at the July meeting of the Common Council, last night. An ordinance introduced by Chairman Wm. Gloak, of the streets and sewer committee, was adopted on first and second readings and ordered engrossed and advertised. At the next meeting a hearing will be granted those who wish to speak for or against the proposition.

Mr. Smalley recently purchased the property occupied for years by J. E. Flannery as a blacksmith shop and it is his intention to erect a large building there for the cutting of pork and manufacture of sausage. He and Mr. McGinely are the only two interested property-owners and both petitioned to have about thirty feet of the street vacated.

Mr. Tyler was under the impression that the Common Council intended giving away a valuable right, and at first protested. When he was informed that in March, 1900, the city gave the New Jersey Central the right to abolish the crossing at that point he withdrew his objections. The matter was originally referred to the finance committee, but Mr. Daniel thought it was something for the street committee to take care of and he had the petition transferred to that committee, with the result that Mr. Gloak introduced an ordinance to vacate the street.

WANTS TO BUILD SKATING RINK IN THE BOROUGH.

George Cook Makes Application to Put Up Building 100 by 60.

George Cook, of East Front street, today made application to Mayor Smalley for permission to erect a frame building on the Boice property adjoining Tier's lake to be used as a roller skating rink. He stated that it would be about 100 by 60 feet in dimensions and constructed on lines similar to the rink that stood at Grove street and Craig place when the skating craze was at its height twenty years ago. The application will have to be referred to the borough council for action.

Roller skating is again becoming a popular fad all over the country and rinks are springing up like mushrooms. In the early eighties Plainfield took up the pastime as eagerly as did other cities and there were two rinks, the one of Grove street, since torn down, and the Rink building on Watchung avenue, now owned by Charles H. Hand. The latter was one of the largest in the State and proved a failure when the craze died out.

School Clock on a Strike.

The clock in the tower of the Somerset street school is now purely ornamental. It stopped running several days ago and boroughites who want to set their watches must either look at the sun or wait until they get in Plainfield.

OFFERED BET IN COURT

Excited Assyrian Flings Down Huge Roll In Challenge to Officer.

SAID COP WAS BRUTAL

Charged Him With Beating Up Helpless Prisoner—Declared Sight Worse Than Outrages In His Country.

John Giles, whose main industry in life, according to the police records, is sopping booze, was arrested on Highland avenue last night by Roundsman Flynn, for making a nuisance of himself on the same old lines. When the accused was arraigned in the city court this morning a charge of cruelty to the prisoner was made against Flynn by a neighbor of Giles, on Lake street, and the case was laid over until Saturday for investigation.

The charge was made by an Assyrian named Solomon. Flynn, in his testimony, stated that Giles resisted arrest, under encouragement shouted at him by Mrs. Louis Miller from her doorstep on Lake street, and that he struck him over the wrist to subdue him. Solomon declared that the officer beat Giles with shocking brutality, and dragged him through a barbed wire fence. He grew excited as his statement proceeded.

"I come from a bad country," he said, "but never have I seen anything so like this. It was terrible; that man could have no heart."

"Why, what are you talking about!" exclaimed Flynn disgustedly. "You didn't see the thing until the wind-up. There isn't any barbed wire fence there, for one thing. There is a plain wire fence, and Giles hung on to that until he pulled it down."

"I know what I talk about!" said Solomon excitedly. "I saw it. I bet what I say is so—anything from a $100 to $1,000."

He ran his hand down into his trousers pocket and pulled out a roll of yellow-backed bills big enough to choke a sewer. He threw the wad down on the lawyers' table, and the thud sounded as if a brick had fallen.

"There!" he exclaimed, "My money against his—a hundred or a thousand."

There were no takers, and the Assyrian jammed the bundle of notes back into his pocket. The court officers came out of their daze with a start. There must have been at least $2,000 in the roll Solomon flung around.

Louis Miller, Jr., testified for Giles. He said the man was bothered and nagged continually, not only by small boys of the neighborhood, but by his own family. He doesn't live with the latter. His home is an old shed on Lake street. According to young Miller he is the neighborhood goat, and more to be pitied than pinched.

Judge Runyon laid the case over to sift the Assyrian's story to the bottom.

Silver Cup Presented to Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk By Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert at Dinner Given in Mr. Fisk's Honor.

Among the chief treasures of the silver chest of former Mayor Charles J. Fisk is the simple goblet pictured above. Not its intrinsic value, not chased work of unusual skill—there is nothing on its shining surface at all but a few lines of engraving—gives it its worth in Mr. Fisk's eyes. It is what it stands for that makes the goblet the pre-eminent bit of silver in the Fisk home. The goblet is the one presented to the former mayor by Alexander Gilbert at the remarkable testimonial dinner to Mr. Fisk last week, and it stands for the spirit, the sentiment and the feeling that lay back of the event. Although it was a personal gift, Mr. Gilbert acted in spirit for every man at the dinner and for every citizen of the city in making it. The toast inscribed on it is one that Mr. Fisk knows all his fellow citizens echo heartily: "* * * the health of * * * a man who plans, and works and gives for the community in which he lives."

The board had held up five applications on account of irregularities in them, but allowed the applicants to go on selling until the next board meeting, Thursday night, July 5. Meantime Messrs. Women Must Wear Hats.

Rev. Roland Stuart Nichols, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, Newark, announced just before his sermon at the service Sunday night that the women of the congregation must not come to church without hats. BIG FIRE DOES $100,000 DAMAGE.

Barber Asphalt Company's Roofing Works at Perth Amboy Are Burned.

Perth Amboy, July 4.—The Barber Asphalt Paving Company's plant here was burned early yesterday. The loss may reach $100,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The blaze started in the roofing department building, which is 250 feet long. Thousands of rolls of roofing paper, ready for shipment, were burned. Huge piles of asphalt in barrels fed the flames until the fire was visible for many miles. Company employes fought the flames with the salt water system, using water from Staten Island Sound until the fire gained such headway that it would not be checked.

At noon firemen from the city department were still on duty. The Barber plant adjoins the American Smelting and Refining Company's plant, but flames did not spread to the latter.

For Jersey at Jamestown.

The specifications provide that the grounds shall be sufficiently cleared for landscape purposes by October 15, and that the building shall be completed by January 1.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

ON TRIAL AS HIS CHILD'S POISONER.

Davenport Accused of Sending Arsenic in Candy to His Daughter to Kill Her.

Trenton, N. J., July 3.—Charles T. Davenport, of Mercerville, was placed on trial in the Mercer Criminal Court yesterday morning on a charge of attempting to kill his daughter, Josephine, twelve years old, by sending her poisoned candy through the mail.

The girl was in the family of E. H. Jones, at Washington's Crossing. She received the candy by mail April 28. She and Mrs. Jones and Marvin Jones ate the candy and fell ill, with symptoms of arsenical poisoning. It was ten days before Josephine was out of danger.

Davenport and his wife had not lived together, and his two daughters had been in the Union Children's Home here for two years. Josephine was placed with the Jones family but a short time before she received the poisoned candy. The prosecution alleges that the motive for getting her out of the way was an insurance policy.

It did not take long to select a jury and the prosecution began calling witnesses. Those examined yesterday were Mrs. Nellie K. Crane, matron of the Union Children's Home; Mrs. Bertha Blackwell, with whom Josephine lived for a month before being placed with the Jones family; E. H. Jones and Dr. George Adams, of Taylorsville, Pa., who attended the patients during their illness.

Mr. Jones said that the day following the receipt of the candy Davenport arrived at Washington's Crossing and went to see Josephine. Apparently he knew nothing of the poisoning, but he did not display any surprise when he was told of it. He saw Josephine lying dangerously ill upon a couch. He intimated several times that Mrs. Davenport might have sent the candy, and made several efforts to get possession of the box. When Mr. Jones informed him that he intended sending the candy to the prosecutor, Davenport appeared disturbed. The trial will go on today.

WILL SAVE STATE MANY MILLIONS.

New Law for Protection of Forests Goes Into Effect Wednesday.

One of the new laws passed by the last Legislature which will go into effect tomorrow is the forest fire act. The Legislature passed the measure with a view to prevent the forest fires which do millions worth of damage in the timber lands of the State. The act provides for the appointment of a State fire warden, township fire wardens, district fire wardens and fire patrol. Authority is given the fire wardens to summon at their discretion male residents of their districts to assist in putting out fires. These wardens are also to keep close watch upon their territory to prevent fires through carelessness or viciousness and to prosecute all offenders against the regulations.

A meeting will be held shortly of the State forest park reservation and the townships will be designated in which fire wardens are to be appointed by the township authorities. The rest of the machinery will then be put in operation and it is hoped by these means that many forest fires will be prevented this summer and fall. The fire losses of the State it is expected will be cut down materially by the new act.

NEW RULES FOR FEDERAL JURORS.

They Will Be Drawn From All Parts of New Jersey.

Professional jurymen in the United States courts in the district of New Jersey will be discouraged at the new ruling of the department at Washington regarding mileage, and the next United States jury, to be drawn in the fall, will have on it men from almost every county in the State. Heretofore only Trenton men, or those within easy street car riding distance from there, could serve on the juries in these courts without serious money loss, and accordingly jury commissioners have been loth to put men to the money expense incident to serving on juries in Trenton.

The new ruling of the department at Washington is that, when court adjourns on Friday until the following Tuesday, all jurymen living out of the street car service in Trenton have the right to either mileage to and from their homes or of $3 a day, to be used in paying their expenses in this city during the recess of the court. While they have the right to either of these, the marshal of the district is instructed to ascertain the cost of transportation to and the return of the jurymen from his home at the end of the recess, and if the cost of transportation is more in lieu of the per diem. Sunday also counts in the per diem allowance. This means, that jurymen from all over the State will be drawn on future United States juries, and will result in eliminating all suspicion of professional jurymen in these courts. As it used to be, a man from afar would have to pay his railroad fare to and return from his home during the recess of the court.

Another little matter that the general public does not know is that jurymen out on a case deciding a verdict can not be allowed anything to eat unless the judge gives orders in each specific case and in the circuit court, when the United States is not a party to the suit, the cost of supper, when the judge allows it, must be borne by the individual jurymen. In cases where the United States is a party to the suit, meals are supplied when the jury is not able to arrive quickly at a verdict.

STRUCK BY A TRAIN; DIED IN HOSPITAL.

Dr. Maravalag Wants Inquest For Cause of Young Woman's Death.

Miss Therresa Ripper, aged twenty-one years, a native of Hungary, was struck by a train and fatally injured at the Schiller street crossing of the New Jersey Central, in Elizabeth, at 7:30 o'clock Sunday, dying in the General Hospital a little later. She was employed in the home of Dr. Maravalag in Elizabeth, having gone there a month ago, and the doctor will insist on an inquest.

He claims that both the city and the railroad are equally responsible for the young woman's death. At the time she was crossing the tracks there were two trains, one going each way, and the young woman became confused. Miss Ripper has a mother in Detroit, who has been notified and is on her way to Elizabeth.

WOMAN ARRESTS HER SON.

Drags Him to Headquarters With Hooting Mob Following.

Learning that her son, Alfred, aged eighteen, who, she says, refuses to work, was attending an exhibition of moving pictures at Columbia Park, Mrs. Mary Sharp, of No. 38A West 24th street, Bayonne, Friday evening yanked her son from a front seat and dragged him to Police Headquarters, three blocks away, followed by a hooting crowd of five hundred.

Once the youth attempted to escape and was belabored with a stick. He was locked up, charged with being disorderly. His mother is considerably smaller than he.

Praises New Jersey Roads.

Trenton, July 3.—State Highway Commissioner Wilson, of Virginia, has been the guest for several days of New Jersey's State road commissioner, E. C. Hutchinson, and the two have been comparing notes as to modern methods in road building. Commissioner Wilson came here from Massachusetts, where he was on a similar errand. He will take an automobile tour with Commissioner Hutchinson to thoroughly inspect roads in process of construction. Mr. Wilson said New Jersey roads are excelled by those of no State that he has visited.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. It has cured many stubborn cases in Plainfield. No need to experiment. Follow the advice of a Plainfield citizen and be cured yourself.

Charles H. Lippencott, painter, of 107 Somerset street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "The statement made by me some years ago regarding what Doan's Kidney Pills had done for me was not only true at that time but now, four years later, I am glad to confirm it. I had dull heavy pains around my groins, dreadful backache, dizzy spells and in damp weather or when I caught cold the trouble was so bad I could not get about. I tried my best to find some prescription or remedy to cure me, but without success. I was suffering intensely when I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's pharmacy, but it only required a few doses to convince me that I had the right remedy. In a short time I was cured. I have used your remedy since then and with the same satisfactory result. I am glad to say anything in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills."

TWO HOLD-UP MEN HELD WITHOUT BAIL.

Arrested by Cop Who Heard Yells of Their Victim Yesterday Morning.

Yesterday morning just before 1 o'clock Officer McCracken was attracted by cries for help and police in the front of 117 Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth. He ran to the place from where the cries came, and arrived just in time to see John Henley, of 135 Port avenue, struggling desperately with two men who were doing their best to overcome him. The men ran but the cop got them a few minutes later, and Henley said that he would make a complaint against them in court this morning.

The men gave their names to the police as Charles Doyle and Albert Dixon, both residing in the downtown section of the city. They are both well known to the police and have been under their surveillance for some time.

Henley positively identified them as the men who had held him up and attempted to rob him, and both were committed without bail to await the action of the grand jury.

JERSEY'S NEW CO. MILL.

June Capitalization Put State in Third Place—Maine Led.

New York, July 3.—June was the leading month for the incorporation of large industrial companies during the past year. The aggregate capitalization of the incorporations formed during the month under the laws of Maine, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Massachusetts, with a capital of $1,000,000 and upward, was $219,600,000.

The total for June is $31,450,000 larger than the total for June, 1905, and $143,400,000 larger than during May. The total is the greatest of any month since May, 1905, when it was $226,750,000. Nearly one-half of the capital invested during the month was for the development of mining lands and one-half of the remainder for street railway and electric light properties.

Maine, with twenty-nine companies, representing an aggregate investment of $145,000,000, regains first place as an incorporating State. New York was second, with a combined capitalization of $23,250,000. New Jersey assumes third place, with a total of $14,000,000. The total for New Jersey is the smallest of any of the several months just passed. Delaware showed a combined investment of $8,000,000, compared with a total of $9,000,000 in May.

P. S. C. DIVIDEND.

Earnings Said to Warrant Division of Profits.

It is reported that the Public Service Corporation may soon declare a dividend. There has been considerable agitation in this matter for a long time, and stockholders have urged that the company's earnings warranted some division of the profits. There has been considerable opposition to this, on the ground that the company needs every cent it can accumulate for improvements, especially for the trolley roads. The advocates of a dividend claim that these improvements should be charged to permanent investment and should be represented by bonds or stock, and investors should have the benefit of increasing earnings. The company has had a profitable year, despite defects of management and its income shows a liberal surplus over the regular outgo.

Plainfield, N. J., July 3, 1906.

Pittsburg's wealth supplies more scandal to the week's news than all the tainted riches in seven states.

One year ago over 5,000 persons lost their lives as a result of Independence day celebrations. Most of the accidents were directly due to foolhardiness on the part of the victims. Let the "didn't know it was loaded" man take notice.

The North Branch stone road comes high, but there has long been a demand for it and we will soon have it.—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

Well, did anyone ever hear of Somerville not getting everything she wanted from Somerset county?

It is conservatively estimated that in a single year the tourists from this country spend $200,000,000 in pleasure seeking abroad. Last Saturday alone 15,000 Americans sailed for Europe, and the exodus will keep up all summer. Is it any wonder than that Yankees receive a hearty welcome wherever they go?

Tomorrow is the anniversary of the day on which the Declaration of Independence was signed and New Jersey together with the great majority of other states in the union observe it as a legal holiday. The banks, city offices and the shops will be closed all day and business generally will be at a standstill. There will be no issue of The Daily Press.

Thirteen ice men in Philadelphia have been held in $1,500 bail each to answer the charge of conspiracy in having raised the price of the commodity by agreement. For the sake of the struggling poor who are the victims of the outrageous extortion going on all over the country it is to be hoped that their punishment will be as swift and as severe as that meted out to the Toledo culprits, each of whom will have to serve a year in jail as well as pay a very heavy fine.

Where is the Councilmanic committee on public affairs with its proposition to inaugurate a municipal system of garbage collection and disposal? "Delays are dangerous," particularly when the existing evil is one affecting the public health. There is no doubt that Chairman Buxton and his colleagues are enthusiastically in favor of the scheme. It has the sanction of the Board of Health and the public generally. In fact there does not seem to be any opposition at all. Why then the delay?

GOV. STOKES AT THE SAENGERFEST

STATE EXECUTIVE ATTENDS PRIZE CONTEST EVENING CONCERT.

Prize singing by the third-class societies and by the United Singers of cities of the first and second-class was the feature of the twenty-first National Saengerfest of the Northeastern Saengerbund at Olympic Park, Newark, yesterday afternoon. Last night the scene of the festival was the spacious First Regiment Armory, where on an immense improvised stage 5,000 singers, including practically all the participants in the various classes, gave a concert which was attended by an audience of 10,000 persons.

Gov. Stokes was in Olympic Park yesterday. Major Carl Lentz, the Saengerbund president, escorted him. After an informal introduction at the camps of the various societies in the "city of tents," the Governor held a reception at the tent of the president. Afterward he was escorted to the auditorium to hear the prize singing. He was warmly welcomed and listened to the singing of "Abendruhe," the piece selected for the test of this class of organizations.

"The singing is very fine indeed," remarked the Governor. "Our German citizens are truly a credit to the State and the nation, for they are as progressive in all other things that are good as they are in the art of music and song."

The Governor later went in an automobile to the Essex Country Club, where he was Major Lentz's guest at dinner. Last night he attended the great concert at the armory.

There were fifteen competitors for the third-class society prize, which will be awarded for the best effort made by bunds of thirty or less members. The judges were so placed that they could not see or be seen by the singers. Nor did the judges have knowledge, except by a designating number, of the identity of the various competitors. The announcement of the prize-winners will not be made until Wednesday evening, immediately prior to the presentation of the prizes. The judges are Dr. Hans Harthan, Montreal; Louis Ehrgatt, Cincinnati; Wolfgang F. Schwartz, Buffalo; Franz Bellinger, Indianapolis, and Albert Kunzlen, Syracuse.

Six points are involved in the awarding of prizes. These are intonation, precision, phrasing and shading, pronunciation, interpretation and general empression. Each of the five judges rules on one of the first five points and combine on the sixth. It was announced yesterday that hereafter the sixth point, that of "general impression," will be eliminated from the competition.

The competing societies were: Urania Quartet Club, New York; Schwabisher Saengerbund, Brooklyn; Germania, Johnstown, Pa.; Schweizer Maennerchor, Philadelphia; Thalia, Brooklyn; Orange Maennerchor, Orange; Echo Quartet, Brooklyn; Germania, Lancaster, Pa.; Maennerchor, Jersey City; Orange Valley Junger Maennerchor, West Orange, N. J.; Frohsin, Baltimore, Md.; Friedrich Glueck Quartet, Brooklyn; Germania, East Camden, N. J., and Mozart Maennerchor, Baltimore.

The competitors in the first class of United Singers, including the full representations of cities, rendering their own selections, were Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore and Brooklyn.

In the second class for United Singers the competitors were Long Island City, Washington, D. C., Hudson County, N. J., and Camden, N. J.

At the evening concert which was under the direction of Julius Lorenz, the mass chorus was assisted by the Philharmonic Orchestra and by Schumann-Heink and Campanari.

It was decided yesterday by the directors that the next saengerfest three years hence, will be held in New York city. Washington, D. C., had some advocates, but the singers of that city yielded, as they had pledged themselves to support New York's claim.

At the armory concert last night President Lentz introduced Baron Speck von Sternberg, the German Ambassador, who addressed the audience. The Ambassador was accompanied by his wife. United States Senator Dryden and Gov. Stokes also made speeches.

MALCOLM TO FACE A FORGERY CHARGE.

Defaulting Building and Loan Man Will Be Tried at the July Term.

William H. Malcolm, the former secretary of the Passaic Building and Loan Association, who was captured in Seattle, Wash., a few weeks ago, brought back to Paterson after an absence of four years and sentenced to one year in State prison for defrauding the association of $105,000 will be tried for forgery.

It was thought that, as Malcolm pleaded non vult to stealing the funds of the association, thereby saving the county the expense of a trial, the County Prosecutor would not press for forgery indictment. Malcolm was to go to Trenton today with George W. Allee and William H. Speer, two other convicted building and loan association secretaries, but he will remain until the completion of the forgery trial, which will begin July 9.

The forgery charge dates back to the time that Malcolm, City Treasurer of Passaic, was considered the "honestest" man in that city. At that time Anton Koshabeck was one of the stockholders in the association, of which Malcolm was secretary. In the investigation that followed the announcement of Malcolm's peculations, Koshabeck's account was found to be withdrawn, under his mark, vouched for by Malcolm as secretary. Upon questioning Koshabeck it was learned that he paid money into the association after he was supposed to have withdrawn as a member, and that he would not have to make his mark, as he is well enough educated to sign his own name. Koshabeck recovered part of his money from the association.

TORE UP WATER PIPES.

Officials Descend Upon N. Y. and N. J. Suburban Co.

Acting under instructions given by Councilman William Greenfield, of Kearny, a number of Street Dapartment employees, led by Street Commissioner McQuoid, tore up late Saturday night about sixty-five feet of ten-inch pipe laid across Grant avenue late in the afternoon by the New York and New Jersey Suburban Water Company employees under the supervision of Superintendent Archibald Salmond.

The water company had no permit from the town authorities to open the street. Mr. Salmond claimed that none was necessary, as the Erie Railroad Company owned the crossing, and his company had a permit from the railroad company.

MONEY FROM PLAINFIELD PUPILS TO SAN FRANCISCO

SCHOOL BOARD HEARS THAT THEIR CONTRIBUTION HAS GONE WEST.

The meeting of the Board of Education last night developed little but pure routine business. The board room was hot to a frizzling degree, and the members made haste to finish their work and escape to the open.

Superintendent Maxson's report on the money collected among the pupils for San Francisco was the most interesting thing of the session. The children have given a total of $48 to the relief fund. Dr. Maxson stated that a check for the amount had been drawn and sent to the superintendent of schools of San Francisco.

Mr. Abbott, of the building committee, reported that the plans and specifications for the grading of the grounds about the high school would be delivered tonight. The work is important as the last step in making the new structure artistically complete. When completed, the grounds will match the park side that faces them, and the whole effect will be of a park approached to the school from the north.

Bids for the work will be advertised two weeks, and opened at a special meeting on July 17. It is usual to advertise public works of that character for only ten days, but at Mr. Abbott's suggestion the time was increased, to give local men a chance to figure carefully on the contract. The work is unfamiliar to them, and they may need time to look into its requirements.

Supt. Maxson reported that Alexander Titsworth had given three valuable historical books to the high school library. The gift was accepted with thanks.

The medical inspectors reported that 111 pupils had been examined during May. Dr. Maxson stated that arrangements had been completed to install a cooking equipment at the Whittier School.

BANKER RESCUES DROWNING GIRLS.

They Got Beyond Their Depth and Packard Heard Their Cries for Help.

Two young women, of Summit, were rescued from drowning in Lake Hopatcong, N. J., Sunday morning by Stewart Packard, a prominent New York banker.

The young women, Miss Louise Douglas and Miss Laura Perkins, went bathing in the lake with several friends. After splashing about in shallow water a while, they ventured out further to try their skill at swimming. Their friends warned them not to go too far, but they laughingly shouted back that they could keep afloat long enough to get back to shallow water.

The women were carried beyond their depth before they realized it in the enjoyment of their sport. They turned back at the cries of their friends, but became exhausted before they could find a footing on the bottom. They shouted for help, and Packard, who was near the edge of the lake, jumped in and swam to their rescue.

A boat put out after him, manned by George Douglas, brother of one of the young women. Reaching the nearest woman, Packard told her to put her hand on his shoulder while he swam to save her companion. As he grasped the latter the boat reached them and all three were hauled aboard.

The young women were almost overcome, but revived under treatment.

Fairview Council, No. 242, Jr. O. U. A. M., Mt. Bethel, will hold an ice cream festival on Thursday night, July 12, for the benefit of the council. The committee in charge consists of Joseph Zegilo, P. Dougherty, Josephine Wittman, S. V. Adams and George Friday.

Gifts For India.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First M. E. church intends to send a box of useful articles to its Bible reader in India. Donations of cotton cloth, dolls, writing pads, pencils, etc., will be received at 521 East Second street.

Commandery Confers Degree.

The Order of the Temple was conferred on three candidates at the conclave of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., last night. The meetings were then called off until September.

—Dr. J. A. Canfield, librarian of Columbia University, who delivered the commencement address here, made the graduation address at Wellesley College.

Inclusive.

Miss Coldart—No, I can never marry you. All our family is opposed to you.

Mr. Nervey—But, if you are not—

Miss Coldart—I said all our family.—The Catholic Standard and Times.

Exclusiveness.

The United Kingdom still easily leads all her colonies in the matter of the raising of cattle. She has 47,000,000 sheep, cattle, horses and pigs, as against New Zealand's 21,000,000.

Sir Patrick Keith Murray has presented to the British nation an old cushion on which the crown of Scotland rested, and it has been placed in the jewel room in the Edinburgh castle.

Lord Rosebery hopes the new liberal ministry in England will take Gen. Booth, of the Salvation Army, into its counsels in dealing with the awful problem of London's unemployed.

A candidate for parliament at the recent election in Great Britain has filed a petition in bankruptcy, owing $106,140 and having assets estimated of the value of $8,405. He was an enthusiastic "fiscal reformer."

A new party has been formed in the house of commons, but its object is not political. What it hopes to effect is a reduction in the parliamentary barber shop of the price of shaving from 24 cents to 12 cents.

OF HISTORIC INTEREST.

An edict of Charles IX. of France, dated 1563, made it a civil offense to offer any guest more than three courses at one meal. If a fourth appeared, the provider of the feast was liable to a fine of 200 francs; while the guests who partook of it could be called upon to pay the authorities 40 francs each.

Lord Avebury, otherwise Sir John Lubbock, was the first person in England to have his photograph taken. M. Deguerre, the co-inventor of the art, came to London to patent his discovery, and paid an early visit to Lord Avebury's father. The son was playing in the garden and was successfully photographed.

At the end of Washington's administration there were 16 states in the union. There was also the "Northwest Territory," as it was called, not yet organized into states—the whole wide region between the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, from which slavery had been forever excluded by a law passed by congress in 1787. The first census of the nation was taken in 1790; and the population was about 4,000,000 (3,929,214).

Turtle doves were excommunicated in Canada in the seventeenth century, and termites in Brazil and Peru in the eighteenth. Enough, however, has probably been said. The eccentricities of mediaeval judicial procedure are numerous, but this is, perhaps, one of the greatest, and one can only conclude that our ancestors must have had an abundance of time to waste if they were willing to spend it on such absurdities.

La Fayette's visit to this country (1824) as "the nation's guest" was a joyous event. He traveled through each of the 24 states, and was everywhere welcomed with delight. His visit to the tomb of Washington was full of affectionate remembrance. He was carried home in a national vessel, the Brandywine, named in honor of the battle in which La Fayette first drew his sword in behalf of the colonies.

One of the Inconveniences.

"I suppose it can't be helped," suddenly remarked little Edith, who had been thinking deeply.

"What can't be helped?" asked her mamma.

"Why, when we die I suppose we have to wear ready-made heavenly robes for a while until our own can be fitted."—Philadelphia Press.

If leather "lifts" are fitted into the heels of rubbers the overshoes will wear longer than without them.

The art of bow tying is one that every woman of limited means should acquire if she wishes to be well dressed.

Spirits of wine will clean soiled silk embroidery. Dip a camels hair brush in it and brush the trimming until all dirt is removed.

Worn silk may be patched with a scrap of the same neatly put on with mucilage. Place a piece of tissue paper over the place and iron until dry.

An overtrimmed hat is a deal more unsightly than a hat that has nothing on it but a ribbon. More women suffer from a lack of overdressing, anyway, than from a lack of trimming.

When you baste turnover collars and cuffs in your waist, take an extra stitch or two at each corner. This will prevent that ugly curling up which so often mars the otherwise trying effect of the pretty little set.

LAUNDRY LINES.

Bed linen and underclothes should be soaked in tepid water to which has been added some melted soap and some soap powder.

After putting colored clothes through the wringer rub the rollers with a cloth saturated in paraffin oil. That will remove all color from them.

Coffee and tea stains if rubbed with butter and afterward washed in hot soapsuds will come out, leaving the table linen quite white and fresh.

If starched clothes are very stiff when brought in from the line they will fold and get into shape with much less work if they are sprinkled and let lie in a heap for an hour or so before folding.

When the water is too muddy to whiten the clothes it can be cleared very quickly by stirring in a little cornmeal. The meal will go to the bottom as soon as it is thoroughly wet and will carry the solid particles with it.

THE CAREFUL LADY.

Why does the lady act like that
And hold her skirt so high?
The sun is shining very hot,
The pavements are quite dry.

I guess that she is thoughtful,
And wants to save her skirt;
I think it very nice in her
To keep it from the dirt.

Oh, no, my child, you're very wrong,
As wrong as wrong can be—
The flowers on her stockings
Are hand-painted, don't you see?
—American Spectator.

INKLINGS.

You may say very wise, even naughty, things if you are supposed to be a fool.

Secrets are the things that everybody knows—in strictest secrecy, of course.

Is there anything more amusing than to see two people who hate each other band together against yet another enemy?

Do you knew the maiden who with shocking innocence hands out the information supplied by men friends?

Everybody loves love stories—loves to make fun of them, too.

PICTURE STOCKINGS.

They're made of silk.
They're thin as gauze.
One may have them in black.
They're of the chiffony weave.
They also come in white and two tan shades.
They're exquisitely plain and cost but $2.
Why picture stockings? Why, because they are so sheer that you can see your best beau's picture through them. Also, because they're pretty enough to frame.

THE BUSY BANGLE.

How it jingles.
Some wear a number.
One girl sports a full dozen.
It's a fad to wear them all on one arm.
Each bangle is more or less (rather more) weighty.
The bangle is supposed to be the gift of a girl's fiance.
To wear a dozen argues a girl to be one of Cupid's industrious followers.

Defined.

A certain member of the Yale faculty is famous for his power of condensing his many strong antipathies into trenchant epigrams. His pet abhorrence is logic, a fact which was unknown to the sudent who recently approached him with the question:

"Professor ———, I am thinking of taking logic next year. What do you think of the course?"

"Horse sense made asinine," responded the professor, tersely.—Harper's Weekly.

Natural Mistake.

We stop on the sidewalk and look at the man who is digging the narrow, deep, long excavation.

"Is somebody going to establish a cemetery here?" we asked in surprise.

"What?" replies the man with the spade. "Naw! This is the basement for the new Vestibule Apartment House."—Puck.

Mauch Chunk for July 4th.

There is no grander scenery anywhere than you will find on the journey to Mauch Chunk via the New Jersey Central. Jersey is attractive especially in the northern section and the rolling country offers a variety of attractions the like of which no other section can boast. Pennsylvania and its mountains are too widely known to need elaboration, but Mauch Chunk and vicinity is a garden spot, if ever there was one. The Switchback Railroad is novel in as much as no motive power is needed for operation. The inclines are gradual and in the fourteen-mile journey there are many interesting experiences and fascinating scenes are unfolded with a startling rapidity. For a day's outing there is no place more thoroughly enjoyable than Mauch Chunk, and when the small cost of a day's trip is considered there is little left to be said. The New Jersey Central will run one of its popular one day excursions to Mauch Chunk on the Fourth of July by special train which will leave Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., arriving at Mauch Chunk before noon. The returning train does not leave the mountain resort until 5:30 p. m., hence there is ample time for journeying over the Switchback, visiting Flag Staff and Glen Onoko.

The Epworth League of the First M. E. church will hold a business meeting in Vincent chapel Friday night.

PRUDENTIAL PROTECTION IN NEW JERSEY.

AT the end of 1905 the number of Prudential policies held by the people of New Jersey was:

Ordinary Policies - -	42,431
Industrial Policies - -	898,553
Total Policies - -	940,984

These policies if laid out flat on the ground would cover nearly thirty acres of New Jersey territory. If stretched lengthwise they would extend 256 miles, or 100 miles more than the greatest length of the State.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Clinton avenue team has been strengthened by the addition of Walter E. Nelson, of New Market, one of the star players on Rutgers College nine. He led the Rutgers team in batting.

GOLF.

There will be a professional tournament on the Somerset Inn links on Saturday in which Aleck Smith will play for the first time since winning the open championship. Other professionals who have accepted invitations to take part are Stewart Gardner, George Low, Bernard Nicholls, Isaac Mackie, George Thompson, David Ogilvie and the Bernardsville pro, Aleck Pirie.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, the Plainfield Country Club professional, who has just returned from Chicago, where he took part in the open professional championship, speaks in the highest praise of the treatment accorded him, and says that the course at Onwentsia is the fatest he has ever played on. The day before the tournament opened he made eighteen holes in 76. He found some difficulty in getting started well the first day, the course being entirely strange to him, but he managed to finish strong, although not sufficiently enough to get a place. His score of 165 for the first thirty-six holes does not fully represent "Marty's" playing strength, for he did good work many times, especially in driving. In approaching and putting he was a little weak. The Plainfielder is not discouraged by any means and says he will again have an opportunity to redeem himself. He was the only American pro in the tournament from the East.

There will be many events at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow. There will be play morning and afternoon for the Independence Day cup, and commencing at 10 o'clock in the morning there will be play for the Men's championship cup, qualifying round, with the first round play at 1 o'clock in the afternoon; also Men's consolation and third eight cups, first round. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon there will be clock golf competition for women for a cup. Music will be provided for both afternoon and evening and in the evening there will be a dance.

The events at the Park Golf Club tomorrow include a Men's bogie handicap ball sweepstakes, thirty-six holes, starting at 9 o'clock in the morning; entrance fee one standard golf ball. There will also be special events at the Westfield Golf Club.

AUTOING.

The announcement that in addition to bicycles races there will be events for automobiles on the half mile driving track of the Raritan Driving Association tomorrow is not awakening the interest among motorists that many persons expected it would. Five and two-mile races are on the programme and under ordinary conditions would prove interesting. The truth of the matter is, the public is sick of automobile racing on tracks. The history of that branch of the sport is one long list of sickening horrors, culminating in the accident to Earl Kiser that brought a revolt against speeding on tracks by all sane followers of the sport. Racing on long stretches of country road or on fine beach stretches are exciting enough, and are filled with danger to driver and watchers as well. Yet these races are much safer than the affairs held on running and trotting tracks, and every one would regret to see the racing started again. The prospectus of the meet on the Fourth makes mention of a cup to be given the best equipped car and so the talk of racing may be just a little preamble by way of awakening interest in the whole affair. If it simmers down to an exhibition and decision on equipment, the affair will be interesting to the sport but quite tame.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

On account of tomorrow being Independence Day the mid-week prayer meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church will be held Thursday night, instead of tomorrow night.

Miss Marie Estelle Pullinger, Miss Iva Bertha Hadley, Peter Fisher and Mrs. Bertha Fisher received the right-hand-of-fellowship at the Park Avenue Baptist church on Sunday.

Assessors Want More Pay.

Following a communication from Thomas Hanna, clerk of the Union County Board of Taxation, informing the Common Council last night that under the new law Boards of Assessors have increased duties imposed upon them, another communication was received from the Plainfield Board of Assessors, through the secretary, H. C. VanEmburgh, citing the fact that under this law the assessors are required to furnish a duplicate copy of the assessment of the city, besides doing a lot of other extra work, and requesting that each assessor be given $100 in addition to his salary. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Reception to Bridal Couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Place, who were married at Oak Tree, Philadelphia, on Saturday, returned home yesterday and last night their friends and neighbors on Grove street, where they reside, gave them a kitchen shower. The affair was a complete surprise and very informal. The bride and groom received everything one could think of from clothespins to brooms and tinware. There were also many very handsome gifts besides, including cut glass, linen, silverware and many other things. Mr. and Mrs. Place gave their callers a hearty welcome. During the evening refreshments were served.

Her Lamb Was Scrappy.

Charles Barnes, colored, and Ellis Ruckman, small Plainfield avenue boys, were arraigned in the city court this morning, charged with doing unusual things to the small son of an outraged mother. Between sniffs and sobs, the boys gave Judge Runyon a glimpse of the truth in the case, and he shoved the outraged mother away with the injunction to keep her lamb from hunting trouble. He seemed to have gone after Barnes and Ruckman to look for it, and got more than he could take on.

No 1 on the List.

James Gannuzzi, the twelve-year-old son of James Ganuzzi, of Somerset street, and a boy a few years older, were conducting an ante-Fourth celebration, this morning, when Gannuzzi Jr., was shot in the hand with a blank cartridge. He set up a howl that sent his father on a run to Dr. Hughes' office and startled the whole block. The physician patched up the hand and Ganuzzi, Sr., confiscated the revolver.

Beef Company Non-Suited.

Judge Newcorn, in a reserved decision, gave a verdict of no cause of action this morning in the district court in the contract case of Swift & Co. against the Trenton Abbatori Company. The Abbatoir Company contended that the goods were purchased by Charles Stranzenbach, for himself, and not as their agent. The claim was supported, and nothing to shake it was adduced.

In the Borough Court.

Charged with drunkenness in the third degree, Morris Ballentine appeared before Mayor Smalley in the borough court last night. He was arraigned by Chief Weiss, who said Ballentine had been on a lengthy "tear." The prisoner was let go on a three days' parole to straighten out and if he doesn't he is to be rearrested and sent to Somerville.

Attended Conference Meeting.

President John E. Matthews, of Local Union, No. 480, Brotherhood of Painters, Paper Hangers and Decorators of America, attended a meeting of the New Jersey State Conference Board at Kearny, last night, as a delegate. Several matters of importance to the brotherhood were discussed.

Mrs. Angeline Dianno.

Mrs. Angeline Dianno, a young woman, died at Muhlenberg Hospital this morning. The funeral will be held from her late home on Johnson avenue tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

John Campbell, of London, brother of William Campbell, of West Front street, and Justice David Campbell, of Dunellen, has been visiting relatives in town. Mr. Campbell is one of the leading dentists in London and among his patrons have been many members of the royal families.

Singer Works Shut Down.

The immense Singer Sewing Machine Works at Elizabethport has closed down until July 9, thus giving its 7,500 employees, male and female, a week's vacation. During the suspension of business the machinery of the big plant and the stationery engines will be thoroughly overhauled and repaired where necessary. The shut-down is very acceptable to the operatives, coming as it does in the middle of the heated term.

Mr. Treadwell's Funeral.

Roland C. Treadwell, whose death occurred suddenly on Sunday, was president of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Baptist church, and the trustees acted as pall-bearers at the funeral services held this afternoon from the late home, 821 First place. Rev. A. E. Finn officiated. The trustees are George E. Hall, Frank T. Ostrom, John H. Doane, S. Arthur Krom, Louis Schofield and G. W. V. Moy.

Dinner-Dance for Miss Timpson.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Timpson, of East Sixth street, gave a large dance at the Plainfield ountry Club, last night, for their daughter, Miss Helen Timpson. There were 100 young people present to enjoy the attractive programme rendered by an out-of-town orchestra. Preceding the dance a dinner was given for the same young people by Miss Waring.

Want Better Train Service.

Councilman Mellick asked Chairman Buxton, of the public affairs committee, at the Council meeting last night what progress he had made with the New Jersey Central regarding additional fast express service, and Mr. Buxton stated that he hoped to have a favorable reply from General Passenger Agent C. M. Burt by tomorrow.

Held Special School Meeting.

The borough Board of Education held a special meeting, last night, at which the Buildings and Grounds committee was authorized to secure bids for the improvements to the Somerset building and grounds. They comprise the painting of the structure, the levelling off of the front yard and the building of a flag sidewalk.

Installing New Switches.

Employees of the Public Service Corporation installed two new switches last night, one on West Front street, near Somerset, and the other on West Front street near Grant avenue. The old switches removed had been in use for many years and were worn out. New curve rails will also be put in at these points.

Interhaven Park Meetings.

Rev. H. B. Jeffries, of Philadelphia, will speak at the open air meeting to be held at Interhaven Park Sunday afternoon at 4 oclock. The service last Sunday was conducted by Rev. Ellis Williams, of New York. His talk and the musical features proved particularly edifying to a large gathering of Plainfielders.

Brown—Henderson.

Many Plainfielders will be interested in the announcement of the marriage on Saturday in New York of Miss Marion Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Henderson, formerly of Rockview avenue, to Carl Brown, of New York, also a former resident of this city.

FREE OPEN AIR CONCERT

First of Season to Be Given By La Vere's Band Tomorrow Night.

VERY GOOD PROGRAMME

William Redmond and Eddie Weston Each to Sing Two Popular Songs.

With the best band he has ever assembled to answer his baton, Ben LaVere will inaugurate the 1906 series of summer band concerts in Concert Park tomorrow night. For the opening he has arranged a splendid programme that will include four vocal numbers from William Redmond and Eddie Weston and the overture, "William Tell," a selection that is seldom attempted by a band of less than forty pieces. Popular marches and medleys will be featured but there will also be something to delight those with classical tastes.

For the accommodation of music lovers, Mr. LaVere has had erected a large grandstand capable of seating many more persons than could be held by the one in the park last year. The number of concerts to be given will depend upon the patronage accorded it as the funds on hand now are barely sufficient to pay for the cost of two of them. The programmes will be on a high order and everything that will tend to make them worthy of support will be done. All that it necessary is for the people to attend and contribute their little mite in the form of an admission.

The band is to consist of sixteen men and Mr. LaVere declares everyone is an artist of the first water. They have been picked from the seven best musical organizations in the East and anyone is capable of giving a solo number on his particular instrument. Tomorrow night's programme will be as follows:

Star Spangled Banner; march, Souvineer de Sussis, Vereechen; overture, William Tell, Rossini; intermezzo, Moon Dear, Klein; medley selection, Von Tilzer's Hits, Von Tilzer; vocal solo, (a) You're a Grand Old Flag," Cohan; (b) Waltz Me Around Again Willie, Shields, William Redmond; Flying Arrow, Holzman; sextette from Lucia, Donisetti, by request; vocal solo, (a) Love Me and the World Is Mine; (b) The Stars, the Stripes and You," Eddie Weston; selection, George Washington, Jr., Cohan; Silver Heek, Moret; America.

Piscataway Residents Kick Against Laying Tracks Over Road at Shops.

The Piscataway Township Committee passed an ordinace Tuesday afternoon, on its second hearing, to allow the Public Service Corporation to lay the tracks and turn-outs necessary for approach to the repair shops and barn that it has planned to erect at Dewey Park. The ordinance was passed after an extended hearing, at which several protests were filed by residents of the neighborhood.

It was contended that the tracks necessary for the purpose would make the road almost unfit for traffic. Col. Hine, of the P. S. C., explained that the shops would employ three or four hundred men, and the committee decided that the benefit accruin from the proposition outweighed any disadvantages.

F. L. TENBROECK DEAD.

Ex-Mayor of Asbury Park and Proprietor of West End Hotel.

Frank Larue Tenbroeck, former Mayor of Asbury Park, and proprietor of the West End Hotel there, died last evening of heart trouble after a year's illness beginning with an attack of the grip. He was fifty years old.

Mr. Tenbroeck served three terms as Borough Commissioner, beginning in 1886, and in 1892 became the first mayor of Asbury Park. He served as mayor ten years, was then defeated by James A. Bradley, was reelected over Dr. B. S. Keator, and last fall was defeated at the Republican primaries. He leaves a widow, five daughters and three sons.

She Tried to Kill Herself.

A woman residing in West Seventh street is alleged to have attempted to commit suicide by taking poison yesterday. Dr. W. K. Browning, who was called in, had her taken to the hospital. No information as to her identity could be gained at the hospital or from the physician.

P. Kane's Purchase.

Patrick Kane, the contractor, has bought out Lawrence Paoli's business on North avenue, and will take possession in a few days. He says he intends to open up a first-class clubhouse.

FUGITIVE FROM BAYONNE CAUGHT IN DUNELLEN

M'DERMOTT'S TONGUE RAN LOOSE AND BETRAYED HIM TO POLICE.

Because he couldn't hold his tongue, Patrick McDermott, of Bayonne, was turned over by the Dunellen police to the authorities of his own city, yesterday, to answer to a charge of feloniously assaulting a policeman.

McDermott and four companions got into trouble with the Bayonne police Monday night, and they brought the row to a close by laying out an officer, with three broken ribs and other injuries that left him in a serious condition. McDermott jumped on a Lehigh Valley freight train, to lose himself to Bayonne's sight for a while. New Market looked like a quiet and retiring place, so he got off there. Tuesday, at noon time, he went in swimming in New Market lake to kill time. He made friends with some small boys who were paddling about the swimming hole, and to impress them with his importance in his home town he told them that he had killed a policeman in Bayonne.

On Tuesday night McDermott lounged over into Dunellen. Marshal Mohan didn't like the way he hung about, and arrested him as a suspicious character. McDermott gave a false name and said he came from Pittsburgh. Yesterday morning the story McDermott told the boys reached Mohan's ears, and he lost no time in telephoning to Bayonne.

The Bayonne police promptly identified the prisoner, and Detective Sergeant George W. Melaney came to Dunellen yesterday afternoon to take McDermott back to Bayonne. McDermott sighed as Melaney snapped the handcuffs on his wrist.

"I didn't think the kid would tell," he said. "This is a lesson for me, all right."

PARK CLUB'S DAY AN EVENTFUL ONE

TENNIS, FIREWORKS, MUSIC AND DANCING ON THE CARD.

Independence Day was celebrated at the Park Club in the usual pleasant way and throughout the afternoon and evening there was a large number of the members and their friends at the club. The clubhouse was decorated with American flags, red, white and blue bunting.

In the afternoon there was a mixed doubles tennis tournament. Miss Sarah M. Howell and Harry McGee beat Miss Nellie Valiant and Roland Horne, 6-0, 6-2; Miss Ball and Gus. Faber beat Miss Narnara Fleming and A. B. Laing, 6-3, 6-3; Mrs. S. F. Weaver and William Barlow beat Vaughn McGee and Mrs. C. W. McGee, 6-4, 6-2; Miss Howell and Harry McGee beat Miss Marion McCutchen, 6-0, 6-1; Miss Ball and Gus. Faber beat Mrs. Weaver and William Barlow, also Miss Howell and Harry McGee, 6-2, 6-3, and won the match.

Throughout the afternoon there were social features at the clubhouse and many games of bridge whist. In the evening there was a fine display of fireworks from 7:30 until 9 o'clock. The grounds were illuminated with Japanese and Chinese lanterns and a big crowd gathered in the inclosures to witness the display. An orchestra furnished music all the evening and after the fireworks there was the usual dance which was continued until long after midnight. The affair was in charge of the entertainment committee of the club which provided a thoroughly delightful time for everybody.

A Trolley Car Proposition.

The Public Service Corporation has a difficult proposition to solve regarding the operation of its new single-end cars in this city. The company cannot operate these cars here unless it secures permission from the Common Council to install several "Ys" at convenient points. Otherwise it would be obliged to run the cars backward to Dunellen or Elizabeth in order to turn them around. Chairman Gloak, of the street committee, says that the company was not willing to make certain concessions when it asked for the privilege of making the improvements and so long as he is chairman of the committee it will not get the desired right until it is willing to meet the city half way. The Common Council believes that the time to secure concessions from the trolley company is when the company desires something from the city.

Colbyites Meet Tonight.

Plainfield members of Union County Republican League for Equal Taxation will meet in Reform hall tonight to effect ward organizations and adopt a constitution.

BISHOPS' LAW WENT INTO EFFECT YESTERDAY

QUESTION ARISES AS TO DRAWING OF SCREENS IN BUSINESS HOURS.

All the saloon keepers and hotel men had their barrooms in shape to meet the requirements of the Bishops' law yesterday, when the statute went into effect. Chief Kiely had his men make the rounds of the places, and reported this morning that every one of them was all right under the law.

Several of the saloon keepers were put to considerable expense in getting their petitions and screens down in compliance with the provisions of the statute. In one or two cases there was a little dispute between owner and police over the regulations governing the screens from the street. Chief Kiely interprets the law as requiring a clear and unobstructed view from the street at all times, but one or two of the saloon keepers believe the law only requires screens drawn on Sundays and after closing hours.

"The law distinctly says that a clear and unobstructed view must be afforded at all times," said the Chief this morning, "and that is what will be required."

Henry Windham, proprietor of Waldorf Hotel, aroused comment yesterday afternoon by closing his cafe. He always closes early on holidays like the Fourth, but a lot of people thought he had done something that conflicted with the new law and had been closed by the police.

CITY FIRE ALARM OUT OF SERVICE YESTERDAY

ENTIRE SYSTEM DISARRANGED BY A P. S. C. HIGH TENSION WIRE.

During the hours between 9 o'clock Tuesday night and until nearly 12 o'clock last night, the city fire alarm wires were completely out of service and had it been necessary to send in a call it could only have been done by telephone. The fact became known to Chief Doane and his men early in the evening and not one of them secured a bit of sleep until the service had been fully restored. Inspector Applegate, of the N. Y. and N. J. Telephone Company, which has charge of the system, and a corps of electricians were put at work Tuesday night and they went over every wire before the firemen relaxed their vigilance.

The trouble was caused by the alarm circuit getting crossed with a high tension wire belonging to the Public Service Corporation. The current from the latter not only melted the alarm wires at various points but also burned out coils in the house gongs and caused general havoc with the entire system. In front of headquarters on East Second street, a bunch of wires that feed the circuits from the battery room, were fused together and at other points they were disconnected. The boxes themselves escaped as they are practically cut off from the system when the doors are closed.

As soon as the trouble was discovered, Chief Doane notified police headquarters and the word was in turn passed along to every one of the night patrolmen. They kept a close watch on the call boxes and all day yesterday a man was stationed at each one of them to take care of any alarm that might need to be sent, a telephone station being designated.

Fortunately there were no serious fires during the twenty-four or thirty hours in which the crackers banged and rockets flew and the only alarm received by headquarters was at 6 o'clock last evening for a blazing awning at John Praed's tailoring shop on Park avenue. A citizen had started for a box when he was headed off by Roundsman Flynn, who had also seen the fire, and sent in a telephone call. The chemical engine and a hose wagon were sent out and the blaze was extinguished in a moment or two.

Take a Day Off.

One week from today, Thursday, July 12, the First Baptist Sunday-school and Faith chapel will take their annual outing at Asbury Park and if you plan to go on this excursion you will be sure of having a good time. There are many persons who cannot take a vacation, but find much pleasure in a day off and there is no better place to spend it than at Asbury Park.

Seeing Central New Jersey.

The Somerset Club will run a trolley excursion "around the loop," Bound Brook, New Brunswick, Metuchen, Perth Amboy, Boynton Beach, Rahway, Westfield, on Tuesday evening, July 19. Cars will leave Somerset street switch at 7 p. m., returning home at midnight. Tickets may be had from members.

VICTIMS OF THE FOURTH

Number of Minor Accidents But No Fatalities as Result of Celebrations.

PREMATURE EXPLOSION

Dunellen Man's Finger Cut Off—Plainfield Boy's Face Filled With Powder—Other Mishaps.

The glorious Fourth has passed and today there is the usual aftermath of powder-marked faces, injured fingers and burned hands, though the 1906 local list contains but few very severe cases. The rain of Tuesday night and yesterday morning undoubtedly had much to do with the smaller number of accidents as very little celebrating was done while the raindrops pattered.

One of the worst cases reported had for its victim, Edward Bingaman, the fifteen-year-old son of Samuel Bingaman, of East Ninth street. He was firing off a cannon and while in the act of reloading at one time, the charge exploded. His face was filled with powder and many of the grains pierced his eyes. Dr. A. Wanzer Love was summoned and after spending six hours picking out the powder, the boy was able to see, but the sight is not entirely free from danger. A New York specialist has been called and will examine the optics today.

LeRoy Gates, a boy living on Second place, was also hurt by the premature explosion of a cannon but though his features are marked by powder grains his eyes escaped. He was attended by Dr. Love.

James Teevan, of Dunellen, aged sixty years, allowed a cannon firecracker to explode in his hand yesterday morning, and when he was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, the physicians found it neccesary to amputate two fingers and the thumb of the right hand. Today Teevan is doing well.

Raymond Manley, of Park avenue, while discharging a blank cartridge pistol, burned the palm of his left hand with the wadding. He was taken to the hospital, where the wound was dressed, after which the lad went home.

Albert Lederer, of Madison avenue, met with an accident yesterday while celebrating Independence Day that nearly cost him his right hand. He was shootinng off cannon crackers and one of them nearly exploded in his hand. However, he did not drop the cracker quick enough to escape injury. The ends of his fingers were badly torn and lacerated. The hand will be out of business for several weeks.

PLAINFIELD MAY LOSE ITS BASEBALL GAMES

TEAM TO BE WITHDRAWN FROM OVAL UNLESS PATRONAGE IS LARGE.

It is up to the baseball fans whether the Plainfield team will continue to play here during the remainder of the season. At a meeting of the Plainfield Baseball Association Monday night it was decided to play two more games on Crescent Oval and give the people a chance to show whether they want to support the team that is now representing Plainfield. In case they fail to show their appreciation the association will make arrangements to play the team away from town on Saturday, thereby giving it a chance to make some money.

Manager Daab has the strongest semi-professional teams booked and if the people want baseball there is no valid reason why the game should not be supported. The association has made some money, but has lost money on a majority of its games. Now it is proposed to play two more games here and if the patronage warrants it the contests will be continued. If not the management will fill its dates with out-of-town clubs, where good guarantees can be secured and the stockholders will have a chance to make some money. The Plainfield team would be a strong attraction in any good ball town and no trouble would be experienced in booking games.

On Saturday the Cuban X Giants will play the Plainfield team on Crescent Oval and this will afford a good test as whether the fans want baseball continued here.

LITTLE TOT DROWNED IN A PAIL OF WATER

THIRTHEN-MONTHS-OLD SON OF DOMINICK PARATTO OF ST. MARY'S AVE.

While toddling about the kitchen of his father's home on St. Mary's avenue, yesterday afternoon, Gastano Peratto, the thirteen-months-old son of Dominick Peratto, met death suddenly in a peculiar manner. The infant discovered a pail of water in the middle of the floor and was having a happy time splashing it with his hands. In leaning over he lost his balance and fell into the pail headforemost and remained in that position completely helpless.

When discovered by a member of the family, the child had been submerged for several minutes and was just barely living when taken out. Dr. Westcott was summoned and though he reached the house in a very short time death rad ensued before he arrived. The child was very robust and it was surprising that the paid did not tip over when he fell in. His head and shoulders were in it as evenly as though someone had pucked him up and carefully lowered him by the feet.

The funeral will be held at the father's home this afternoon at 3 o'clock and interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery. Peratto conducts a store at the place where he lives and is well known in the East End.

LONG LIST FOR CITY JUDGE TO DISPOSE OF

AFTER-HOLIDAY BUSINESS IN COURT—PRISONER KNOCKS "BILL SMITH."

Judge Runyon had a long list to dispose of in the City Court this morning. Drunks and disorderlies and premature celebrators of the Fourth comprised the bulk of offenders.

Mrs. Julia Saueracker and Annie Marando, old offenders both, received the heaviest punishment of the session. Arrested for drunkenness and disorder on Madison avenue, near midnight last night, they had nothing to say in extenuation of their rampage. The magistrate made it sixty days straight apiece.

John Burke, 19 years old, arrested by Officer Kelly for disorderly conduct, was fined $5. The fine was inflicted because he drew an ugly-looking pruning knife when the officer told him to move on from in front of the Babcock building Tuesday night. Burke said he only pulled out the knife to throw it away, so it wouldn't count against him when arraigned.

William K. Wilson, fifty years old, 278 East Fourth street, and Charles Callahan, thirty-five years old, 746 East Second street, were arraigned for disorderly conduct. Sentence was suspended.

John Lenoir, thirty-five years old, of Lincoln, charged with drunkenness, was released under suspended sentence.

Christopher Russ, twenty-seven years old, and George Flowers, colored, thirty-seven years old, of Westfield, arrested for scrapping after collecting jags, were discharged under suspended sentence.

Charles Dodd, forty-eight years old, of New Market, a farm laborer, was arraigned for plain drunkenness. Charles said he was drunk all right, but he couldn't tell how he had gotten to Plainfield. He understood from what people told him that "Mayor" Bill Smith brought him here.

"Do you drink with the Mayor often?" asked the magistrate.

"Well, no, not often," answered Charles. "I aint drunk with him for two years. He's sort of a grafter. I quit buying him drinks. I can't afford to buy drinks for such as him all the time. He can buy his own."

Judge Runyon laughed and suspended sentence.

Niels Bielsen, David Wolfe, Howard Wyckoff and Iram Hunt, all young fellows, were arraigned for shooting off revolvers on the "night before." Sentence was suspended with a warning to foreswear premature celebrations.

Plate Glass Broken in Transit.

A large plate glass, 6x12, to be used inside in the new Plainfield Trust Company building, was found to be cracked in several places when it was delivered at the building on Tuesday by the U. S. Express Company. It was returned to New York and another glass will be sent here.

SPENT THEIR FOURTH IN OLD HUNTERDON

PLAINFIELDERS DELIGHTFULLY ENTERTAINED AT "GRANDIN MERE."

Amidst the georgeous scenery and hospitable country of Hunterdon county, a party of Plainfielders spent the Fourth of July as is their annual custom, being delightfully entertained at "Grandin Mere," Hamden, the beautiful home of Mrs. J. F. Grandin, where she lives with her two daughters, Miss Todd and Miss Elizabeth Grandin.

The country round about Hamden is one of the most picturesque in all New Jersey and is a favorite spot for the lovers of nature. "Grandin Mere," itself, is an ideal home and its frequent house parties are always jolly affairs.

The Plainfielders included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., and son, Albert Clark; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Force, and daughter, Miss Lillian Force, and Stirling Birmingham. The other guests were Harry Hoffman, of New York, and Edward Hoffman, of Annandale.

Within and without, the home was well decorated in appropriate colors. Above the door way was the world "welcome" and in the various rooms and on the porch were flags and bunting and Chinese lanterns.

When all had retired for the night, the members of the family ushered in the anniversary of the Nation's birthday by setting off giant fire crackers and playing patriotic airs. Every hour of the holiday was spent enjoyably, driving, photography, baseball and a tea being the chief forms of entertainment. Pictures of the party in groups were taken on the lawn surrounding the home and then a game of baseball in which the guests participated afforded untold amusement. During the afternoon, Miss Grandin entertained the guests at a Japanese tea on the west porch. At night the climax of entertainment was reached when a big display of fireworks took place.

The Plainfielders reluctantly returned home this morning.

RAILROAD CHOKED OFF CHURCH STREET BLOCK

WOULDN'T BRIDGE CROSSING AND FINALLY HAD THOROUGHFARE CLOSED.

The introduction of an ordinance in the Council to vacate Church street from Third street to the railroad marks the last step in the slow strangulation of that block as a thoroughfare by the Central Railroad. The killing of the block began in 1882, when the Common Council went at the railroad to order bridges over all streets in the town.

The railroad kicked at bridging Church street. There was no need of it, the company contended, and went the length of asking permission to fill it up. The Common Council was firm against it, however, and ordered the street bridged. Then the railroad asked permission to put up a temporary structure. Some support was given to it in the effort to avoid bridging, the argument being advanced in several quarters that one grade crossing in the town was a necessity, to enable hay carters and other drivers with high and wide loads to go across town without risking a wreck in the more or less narrow confines of a bridged street.

For years the road maintained the crossing at grade, and a flagman was stationed there as at all such crossings. It never lost sight of the fact that it didn't want that street running over the line, however, and in 1900 it managed to succeed in getting an ordinance passed closing the street.

Boat Owner Prefers Complaint.

Constable Robert Pierce, of New Market, came to the city this morning to arrest two boys named Russ and Witteman, who live on Plainfield avenue, on a charge of stealing a boat from Charles Rogers, of New Market. They hired it from him several days ago and after enjoying a row on the lake left it somewhere near Samptown and decamped. The parents of the boys promised to make restitution and they were not taken in custody. Rogers has been greatly annoyed by boys hiring his boats and forgetting to come back and he has determined to put a stop to the practice.

Held a Family Reunion.

A family reunion was held yesterday at the home of former Councilman James Craig on West Front street, near Jefferson avenue. Forty relatives from this city, New York, Brooklyn, Poughkeepsie and Dunellen were in attendance. The affair for the most part was conducted on the lawn and included fireworks, music, dancing and a dinner.

NETHERWOOD CAMP OPENS

Miss Sarah Currie Arrives This Morning With First Party of Children.

200 AT THE CAMP

Formal Opening Meeting at the Camp Sunday Afternoon—Children to Stay at Netherwood for Two Weeks' Vacation.

Transferring her immense "family" of nearly 200 children from The Little Missionary's Day Nursery in New York city to the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp, Miss Sara Curry arrived at Netherwood for the summer today with a small army of tenement children. Taken from the crowded districts of the lower east side of New York, the children come to this city with Miss Curry to spend a few weeks' vacation away from the intense heat.

The delegation which arrived today numbered 175, including about a score of mothers. The big party left Miss Curry's Day Nursery, on East Eighth street, near First avenue, at 9 o'clock this morning, taking the 10 o'clock local from Jersey City. David M. Torrey,—the "Papa" Torrey of the camp—helped marshal the children across the city, but will be unable to come to the camp until Sunday, when the formal opening will take place.

This morning and indeed for the past week, half a dozen of the New York mothers have been at work at Netherwood making the camp ready for Miss Curry today. In stages and on foot, the 175 children, dressed in Sunday best, and carrying bundles and satchels for their two weeks' vacation arrived at the camp at shortly after 11 o'clock with Miss Sara Curry. By this evening, there will be 200 children at the camp, for another party is to come out from New York in charge of one of Miss Curry's helpers late this afternoon.

In speaking of the success of her work at the Little Missionary's Day Nursery during the winter, Miss Curry said that the season had been a hard one for the tenement house people. The heat thus far this summer has been especially fierce and there is much sickness.

With very few exceptions, the children who came to Netherwood last summer stood the winter well.

No regular servvices will be held at the camp this week, but the formal opening will be held at the meeting Sunday afternoon and the local churches will then take charge of the meetings for the summer.

PATRIOTIC PORCH PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., Entertain at Delightful Affair.

In observance of Independence Day, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of Grant avenue, entertained at a patriotic porch party last night. Forty guests attended.

A brilliant display of fireworks was a feature of the evening. The porch was decorated with Chinese lanterns and flags. From 7:45 o'clock until 9:30, Mr. Hetfield, assisted by George E. Firstbrook and Fred H. Firstbrook, set off an elaborate assortment of rockets, mines, flower pots and other fancy pieces, including a number of pyrotechnic balloons that shot balls of colored fire as they mounted in the air.

Music and dancing were enjoyed after the fireworks. E. D. Cutting and John Traynor sang, Irving Martin played piano selections, and Harry K. Lister played phonograph selections. Before the refreshments were served a patriotic grand march, with red fire burning and flags flying, was led about the grounds by E. D. Cutting and Mrs. Hetfield.

Linton B. Crandall Weds.

Announcements have been received here today of the marriage of Linton Brown Crandall, who has charge of the manual training department in the North Plainfield High School, and Miss Adelaide Blanchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Johnson Blanchard, of Linwood, Massachusetts. The wedding took place on Tuesday at the home of the bride's parents. The couple will be "at home," in Plainfield after October 1. The bride has been an art teacher at Alfred University, and she and her husband have many friends here.

Held Big Cracker Too Long.

James Treevan, of Dunellen, an employe at the Aluminum Plate and Press Works, will carry a maimed hand the rest of his life because he was too familiar with a giant firecracker yesterday morning. He held the cracker in his hand while lighting it, and kept hold of it a second too long. Its explosion tore off his right thumb, and ripped open three other fingers.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The married and single men of the Plains played the second of their series of games yesterday afternoon on the local diamond. The contest was one of the most interesting as well as exciting contests of the season and it was only by the narrowest of margins that the single team won out, the score being 7 to 5. The benedicts had the game won several times, but loose playing as well as base running at critical stages of the game lost them the advantage each time. The benedicts took the lead in the second inning, scoring two runs. In their half of the third the single men evened the score and in the fourth took the lead, 3 to 2. The fifth and sixth innings both sides were blanked, but in the seventh the men of "cares and troubles" took a batting rally and brought two men across the plate, tieing the score again. Their happiness was short-lived, as the single men scored another tally and were once more the favorites. The first half of the eighth found the "famly men" once more to the front, with a lead of one run. Their troubles began when the single men came up with a determined look to do or die. Their looks put fear in the hearts of their married brethren and before their courage could be revived the game was lost, as three runs were scored, one of them being a home run on a passed ball. The benedicts were unable to do anything in their half of the ninth, as their ambition seemed to have died from their scare in the eighth. The two teams lined up as follows, the single men being the regular ball team: Alberts, c; Frentz, p; Fitzgerald, 2b; Miller, 1b; Baldwin, ss; Schreinbeck, 3b; Eller, cf; Johnston, rf; Reick, lf. The benedicts were the old familiar faces of from 6 to 10 years ago: S. MacCauley, c; "Jimmy" Montross, p; B. MacCauley, 1b; "Billy" Lee, 2b; Ed. Hand, ss; J. Alberts, 3b; Guttridge, rf; George Johnston, cf, and J. Alberts, lf. Smiling Jimmy's countenance in the box was a welcome sight and with support Jimmy would have walked away with his game but the contest was a good natured one and errors brought laughs as well as double plays brought cheers from both sides. Following is the score by innings:

Married	0	2	0	0	0	2	1	0	—	5
Single	0	0	2	1	0	0	1	3	x	7

The night before the Fourth was one of the quietest in town in a number of years. This was no doubt due to the rain, which dampened the ardor somewhat of "young America."

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Flannery, who have been visiting Mr. Flannery's sister, Mrs. George H. Johnston, have returned to their home in New York.

The rain yesterday morning kept many of the residents at home who had planned to spend the day enjoying an outing at some of the nearby resorts.

Miss Evelyn Buckley left today for a stay of three months with her grandmother, Mrs. Francis Wight, at Holland, amid the Massachusetts hills.

Thomas Dobbins and family, of Newark, spent the Fourth with his mother, Mrs. Robert Walpole, of Front street.

Mrs. Stevens and daughter, of New York, are spending the summer at Mrs. Charles N. Flanders, of East Front street.

Mrs. William S. Corey, of Park avenue, is spending several weeks with relatives and friends in Berlin, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sharp, of Front street, entertained friends from out of town yesterday.

CURRENT LABOR NEWS.

John Burns, as president of the Local Government Board in England, says that the government will take up the old-age pensions questions when the report of the Poor Law Commission has been received. Personally he considers that it would be best, simplest and fairest in inaugurating an old-age pension scheme to give everyone a pension of 5s. per week on reaching the age of 65, military, naval, civil and municipal pensioners to be excluded.

At a conference of delegates from the building trades, held at Sydney, Australia, recently, to discuss the workings of the New South Wales arbitration act, the feeling was that the act, in its present form, was not acceptable to organized labor. LINKS WELL PATRONIZED

Goodly Number of Events on Both of the Local Courses Yesterday.

THE WINNERS OF CUPS

T. C. Talmadge Secures Independence Day Trophy at Country Club—Dinners a Side Feature.

Independence Day did not open auspiciously for the devotees of the popular game of golf, the showery condition of the weather having a tendency to keep many players away from the local courses. However, toward noon it cleared off and the afternoon was delightful, attracting many players to the links. At the Plainfield Country Club in addition to the play on the course, there was an orchestral concert throughout the afternoon and dancing in the evening, when a number of dinner parties were given, including one for sixteen persons by Miss Otterson. The clubhouse was attractively decorated with red, white and blue and large and small American flags were displayed from the flag pole and the clubhouse.

The events on the course included the first round play for the Men's championship cup in which Robert Abbott beat Dudley H. Barrows, 4 up and 3 to play; W. Lester Glenney beat Henry D. Hibbard, 1 up; Frank C. Talmadge beat Frank O. Reinhart 1 up in 20 holes, and C. B. Morgan beat J. E. Erickson, 8 up and 6 to play. For the Consolation cup, for the second eight, C. A. Stover drew a bye and will play Stuart H. Patterson, who beat E. E. Iremonger 4 up and 3 to play; Edgar I. Serrell beat Thomas R. VanBoskerck 4 up and 2 to play, and George T. VanBoskerck beat A. L. Otterson 1 up in 19 holes. The remaining rounds will probably be played on Saturday.

In the competition for the Golf Committee cup, Robert Abbott won first honors, Stuart H. Patterson second, while C. B. Morgan and Dudley H. Barrows divided the remaining point. The scores were as follows:

Robert Abbott, 73, plus 2—75; Stuart H. Patterson, 90, 13—77; C. B. Morgan, 79, 0—79; Dudley H. Barrows, 79, 0—79; Edward J. Patterson, 97, 17—80; Frank C. Talmadge, 83, 2—81; W. Lester Glenney, 80, plus 2—82; J. A. Lane, 93, 11—82; W. D. Riggs, 96, 13—83; J. P. Murray, 97, 13—84; H. D. Hibbard, 90, 5—85; Frank O. Reinhart, 83, plus 2—85; G. F. Earl, 103, 15—88.

The Independence Day cup was won by Frank C. Talmadge, who returned a net score of 75. The scores:

Frank C. Talmadge, 77, 2—75; Frank O. Reinhart, 75, 2—77; H. D. Hibbard, 82, 5—77; Stuart H. Patterson, 90, 13—77; Robert Abbott, 76, plus 2—78; Edward J. Patterson, 90, 10—80; George T. VanBoskerck, 92, 11—81; Julius E. Erickson, 92, 10—82; J. A. Lane, 93, 11—82; C. A. Stover, 92, 10—82; W. D. Riggs, 96, 13—83; C. B. Morgan, 84, 0—84; J. P. Murray, 97, 13—84; W. Lester Glenney, 85, plus 2—87; G. F. Earl, 103, 15—88.

Miss Maude VanBoskerck won the clock golf competition for women in the afternoon with a score of 21. The scores:

Miss Maude VanBoskerck, 21; Miss M. B. Morgan, 25; Miss Stewart, 26; Miss L. VanBoskerck, 26; Mrs. C. A. Stover, 27; Mrs. C. W. King, 32; Mrs. Eugene Hatch, 36.

The events at the Park Golf Club yesterday comprised a bogey handicap, 36 holes, all day, and an approaching and putting contest in the afternoon. The rain in the morning put a large part of the course under water and made play difficult, but in the afternoon conditions were much improved. Charles B. Morse won the handicap event, being 12 down to bogey. Charles A. Reed finished second.

In the approaching and putting contest there were fourteen entries. Miss May Shreve and R. B. Carroll were the winners with a score of 8, while Miss Harriett Shreve and Charles B. Morse came in second with a score of 9.

There was plenty doing at the Westfield Golf Club all day yesterday. In the morning there was play for the Fourth of July Handicap cup. J. B. Wilson won with a score of 77. The scores:

J. B. Wilson, 90, 13—77; D. S. Faile, 102, 17—85; W. M. Townley, 88, 4—82; W. P. Howe, 91, 5—86; J. H. Greene, Jr., 103, 16—87; C. P. Lord, 105, 16—89; R. W. Rawlins, 102, 12—90; S. J. Patterson, 98, 8—90; F. G. Harris, 105, 14—91; Dr. Atkinson, 103, 10—93.

The afternoon event was a mixed foursome, the winners being Miss R. Bedell and S. S. Poor with a net score of 91. The scores:

Miss R. Bedell and S. S. Poor, 106, 15—91; Miss Noe and W. J. Bogert, 101, 4—97; Miss Mabel F. Kimball, and A. D. Tuttle, 112, 12—100; Miss H. Thayer and Joseph Sherman, Jr., 105, 5—100; Mrs. J. A. Johnston and George E. Cruse, 112, 8—104.

JERSEY COAST WILL HEREAFTER BE KEPT CLEAN.

New York Promises to Abate the Floating Garbage Nuisance.

Trenton, July 5.—Secretary Mitchell, of the State Board of Health, received assurances today that New York city will take immediate steps to prevent the further defilement of the Jersey coast by the dumping of garbage in New York bay. Dr. Mitchell had just submitted a report to the Governor when he secured the information, and he at once began the preparation of a second report, setting forth the asssurance of New York that the evil would be abated forthwith.

A representative of the State Board of Health called upon the department of street cleaning in New York yesterday afternoon, and in the absence of Colonel Woodbury, the commissioner was received by Captain Gibson, deputy commissioner. Captain Gibson stated that since the fire on May 20, which destroyed part of the reduction plant upon Barren Island, New York had been compelled to revert to the plan of dumping a large part of its garbage and waste material at sea.

Complaints he said, had been received from Jersey City, Coney Island and other places which, upon investigation, proved to be fully justified. Indeed, in one instance, New York shipped part of its street cleaning department to Coney Island to clean up the beach. Captain Gibson said that the trouble was due to the failure of employes having charge of the towing boats and scows to observe the orders compelling dumping at designated points at least ten miles from Gedney's channel.

Hereafter this rule, he promised, would be vigorously enforced, and if this did not give relief the distance would be increased to twenty-five miles. If necessary, Captain Gibson said, a vessel would be stationed at the dumping grounds and captains of tows compelled to bring back tickets for every load of refuse taken down the bay.

—The July meeting of the Board of Health was postponed from Tuesday afternoon to tomorrow afternoon.

SHOT DEAD HIS CHUM, WHO WAS ALSO HIS RIVAL.

Messino Says That the Shooting Was Accidental—Police Believe It Was.

Joseph Belanco, eighteen years old, of Academy and Wilsey streets, Newark, was shot dead last evening by Joseph Messino, seventeen years old, of Rutgers street, Newark, in the home of Josie Rolli, eighteen years old, of No. 14 Comes street.

Both young men were admirers of the girl and were chums. Messino says the shooting was accidental. The boys had taken supper with the Rolli family, all of whom, except the girl, went out to see the fireworks, leaving her with her callers. Belanco asked her to go to a near-by store and buy some blank cartridges. When she returned she heard a shot and found Belanco dead on the floor, with Messino standing over him with a smoking revolver in his hand. She gave the alarm and Messino was arrested. He says the revolver was discharged in removing it from a nail on which Belanco had hung it. County Physician McKenzie believes murder was done, but the police, after an investigation, are inclined to believe Messino.

EAST ENDS PRISON STRIKE.

Trenton Convicts Yield to Get a Fourth of July Dinner.

Trenton, July 5.—With an extra Fourth of July dinner in prospect, fifteen convicts at the State prison, who were on strike, promised to be good and were released from the dungeons to which they were sent for infraction of the prison rules.

They struck because they did not get enough meat to eat. They made no complaint of the cooking or quality of the meat. They wanted to arbitrate, but Warden Osborne ordered them back to work, and when they refused to go sent them to the dungeons.

GOVERNOR E. C. STOKES AT MONTCLAIR AFFAIR

HE PRESIDES OVER THE FOURTH OF JULY EXERCISES.

Independence Day was celebrated in Montclair yesterday with exercises in the High School Assembly Hall, over which Gov. Stokes presided. The orator was Congressman Charles B. Landis, of Indiana. On the platform were Mayor Duncan, who introduced the Governor; Thomas Russell Robert M. Boyd, Jr., and Rev. Dr. Abner H. Lucas.

Gov. Stokes upon being introduced said in part:

"The American born son of an English Ambassador, who had been waving the Stars and Stripes and shooting firecrackers, once said to his father on being asked by the latter what he was doing, 'This is the day we licked you.'

"The issuance of the Declaration of Independence," continued the Governor, "required courage, and it has required courage to maintain it. There is an old German saying 'I hope we will be better off tomorrow than we were yesterday.' No American ever said that. He wants to be better off today than yesterday and better off tomorrow than he is today. That is the American spirit that has made this country what it is today.

"We have become a world power," said the Governor, "not for power alone, but to establish equal rights and religious liberty, and today our flag is respected throughout the world. We mean to make this land the country of liberty and enlightenment as it is today of commerce and trade."

The Governor then introduced Congressman Landis, of Indiana, who said in part:

"We have solved the problem of self-government. We have more homes, we have more children going to colleges, more peace and joy and hope than ever before in this country since the beginning of the world.

"There is no use for any one who lives under the Stars and Stripes to be a pessimist. You never knew a pessimist to advocate any advancement in our condition, not even to favor an increase of salary of a member of Congress.

"I wish to strike the note of optimism, to establish good environments, homes and good society. I will always remember what the president of my college said when he was bidding my class good-bye, which was: 'You are going out into the world, boys, and don't forget that it is a good old world.' It was, and it is a better one now."

Mr. Landis said people are in the habit of sympathizing with a poor man's boys as they have no chance in the world, "but I sympathize with the rich man's sons," he added, "because they have absolutely no chance in the world. It is sons like Harry Thaw that I sympathize with because he never had a chance to become anything."

When Mr. Landis mentioned the name of President Roosevelt there was prolonged cheering. He said that he admired the President, who, although born with a silver spoon in his mouth, got down to hard work. Instead of giving himself up to a life of ease and luxury, the President had grappled with great problems and had won.

ELIZABETH'S CELEBRATION WITNESSED BY THOUSANDS

COMPANY K AND WINFIELD SCOTT POST TAKE PART IN THE PARADE.

Thousands of people, among them several hundred from this city, witnessed the exercises in connection with the unveiling of the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument at Elizabeth yesterday. Every detail as arranged was carried out and despite the great throng that flocked into the city nothing occurred to mar the ceremonies.

The dedicatory ceremony took place in Military Park, where the monument stands, and was participated in by Maryor Berry, and a majority of the city officials. The oration was delivered by Rev. Dr. Henry Elliott Mott and Frank Bergen acted as chairman. The shaft was presented by ythe city in honor of its soldier dead.

The dedicatory parade was a feature of the day and was one of the largest ever given in Elizabeth. Company K, of this city, and members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., were in line. The procession started at 10 o'clock but long before that time the streets were almost a solid mass of waiting humanity, the rain being ignored.

At night a big display of fireworks took place on the Circus grounds and it was viewed by at least 200 Plainfielders. The Public Service Corporation had on extra cars between this city and Elizabeth and took care of most of the sightseers, handling the crowds in good shape.

TENANT PUT IN RAIN; ALEX. KANE WINS CASE.

Dominick Revere, an Italian who lived in one of the spite houses on Lake street, which were recently sold and are now being torn down, brought an action against Alexander Kane, in Justice Mosher's court, this morning, claiming damages for being put out of the house in the rain Saturday night. Kane has the contract to tear down the shacks and Saturday afternoon he removed the roof from over Revere's quarters, forcing him to vacate. W. A. Codington, of the firm of Reed & Codington, represented Kane and because Revere brought action against the wrong man, Justice Mosher dismissed the case.

Alex. Kane.

Being incensed at Revere's action, Kane then brought a counter-charge against the former claiming that he threatened to kill him. There was not sufficient proof of this and this case was dismissed. John P. Owens represented Revere.

Nicholas Martone owned the shacks and sold the property to Edward Perkins, of New York, who has planned to building a handsome dwelling there, after the shacks are removed.

Stone from Blast Smashes Rocker.

A blast at one of the stone quarries in the Notch, a few days ago, hurled a stone weighing ten pounds fully a quarter of a mile away to the home of George Chandler on Johnson's drive. It landed on the porch, smashing a rocking chair and making a racket that greatly frightened the occupants. The same blast sent a shower of smaller stones along the Notch road, but none of them caused any damage.

—Miss Charlotte O. Lyon, of West Sixth street, while riding her wheel to the North Avenue station, this morning, collided with a horse and carriage at Park avenue and Fourth street, and was thrown off. She escaped injury.

The latter's badge was taken from him and he will be arraigned before Judge Runyon this afternoon. Conroy is a married man and resides on West Second street.

New Jail Not Completed.

The new Somerset county jail at Somerville is not ready for occupancy and Sheriff Cooper does not know when the prisoners will be transferred. Workmen today completed taking off an end of the county clerk's office so it will not obstruct the building of the new court house. Nothing has been done toward moving the old structure, excepting to take up the flagging in front and on the one side.

No Appointment Yet.

The Jersey City Board of Health met Monday night, but contrary to expectation no further action was taken regarding the selection of a health inspector, for which position L. R. Thurlow, of this city, was a candidate. Two weeks ago the board met and Mr. Thurlow failed to have a sufficient number of votes to elect him. It is believed that the question will be settled within the next two weeks.

Mrs. K. Hartpence Surprised.

Mrs. K. Hartpence, formerly of this city, but now of Vineland, was given a surprise party last night by the members of Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, and the members of Hope chapel, at the home of Mrs. H. Thompson, of West Fifth street, where she is visiting. The affair was given in honor of Mrs. Hartpence's birthday anniversary.

Dorsey Hyde, Jr., Injured.

A premature explosion of a small cannon in the hands of Dorsey Hyde, Jr., of Belvidere avenue, a few days ago, resulted in a quantity of powder scorching his face. Dr. Endicott was called and fixed the lad up. The injuries were not serious.

Dr. Henry Crouse's Funeral.

The funeral of Dr. Henry Crouse, aged fifty-two years, was held yesterday at his late home at East Millstone. He was stricken with appendicitis and was taken to Somerset Hospital at Somerville, where he passed away.

THE FIRST STAGE-COACH.

Line Started Between New Brunswick and Trenton, N. J., in 1744.

As public conveyances or the stage coach had been in vogue in England since 1610, the establishment of a similar conveyance was demanded in America many years before the war for independence, says the Metropolitan Magazine. As early as 1744, therefore, a stage line started to run between New Brunswick and Trenton, N. J., and by 1756 this route had been extended over from New York to Philadelphia. Moreover, as in England, so in America—the advent of the stage coach necessitated marked improvements in the highways, while the building of better roads and turnpikes naturally created a greater demand for more coaches, and, what was more to the purpose, lighter vehicles. In 1771 there were but 38 conveyances of every description in the city of Philadelphia, but by 1794 their number had increased to 827—more than two-thirds of which were comparatively light vehicles—a condition which led one of the local papers to publish a most deprecatory article concerning the use of conveyances in which it was stated that "even farmers wanted carriages."

Poplars in Search of Water.

The thirsty roots of a row of poplar trees in Traverse City made it necessary to take up and replace the tile drain which the trees choked and in some instances destroyed. Seeking for water the roots struck out for the sewer. Balked by resistance, but not discouraged, they traveled alongside, searching for weak or imperfect joints through which to enter, and when such were found they promptly occupied them, the roots knotting up like a den of snakes in winter quarters. In one instance several roots traveled side by side many feet, inspecting every inch of pipe along the way for a weak joint in the defenses.—Detroit News.

Unmarked Churches.

"One of the greatest difficulties I encounter in seeing New York," complained the visitor, "is the lack of signs on your churches. I notice a beautiful church, and, of course, want to know what it is. A little tin sign on the side seems a help, but when I consult it I learn only the name of the undertaker. Why should the church advertise him to the tourist instead of stating its own name and denomination? This having an undertaker thrust on you when you're out sightseeing is something of a shock."

Courteous Epitaph.

More courteous in its wording than most epitaphs is one in a Derbyshire churchyard which, after giving particulars of birth and death, concludes: "'Twas said he was an honest man."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning July 8.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Forgiving and being forgiven.—Matt. vi, 14, 15.

The importance of the petition in the Lord's Prayer on forgiveness is illustrated by the fact that it is the only petition upon which Christ enlarges after the prayer is closed. He teaches us to pray "forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors," and then at the end of the prayer, to emphasize the great importance of this petition, he continues, "For if ye forgive men their trespasses your heavenly Father will also forgive you, but if ye forgive not men their trespasses neither will your Father forgive your trespasses." In this form of presenting the fact that forgiveness is necessary to forgiveness there is no spirit of retaliation. It is not an arbitrary refusal to forgive us because we will not forgive others, but before we can be forgiven we must forgive. Necessity and not retaliation demands a forgiving spirit on our part before we can be forgiven. The unforgiving man is in no condition to ask forgiveness from God. He is still in sin and willingly in sin, and "if we regard iniquity in our hearts God will not hear us." He cannot hear us. Human forgiveness does not merit divine forgiveness. It is simply one of the conditions upon which it is possible for God to forgive us, and unless we fulfill the condition we cannot be forgiven.

Christ's reference to forgiving suggests that there are those who need our forgiveness, those who are in our debt. And all know this to be true. Men not only sin against God, but against one another. Primarily all sin is against God, yet most of our sins involve wrong to our fellow men at the same time. In his prayer for forgiveness in the Fifty-first Psalm David declares, "Against Thee and Thee only have I sinned," but at the same time in his grievous sin against God he had committed a great wrong against an officer in his army. We do wrong one another, and sometimes very grievously, but when men have wronged us it is our duty to forgive men, as it is their duty to forgive us if we wrong them.

To forgive is not natural to the human heart. "To err is human; to forgive, divine." And the spirit of divinity that makes it easy for man to forgive is not very largely possessed by him. The human desire is too often to exact punishment for the wrong done. But let us remember that vengeance belongs to God. "Vengeance is Mine, saith the Lord, I will repay." No guilty man escapes. But if we will leave the exaction of the penalty to God it will be the easier for us to forgive. Our unwillingness to forgive is largely inspired by our desire to exact payment of the debt that is owed to us. By allowing God to collect the debt for us, by leaving vengeance to Him, where it belongs, our minds will all the sooner be brought to the point where we can forgive even the greatest wrongs against us and live without malice and hatred toward our fellow men, "a consummation devoutly to be wished."

Christ's reference to being forgiven suggests the fact that we need forgiveness. This fact also needs no demonstration. We wrong our fellows and need their forgiveness. But, above all, we sin against God and need His forgiveness. And the condition of our being forgiven is our willingness to forgive others. We should rejoice that our God is so willing to forgive us; that He "is slow to anger and plenteous in mercy;" that "His mercy endureth forever." Our debt to God is a great one, and yet He forgives and forgets. We can forgive, but it is folly to think of our forgetting, at least, the fact. But God "remembers our transgressions no more against us." God forgives fully and forever. As His children let us imitate this example. Let us not forgive that we may buy our own forgiveness, but because forgiveness is characteristic of our God and His desire toward us. Deeply grateful for God's attitude of forgiveness toward us, let us freely and fully forgive all who have wronged us in thought, word or in deed.

Tributes From England.

The following tributes to Christian Endeavor were made by members of the British national convention:

It is rather late in the day to say anything to vindicate the existence and the work of the C. E. society. It has vindicated its own existence by its magnificent extension and by the splendid work it is doing in many countries for the Master.—Rev. William Park, M. A.

Lots of people look upon C. E. societies, Y. M. C. A.'s and other organizations and seem to think that they are showrooms for the exhibition of finished work. These societies, however, are factories for the manufacture of fighters.—Rev. J. M. Alley.

By your society you have solved one of the greatest problems of the church in laying hold of the young and vigorous life and harnessing it to the work of the church.—T. F. Shillington, J. P.

It is because we believe that the C. E. society has banded together tens and hundreds of thousands of young men and young women in the country to engage in this noble and tremendous conflict with the evils of the present day—for this reason we bid you welcome to our midst this evening.—Rev. William Park, M. A.

The Christian Endeavorer will be a man as straight as a die, as true as steel, a man whose word will be as good as gold.—Rev. J. M. Alley.

July 8—"The Claim of the Church Upon My Life"—I Cor. iii, 11; II Tim. ii, 19; Acts i, 6-8; I Cor. iii, 16; Eph. iii, 6; Matt. xviii, 18-20.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

Amid all the discordant views of the nature of Jesus Christ one thing is coming to clearer recognition by all—that is, He lived a life such as no other man ever lived and displayed a character as the basis of His life which is immeasurably nobler and more manly than any other man has ever shown.

He claimed to know God and to reveal the inner nature and purposes of God regarding men. No one else ever conceived such lofty ideals and showed such admirable qualities. He created a new ideal of manhood. Elements which had been accounted weak and contemptible He so used as to awaken admiration and carry conviction of their superior worth.

He gave new ideas and definitions to many old terms as He lived the actual life before the eyes of men. Brotherhood had been proclaimed since the days of Moses, and men supposed they knew its meaning. When they saw Him walk among them and felt His deeds and heard His words it seemed to them that they were facing a new life. He said just what the old prophets had said, but, oh, in what a different way! He not merely acted lovingly as a Hosea and wept as a Jeremiah and exulted as an Isaiah and discriminated as an Ezekiel, but He was the very essence of all this in Himself. He was love. It was all as natural as breathing as men saw Him so doing. Nor did it seem so strange when He said, "Ye must be born again." Such a new life must need a motive power hitherto unknown in them.

As men gave themselves up to His influence they felt the transforming power of a new love coming over them. It thrilled the heart and cleared the vision and fixed the purpose until they seemed to themselves and to all others "new creatures in Christ."

With such people brought together, united by the bond of mutual allegiance to Christ, there must arise a new social life. He called it His "assembly," "ecclesia," "church."

All who feel the impulse of this higher, diviner, more human life are drawn into this association by mutual attractiveness.

"What claim has this church on my life?" It has the authority as custodian of truth to claim all my powers in devotion to search for truth. It is to give me protection, guidance, sympathy, assistance of all needed kinds.

It is to claim my heart's affection and reverence and all assistance within my power that her mission to the world may be accomplished.

Her doctrines I must know adequately.

Her fellowship I must cherish above all other fraternity.

Her institutions I must assist to develop.

Her privations and persecutions I must share.

Her work in lifting men up to God I must appreciate and devote all my powers to its accomplishment.

God is Father, Jesus Christ is Brother, the church of God is mother. Let us love with all our hearts through the Holy Spirit, our Sanctifier.

The Fatherhood.

"I was taught from my childhood to call God my Father in heaven," said a lady, "but it is only in later years and through many blessed experiences that I have learned to know Him as"—she hesitated for a word and then added, with a smile—"as such a fatherly Father."

The adjective sums up a blessed truth that all of us are slow to learn and that many never learn at all and so miss the precious gift that Christ meant to bestow when he taught us that name for the Highest, "our Father." Fatherhood implies much even in the earthly relationship, with all its imperfections and limitations. It means protecting love, self sacrifice, a tender care that shares in every grief and joy, guidance, wisdom and strength, all freely to be drawn upon in every hour of need; it means forethought and provision for the future; a great heart that longs to bless, shield, enrich and crown with every possible good and yet love to the "level of every day's most common need."

The earthly father may be leading his little child to a palace home where every luxury awaits, but that does not lessen the tenderness with which he stoops to comfort every stumbling step, every brier hurt or stone bruise by the way. Let us take into our hearts the sweetness of the knowledge that through all the days and all the ways God will be to us a "fatherly Father."—Forward.

When Life Nears the End.

When we come to the end of life it is not the wisdom we have acquired or the wealth we have gained or the fame we have won that we like to remember, but the love we have given and received.

In Times of Affliction.

In affliction see the necessity of it and be humbled; see the use of it and improve it; see the love there is in it and be thankful.

Westward.

Lord, in the path where I must walk
With weary feet toward setting sun,
If Thou wilt lead I'll follow on
Until the journey shall be done.

Whisper to me as night comes on
The milestones that I cannot see.
Grasp with Thy power my failing strength
And let my soul be stayed on Thee.

So when I near life's closing day
May I be lost in sweet amaze
As all the glory of the west
Is flashed upon my eager gaze.
—Mary R. Baldwin in Christian Work and Evangelist.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Philistine for July contains an article entitled "A Little Journey to the Home of Mary Baker Eddy," by Elbert Hubbard. The preachment is written in the doughty editor's best style and is bound to attract attention. One notable passage is the following: There is an adage to the effect that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country. An adage is sometimes true and sometimes not. In the case of Mary Baker Eddy the adage just quoted goes away. Mrs. Eddy has the good will of Concord, and very many of the leading men and women of the city are Christian Scientists. The Christian Science Church at Concord cost upwards of two hundred thousand dollars, and was the gift of Mrs. Eddy. Over the entrance, cut deep in granite are the words, "Presented by Mary Baker Eddy, Discover and Founder of Christian Science." In all of her literature, Mrs. Eddy sets out the unqualified statement that she is "The Discover and the Founder." She is not apologetic—she assumes no modesty she does not feel—she speaks as one having authority as did Moses of old, "Thus saith the Lord!" She enters into no joint debates; she does not answer back. This intense conviction which admits of no parley is one of the secrets of her power. Homeopathy modified the dose of all the Allopathists; and Christian Science has nearly eliminated the Hahnemanian theory of attenuations, it having been found that the blank tablet cures quite as effectively as the one that is medicated. Christian Science does not shout, rant, defy or preach. It is poised, silent, sure, and the flagellants, like the dervishes, are noticeable by their absence. The Rev. Billy Sunday is not a Christian Scientist. The Christian Scientist does not cut into the grape; specialize on the elevated spheroid; devote his energies to bridge whist; cultivate the scandal microbe; join the anvil chorus or shake the red rag of wordy warfare. He is diligent in business, fervent in spirit, accepts what comes without protect. He not only banishes pain, but also poverty, for poverty is a disease.

Charles Dorman Robinson, whose illustrations (one of them reproduced in color from the original pastel) of the San Francisco fire will appear in the August Century, has seen his home city burn four times. He was in the fires of 1851, 1853 and 1854, as well as in the much greater catastrophe of 1906. Mr. Robinson succeeded in making a painting of the recent fire when it was at its greatest heright, on Thursday night from eleven to three in the morning. He painted thirteen pastels also, several of which the August Century will reproduce.

The Forum, the representative high-class American quarterly review, is out, with its tri-monthly summary of progress and results in the main lines of contemporaneous thought, activity, and civilization. In "American Politics," Henry Litchfield West discusses Presidential possibilities, the approaching Congressional campaign, and the imminence of sweeping tariff reforms. A. Maurice Low includes, in his abstract of "Foreign Affairs," the inauguration of the Russian Duma, the deposition of Witte from the premiership, England's successful diplomacy abroad and Parliamentary wrangles at home, the awakening of China, the disarmament proposition in Europe, and the Spanish royal wedding. Timely topics of "Finance," treated by Alexander D. Noyes, are the singular situation created in the money market by the San Francisco earthquake and fire, and the Russian loan. In his review of "Applied Science," Henry Harrison Suplee considers the important question of rebuilding San Francisco, and the problems involved in the mine disaster at Courrieres, France. Henry Tyrrell gives a comprehensive chronicle of the dramatic season, and sets forth the detailed prospectus of the New Theatre. Two literary articles of sterling value are Prof. Trent's appreciation of Thomas Hardy's "Dynasts," and William T. Brewster's criticism of some "Types of Recent Biography."

"Many's the bears I have shot in the woods, but I'll never forget the big one I let get away because he was so wise I thought he would some day maybe find his way into one of them trained animal shows you fellers have in the big cities. It was nigh onto five o'clock in the afternoon that I first saw this geezer, as I was paddlin' a sport back to our camp-ground, and there was Mister Bear rummagin' around amongst our grub, just like he was at home, with never a smell of us, and we within handy, spankin' distance of him—so I told the sport to keep still, and there we sat in the canoe and watched him. First, he knocked our jug of syrup off the table, and he rolled in it till I thought he'd stick to the ground. Then he waddled over to the flour barrel and upset that and got the flour stuck to the syrup until he looked might like a polar bear from Alasky. When he thought he was enough stuck on himself he walked over to our fire and rolled around pretty near close enough to it to get burned for about five minutes. Now, if he wasn't making ginger cake for the little cubs he had left back in the woods, you can put me down for the biggest liar you know!"—James Leddy Pequignot in July "Recreation."

Less than two years ago, a prospector lost his way on the desert, near the California line, in Nye county. Famishing with thirst, he became delirious. At length he fell in the hot sands and lay, unable to move, until death came to his relief. On the spot where that man's body was found is now the town of Bullfrog. A water-works plant costing fifty thousand dollars supplies an abundance of water. There are hotels with baths in many rooms, and residences equipped with all the modern, paraphernalia that make for comfort, and through them flows in abundance the previous liquor for lack of which a poor prospector perished only a few months ago on this very spot. Electric lights illume streets where only the stars of heaven looked down on the death of the donely miner, and within the radius of a very few miles there are now about fifteen thousand people. That is the way Nevada is growing. —From "The Awakening of Nevada," by Clarence H. Matson, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for July.

DIAMOND DUST.

On Saturday the biggest, best and "better-than-all," colored baseball aggregations, the Cuban X Giants, will be the attraction. The dusky stars are stronger than ever this season and have lost but 6 games out of 68 played. Three former members of the All Cuban team are in their lineup. The Cubans plays here Saturday and on the following day appear on the Hoboken grounds.

At the beginning of the season fans failed to see where the locals were a stronger hitting combination than last season. For the past month there is a different tale. The stick punishment of this season has never been surpassed and it is hard to believe if any of the league stars would fare any better than the twirlers who have gone down during the past few months. Sunday against the Patersons nineteen safe hits were registered, including a fair assortment of double and triple deckers.

Jimmy Bertwhistle has captured the fans of Bridgeport with his heavy hitting. If he keeps up his present gait it is believed he will lead the league at the close of the season and far outshine the record of "Pop" Foster, who is now with the Newarks.

"Red" Waller, the Bridgeport runaway, is pitching for Long Branch, in the Atlantic Coast League. The league is now an assured success, all of the towns drawing big crowds and the excitement intense.

Baseball fans of Asbury Park and Ocean Grove will have an opportunity of seeing fast ball this season. Arrangements were completed last week for the Princeton College champions, intact, to represent the two summer resorts.

A game that will interest local fans will be the contest booked for Sunday, July 15, between Hoboken and St. John's Catholic Club, of Jersey City. The game between the two nines in Plainfield early in the season was abruptly ended in the fifth inning by rain, the score standing 1 to 0 in favor of the locals.

It begins to look that Manager Murray, of the Jerseys, will be obliged to give Billy Foxen a rest. The former Hoboken pitcher has been working regularly since the opening of the season and has been winning games.

The game scheduled between the Clinton Avenues and East Millstone to be played at East Millstone, was called off on account of the rain.

GOLF.

Entries for the National amateur golf championship, which will begin on Tuesday, July 10, on the links of the Englewood Golf Club have closed with Secretary W. Fellowes Morgan. A big list of golfers is virtually assured, for the location of the championship course in the Eastern district this season means a big entry from this city, the Boston locality, and Philadelphia. H. Chandler Egan, the two-year champion, will come on from Chicago to defend his title. He has not been playing as much this year as formerly, and it would be a surprise if a new champion does not come to the front this month. Egan made the best showing of the amateurs in the open championship last week at Onwentsia, near Chicago. He tied for tenth place, not a particularly brilliant showing for the amateur champion of theUnited States. His score for the 72 holes was 313 strokes, while Alec. Smith's winning from Walter J. Travis on the Englewood course last Saturday is indicative of a desire on his part to regain his championship honors. Travis has been playing excellent golf this season, beginning well by winning the Garden City open tournament. In the metropolitan championship, however, he was less fortunate, for after surviving to the semi-finals he was defeated, not by his customary rival, Jerome D. Travers, but by E. M. Byers. It then remained for Travers to defeat Byers in the final and take the metropolitan title. Travers is sure to be a National championship contender, and all of his best local men will be in the field.

ROEBLINGS WIN EASILY

Trenton Batters Find Deegan Without Trouble and He is Taken Out of the Box.

SCORE BEING 8 TO 4

No Game in the Morning Here On Account of Rain—Contest at Trenton in the Afternoon.

Local fandom was greatly disappointed yesterday morning when a heavy shower at 10 o'clock caused a postponement of the baseball game between the Plainfield team and the Roeblings, of Trenton. There was more than ordinary interest in the contest as it was the first appearance here of the Trenton team and the prospects of a record-breaking crowd were good. The visiting aggregation reached here at 8:45 o'clock in the morning, and although dubious them, the weather cleared later and there was excellent prospect for a game, until the shower came up at 10 o'clock. Both teams were on the field, ready for play.

According to the arrangements the teams left about noon for Trenton, where a game was played in the afternoon. Plainfield lost by a score of 8 to 4. Deegan opened the game for the visitors, but Manager Daab was obliged to take him out in the sixth inning, when the Roeblings made six runs. "Phil." Smith then went in and only one hit was made off him the rest of the contest.

TROTTING RACES POSTPONED.

Heaviness of the Track Results in Their Being Put Over to Saturday.

Because of the heaviness of the track, the trotting races scheduled to take place at the Driving Park yesterday afternoon, were postponed until Saturday afternoon. The committee in charge states that the importance of the meet will not be lessened in any way as all of the horses entered have been kept over and will compete on the new date.

The postponement will undoubtedly result in a much larger crowd attending as many horsemen in various parts of the State made no arrangements to attend yesterday because of counter-attractions. There will not be near so many Saturday and it will give them an opportunity to be on hand.

The Somerset A. C., of the borough, played two games with the Raritans at Raritan, yesterday, winning the first contest by a score of 5 to 2 and losing the second by a score of 9 to 1. The borough boys played a fine game in the morning, but in the afternoon errors lost them a second victory.

The line-up: Somerset A. C.—Mullin, c; McLaughlin, p; G. Conover, 1b-p; Enright, 2b; H. Conover, ss; Beisel, 3b; Peacock, lf; Brokaw, cf-1b; Shiller, rf; McVoy, cf. Raritans—Williams, c; Kraft, p; Burns, 1b; M. Enright, 2b; Burke, ss; Hoyle, 3b; Ammerman, cf; P. Hickey, lf; C. Hickel, rf-p.

Clinton Avenue Won.

The Clinton Avenue team defeated East Millstone at East Millstone yesterday afternoon by a score of 3 to 0. It was one of the best games ever played on the home team's grounds and was witnessed by a large holiday crowd. Both teams were pretty evenly matched, although the Plainfield boys did a little better stick work.

SILVER TRUST DEFEATED

Plainfielder Frustrates Attempt to Prevent Use of His Own Name.

BY PERSERVERANCE

W. H. Rogers Wins In Fight to Use His Own Name On Silverware Without Intent to Defraud.

The International Silver Company has failed in its attempt to obtain from the Court of Chancery an injunction enjoining William H. Rogers, of this city, from stamping his silverware with the mark "W. H. Rogers," "William H. Rogers," "Wm. H. Rogers," or any mark of which the word "Rogers" is a characteristic part. Vice-Chancellor Stevens has filed an opinion refusing the injunction, and at the same time discussing exhaustively the rights of a man to the use of his own name, showing under what circumstances this may not be done. The effect of the decision is to hold that a man's name is his own and may be used by him with freedom unless it be clearly shown that it is with intent to defraud.

The Rogers litigation, in which William H. Rogers of this city has been for so many years engaged against one of the wealthiest corporations in the country, is a striking example of what pure grit and a steady nerve will accomplish against great odds.

Mr. Rogers not having sufficient capital at the outset of his business, formed a corporation, but after several years fighting through all the courts, it was decided that whatever might be the rights of Mr. Rogers individually, he did not have the right, under the special circumstances of the case, to give his name to a corporation. As Vice-Chancellor Stevens said, referring to the complainant in the first case: "Its case rested and was decided wholly on the likelihood that customers would or might be deceived because of the similiarity of the name." In his first opinion, the Vice-Chancellor pointed out that the corporation unnecessarily adopted a name that was likely to prove misleading * * * * "as has often been said, the whole vocabulary of names is open to those who organize a new company, while the individual is not responsible for his name and ought ordinarily, in common honesty, to use it and do business under it." The opinion held that even in the case of a corporation, the question is whether there has been a representation, false in fact, though ignorantly or innocently or mistakenly made.

The result was that the corporation was enjoined from using the name Rogers in any form whatever, but there was no decree against Mr. Rogers personally. The Wm. H. Rogers Corporation was successful on one branch of the case, and a very important branch, namely, as to the demand for profits and damages during all the years that it had conducted business. The Vice-Chancellor, and also the Court of Appeals, decided this question in favor of the Wm. H. Rogers Corporation.

Mr. Rogers put himself in the hands of his counsel, Craig A. Marsh, with the result that the old corporation first changed its name and then took proceedings whereby it was dissolved, and Mr. Rogers started in business for himself under his own name, stamped on the goods as follows: "W. H. Rogers, of Plainfield, N. J.," and in addition to this, he printed on his labels, box covers and in his advertisements, the words, "Not connected with any other Rogers." He selected patterns of his own. He obtained control of a patented process by which the silver was deposited more thickly on the wearing parts of the spoon than on the other parts, without increasing the quantity of silver per gross. He conducted the whole process of manufacture from start to finish, in his own factory, and under his own supervision. He made his goods of a quality which has no superior in the market. When the International Silver Company's lawyers sent him a registered letter, threatening suit if he continued to manufacture in his own name, he ignored the letter and increased his manufacture. The threatened suit was promptly begun and pressed with the utmost vigor. On the trial before the same Vice-Chancellor who heard the original case, the printed book of testimony, containing 649 pages, was put in evidence, and numerous other witnesses from all over the country were examined. The long opinion just filed by the Vice-Chancellor is exhaustive of the whole subject, and decides that Mr. Rogers is now a bona fide manufacturer of all the goods put out in his name, and that he is entitled to conduct his business in the way in which he has been conducting it, and that the complainant's

ZELAYA'S ROMANCE HAS A SQUALID END

NICARAGUA PRESIDENT'S SON NOW HELD AS A SNEAK THIEF.

Alphonse Zelaya, son of the President of Nicaragua, and the former Plainfield student, was arrested at Washington, D. C., yesterday, charged with petty larceny. He was released on $10 collateral bail. Only Wednesday he was engaged to play the piano in a downtown Washington saloon.

This scion of the first family of Nicaragua about a year ago met Miss Marguerite Baker in a boarding-house at Washington. They were planning their wedding one day last December when the young man was seized and carried from the house to an apartment-house, where he was confined several days, and then started on his way to Nicaragua. He vowed vengence on his abductors, who were thought to be agents of the Nicaraguan government, and declared he would return to marry Miss Baker.

He went to Washington again last spring, and he and Miss Baker were married. They went to New York with the intention of sailing for Nicaragua. They never got any further. Zelaya's funds ran low, and no money reached him from his family or the legation.

The situation became so grave that Mrs. Zelaya returned to Washington. She stayed a short time with friends and then rented a room in the central part of the city. When she had been there three weeks her husband came back. That was a week ago. The landlady asked for the room, and Monday, while the husband was away, Mrs. Zelaya moved out and went to friends. Zelaya had found another abode.

Then occupants of the boarding-house discovered that they had been relieved of various articles. Zelaya, so it is alleged, made the mistake of wearing a shirt belonging to Policeman Sampson, who lived in the house. The policeman swore out the warrant for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Zelaya have separated, "this time for good," so the wife says. She vows she never will go back to him, and the romance which began so rosily about this time last year has been shattered to smithereens.

STABBED WITH A STICK.

Angry Greek Lad Jabs An Inch of Wood Into Newsboy.

Charles Garfinkle, an eleven-year-old newsboy skylarked with George Sergeios, a Greek boy who sells peanuts at Watchung and North avenues, yesterday afternoon, until the latter lost his temper. Sergeios picked up a sharp stick and jabbed an inch of it into the other boy's leg.

One of the injured boy's playmates took him to police headquarters, where Dr. Lufburrow dressed his hurt. Sergeios was locked up. In court this morning, Judge Runyon's examination disclosed the fact that the young Greek has been unmercifully nagged and teased by the boys and loafers at the corner, and the magistrate decided that he deserved leniency. He was released pending an investigation of the amount of the doctor's bill to be paid by Mrs. Garfinkle, which he will be ordered to settle. He was warned to stop taking the law in his own hands, and the judge promised him full protection from his annoyers.

More Storm Sewers.

With the completion of the second extension to the storm sewer now proposed for Richmond street, it is believed that much of the flooding by surface water in heavy rains will be obviated. The next storm sewer work to be undertaken will probably be on Plainfield avenue, between the railroad and Eighth street. Councilman Tyler was anxious to have this work put through last year, when the first section of the Richmond street storm sewer was provided for, but he was assured that the Plainfield avenue sewer would be given equal consideration this year.

Conroy Held For Grand Jury.

John Conroy, the special policeman arrested on a charge of grave misconduct with Annie Marando, was held for the grand jury yesterday afternoon without bail. He was arraigned before Justice Mosher. Conroy was taken to jail in company with the Marando woman and Mrs. Julia Saueracker, who were given sixty days apiece by Judge Runyon in the morning, when arraigned on the charge of disorderly conduct that led to Conroy's arrest.

New Officers Installed.

The newly-elected officers of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., were installed at the meeting last night by Past Councilor Russell Hazard. No other work was done last night, but it was announced that there will be initiation Thursday night, July 12.

NEWSPAPER A NECESSITY

A. C. Pleydell Says It is an Integral Part of Modern Civilization.

ANSWERS PHILISTINE

Plainfielder Declares Papers Absolutely Indispensible to a Democratic Government.

A. C. Pleydell, of North Plainfield, an authority on the subject of single tax and other questions of political economics, disagrees with Elbert Hubbard, the "Frau Albertus" of the Philistine, regarding the modern newspaper. On many occasions, the daily journels have made some sharp thrusts at the East Aurora philosopher, only the other day the New York Globe picturing him as "working one side of the street" while the head of the Christian Science Church was working the other side. While he writes in an interesting vein, what Elbert Hubbard says is not generally taken seriously.

Mr. Pleydell's letter follows:

Editor, The Daily Press:

Nothing is easier than such undiscriminating denunciation as that which Elbert Hubbard visits upon "the daily newspaper" in the article you printed Monday. The only criticism which is worth while, however, is that which discriminates between the good and the bad, and when it does point out the evil in things shows the cause and if possible the remedy. The newspaper is not only an integral part of modern civilization but it is an absolute necessity to a Democratic government. It is the source of information by which the people can determine the conduct of public affairs.

In olden times the market place and the coffee house were the centers of information, and if one-half of what contemporary writers tell us is true there was considerably more of malicious gossip in proportion to real information when our ancestors met to interchange their views than there is now in the average paper. Of course there are papers and papers. Those which thrive on sensationalism and malicious gossip should be treated precisely as the people who are given to that sort of thing are treated; that is, avoided by decent people.

Elbert Hubbard tells us of the commuter who refused to read the daily papers but instead carried a volume of Emerson on his journeys, and is now "wielding a large healthful influence in a rational way." That means of course that he indulges in platitudes and leaves it to his fellow commuters who read the newspaper to deliver the country from the insurance sharks and monopolists of various kinds. I do not wish to disparage the reading of Emerson, and if a man cannot find time to read the classics he might do worse than to read newspapers whose writers show an acquaintance with the good things of literature. But we have gone far beyond the stage when mere scholarship and knowledge were sufficient to class a man as eminent. What we want now is not only people who know things, but people who do things. If a man must choose between the two he had better forget about Emerson and find out from the daily papers how much there is to be done in order to make the world a better place to live in, and some of the ways in which he can help in doing this.

It is worth while noting that Elbert Hubbard was contended for awhile to give his views to the dear public through his own magazine, but he is now taking to syndicating them through the same wicked newspapers that he so unsparingly denounces. Does he abstain from participating in the profits that their bad proprietors are extracting from the public?

A. C. PLEYDELL.

North Plainfield, July 6, 1906.

Repairing East Front Street.

Under the direction of Street Commissioner Gavett, East Front street, between Park and Watchung avenues, is being repaired with a top dressing and the steam roller has been working there for a few days. This is the first repair work on this section of East Front street in eight years. It was decided to fix the street after the Public Service Corporation completed its work of laying new rails and ties along that thoroughfare. West Front street, between Grant and Clinton avenues, will be similarly fixed when the trolley company finishes its work of repairs to the tracks.

The full list of committees for the year was also announced. In the selections, Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur, of this city, is made chairman of the committee on stationery and is also a member of the committee on audit and miscellaneous accounts and agreements. Freeholder William Westphal, also of this city, is made chairman of the committee on jail inspection and also a member of the committees an appropriations and the Elizabeth draw-bridge.

It was decided to build over a small creek at Garwood and the usual procedure will be followed. A committee was also appointed to inspect a bridge at Alton and ascertain what repairs are needed there.

It was announced that the work on the new bridge at Scott avenue in this city, would be started on Monday. This will be a concrete structure and will cost about $1,000. A report of progress was received on the Leland avenue bridge. This structure will be completed within the next two weeks. As to the West End avenue bridge it was stated that the work is progressing although not as fast as desired.

The full list of committees is as follows:

Collector's bonds—Meisel, Darby, Gladek; publication — Robinson, Kline, Smith; discharge of prisoners—Wahl, Chandler, Robinson; settle with collector—Krouse, Cady, Smith; auditing accounts—Cady, Wilbur, Woodruff; lunacy—Adams, Meisel, Swain; public grounds and buildings—Krouse, Cady, Woodruff; jail inspection—Westphal, Wahl, Murphy; stationery—Wilbur, Smith, Kline; settle with sheriff—Robinson, Perry, Chandler; miscellaneous accounts and agreements — Darby, Wilbur, Gladek; legal questions — Meisel, Gruener, Perry; appropriations—Krouse, Westphal, Cady, Kline Woodruff; county roads—Adams, Krouse, ensen, Gladek, Swain; Elizabeth draw-brides—Jensen, Westphal, Murphy; Rahway draw-bridge—Gruener, Chandler, Gladek.

County Attorney W. R. Coddington announced a settlement of the suit of Charles Simpson against the counties of Union and Morris, which has been pending for a year. Simpson was injured while crossing a bridge dividing the counties and claimed damages. He finally agreed to settle for $100, each county paying half.

In anticipation of the collection of taxes it was arranged to borrow $100,000, according to the annual custom. Freeholder Woodruff offered a resolution which das adopted, providing that constables and justices of the Peace shall receive their pay after the adjournment of the Grand Jury. The estimated cost of the new bridge to be built at Garwood is $17,050.

ROOSEVELT WON'T BE AT BRYAN RECEPTION.

President Declines to Preside at Meeting of Commercial Travellers' Anti-Trust League.

President Roosevelt has declined the invitation of the Commercial Travellers' Anti-Trust League to preside at the reception to William J. Bryan in Madison Square Garden on August 19. Secretary Loeb wrote that the President has already announced his positive intention to accept no invitations for the summer.

The Bryan reception committee, determined to show the non-partisan nature of the reception, has sent invitations to Senator La Follette and Gov. A. B. Cummins, of Iowa, to address the gathering.

Fire Alarm Again in Trouble.

The city fire alarm system, which was put out of business by a P. S. C. high tension wire, Tuesday night, went on a rampage this morning and though four men have been inspecting the circuits they have not located the trouble yet. A break exists somewhere and it first made itself known shortly before 7 o'clock by the wild tooting of the gong. It continued to blow every few minutes until 8 o'clock and since then there have been frequent blasts. The trouble is probably due to the same cause that crippled the service all day Wednesday.

WARD BRANCHES FORMED

Colbyites Get Their Lines Shaped For the Approaching Battle.

MEETING ALL BUSINESS

Organization Effected Without Speechmaking or Frills—Permanent Officers in Two Wards, Temporary In Other Two.

Ward organization was effected by the Independent Republicans last night. Representative adherents of the new idea from all the wards gathered at Reform Hall, and drew up their lines for the battle at the polls on September 25. In two wards, the Second and the Third, the organization was permanent. The First and Fourth elected temporary officers and will choose permanent leaders at meetings to be held next week.

The gathering was one for business, and business only. No speeches were made, and branch organization work was entered upon as soon as Chairman G. W. V. Moy explained what steps were necessary to the general meeting. The various ward delegations met in separate corners of the hall, and got right down to business. There was considerable discussion on the constitution, and the meeting lasted until after 10 o'clock. N. Mansfield Smith was general secretary.

The First ward chairman is I. B. Hill, and C. B. Vail is secretary. Permanent officers and committees will be chosen at a meeting to be called by the secretary.

In the Second, the officers were chosen as follows: Chairman, Howard Tracy; vice chairman, G. E. Hall; secretary, Philip Suffern; treasurer, C. H. Frost; executive committee, E. E. Iremonger, Edward Willis, F. L. Holt, Samuel Merwin, William Taylor, Clarence Goss.

The officers of the Third are: Chairman, David E. Titsworth; vice chairman, F. E. Kinsman; secretary, J. Stephen Higham; treasurer, G. W. V. Moy; executive committee, First district, Dr. A. F. Van Horn, W. M. Stillman, Jacob Kirkner; Second district, J. H. Cose, Clarence L. Murphy and Elliott T. Barrows.

The Fourth's temporary officers are: Chairman, E. D. Cutting; secretary, N. Mansfield Smith. Permanent organization will be effected at a meeting to be called by Mr. Cutting.

The same constitution with the exception of a minor change or two, was adopted by all the ward branches. It is as follows:

ICE MEN AND COAL DEALERS TO BE PROSECUTED

Wealthy Resident Asks Attorney General For Advice on Proper Procedure.

ALLEGED COMBINATION

Indignant Citizen Believes That the Ice Dealers Are in a Combination in Restraint of Trade.

Proceedings will shortly be brought against the ice men of Plainfield in an effort to prove that they are in a combination in restraint of trade, according to a prominent and wealthy citizen who has interested himself in the matter on his sole responsibility. The Daily Press is not at liberty just yet to announce the name of the man who says he will conduct the fight on behalf of the local consumers, but that he is in deadly earnest is evidenced by the fact that he has already communicated with Attorney-General McCarter.

The Attorney-General has been asked to define the mode of procedure and to furnish any information or instruction that would be of value in conducting a suit against the wholesale and retail dealers. It is promised that there will be no delay once the law authority for the State has replied to the query. Just what form the action will take is not decided and cannot be until the Attorney-General is heard from.

"I am determined to have the matter investigated in a proper way," said the indignant Plainfielder today. "I intend to get some light on both the ice business and coal business here. Nobody else seems willing and therefore I have undertaken it."

The man in question is one of the wealthiest and best known citizens of Plainfield. He believes that there is a monopoly in the ice business here and that the retailers are in a combination that fixes prices and regulates the trade. He likewise believes that there is a local "coal trust."

Steps to correct the conditions brought about by the alleged ice combine have also been taken by the Plainfield Protective Association. The executive committee has the matter under advisement and action will be taken as soon as data sufficient to proceed upon is gathered.

SENTENCE HANGS OVER HER.

Mary Moore Gets a Scorching Call-Down from Judge Runyon.

Mrs. Mary Moore was arraigned for the second time within three days in the city court this morning, for drunkenness, and Judge Runyon gave her the most scathing rebuke he has administered to any prisoner in a long time. Her husband stood by and heard the biting Runyonization with frank approval. It was on his complaint that the woman was arrested.

After telling her that she was a "brute, a sodden beast, unworthy of being called a woman," and other raking things, Mrs. Moore was allowed to go under suspended sentence for the sake of her husband and children. But the sentence hanging above her is the limit—$100 and fifty-nine days in jail—and it will fall the first time she reappears in court.

"You'll come back," said the judge. "I haven't any hope that this will keep you away. But the minute you reappear that sentence will fall and nothing will keep it off."

Mr. Moore said he would make arrangements to have the children put away the next time his wife was arrested. Mrs. Moore left the court room with the choice between cutting out booze or going to jail for six months.

PUMPING STATION SITE.

Committee Having Difficulty In Arranging For One.

The street and sewer committee in providing for an extension of the sanitary sewer in the southwestern part of the city, where it will be necessary to establish a pumping station, has not yet decided upon a location for the station. An attempt was made to get the option on a certain piece of ground in that part of the city without acquainting the owners as to the purpose for which it was desired.

The matter leaked out in some way and the owners put the price up so high that the committee did not think it advisable to consider it. Now it will probably be necessary for the committee to select some suitable site and have the city pay the price set upon it by the owner.

Ordination at St. Stephen's.

It is likely that within a short time arrangements will be completed for the ordination of Rev. Arthur Searing Peck, rector of St. Stephen's church. Mr. Peck, who has been away from the city for the benefit of his health soon expects to return to his pastoral duties. When he took charge of the work at St. Stephen's church, he was located in the mission at Trenton and was sent to Plainfield by Bishop Scarborough. The services will be held at St. Stephen's church and Bishop Scarborough will attend.

William Sweeney in Buenos Ayres.

Mrs. Sweeney, of Liberty street, has received several interesting letters from her son, William Sweeney, who is now in Buenos Ayres on a business trip. He says that he likes the country very much and the people are very hospitable. Since arriving there he has been the guest at a number of dinners given by prominent residents. He says that all the modern improvements in any up-to-date city in the United States are to be found in Buenos Ayres. He does not know when he will return to New Jersey.

Remember the Church Outing.

No more profitable day can be spent than to go with the First Baptist Sunday-school and Faith chapel on the annual excursion to Asbury Park, Thursday, July 12. A full day at this popular summer resort with all its new attractions and plenty of sea breeze should be a strong inducement for a great many people to go on the excursion.

Afflicted Family.

Richard Norwood, of this city, received a telegram last night from his brother, William Norwood, of New York, informing him of the death of his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Norwood, in Washington, yesterday. This is the fourth death in the Norwood family within a few weeks. Richard Norwood left last night for Washington.

Souvenir From Former Plainfielders.

Col. Stirling received a beautiful souvenir postal card yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Eoff, of Crescent avenue, who are now visiting their daughter, Mrs. Bostwick and her husband, at Gibralter, Spain. They expect to travel all summer through several foreign countries and return home in September.

Borough Places Not Affected.

The Bishops' bill, which has affected four liquor selling places in Plainfield, has made practically no difference in the conducting of the borough's dispensaries. All come under the hotel clause having been licensed as such and Chief Weiss has found that they comply with all the requirements. The only thing the proprietors need to do is to remove screens during the closed hours and this has always been done voluntarily.

Runyon To Be At Big Meeting.

City Judge Runyon will be one of the principal speakers at the monster "New Idea" mass meeting at Newark next Thursday night. All the prominent leaders from all parts of the State will have seats on the platform. The popular magistrate has also been asked to speak at a Colby movement meeting at New Brunswick next Tuesday night, but had to decline because of "New Idea" plans for that night in Plainfield.

"At Home" Cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marvin Dolliver, who were recently married in New York, and who have been spending their honeymoon in Wilton, Maine, are expected home today or tomorrow. They have issued cards for an "at home" Thursday night, July 12, from 7 to 10 o'clock, at 82 Fairview avenue.

Nearly Bit Her Tongue Off.

A small niece of Mrs. Joseph Soukup, of Dunellen, while playing about the latter's house Wednesday, fell down and caught her tongue between her teeth. The tongue was nearly bitten in two. Dr. Brakeley attended to the child and stopped the loss of blood.

Will Teach In Suburb.

Miss Daisy Brouard, of this city, has been appointed a teacher in the Dunellen schools. She will teach the fourth grade. She was voted $45 a month salary.

MOVING TIME IS HERE.

Many people who have been dissatisfied with their apartments during the past winter would like to move to better themselves, but cannot afford to.

Why not come in and talk with us? If you owe a little back rent or grocery bill or the doctor or coal man, or you need money for rent in advance, it might possibly be an advantage to get a small loan, say $10, $25 or possibly $50, of us, and then pay it back in small amounts, either weekly or monthly, to suit your convenience. We loan from $10 up—any sum—any time. The possession of household goods, piano, or horse and wagon, are sufficient evidence of your ability to pay. A postal will bring us to your door.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

George Utter, who claims Baltimore as his home, was given sixty days in jail by Justice Von Minden yesterday. He was arrested Tuesday night in company with Patrick McDermott, the tough character who was wanted by the Bayonne police. He was held for investigation, but nothing to connect him with McDermott's crimes developed, and the justice sent him down the line to keep him out of mischief. McDermott appears to be one of the toughest things Marshal Mohan has had the sharpness to take in. He is charged not only with assaulting an officer, but with burglary and with two highway robberies.

Dan Moody, who was recently sent to jail for ninety days, was released this week on parole, through the leniency of Justice Von Minden. He is still under bail for his appearance before the grand jury to answer to a charge of assaulting his mother.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivaled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

SHOOTS GRANDDAUGHTER.

Aged Man Thought Revolver Had Blank Cartridges.

Annie Lodos, seven years old, was shot and killed on the Fourth of July by Andrew Orasko, her grandfather, in their home, at Perth Amboy, N. J.

Orasko was handling a revolver, which he says he supposed to have contained blank cartridges, when it exploded. The cartridge entered the child's eye and left the head at the base of the skull. Alexander Krettinger, twenty-two years old, of No. 145 Sherman avenue, Jersey City Heights, has served papers in a suit for divorce from his twenty-year-old wife who was Miss Gertrude Horn.

—Franklin H. Merrill, of West Front street, has purchased a handsome new automobile.

—Chief T. O. Doane, of the fire department, has not decided just how or where the fire alarm box, No. 13, on Park avenue, opposite North avenue, will be located. It may be decided to place a small unobjectionable pole where the large pole is located and put the box on it, or it may be placed at North and Park avenue, where there are small iron poles at present.

A noted physician of Pittsburg, Pa., in a recent letter to Dr. Oidman says:

"In your prescription known as 'Pepsoids' you have given the medical world the greatest and most valued discovery in medicine of the present century. You have at last solved the problem that has baffled the skill of the best physicians of recent times, how to cure permanently all Acute or Chronic Stomach Diseases known as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh of the Stomach and Digestive Weakness. I have used your prescription, 'Pepsoids,' in hundreds of cases without a single failure. I attribute the success of your treatment mainly to the fact that the disease germs of the stomach cannot resist Pepsoids. Your theory that most Stomach Diseases are brought about by multitudes of nefarious disease-breeding germs must be correct, judging from the remarkable results attained from the use of your 'Pepsoids.' I consider 'Pepsoids' the best and most valuable remedy yet discovered, for the treatment of stubborn stomach ailments."

Pepsoids cure Dyspepsia and all Stomach Diseases, in a new way, by repairing the wornout lining of the Stomach and at the same time, destroy all disease-breeding germs. Dyspepsia and the worst forms of Stomach Disorders once cured in this way never returns.

MISS KELLER APPOINTED.

Governor Guild Puts Her on Commission.

Boston, July 6.—Miss Helen Keller, a famous blind, deaf and dumb woman, was today appointed by Gov. Guild to be a member of the Commission for the Industrial Education of the Blind. The law providing this commission was recently passed largely through Miss Keller's efforts. Miss Keller wrote this letter to the Governor:

"I cannot refrain from expressing to you my keen interest in the appointment of the new commission to aid the blind. It is an event charged with great meaning to all the sightless and to their friends who have thought, planned and labored so earnestly for the betterment of their condition. At last my long hope is fulfilled, that the blind may be strengthened to master by the useful toil of their hands the calamity which has robbed them of their equality with their seeing fellow citizens."

MORE JERSEY INDICTMENTS.

Hudson county's Grand Jury for the April term was discharged by Judge Blair, in Jersey City last evening, after handing into court 175 indictments. Three of the bills were against saloonkeepers at "Little Coney Island."

Presentment was made against the Law Department of Jersey City, the members of which had been accused by John Saul, building inspector, of failing to represent him in court at the prosecution of persons for violating the building laws. When before the Grand Jury Saul said he had been compelled to appear in court several times unassisted by counsel.

Lynott, pastor of the St. Ignatius Catholic Church at Kingston near here, has notified the women of his congregation that he will not permit them to take communion in short sleeved, low necked or open work waists. He says that while he hopes that women will not wear them at all, he does not want them worn in his church and expressly forbids the women to wear them when they are receiving communion.

NAMES COMMISSION TO CODIFY POLICE LAWS.

Judges Reilstab, Sweeney and Erwin to Bring Order Out of Chaos by Revising Statutes.

Judge John Reilstab, of Trenton; Judge Algernon T. Sweeney, of Newark, and Judge James S. Erwin, of Jersey City, have been appointed by Governor Stokes as commissioners to revise and codify the laws relating to police courts of this State.

The appointments were made under the provisions of a bill introduced by Assemblyman Hines and approved by the Governor. The commissioners after a revision and codification of all the laws relating to police courts, will make a report to the governor and the Legislature. This report is to be made immediately after the session of 1907 convenes. The commissioners will serve without compensation, but the state will pay any expenses incurred in the performing of the work.

The new law is extremely important, as lawyers claim the police court laws are badly in need of expert revision. It is expected that the new commissioners will arrange plans in the near future for this revision and codification.

W. Porter, solicitor for Mr. Linbarger, it is set forth that the couple were married on October 21, 1902, at Plainfield, and that she continued to live with her husband until March 7, 1906. Mr. Linbarger is now engaged in the insurance business in New Brunswick.

—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders will hold a regular meeting at Somerville on Tuesday.

Lake Excursion.

The beauty spot of New Jersey is Lake Hopatcong and one who visits the place is charmed with the diversified entertainment afforded. The surroundings are delightful in every respect and a day spent in the rarified mountain air of the Jersey foothills will do wonders for the tourist. There are ample facilities for fishing and boating and one who enjoys the rambles in wooded paths and the quietness of the natural pines, to him Lake Hopatcong is the gem of places. On July 8, 1906, the New Jersey Central is going to run one of its famous low priced and popular excursions to the Lake. Round trip $1.00, and special train leaves Plainfield at 9.20 a. m. 7 3 4 c 7 5

—Franklin H. Merrill, of West Front street, has purchased a handsome new automobile.

—Chief T. O. Doane, of the fire department, has not decided just how or where the fire alarm box, No. 13, on Park avenue, opposite North avenue, will be located. It will have to be changed because the telephone company is about to remove the big distributing pole at that point and upon which the alarm box is placed. It may be decided to place a small unobjectionable pole where the large pole is located and put the box on it, or it may be placed at North and Park avenue, where there are small iron poles at present.

GERMS CAUSE DYSPEPSIA

IF YOU DON'T KILL THE DISEASE GERMS THEY WILL KILL YOU. PEPSOIDS DRIVE THE GERMS OUT OF THE STOMACH AND REBUILDS IT. WRITE FOR A FULL SIZED BOTTLE—FREE.

A noted physician of Pittsburg, Pa., in a recent letter to Dr. Oidman says:

"In your prescription known as 'Pepsoids' you have given the medical world the greatest and most valued discovery in medicine of the present century. You have at last solved the problem that has baffled the skill of the best physicians of recent times, how to cure permanently all Acute or Chronic Stomach Diseases known as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh of the Stomach and Digestive Weakness. I have used your prescription, 'Pepsoids,' in hundreds of cases without a single failure. I attribute the success of your treatment mainly to the fact that the disease germs of the stomach cannot resist Pepsoids. Your theory that most Stomach Diseases are brought about by multitudes of nefarious disease-breeding germs must be correct, judging from the remarkable results attained from the use of your 'Pepsoids.' I consider 'Pepsoids' the best and most valuable remedy yet discovered, for the treatment of stubborn stomach ailments."

Pepsoids cure Dyspepsia and all Stomach Diseases, in a new way, by repairing the wornout lining of the Stomach and at the same time, destroy all disease-breeding germs. Dyspepsia and the worst forms of Stomach Disorders once cured in this way never returns.

Pepsoids are sold at drug stores at 50c. a bottle on an absolute guarantee or money refunded.

If you have not used Pepsoids before, we will send you a 50-cent bottle FREE. Send us your name and address and you will receive promptly, a full sized bottle.

You do not obligate yourself to pay a cent. All we ask, after Pepsoids have cured or greatly benefitted you is, that you recommend Pepsoids to your friends. Try Pepsoids to-day—they will cure you. The Vio Chemical Co., Chicago, Ill. 9

MISS KELLER APPOINTED.

Governor Guild Puts Her on Commission.

Boston, July 6.—Miss Helen Keller, a famous blind, deaf and dumb woman, was today appointed by Gov. Guild to be a member of the Commission for the Industrial Education of the Blind. The law providing this commission was recently passed largely through Miss Keller's efforts. Miss Keller wrote this letter to the Governor:

"I cannot refrain from expressing to you my keen interest in the appointment of the new commission to aid the blind. It is an event charged with great meaning to all the sightless and to their friends who have thought, planned and labored so earnestly for the betterment of their condition. At last my long hope is fulfilled, that the blind may be strengthened to master by the useful toil of their hands the calamity which has robbed them of their equality with their seeing fellow citizens."

MORE JERSEY INDICTMENTS.

Hudson County Grand Jury Hands in 175 True Bills.

Hudson county's Grand Jury for the April term was discharged by Judge Blair, in Jersey City last evening, after handing into court 175 indictments. Three of the bills were against saloonkeepers at "Little Coney Island."

Presentment was made against the Law Department of Jersey City, the members of which had been accused by John Saul, building inspector, of failing to represent him in court at the prosecution of persons for violating the building laws. When before the Grand Jury Saul said he had been compelled to appear in court several times unassisted by counsel.

Death in Leap Off Bridge.

New York, July 6.—Leaping off the Williamsburg bridge early yesterday and landing on Delancy street, a young man, supposed to be Julius Weiner, of Bayonne, N. J., was instantly killed. The bridge at that point is about ninety feet high. Policeman Fallon saw the man's terrible plunge. A letter was found in his pocket addressed to Julius Weiner. The latter said the victim was probably his nephew, who had visited him yesterday and left for home in good spirits.

Bars Peek-a-Boo Waists.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 6.—The Rev. M. E. Lynott, pastor of the St. Ignatius Catholic Church at Kingston near here, has notified the women of his congregation that he will not permit them to take communion in short sleeved, low necked or open work waists. He says that while he hopes that women will not wear them at all, he does not want them worn in his church and expressly forbids the women to wear them when they are receiving communion.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

"Seeing New York," which began its fifth week on the New York Theatre Roof (Wistaria Grove) on the 2d instant, is settled down for the all-summer run which the managers, William A. Brady and Joseph Hart, planned for it when they staged it so elaborately on June 5. It is easily the hit of the summer in the metropolis. Its success there has led to the Shubert's withdrawing their plans to put "The Tourists" on for a summer run there; and, as a picture of the gay life of the metropolis, it is so far superior to "The Social Whirl" that the latter is not considered as a factor in the summertime competition of New York theatricals. Indeed, it is largely a question there just now of whether George M. Cohan, in "The Governor's Son," or Carrie De Mar, in "Seeing New York," gets the larger house of an evening. These two, Mr. Cohan and Miss De Mar, are just now the favorites of New York's amusement-seekers. Miss De Mar's hit is literally immense, and her doll specialty has caught the town. Others who score heavily in the skit are Clifton Crawford, Al Leech, Cheridah Simpson, the Three Rosebuds, Tom Fortune, and Fleurette De Mar. The Flatiron Building scene is the big novelty of the production, and is received nightly with yells and even gales of merriment. The bill of specialties, Part II of the big Wistaria Grove show, was changed again last Monday night. The chief newcomers were Sylvester, Jones, Pringle and Morrell, which the newspapers of the day after—Tuesday, July 3—described as "the very best singing four in the world." They were recalled seven times. The Four Melvins, ground tumblers, gave an exhibition that more than repaid the management for letting the Proveanies go; and Frank and Bob, with their clever trained dog, scored the third big hit of the new-coming artists. Salerno began his fifth week, with new tricks, and Ned Wayburn's "Rain-Dears," the "bully bally" that closes the bill, went as strong as ever.

BAYONNE POLICEMAN APPEALS COURT DECREE.

Was Dismissed by Board, Which Was Later Declared Unconstitutional, and He Wants Job Again.

Trenton, July 6.—An appeal from the decision of the Supreme Court refusing to grant a peremptory writ of mandamus compelling the Mayor and chief of police of Bayonne to reinstate Lewis Lang as a member of the police force of that city was argued before the Court of Errors and Appeals Tuesday afternoon. Lang was dismissed from the force upon charges of intoxication preferred before the police board, which was appointed under the act of 1895, that was subsequently declared unconstitutional. This decision wiped out the police boards of Bayonne, Elizabeth and Plainfield, and Lang continued to prosecute his application for mandamus upon the ground that as the Bayonne board never had any existence in law its action in dismissing him was null and void.

Lang was represented by former Supreme Court Justice Gilbert Collins, and the Mayor and chief of police by Thomas F. Noonan.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Just previous to the performance of Primrose minstrels at the New Plainfield theatre a few nights ago, the leader of the big aggregation, who is now the recognized head of black-face entertainment, was visited in his dressing room by the Daily Press man who inquired how artists in his line conducted their make-up.

"Nearly every visitor who comes into my dressing room," said Mr. Primrose, "asks the very same question and I am only too glad to let you know all about it. Even the toilet secrets of Lillian Russell are public property, and I suppose mine are no longer sacred.

"Burnt cork always has been, and will be, the thing to use. Nothing can take its place. We buy from druggists and saloonists. It used to be the scheme to hire small boys to pick them up. A small boy will work ten hours a day for a pass to a show. If his mother wants him to go across to the grocery he sets up frenzied howls of protest. A minstrel pass is the greatest known stimulant to juvenile endeavor.

"Well, anyhow, you first catch the corks and put them in a big kettle. Then you sprinkle them with alchol and apply a match. Repeat until there is merely a residue of soot. The performer rubs this on until he is black in the face, smears the backs of his hands, paints his lips a bright vermillion, dons a scratch wig, and is ready for business. Of course, he puts on a few clothes.

"There is a Philadelphia man who puts up prepared cork in packages. But most of the boys like to fix it themselves. The first time I blacked up was with cork from the bottom of mother's soup kettle. I mixed it with grease, and couldn't get clean for four weeks. But burnt cork comes off readily. All you have to do is to apply plenty of soap and scrub vigorously over a bucket of water.

"I can 'wash up' after the show quicker than a laboring man when he goes home to supper from the iron works or gas house. Come down to Manhattan Beach some night next week and I'll do it inside of three minutes or forfeit the best supper that Landlord Leary can serve at the Hotel Iroquois.

"A trace of burnt cork inside the ear is a song and dance man's professional card. 'It will be recognized at any box office where they are not 'turnin' 'em away.'

"Does burnt cork injure the complexion? Goodness, no—look at mine. Nothing like it to keep the skin clear, soft and rosy."

Bandmen to be Windham's Guests.

Following the concert by LaVere's band in Concert Park, tonight, the melody makers will adjourn to the Waldorf cafe, where they are to be the guests of Proprietor Windham at supper. The concert is to begin at 8:15 and Leader LaVere reiterates the statement that it will be "the best ever." As previously announced, the price of admission to the grandstand has been set at fifteen cents, this having been made necessary because of the increased cost of lumber an dthe large amount used in the erection of the stand. The fund at present is shy $125 and if this amount can be raised, the concerts will continue all season.

bill or complaint should be dismissed.

One extract from the opinion is as follows: "It is not pretended that the defendant is in any way imitating the complainant's wares or the packages, boxes or wrappers in which they are contained. The only complaint is that because in using his own name, he may be getting some of the trade that would otherwise go to complainant, he should further differentiate his manufacture from that of complainant's by stamping upon the ware itself the words 'Not connected with the original Rogers.'"

The Vice-Chancellor, however, decided that Mr. Rogers is not obliged to injure his plated ware by putting upon it matter which other makers do not put upon it, and which might tend to disfigure it and make it less saleable, and that under the authorities cited, he is under no legal obligation to do anything more than to use his own name fairly.

Since the evidence was taken, and the argument was had in the present case, Mr. Rogers has built a new factory adjoining the railroad, near Netherwood, and under the decision just rendered, his right to continue the manufacture and sale of his silver-plated ware under his own name, is no longer open to question.

FRESH AIR HOME SERVICES ON SUNDAYS AND WEEK DAYS

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home was opened yesterday for the season to the children and mothers from the crowded tenements of the East Side, New York, and the devotional committee, Miss Florence G. Hall has made an appeal to the various churches and societies as well as the people of Plainfield generally to co-operate as heretofore, in every possible way, to help make the summer's work a success.

Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, will speak and special music will be furnished by singers from that church. Throughout the season services will be held every Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock and there will be good leaders, interested speaker and spirited singing. Evening meetings will be held on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week at 8 o'clock. Sunday-schools, Christian Endeavor societies and Young People's societies in general will unite in helping in this work during the summer.

WOULD ADOPT A NEGRO.

Jersey City Court Officer Takes Pious Waif Into His Family.

Charles Bell, a Jersey City court officer, has applied to Miss Frances Day, agent of the State Charities Association, for permission to legally adopt J. Alfred Brown, a negro boy, twelve years old. The boy is now at the Bell home, where he is treated as a member of the family.

Brown was found last week asleep in a coal box in front of a grocery store. A policeman took him to headquarters and next day he was arraigned before Judge Higgins and remanded to the women's prison until his relatives could be located. He said he was an orphan and, as far as he knew, had no relatives.

While in the prison the negro attracted the attention of the inmates by his piety. He never neglected to say his prayers morning and evening and always said grace when about to sit down to a meal.

Hatchet For Jilter.

Bridgeton, July 6.—A fued which began in sunny Italy reached a climax in Magistrate Johnson's court yesterday afternoon, when Sophia Agahallio was heavily fined and reprimanded for trying to carve up Oscar Parola with a hatchet. It developed that in Italy the woman fell in love with Parola, who boarded with her. After they came to this country he married a younger and more comely woman and since that time, he says, she has pursued him with all the fury of a jealous woman.

Warrant for Carrie N.

TO MACADAMIZE FIVE ROADS IN MIDDLESEX.

State Commissioer Approves Plans for Improving Eleven Miles of Thoroughfares.

Trenton, July 6.—State Road Commissioner Elijah C. Hutchinson has approved the plans and specifications for the macadamizing of five roads in Middlesex county. The work will be done under the State law, so that the county will pay but two-thirds of the cost, while the State will paly the other third. The roads approved follow:

The River road, from the end of present macadam at Keefe's farm to the Field farm, 2.97 miles.

Cranbury Neck road, from the end of the present macadam to the Mercer county line, 2.27 miles.

The Stelton-Newmarket road, from a point near Dayton's Corners to a point near the Port Reading Railroad, .96 miles.

Cheesequake road, from Cheesequake bridge to the Monmouth county line, 1.97 miles.

Jamesburg road, from a point near the engine house in Jamesburg to a point in the Dayton road, 2.86 miles.

The macadam must be of uniform width of fourteen feet, and eight inches deep. Under the specifications the roads are to be completed by September 1, 1907, so the State's share of the cost will not come out of this year's appropriation.

The total length of the roads will be 11.03 miles.

COL. COLLINS GIVES DINNER AT RUSS'.

Senator Kean and Former Governor Voorhees Discuss Rate Bill.

At the conclusion of the unveiling ceremonies yesterday afternoon, Colonel Collins entertained at dinner in Russ' restaurant the members of his staff and the captains of the Second Regiment. There were also present by special invitation United States Senator Kean, Mayor Berry, former Governor Voorhees, Frank Bergen, City Attorney Connolly and former Mayor P. J. Ryan.

The party occupied what has come to be known as the lawyers' table at the extreme end of the dining hall. There were no speeches, but Senator Kean and ex-Governor Voorhees engaged in an interesting discussion of the experiences of the rate bill in its somewhat tempestuous passage through the sea of congressional exploitation.

At the conclusion of the dinner the party was taken in carriages draped with flags to the South Broad street baseball grounds to witness the parade of the Second Regiment, which was afterward reviewed by the mayor.

AT WAR WITH A WATER CO.

Workmen Arrested in Paterson for Opening Streets for Mains.

Chris McGarry, foreman of the East Jersey Water Company and David Andersen, assistant foreman, were arrested in Paterson yesterday on a charge of violating a city ordinance by digging a trench in the streets without permission obtained from the Street Department.

The water corporation asks to lay new mains to supply the silk dye houses. The Board of Aldermen contends that it has no right to further deplete the Passaic River.

SALESMEN WANTED

For several really high-grade specialty salesmen—the kind no salary offer would ordinarily interest—we have very attractive openings. We know of men who are earning from $3,000 to $5,000 annually, simply selling to dealers for a large and well known manufacturer a well advertised staple. To any successful salesman who is now selling a general line and who can handle a profitable and attractive side line, an excellent proposition will also be made.

GOLF.

Several informal dinner parties are being planned for at the Plainfield Country Club during the next two weeks. With the new and enlarged dining room many parties can be accommodated.

The defeat of Frank O. Reinhart by Frank C. Talmadge at the Plainfield Country Club on Wednesday, was quite a surprise to the friends of the former. However, Talmadge has been improving his game very much and is rated as one of the strongest players in the club. After the regular play on Wednesday, Talmadge, Reinhart and W. Lester Glenney went around and made the eighteen holes with very low scores.

The services of David Shay, the clerk at the Plainfield Country Club, are very satisfactory and his attention to even the little details affords the members much pleasure about the clubhouse.

W. Lester Glenney, Dudley H. Barrows and Robert Abbott are among the members of the Plainfield Country Club who are entered in the championship tournament to be played at Englewood next week. As these players are now putting up a strong game they should be able to get a leading position in the tournament.

The presence of many of the older players at the Plainfield Country Club shows that the game of golf has lost none of its attractiveness for them. Many times they make the younger members hustle to win.

Will Compete for Championship.

There will be several events of interest at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow. There will be the first competition for the July cup, the semi-final round for the Men's championship cup and the Consolation cup, besides the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup. Of course, the greatest interest will be in the championship play as some of the best players in the club will contest for this high honor. The events at the Park Golf Club tomorrow will include the weekly competitions for the President's and Park Golf Club cups.

Golf at Morris County Club.

Tournament play began at the Morris County Golf Club yesterday and sixty-eight started in the thirty-six hole qualifying round. There were not as many championship entrants as had been expected, but all who stayed away missed a day of good sport. The course was in absolutely perfect condition. Spotswood D. Bowers, a championship possibility, won the score medal and played a very brilliant game, except on the home holes of the second round. The play will be continued today.

Plains vs. Newark A. A.

The Scotch Plains team will play the Newark A. A., at Scotch Plains, tomorrow afternoon. Johnston and Alberts will be the battery for the locals and Pender, formerly of the Elizabeth Stars, will probably pitch for Newark. Last Wednesday morning the Plains team defeated the Olympic Field Club, of Elizabeth, 13 to 0.

MAY LOSE BALL TEAM

Unless Crowds Are Bigger at the Next Two Games Team Will Play Out of Town.

CUBAN GIANTS COMING

Association Decides to Give Fans Opportunity to Have the Sport Continued in Plainfield.

Unless there is an improvement in the attendance at the ball games on the coming two Saturdays the remainder of the games this season will be played out of town. Plainly speaking, baseball is not a paying sport in this city and the indifference exhibited by a number of former enthusiasts makes it appear to the Plainfield Baseball Association that a first class baseball team, such as represents Plainfield, is out of place in this city.

The team has played gilt edged ball with the best teams obtainable. The plan to play the rest of the season out of town was decided on Monday night at a meeting of the executive committee of the association. The attendance this season will not warrant the playing of any more games, and tthe matter is entirely in the hands of the Plainfield public. If they will patronize the game tomorrow and on the following Saturday, the team will continue to play its games here, but unless there is an improvement the aforesaid action will be taken.

If the team is taken away from Plainfield it is safe to predict that it will mark the end of high grade baseball in Plainfield for some years to come. No matter what happens the fans will never have a better team than that which represented Plainfield last season and the one that has been playing this year.

Tomorrow afternoon the renowned Cuban X Giants will be the attraction. This aggregation is the most expensive traveling team in the country and to obtain their presence on Crescent Oval it is necessary to pay them a fat guarantee. This season the colored players are faster than ever and a good game is assured. On the Giants are Bustemente, Garcia, Perez, Palomine and Munoz, who last year played sensational ball for the All Cuban team, which twice defeated Plainfield, but broke even on the series by meeting defeat at Hoboken on two occasions. "Old" Clarence Williams, whom the fans of fifteen years ago will remember, will be with the team. He is known all over the country as the Arlie Latham of the ball field. The game will be replete with lively coaching and it is hoped that the fans of Plainfield will demonstrate to Manager Daab and to the association that the team must remain here for the rest of the season. The members of the association have worked hard to provide good baseball here and it is entirely up to the fans to reciprocate by turning out to see the next two games, and prove their allegiance.

CAMP BOWSER TEAM DEFEATS ELIZABETHANS.

Plainfield Field Club, 9; Elizabeth Town and Country Club, 8.

The Plainfield Field Club, sometimes known as "Camp Bowser," won an exciting and well-played game from the Elizabeth Town and Country Club at Elizabeth, Wednesday morning. The Plainfield boys outfielded the home team on a wet field and bunched hits better. The features of the contest were a double play by Douglas to Squires at the plate after a fine catch of a long foul, a catch by Cissell in left field and long hits by Pond and S. Brown.

The score alternated until the fifth inning, when Dumont walked, R. Schoonmaker bunted, Pond tripled, W. Schoonmaker singled, Brown sacrificed and an error netted four runs. Elizabeth tied the score again in the sixth. Plainfield scored two more runs in the eighth inning on Glenney's single, a base on balls and Squires' hit. The double play and a base runner hit by a batted ball cut off Elizabeth in the eighth inning and as they failed to score in the ninth, Plainfield won out. The line-up and score by innings:

Plainfield Field Club—R. Schoonmaker, ss; Pond, lf; W. Schoonmaker, 2b; W. Brown, 1b; Glenney, 3b; Douglas, c; Ivins, cf; F. Squires, p; Dumont, rf.

Elizabeth Town and Country Club—Glazebrook, ss; Alexander, 3b; Livingston, rf; Morrell, 1b; Barroll, cf; Cissell, lf; Littell, 2b-p; S. Brown, c; Smith, p-2b.

GROVER CLEVELAND ILL WITH THE ASTHMA.

Former President Reported as Resting Easily Last Night.

Reports were received from Princeton last night to the effect that former President Grover Cleveland was ill at his home, 58 Bayard lane.

It was not generally known in Princeton last night that Mr. Cleveland was ill. Several prominent residents of the university town, when communicated with over the long distance telephone, said that they had not heard of the ex-President's illness.

On good authority, however, it was learned that Mr. Cleveland was ill and was resting easily at present, but no details of his ailment could be learned. There was an apparent effort made to suppress the news.

Mr. Cleveland was to have gone on a fishing trip to Oconomowoc, Wis., today, where he was to have been the guest of James H. Eckles.

A dispatch from New York last night says:

"Grover Cleveland came unexpectedly back to Princeton on Wednesday night from Buzzards Bay. He intended going to James H. Eckles' camp in Wisconsin, and the first intimation of his plans having been interrupted came in a dispatch from him to Mr. Eckles, received today, saying that he had been taken suddenly ill and had to cancel all engagements.

It was learned last night that Dr. John M. Carnochan was atending Mr. Cleveland, but at the house no statement was made as to the character of his illness.

It was also reported that he was resting easily.

Dr. Carnochan is a young surgeon of Princeton. Dr. Joseph D. Bryant, who was Mr. Cleveland's physician, had not heard he was ill last night.

At midnight Dr. Carnochan was aroused from his sleep at the Nassau hotel, where he resides. He sent word to an inquirer that if Mr. Cleveland was ill he knew nothing of it.

Later it was authoritatively learned that Mr. Cleveland was suffering from an attack of asthma. His condition is not regarded as alarming by his close friends.

MR. HOOLEY AWAITS WORD FROM ATTORNEY GENERAL

Banker in Behalf of Citizens to Learn Whether There is an Ice Trust.

AFTER COAL MEN TOO

Declares that Plainfield Protective Association Seems Too Wrapt Up In Consolidation to Investigate These Matters.

As told exclusively in The Daily Press yesterday, there is a movement on foot to find out whether the local coal and ice dealers are in combinations in restraint of trade. The man who has undertaken the task on behalf of the citizens of Plainfield and North Plainfield is Edwin S. Hooley, a philanthropic citizen who has always been credited with taking much interest in the community in which he lives. Mr. Hooley, who is the head of the famous New York banking house of Hooley, Learned & Co., is only awaiting word from Attorney-General McCarter before any action is taken.

To a representative of The Daily Press, Mr. Hooley said today:

"Yes, it is so. I have communicated with the Attorney-General and laid the facts before him.

"Perhaps the laws of this State permit the situation to exist, if so that will probably settle it.

"If they do not permit it, it will be corrected," declared the banker.

"I had hoped that the Plainfield Protective Association would have taken this matter up but they have been so busy passing resolutions to consolidate Plainfield and North Plainfield that I presume they have not had time to reach a small matter like this."

LION WILL GO.

Fitz Decides to Get Rid of His Battered King of Beasts.

"Bob" Fitzsimmons is making arrangements to get rid of his lion. The attack made by the animal on a horse recently, which Fitz was compelled to check with a mallet, has decided the pugilist-farmer to put "Senator" where he will be back of bars and under the eye of a trained keeper.

"Senator" would have been disposed of before now, but for the condition in which the hammering left him. He was nearly battered to death before he loosed his grip on the horse, and he is still rocky. He walks shakily, and seems to be cloudy in his head. Fitz wants to nurse him back to health before sending him away. In spite of the terrific beating "Senator" still longs to get at horses. He tugs at his cable and growles every time a horse goes by him on the grounds.

Mayor "Peaches" on His Brother.

That Mayor Smalley is "no respector of persons" when it comes to discharging his official duties was plainly apparent to the borough council last night, when he called the attention of the members to the fact that his brother, A. I. Smalley, was building a new porch at his home without a permit. The fact was suggested to him by an application from H. A. Bonn, a resident of the same street, for permission to do the same thing. The councilmen laughingly declared A. I. Smalley must have a permit even though he were complying with the ordinance. Application was made for him by the executive who "peached" and both were acted upon favorably.

Entertained at Hopatcong.

Miss E. S. Thompson and E. R. Gwyer, of this city, have been entertained at Lake Hopatcong by Mrs. John C. Among the guests were Mrs. John Saunders and Miss Emma Kennedy, of Hackensack; Mrs. Arthur B. Baker, East Orange; Mrs. Elizabeth Woodruff and Miss Edna Woodruff, Philipsburg; Mrs. Mahlon Smith, Lake Hopatcong, and Mrs. S. M. Gwyer and F. D. Gwyer, of this place.

Y., and will be preceded by a pre-conference of pastors to be held at West Edmeston, N. Y., a short distance from Leonardsville. It is expected that a large delegation will attend from the Seventh-Day Baptist church of this city.

He is the chairman of the Lake George committee of the Young Men's Christian Associations of the Eastern States and Canada, and takes a prominent part in the Silver Bay Conference each year. Those who took part in the programme were: The Misses Elizabeth Mara, May Harlow, Millie Torristel, Nellie Hanan, Joseph Harlow, Nellie Geary, Marion Geary, Grace Norman, Margaret McDonough, Helen Deady, Laura Knight, Mary Ettinger, Mary Morrison, Helen Johnson, Elizabeth Day, Clara Flynn, Katherine Flynn; Masters Elisha McKeon, Joseph Harlow, Lloyd Harris, John Geary, Patrick McDonough, and John Kyle and John Knight.

The officers elected are as follows: Chancellor commander, John Hall; vice chancellor, Harry Baker; prelate, Robert Jahn; inner guard, Lewis Perrine; outer guard, Stephen Straum; keeper of records and seal, George Crewal.

Had Another Man's License.

William Roe, Edward Clark and Andrew McKieran were arrested yesterday afternoon for peddling vegetables without a license, by Detective McCarthy. They had a veteran's license belonging to John Hassett, of Newark, for whom they claim to be working, and said it "went" in every town they passed through. In the city court this morning, Judge Runyon made it plain that the license didn't "go" here. He suspended sentence, but held the license. Hassett may get it by applying at headquarters.

DON'T WANT SKATING RINK

Borough Council Refuses George Cook Permit to Erect Building For This Purpose.

HAS "RECOLLECTIONS."

Routine Business Transacted at Last Night's Session—Fire Alarm Circuits to be Overhauled.

The borough council, at its meeting, last night, refused to give George Cook, of this city, a permit to erect a frame building 60 by 100 feet on the north bank of Tier's lake to be used as a skating rink. It was stated by Chairman Lee, of the building committee, that the borough has unpleasant recollections of a building of this character that had its day twenty years ago and that the sentiment is against having another. When the roll was called, all the members present, with the exception of Mr. VanWinkle, voted for a resolution not to grant the permit. Mr. VanWinkle explained that his attention had not been called to the matter before the meeting and he was not acquainted with the detailed plans of the applicant.

In the regular order of business, the borough Board of Health made application to the council to provide a proper dumping place for garbage men and scavengers. Mayor Smalley at first laughingly referred the matter to the "sewer committee," but immediately stated that steps would be taken at once to comply with the request.

Chairman Smith, of the fire committee, stated that the fire alarm system in the west end of the borough has contracted several kinds of kinks recently and that an electrician had been engaged to give the various circuits a thorough inspection. At his request, a resolution was passed giving the regular firemen seven days' vacation and another resolution offered by Mr. VanArsdale resulted in the usual time off being granted the members of the police force.

Chairman Smith also asked for an appropriation of $75 to buy boots and coats for the fire department and it called for some discussion through the mayor's remark that "the borough finances are low and every penny counts." Chairman Smith insisted that they were needed and he got the money.

The mayor reported as acting recorder that during June the police had made thirty-eight arrests and that $76 in fines had been collected. Chairman Lee reported that in the same month a total of $988.11 had been expended in street work. Permission was granted the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company to open parts of Elm place, Brook avenue and Jackson avenue for the purpose of laying conduits and on a resolution offered by Mr. McGee the council was empowered to borrow $2,500 for needed expenditures. The appointment of Benjamin Scribner as a marshal to do special business concluded the session.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Annual Ceremony of Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.

Past Councilor George Allen, the oldest past officer, installed the officers-elect of Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., last night, in the council rooms in the Babcock building. There was a large attendance of members of Somerset and other councils, and the work was performed in a satisfactory manner.

These officers were installed: Past councilor, George Watts; councilor, Arthur Dow; vice-councilor, William Hulitt; conductor, William Dunham; warden, George Wilson; financial secretary, George Allen; recording secretary, Walter C. Walker; assistant recording secretary, Fred Soper, Jr.; inside sentinel, H. C. Smith; outside sentinel, George GaNun; trustee, Hortman Mundy; treasurer, Jesse M. Scull. After the installation there was a social time and refreshments served.

Board of Health Meeting Postponed.

It being impossible to secure a quorum, Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow was again obliged to postpone the Board of Health meeting yesterday. NEW SEWER COMMISSION

Mayor Smalley Names Citizens to Investigate Matter For the Borough.

REPRESENTATIVE BODY

W. J. Buttfield Chairman—Fifty Members—Appropriate $500 For Work.

In accordance with the resolution passed at the public meeting held two weeks ago, Mayor Smalley announced the appointment of a sewer commission at last night's session of the borough council but much to the surprise of most of those concerned he named fifty prominent property owners as members. They were selected after careful scrutiny of the tax lists and the East and West sides of Somerset street are evenly represented. The only suggestion made by the mayor in announcing his action was that those named meet for conference before July 17 and agree upon a sub-committee of five, the latter to take the initiative in investigating the question of a sewer system and report to the council as soon as possible. The names on the fifty list are as follows:

William J. Buttfield, chairman; Charles W. McCutchen, Col. John F. Wilson, C. Frank French, George F. White, William S. Smith, Edwin S. Hooley, W. G. Debele, Alex. Thorn, Herman Schwed, D. N. Groendyke, Martin I. Coooley, Robert Clark, Jr., Harrison Codington, Charles B. Pope, T. B. Brooks, Elston M. French, Dr. Justus H. Cooley, L. E. Barkalew, W. E. Brock, Fred Becker, Harry H. Moore, W. J. Conroy, J. H. McLaughlin, George R. Schlereth, A. E. Faber, G. G. Davidge, R. H. McCullough, Joseph P. Humble, James R. Joy, Dr. P. J. Zeglio, George P. Dupee, T. C. Aldrich, Henry DeMott, John P. Emmons, E. P. Gavin, D. T. Kenney, Jacob Voehl, A. M. Griffen, Max Weinberger, E. C. Schenck, B. A. Hegeman, Jr., George D. Hallock, Henry Opdyke, W. H. Shotwell, Reuben Knox, Andrew Lutkins, Thomas E. Currin, H. A. McGee, Frank de L. Hyde, Joseph O. Osgood, William L. Saunders, George T. Rogers and Samuel Townsend.

In presenting the names, Mayor Smalley informed the council that when the idea of a commission was first suggested he did not take favorably to it but since then he has regarded it in a different light. It is such an important matter, he explained, that it is advisable to let every resident of the borough who owns property, have something to say about it. He deplored the fact that progress so far has been very slow but he added that the man he had made chairman is one who has taken great interest in the subject and that he can be relied upon to expedite matters.

Mr. Buttfield was the one who offered the resolution that the commission be appointed to take up the question and he is thoroughly conversant with nearly every detail as far as the council has gone. The list contains a number of other well known residents who are also fully competent to handle the subject, among them Mr. Osgood, who is chief engineer of the New Jersey Central; E. S. Hooley, W. L. Saunders, D. T. Kenney and Captain W. C. Smith.

Following the appointment of the commission, Councilman VanArsdale offered a resolution that the body be authorized to expend not more than $500 in preparing its report. It was passed unanimously and the money will probably be spent in securing the assistance of a competent engineer.

Waldrons Patch Up Quarrel.

John Waldron pleaded non vult to charges of drunkennes and disorder and resisting arrest in the city court this morning. The charge of drunkenness and disorder was made by Mrs. Waldron. F. J. Blatz, counsel for Waldron, pleaded for leniency from the court, and W. L. Hetfield, Jr., lawyer for Mrs. Waldron, said his client was willing to drop the prosecution and receive her husband again if he promised to be decent. Waldron promised and sentence was suspended.

Conroy Bailed.

Special Officer John Conroy, who was arrested on a serious charge Thursday morning and committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury, was released today under $250 bail.

Scrapper Fined $8.

John Callahan, arrested last night for hitting a colored youth on Park avenue, was arraigned in the city court this morning and fined $8 or twenty days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Lowe and son, of Fairview avenue, have gone to Asbury Park to remain during the present month.

TO PROSECUTE OFFICER

Giles Hires Lawyer to Press Brutality Charge Against Roundsman.

M.B. MELLER FOR FLYNN

Hillside Avenue Resident Says Giles Made a Nuisance of Himself and Frightened Mrs. Meller.

John Giles, of Lake street, has taken steps to press the charge of cruelty brought against Roundsman Flynn when he was arraigned by the officer, Tuesday morning, charged with drunkenness and disorder. He has retained Lawyer F. J. Pope, of Somerville, to carry the case through.

When Giles was brought up in court, George Solomon, an Assyrian, who claimed to have seen the arrest, declared in court that the officer beat Giles unmercifully with his billet. The roundsman denied the charge, but Solomon was so insistent and excited in his reiterations of the accusation that Judge Runyon laid the case over until today.

Mr. Pope appeared in court when it was called, ready to combat the charge against Giles and to prefer a counter-complaint against Flynn. Chief Kiely asked for an adjournment in order to array the witnesses for the prosecution, and the magistrate put off the hearing until next Friday morning.

Mr. Pope made a statement to the reporters in which he charged Flynn with making the arrest illegally, as well as brutally. He claims that Giles was sitting on his own steps when the officer came up to arrest him, and that Flynn went onto his premises to take him into custody without having seen any disorder. It is claimed that Giles' only approach to disorderly conduct was a shaking administered to his son after he had called his father a vile name. Mr. Pope declared that the boy brought about the arrest out of spite. The neighbors, according to Mr. Pope, were wrought up over the alleged cruelty, and Giles is being backed with plenty of money in his fight for satisfaction.

That is the story of the defense. M. B. Meller, of 963 Hillside avenue, whose residence is near the Lake street shed in which Giles makes his home, furnished something for the other side of the story this morning in a letter to Chief Kiely. The officer went after Giles in response to a telephone from Mr. Meller's shouse. Mr. Meller says Giles has made a nuisance of himself on several occasions, and on the night in question he carried on in the Meller yard to such an extent as to terrorize Mrs. Meller. Mr. Meller says he had tried to keep Giles out of trouble on other occasions, but he felt then that he could put up with no more of his actions. Giles, he says, beat his son brutally.

It is not denied by the defense that Giles is a drunkard or that he had not been drinking Monday night. The claim is that he did not resist arrest, which of itself was illegal, and that the officer battered him brutally. The roundsman charges Giles with acting like a crazy man. He acknowledged striking him over the back of the hand, but says it was necessary to loosen his grip on a wire fence. Giles shows bruises under his arms, but the officer says that were made by the grip he took in pulling the prisoner along.

In his prosecution of a charge of cruelty against Flynn, Mr. Pope will have to do without the testimony of Solomon, the Assyrian. He sailed for Assyria the afternoon of the first hearing. His departure explained how he happened to have the $2,000 which he flung dramatically on the court table in an excited offer to back his word against Flynn's for any sum from $100 to $1,000. He had drawn all his money out of the bank for the trip. The departure probably also explains why he "talked back" so courageously to all the representatives of the law in court.

Little Doing in the Common Council.

There is not likely to be much doing in the Common Council during July and August, unless some urgent matters should come up. These are the months that the members select to take a rest from municipal duties and as many Plainfielders are away also, there is scarcely any need for any meetings, outside of the regular ones.

Telephone Building Progressing.

The contractors have about completed the foundations for the new building being erected by the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company. The cellar is of unusual construction, the floor and walls being interlined with five-ply tar paper and cement to keep out all possible dampness.

3,000 PEOPLE ENJOY FREE BAND CONCERT

FIRST MUSICAL FEAST OF SEASON'S SERIES AT THE PARK.

Ben LaVere's melody makers, numbering sixteen in all, opened the 1906 band concert season in Concert Park, last night, over 3,000 people being on hand to extend them welcome. It was probably the most auspicious openin that Ben ever witnessed and the outpouring speaks well for the success of the series this summer. There were more than 1,000 persons on the grandstand and twice that many stood about the grounds.

The programme was made up of twelve numbers and as usual those of a "popular" nature made the biggest hits, though the overture, from "William Tell," pleased immensely. This is a difficult number and is seldom attempted by a band or orchestra of less than forty pieces but LaVere's men gave it without the loss of any of its charm. "Moon Dear," the feature intermezzo from the Hippodrome music, caught the crowd with its swing, though it seemed new to the greater part of them.

The soloists were the always welcome "Billy" Redmond and Eddie Weston, both of whom received enthusiastic receptions. The former's sweet tenor voice was heard to good advantage in the season's hit, "Waltz Me Around Again, Willie," and "You're a Grand Old Flag." He was forced to repeat the formed after he had resumed his seat. Weston was on the programme for two numbers, "Lome Me and the World is Mine," and "The Starts, the Stripes and You," but he was applauded so vociferously that he gave as a third selection the pretty waltz song, "Will You Love Me in December as You Do in May." Both these singers have appeared in Plainfield regularly the past few seasons and the concert frequenters have come to look upon them as "personal" friends.

Following the concert, Leader LaVere and his men adjourned to the Waldrof hotel where they were the guests of Proprietor Windham. The baton holder was greatly pleased with the attendance and declares that if succeeding attendances are anywhere near as large Friday night music feasts will continue until cold weather.

TEMPORARY QUARTERS FOR THE DIME SAVINGS.

Likely to Use Rooms Now Occupied by Plainfield Trust Company.

Guillermo Thorn, the photographer, is moving today from his quarters on the third floor of the Dime Savings Institution, and will store his good for the present at 433 East Fifth street. Mr. Thorn occupied the quarters he is leaving today for thirty-seven years.

His removal is necessitated by the proposed improvements and alterations planned by the Dime Savings Institution, whereby the whole building is to be remodelled. The Asbestos Club, which occupies the second floor, will also move, and during the period of improvement the Dime Savings Institution will occupy other quarters, possibly those now used by The Plainfield Trust Company. It is believed that the company will be in its new building on Park avenue in time to make their present place available for the Dime Savings Institution.

Architect A. L. C. Marsh is now at work on the plans for the changes in the Dime Savings Institution and he expects to present them for approval within a short time, after which the work will be started. The whole front will be changed and the interior transformed into one large room with a handsome skylight dome which will give much-needed light. The entrance to the two floors above will be added to the main entrance to the bank. Entirely new furnishings will be supplied.

Organ Recital Numbers.

At teh organ recital at Grace church tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, William E. MacClymont, organist, will render these numbers: "Fantasia Sonata," first movement, Rheinberger; "Rhapsodie No. 1," St. Saens, and largo, "New World Symphony," Dvorak.

Half-Century in the Ministry.

Rev. Dr. P. M. Doolittle will celebrate the half-century anniversary of his pastorate at the Reformed church, North Branch, Wednesday, July 25. Dr. Doolittle has many friends here and it is likely that a number will attend the exercises.

Mrs. Stephen Ginna, of "The Pines," and her son, Daniel Ginna, with his family, have gone to their cottage at Cape Cod, Mass.

Lawyers Take Issue With Police Order to Remove Them Week-Days.

WHAT THE LAW SAYS

Claim That Common Council Only Can Direct That Window Screens Be Removed According to Statute.

Lawyers say that the order issued by the police department for the removal of window screens in local saloons during the hours of business is without warrant inasmuch as the Common Council has not directed it to be done. The bishops' law gives the body having the right to grant licenses the power to order all window screens removed during the hours of business, but members of the Common Council, which alone has that power vested in it, say that no authority has been given by it to have this done.

Chief Kiely, who issued the order to the saloonkeepers, says, he received his instruction from Corporation Counsel Marsh and presumes that the city's attorney understands the law on the subject. The corporation counsel left for Europe on Thursday. Lawyer Louis Barton, who is in Mr. Marsh's office, said he did not know anything about the matter.

From what the representative of The Daily Press can learn from local lawyers it appears that all window screens in saloons must be removed between 12 o'clock Saturday night and 12 o'clock Sunday night. They need not be removed during the hours of business, it is reliably reported, unless the Common Council so directs. There must, however, be a clear and unobstructed view of the interior at all time to the person entering the saloon.

When asked for his opinion regarding the provisions of the new law, a well known lawyer said today:

"The third paragraph of section four of the amended so-called Bishops' bill, passed at the recent session of the Legislature and approved April 13, being the second paragraph of the amended section 11 of the original act, clearly provides by the first clause for the doing away with all partitioning or semi-partitioning of the bar-room into smaller rooms or alcoves whether done by permanent partitions or by screens or other obstructions, and enacts that the whole of the interior of the bar-room, excepting such part as is used for toilet purposes, must be open to the clear view of any one inside the bar-room; and the second clause as clearly provides for the same clear view by any one from without the bar-room at all times during prohibited hours and at all other times, also, if the licensing body of the municipality so require.

"Before, therefore, the licensed places in Plainfield can legally be required to take down their screens during selling hours," says Mr. Angleman, "a regulation providing for such requirement must be passed by the licensing body, i. e., the Common Council. A mere dictum by any official or committee is not sufficient under the statute."

The Trenton State Gazette says editorially:

"The impression prevails in some quarters that the Bishops' law requires saloonkeepers to remove screens and curtains from their windows during business hours on week days.

This, as we understand it, is not the contemplation or requirement of the law, which provides that in every place where intoxicating liquor is retailed, there shall be no screens or obstructions that will prevent a person entering the room where liquor is sold from seeing all parts of that apartment.

From 12 o'clock Saturday night until 12 o'clock Sunday night, curtains and screens are to be drawn from the windows of saloons so that passers-by on the street may get a full view of the interior.

Through these provisions, as a matter of fact, the Bishops' law works no hardship and most dealers will be willing to comply with it."

The Bishops' law contains this paragraph:

"The court, excise board, or other board or authority having power by law to grant licenses in any municipality of this State, if said license is not in an inn and tavern, or a hotel having at least ten spare rooms and beds for the accommodation of boarders, transients and travelers, or a restaurant where the business of

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

RABIES FOLLOW BITE.

Somerville Boy's Case Too Far Advanced for Treatment.

Somerville, July 7—Edward Dunn, ten years old, son of David Dunn, poormaster for Bridgewater township, developed symptoms of rabies yesterday. Dr. Davis, of North Branch, was summoned and advised that the boy be taken at one to the Pasteur Institute, New York.

In company with the doctor and his parents he went to New York, but the authorities at teh institute, after an examination, said the disease was too far developed and they could do nothing. The boy was brought back home last night.

The boy was bitten by a small black and tan dog about a month ago. The flesh of th arm near the wrist was torn, but as there were no evidences that teh dog was mad nothing was done by the parents at the time.

Big Crowd at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, July 7.—Never was there such a crowd of people here over the Fourth as there was this week. The hotels were filled to their capacity, and in the smaller houses many of the patrons were put on cots in the hall, in the bath-rooms and even on the floors of the parlors. Trains came to the shore in sections on Tuesday, and it is estimated that nearly fifty thousand visitors were rushed to the resort during that day. In all there must have been more than one hundred and fifty thousand visitors here over the national holiday, and many of them are still here.

CONDITIONS IN PANAMA.

Only Objection of Returned Visitor Was in the Matter of Rations.

Edward T. Shea, the former sheriff of Prince George county, Maryland, arrived here yesterday from Panama on his way home to pass his vacation. He has been employed as a foreman on the Panama railroad at Paraiso, and will return there early in May, says the Washington Star. Mr. Shea went to Panama about nine months ago, and during the time he was there he was sick only two days.

"During the nine months I was there," he said to a Star reporter, "I did not have to go to the hospital. The climate is different from what it is here, but it is a matter of only a short time before one can become acclimated and get to enjoy it. The only fault I have to find with conditions there is the matter of feeding the men. Unless something is done to change the quality of the food there will be a scarcity of labor there in a short time."

He explained that a man who has been there six months is entitled to a leave of absence of six weeks. Many of them who come away on their leave of absence do not return. Unless a change is made in the matter of feeding or an increase is given in the matter of pay, Mr. Shea repeated, the government will experience trouble in getting the necessary help from the United States.

Mr. Shea said that he was one of a number of passengers who came from Havana aboard the steamer Panama, formerly the City of Havana, and the steamer reached New York Sunday. Many of the men, he said, had on thin clothing, one of them wearing a duck suit and an overcoat. He was from Boston, however, and did not mind it much. Those who had only thin summer clothing had expected to reach New York Saturday or Monday and intended to purchase new clothes as soon as they arrived, but they reached there Sunday and some of them felt the effects of the weather to an uncomfortable extent before they were able to make purchases. The Boston man, wearing his white duck suit and overcoat, attracted attention as he walked about the streets.

Workmen coming away on leave of absence pay only $20 each way for their transportation. The trip on the Panama was a pleasant one and was greatly enjoyed by those who were homeward bound to visit friends.

HOW MOROS ARE CIVILIZED.

Learn, Little at a Time, the Shrewd Business Methods of the Western World.

The Moros, like all other natives of the Philippines, are possessed of a consuming desire to carry a "pass," some sort of an official certificate as to character, home, business, etc., of the bearer, and they are willing to pay any amount therefor, and never think of it as taxation, writes R. L. Bullard, in Atlantic. On this weak point the Moros showed the first signs of yielding. Then the plan of indirect taxation caught, pleased, and overcame them, as it catches wiser men than they. Imported cotton cloth paying duty at the custom house had long been reaching the Moros through a few coast traders, and was now in large use among the Moros. Touching the jacket of the nearest datto: "You are a lot of foolish and ignorant children," I said. "You are haggling about paying taxes when you have already been doing it for years, and have been giving the Americans money to pay me to pay the interpreter and all my soldiers." This at once struck their attention. The explanation followed. They understood it remarkably quickly. They saw the humor and the truth of the thing, and, wondering at the finesse that had been able to make them contribute to their own subjugation, yielded, in a sort of nonplussed way, feeling, no doubt, that it was useless to hope to escape a people who could devise such a smart system of getting money from other people without the latter's even knowing it. To my help also at this juncture came my old friend, the priest Noskalim, the metropolitan, as it were, of Lanao, with, if not a revelation, something better—wisdom—to his people: "It is the will of Allah-'ta-Allah, The Merciful, who has many names."

In these ways government and civilization have gained upon them.

Volcanos of Philippines.

An interesting feature of the Philippines, which has as yet been neglected, is their score or more of volcanoes. This addition makes the list of volcanoes in the United States a very important one. The volcanoes of America, or the United States, are of especial inetrest, and they are found in the western country, as a rule west of the Rocky mountains. One of the most beautiful of these is Mount Shasta, 14,440 feet high, which rears its massive twin cones in northern California. Mount Helena in Oregon, 12,600 feet in height, is a majestic volcanic peak, and Mount Hood, 11,225 feet, has a world-wide fame for its beauties, little thought being given to its activities in the early geological history of the continent. Other famous peaks are Mount Jefferson, Mount Adams, Mount Rainier, Mount Baker and Mount Lassen.

Capt. Bailey K. Ashford has had so much success in fighting the "lazy bug" in Porto Rico that Government Agent Harris has been sent to the island to be instructed in his methods, with a view to introducing them among the men digging the Panama canal.

THUMPING HEADACHES.

Many Plainfield Women Have Them, But Few Know the Real Cause.

Dull, thumping headaches,
Sick, prostrating headaches,
Dizzy, whirling, blind headaches—
Point to disorders of the kidneys,
Tell of uric poisons in the blood.
Narcotics may ease the pain
But won't cure the cause.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure the kidneys,
Remove uric poisons, purify the blood,
Banish headache, backache, urinary ills.

Here's Plainfield testimony to prove it.

Mrs. E. Derflinger, of 219 Mansion place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several weeks ago I began to have heavy dull pains in the top and back of my head. Backache continually clung to me and it seemed to me that my kidneys were weak and gradually breaking down. I also had a tired feeling, with a sort of languor or general depression. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and as it was a case of 'any port in a storm,' I got a supply of this medicine at Randolph's pharmacy and before I had taken two boxes of it I found that my kidneys were acting stronger and better and the pains were leaving me. I continued with the treatment and am now able to say that Doan's Kidney Pills have cured me,—at least I am not troubled any more and fell well and strong in every way."

POOR JUDGMENT

With all due respect to those thousands of housewives who are still cooking in the medieval way doesn't it show a lack of good judgment on their part to deprive themselves of time for pleasure when it might be theirs for the asking? A Gas Water Heater does away with manifold household duties and in this way is a time economizer that should be installed in every house. It is a summer necessity in the home where the housewife's comfort is a consideration.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

There is no room for criticism of the service or the meats of the Grandview Market, Somerset street.

J. W. Van Sickle's meats and poultry are always the finest quality obtainable. Deal at his store, North avenue.

The quaintessence of barbering, in both skill and comfort, is to be enjoyed at William B. Randolph's shop, Watchung avenue.

Charles E. Vail, the Park avenue jeweler, is always prepared to sell the best silverware, jewelry, watches, clocks, etc., at prices that will please you.

Don't let anybody fool you about your coal, but remember that Ten-Eyck & Harris, of West Front street, can sell you the best at the lowest prices.

Dudley S. Miller's pharmacy on Park avenue, is the headquarters for refreshing soda water, as well as first-class prescriution work. His stock of drugs and medicines and confectionery is large.

Nothing enhances the midsummer lounge on the porch, or the little stroll down shady streets or walks, like a clear Havana cigar such as M. C. Dobbins, North avenue, sells. All the pipe tobaccos and cigarettes.

When the directors of the Dime Savings Institution complete the extensive repairs to its building, it will have one of the best equipped banks in the State. In the meantime you can deposit your earnings just the same and receive liberal interest.

When you trade with S. Scheuer & Co., of West Front street, there is no question but that you will receive the best quality of groceries and meat. The firm buys the best in the market and can always be depended upon to give its customers the same. You can save money by trading at this store.

Jacob Boyer Accidentally Shot Himself in the Groin.

Jacob Boyed filed to death at Carpentersville, N. J., Wednesday night from a wound accidentally inflicted while has was trying to kill a dog supposed to be mad.

When the dog began to show signs of rabies Mr. Boyer followed it into the yard and shot it. He was forty-five years old and prominent in politics.

Lake Excursion.

The beauty spot of New Jersey is Lake Hopatcong and one who visits the place is charmed with the diversified entertainment afforded. The surroundings are delightful in every respect and a day spent in the rarified mountain air of the Jersey foothills will do wonders for the tourist. There are ample facilities for fishing and boating and one who enjoys the rambles in wooded paths and the quietness of the natural pines, to him Lake Hopatcong is the gem of places. On July 8, 1906, the New Jersey Central is going to run one of its famous low priced and popular excursions to the Lake. Destructive Fire at Long Branch.

Long Branch, July 7.—Solomon R. Guggenheim's handsome summer home, in the Elberon Road, was threatened with destruction by fire shortly after 6:30 o'clock Wednesday night, and only the prompt work of the firemen saved it. As it was, the basement and entire first story were flooded with water before the fire was got under control. It is estimated that at least $5,000 damage has been done by the flames, which are believed to have been caused by defective insulation of electric light wires.

Cigar Had Gunpowder Filler.

Montclair, July 7.—John Middletown, of Cedar Grove, was severely burned about the face by the explosion of a fire cracker Wednesday night. Middletown had been smoking a cigar, and had been igniting the fuse from that. After lighting a fire cracker he unconsciously placed it in his mouth, at the same time throwing his cigar to the lawn. The cracker exploded, and his face was filled with powder, while his eyebrows and mustache were badly signed.

Went to Bed Smoking; Set Hotel Afire.

Trenton, July 7.—Robert Auer, of Brooklyn, a travelling salesman, went to bed in the Hotel Windsor with a lighted cigarette in his hand Wednesday evening. Some time later persons in the street saw smoke issuing from the third floor front room and notified the night clerk. The hotel folk broke into the room, formed a bucket brigade and put out the fire. Auer was unconscious, but was revived.

NOTABLE CAREER OF MICHAEL ANAGNOS.

Brother-in-Law of Mrs. Florence Howe Hall Died Abroad.

Michael Anagnos, brother-in-law of Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of Madison avenue, whose death at Turn-Severin, Roumania, was announced yesterday by cable, was a prominent educator and founder of the first kindergarten for the blind. He was born in Epirus, Greece, in 1837. He was graduated from the University at Athens and assisted Dr. Samuel Gridley Howe, of Boston, in the work of aiding and educating the refuges of the Cretan insurrection, who had fled to Greece in 1867.

He came to America soon afterwards and was associated with Dr. Howe in the work of educating the blind. In 1870 he married the latter's oldest daughter, Julia Romana Howe, and became the successor of his father-in-law, as head of the Perkins Institution, on the latter's death in 1876. In 1887 he founded the kindergarten for the blind at Jamaica Plain, Mass., the first school of its kind in the world. Largely through his efforts it now owns property to the value of one million dollars and has upwards of a hundred pupils. Mr. Anagnos also raised a fund of $100,000 to establish the Howe Memorial Printing Press, for the blind and materially increased the property of the Perkins Institution, the pioneer and best equipped school of its kind in this country. He directed the early education of Helen Keller, who was some years a pupil at his institution. She was taught by the methods invented by Dr. Howe for his famous pupil, Laura Bridgman. Mr. Anagnos was also president of the Greek Union of America. He was a naturalized American citizen. His wife, who was also deeply interested in the cause of the blind, died in 1886.

HIS SNORE BETRAYED HIM.

Hackensack Policeman in Trouble Charged With Sleeping on Post.

Policeman William Bellm, of Hackensack, has a treacherous snore. Recently Policeman Bellm snored so loudly that he alarmed a pedestrian on the other side of the street. The pedestrian followed the snore, and, it is charged, found a policeman in uniform fast asleep in a small baker's wagon that was awaiting repairs in front of King's blacksmith shop on lower Main street.

The next morning when Policeman Bellm reached headquarters, fifteen minutes late, with, it is said, a suspicious red mark on one side of his face, he was present with a vacation, "in order to sleep off the tired feeling," Chief Dunn said.

Bellm realizing there was no pay for such a vacation, appealed to the Improvement Commission, and now there is to be a hearing. He is a son of Street Commissioner Bellm and has been on the force about five years.

CLEVELAND IS ILL, BUT ONLY SLIGHTLY.

Has An Attack of Indigestion—Says He Expects to Be Out in Few Days.

Princeton, N. J., July 7.—Former President Grover Cleveland, who is ill at his home here, sent word from his room yesterday to the Associated Press to the effect that he had been slightly ill, but is feeling better and will be out in a day or two.

Dr. J. B. Bryant, of New York, Mr. Cleveland's family physician, spent the night at the latter's home and returned to New York in the morning. Dr. Bryant came to Princeton Thursday afternoon to see the former President, but had not been sent for. Mr. Cleveland and the doctor had been on a fishing trip in the South and returned Tuesday. Mr. Cleveland came to his home in Princeton expecting to take a trip to the West, but he was seized with an attack of indigestion. He is subject to these attacks.

Mr. Cleveland's family is at Buzzard's Bay, and Mr. Cleveland merely came here on his return from the South expecting to remain a day before going West. He will visit former Postmaster-General Vilas and James H. Eckels.

Y. M. C. A. RECEIVES A $200,000 BEQUEST.

To Receive the Income of It Under the Will of the Late H. V. Cook, of Brooklyn.

Trenton, July 7.—The will of Henry V. Cook, who died two weeks ago in Brooklyn, filed yesterday for probate, gives the Y. M. C. A. the income from between $150,000 and $200,000 on the death of Mr. Cook's brother, Hampton W. Cook.

Mr. Cook was the son of William G. Cook, of this city. He resided on West State street and was educated at Lawrenceville.

The executor of the estate is the Trenton Trust and Safe Deposit Company. Mr. Cook's brother, Edward Grant Cook, left a large amount to Mercer Hospital on his death.

TO PUT IT UP NOW TO THE POLICE DEPT.

This Is Elizabeth Liquor Dealers' Attitude in Regard to the "Bishops' Bill."

Elizabeth, July 7.—At an informal meeting of the German and English liquor dealers held last evening in this city final action was taken regarding their attitude toward the new "bishops' bill," which becomes operative as a law Sunday. The meeting was a secret one and a pledge was taken by the members to keep the business transacted at that time secret. The local dealers have engaged Richard V. Lindabury to represent them and they have been advised to close up tightly on Sunday.

All saloons will remain shut Sundays and the members of the association will see to it, by a "spotter" system, that all saloons are closed. The action of the police will be watched by the liquor dealers, and they will, in the words of one of the officers of the English Liquor Dealers' Association, put the matter directly up to the police department of this city. Similar action, it is understood, will be taken by other associations in other cities in the State.

If the liquor dealers find that the police are unable, or show an indisposition, to properly enforce the law, then the liquor interests of the State will take action to have the law repealed upon the ground that is is unconstitutional. In this city the police have said that the reason there are some saloons open on Sundays is that the city does not provide enough policemen to patrol every street on which saloons are located.

It is understood that Judge Edward Atwater has decided upon three of the men who will comprise the new Excise Commission in this city. One of them is Captain Robert L. Patterson, a Republican, and John Keron, the present presiding officer of the Board of Excise, and Paul J. Carroll, also a member of the board, are said to be the other two.

—David Bowden is supervising the repair work on East Front street under the direction of Street Commissioner Gavett.

—Arthur Caleen, of Orchard place, has given up his position in New York and taken one in the office of the Pederick & Ayer Works on West Front street.

Walter M. McGee and family are planning for their summer recreation at Mouse Island, Maine.

LACKAWANNA FAVORS BRIDGE OVER THE HUDSON

WOULD AGREE TO USE THE SPAN FOR ITS TRACKS.

Hoboken, July 7. — McDougall Hawkes, chairman of the New York and New Jersey Hudson River Bridge Commission, received a communication yesterday from the officials of the Lackawanna Railroad to the effect that the company is interested in the project and will use the Hudson River span if the bridge is erected. The letter suggested that the New York terminal of the bridge be located on a line with Washington Square, and said that it would like to connect its lines with the trolley lines and other railroads that will operate across the bridge. The letter also stated that the company is more favorably disposed toward the building of bridges than tunnels. It declared that bridge-building was less expensive, and that the service to the general public would be more satisfactory in the way of traffic between Manhattan and New Jersey.

It is now certain that three railroads will use the proposed bridge if built. The Erie and Jersey Central companies had already notified the commission that they could use the bridge. Chairman Hawkes is now making preparations to take the matter up in detail with these three companies. In addition to these three companies the Public Service Corporation is prepared to connect the metropolis with its tracks over the span.

Since the meeting last week of the commission, when communications were received from Staten Island business interests asking the consideration of plans for two bridges across the Kills to Bergen Point and Elizabethport, the impression gained credence that it was the intention of the commission to sidetrack the Hudson River bridge for the proposed Staten Island structures. According to Chairman Hawkes, there is no ground to these fears, as the absorbing and important feature of the commission's work will be to build a bridge connecting New York City and New Jersey, and that the proposed bridges over the Kill von Kull is a secondary matter, which would follow later.

State Senator James F. Minturn, of the New Jersey commission, is strongly opposed to taking up the Staten Island bridges until the Hudson river span question is settled.

It is claimed that Newark business interests are interested in the proposed bridge across the Kill von Kull to Bergen Point.

SHOT AT SMITH.

Wanted to Read Former Senator Out of Party.

Disgruntled Democrats, members of the new league which was formed several months ago with the idea of injecting reform methods similar to those of the Colby factions into their inanimate party, met behind closed doors in Di Jianni's restaurant, in Central avenue, Newark, on Thursday night, and, after a lively session, which broke up early yesterday morning, voted down an attempt by one of their number to read ex-United States Senator James Smith, Jr., out of the party.

The meeting was called hurriedly, and neither Simon Northrup, the president, nor Neilson Abeel, the secretary, was present. J. Harry Hull, a member of the executive committee, presided until Under Sheriff Charles Mason was made temporary chairman.

furnishing meals to the public, for compensation, is regularly carried on, and which restaurant is conducted and operated on more than one floor or story of the building where such business is carried on, or a picnic or recreation ground,, or a building with a bowling alley, or in a building entirely occupied by a regularly-organized club or association shall upon the days and times when the sale of liquors or other intoxicating drinks is by law prohibited to be sold, may at any or all other times, require that the entire interior of such bar or business room in which such liquors and other intoxicating drinks are sold and served shall, during the entire prohibited time, or may at any or all other times, as may be required by such authority, be open to full view from the public street; and upon the making of an order to that effect by the court, excise board or other authority having power to grant such licenses, a full view of the entire interior of such bars or business rooms in such municipality shall not thereafter during the times so specified as aforesaid, be obstructed from the public street by the use of non-transparent glass, or of a shade, blind, shutter, screen, merchandise or any other article placed within or without the building in which such room is located."

It is conceded that Corporation Counsel Marsh takes a very different view of the intent of the legislators bearing on this subject. Councilman Daniel said last night that the corporation is always very careful and that he believes he had good reason to give the instructions to the police chief.

TOM JOHNSON HOST AT BRYAN WELCOME.

Cleveland Mayor Accepts Invitation to Preside at Madison Square Garden Reception.

Speculation as to who will preside at the reception to W. J. Bryan in Madison Square Garden on his return from Europe was set at rest yesterday by the acceptance of Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland.

Mayor Johnson wrote to William Hoge, chairman of the Reception Committee, expressing his enthusiasm in the plan to honor Mr. Bryan and stating he felt that he was working along the same lines with Mr. Bryan.

"For ten years," writes Mr. Johnson, "Mr. Bryan has been the trusted leader of the democratic Democrats. For almost ten years they had known that the Presidency of the United States was taken from him by a huge corruption fund contributed by corrupt and corrupting beneficiaries of privilege. Through confessions of some of the culprits, this has become a familiar story now, and all but the shameless condemn and deplore it.

"To him, the Presidency has never seemed a personal nor even a party prize. Even within the present year, when urged by his friends to become a candidate for the Presidential nomination in 1908, he has steadfastly replied that there is yet time for more available men to come into prominence and that no office-seeking on his part shall be allowed to embarrass himself, his friends or his party with premature conflicts over candidates. He is not a candidate for office; he is the leader of a cause."

NEWARK MERCHANT STRANGELY MISSING.

John A. McLorman Left His Home on June 18, and Has Not Been Seen Since.

John A. McLorman, fifty-two years old, a prominent commission merchant, of Newark, is missing from his home, No. 445 Summer avenue. He went away, ostensibly to go to business early in the morning of Monday, June 18 last, and no trace of him has since been obtained.

In hope of being themselves able to find the missing man, his friends kept the fact of his disappearance quiet until yesterday. Then, after having exhausted all their resources, they appealed to Chief of Police Adams to assist in the search for McLorman.

Mrs. McLorman told the police that while her husband had acted as though depressed or suffering prior to his disappearance, she knew of no cause that would induce him to remain away from home voluntarily.

McLorman is tall and heavily built, weighing over 200 pounds. He has gray hair and side whiskers. He has two children, a married daughter and a fourteen-year-old son.

DIED WHILE SMOKING.

Bernard Strauss, of Newark, Expires Suddenly at Belmar.

Bernard Strauss, of Newark, one of the wealthiest provision men in New Jersey, agent of the Armour Beef Compan, died suddenly at his home in Belmar, near Asbury Park, last Thursday night.

Mr. Strauss had been unable to sleep and had remained on the porch of his house talking to his wife. He was smoking his pipe sitting in a big arm chair apparently in good health when he suddenly fell from the chair to the floor. Before a physician could be got to him he was dead. Heart disease is given as the cause of death.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Rev. Mr. Armstrong, who was pastor here for twelve years and who died recently, showed his warm sympathy and generous disposition up to the time of his death. A friend called upon him in his dying moments (a Methodist by the way) and the last words he uttered were "Put me down for twenty-five dollars more toward the chapel you are building."

A number of boating parties from Plainfield bring their lunch and spend the day on the larke amid the picturesque scenery. The Old Mill with its clump of evergreens as a background forms a very pretty picture from the water, while off in the distance in a beautiful field of green can be seen distinctly the club house on the golf links.

See the game today at Crescent Oval between the "Cuban Giants and Plainfield this afternoon at 3:30. A hard fight is in anticipation. Come out and root for your home team.

Rev. Mr. Attle will not assume his duties as pastor of the Baptist church until the 15th of this month.

Mrs. Thomas Linabury and Miss Jennie DeLaney visited New York City yesterday.

Mrs. Francolini and son have gone to New Haven for a brief visit.

OBJECTED TO PLEADING AS LAWYERS DIRECTED.

Italian, Who Killed Sister-in-Law, Thought Drunkenness Plea Would Free Him.

Jersey City, July 7.—"I should not be punished. I did not mean to kill my sister-in-law. I was drunk when I did it."

This was the obstinate reply of murderer Joseph Vanca in the Hudson Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday afternoon to the pleadings of his counsel, Lawyers Joseph M. Noonan and George M. Stillman, that he enter a plea of nolle contendre to the indictment on which he was being tried and accept a sentence as if for murder in the second degree.

When the State's case was nearly completed there was a conference between Judge Blair, Assistant Prosecutor George T. Vickers and the prisoner's counsel, which resulted in an agreement to discontinue the trial and enter the plea named. The State's lawyer was willing, because he had been unable to show any motive for the crime, and without such proof a conviction of fire degree murder seemed improbable. Counsel for Vanea realized that their case was a bad one in that their only defense was that their client was drunk when he fired the fatal shots. But when the decision arrived at by the lawyers and Judge was made known to the murderer by Alexander Bannatti, an Italian interpreter, he at first positively refused to consent to it, and for a time it looked as though the trial must proceed and Vanee take his chance of escaping execution. Finally he changed his mind, however, but was still protesting when he was led back to jail.

Vanea, while drunk on July 3, 1905, quarrelled with his sister-in-law in her rooms. She ran out and he followed with a revolver, from which he fired three shots at her. He also fired a shot at a woman who called for the police and threatened the lives of others who tried to stop him as he ran amuck in the streets of Jersey City.

Vanea will be sentenced next Thursday.

Wins $200,000 Will Suit.

Cape May, N. J., July 7.—After litigation lasting nearly ten years, Charles Meyers has at last been awarded by the Court of Errors and Appeals his claim of $200,000 from the estate of his father, Charles Meyers, late of Ocean City, a former Philadelphia magistrate. The money was bequeathed to Meyers by his father. First a daughter of the elder Meyers filed a caveat to the will, and after she had abandoned her suit, a grandson of the elder Meyers began one which for years went from court to court on appeals and motions.

JUDGE DIXON RICH.

His Estate Worth About Half a Million.

Jersey City, July 7.—That the estate of the late Justice Jonathan Dixon should be worth close to half a million dollars will cause surprise among those who thought the distinguished Supreme Court jurist a man of little wealth. Yet the inventory of his personal property filed at the surrogate's office foots up the tidy sum of $234,087.31, and he is believed to have been worth as much more in realty, a considerable part of which consists of good paying Jersey City property.

At the time of Justice Dixon's death on May 21, it was estimated that he was worth, in both real and personal property, about $10,000. This was generally accepted because of the fact that the dead jurist had reared a large family, had maintained an expensive winter residence in Jersey City and a summer home at Allenhurst, and was not known to have any income other than his $9,000 salary from the Supreme Court bench.

But from the inventory of his personal property made by E. F. C. Young and former Supreme Court Justice Gilbert Collins, Justice Dixon had found time amid his arduous judicial duties to invest wisely in stocks, with the result that his estate, which, according to the provisions of his will, is to be divided among the members of his immediate family, instead of being of the modest proportions generally believed, is a large one.

PLAYGROUND NEARLY READY.

Bayonne Will Have Its Grounds Open Within Two Weeks.

Mayor Garven, of Bayonne, announced yesterday that the bathhouses which are being erected on Newark Bay shore and will be a feature of the children's playground secured through the efforts of The World would be restricted to residents of Bayonne.

There will be fifty houses, half for the use of women and girls and the others for men and boys. A force of men is at work getting the grounds ready for the children, and it is expected that within two weeks the grounds will be thrown open. The Mayor and Park Commissioners are planning to provide several amusements for the children.

Jersey Corporations Increasing.

Trenton, July 7.—The second or supplemental schedule, showing taxes of miscellaneous corporations for the year 1906, was filed with the State Controller yesterday. It includes 817 companies, having an aggregate tax of $158,096. The first schedule contained 5,659 companies, with a total tax of $2,429,602. Last year there were 10,065 companies taxed, and it is expected that this year the number will reach or exceed twelve thousand.

Odd Fellow of High Standing Killed.

Frenchtown, July 7.—William T. Shrope, a Past Patriarch of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of the State of New Jersey, was killed by a Pennsylvania passenger train here yesterday. He was seventy-five years old. It is said that he deliberately stepped in front of the locomotive.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

The big ballroom at Dreamland, undoubtedly the most elaborate affair of the kind in the world, has been redecorated and more electric lights added until now there are more than 5,000 electric bulbs in this gigantic hall. The facilities for bathing at Dreamland have been increased until now 2,500 people can be accommodated at one time. Hurst's Auto Tours of France and Italy will be one of this season's novelties. There will be the usual array of carousals, and it is well known that the Chutes at Dreamland are unsurpassed. To those who wish to delve into the future, there are numerous fortune-telling parlors and experts in the art of palmistry. The Iron steamboats run directly to Dreamland and the fare on the boat includes admission to the Park.

Thousands upon thousands of our amusement-loving people of whom Coney Island is an almost inaccessible region, will heartily join our Staten Island neighbors in three cheers and a tiger for F. S. Hezelrigg, president of the Richmond Light and Railroad Company; Oscar A. Kruger, president of the Bachman Brewing Company; William C. VanClief, John Bittner, William Numley and Manager Albert Hergenhan, through whose heroically liberal, enterprising and sagacious efforts Staten Island is to come into her own as both by nature and art, the Queen of seaside resorts. "Happyland" is the suggestive and appropriate title of the new oceanic mecca of gaiety, mirth, music, radiance, sensation and glorious spectacle, which has risen almost as magically as if called into being by Genii of the Lamp, on some fifteen acres of the most picturesque and rurally attractive part of South Beach, and whose grand opening on Saturday, June 30th, proved the most notable recreatice event of the season. The thousand foot sea-front of "Happyland" has a boardwalk thirty feet wide, and a commodious pier, fifteen hundred feet in length, leads directly to the ornate main entrance. Among the host of high class features, upon which hundreds of thousands of dollars have been lavished, will be found Electra's lofty revolving tower, whose dazzling effulgence will be reflected in the charming artificial lake in which it stands, and above whose waters rotates a colossal circular swing, and surrounding the grand court of which it is the central point, and which will readily accommodate thirty thousand visitors; a spacious vaudeville theatre, in which continuous free performances will be given; a skating rink; a genuine Japanese tea garden, a most attractive ballroom with twenty-five thousand feet of floor space, and a first-class tea garden in a natural grove; the eroption of Mt. Vesuvius, the costilliest scenic railway ever erected, the airship celestial illusion, "Hereafter," Foolish House, the Magnetic Mansion, Panorama of the most famous scenes in Europe, Helter-Skelter and a specially constructed auditorium fronting a stage three hundred feet long and a production of the Grand Canal of the romantic Queen of the Adriatic. Here, Bolossy Kiralfy, the world-famous originator and producer of the "Burning of Rome," "The Fall of Babylon," the great Barnum & Bailey Pageant and other colossally classic spectcles, will personally superintend the first Greater New York presentation of his culminating, amphibious triumph—"A Carnival in Venice," and promises all the stupendous and realistic scenery, prodigally gorgeous costumes, prismatic floods of illumination, the gaily freighted gondolas, the brilliant mazes of the carnival season in the Fifteen Century, the melody, mirth and stately grandeur, which for continuous months enthused and enchanted great London.

BACKBONE.

The Self Reliant Man Is the One Who Is In Demand.

Haven't you depended upon clothes, upon appearance, upon introductions, upon recommendations about long enough? Haven't you leaned about long enough on other things? Isn't it about time for you to call a halt, to tear off all masks, to discard everything you have been leaning on outside of yourself, and depend upon your own worth?

Haven't you been in doubt about yourself long enough? Haven't you had enough unfortunate experiences depending upon superficial, artificial, outside things to drive you home to the real power in yourself? Aren't you tired of leaning and borrowing and depending upon this thing and that thing which have failed you?

The man who learns to seek power within himself, who learns to rely upon himself, is never disappointed, but he always will be disappointed when he depends upon any outside help. There is one person in the world that will never fail you if you depend upon him and are honest with him, and that is yourself. It is the self reliant man that is in demand everywhere.—O. S. Marden in Success Magazine.

Needing and Wanting.

"See, here!" cried Goodley, as he caught the bum entering a saloon, "when I gave you that dime you said you needed something to eat."

"Quite so," replied the intelligent hobo, "I needed something to eat, but a drink is what I wanted."

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

In packing bottles slip rubber bands over them to prevent breakage.

A piece of soft flannel is better than a brush for removing dust from silk.

A lump of camphor placed in the clothes press will keep steel ornaments bright.

Scale or crust can be prevented in a tea kettle by keeping an egg shell in the kettle.

Rub white spots on oilcloth caused by heat from utensils with spirits of camphor.

Place a small bag of unslackened lime inside the piano. It will keep the springs from rusting.

To clean marble busts, mantels, etc., wipe free of dust, then wash with a weak hydrochloric acid.

Spots on plush will disappear if rubbed lightly and rapidly with a clean, soft cotton cloth dipped in chloroform.

A sponging with a solution of one part ox gall to two parts of water is said to brighten the colors in a faded carpet.

Kerosene rubbed into boots and shoes which have been hardened by water will soften them. Rubbing with a woolen rag, saturated with kerosene, will also brighten tin and granite ware.

To clean zinc dip a piece of flannel in paraffin and with it well rub the zinc, which should then be washed with hot water and soap to remove the smell of the oil and polished with a dry cloth.

All hooks used in bath room, kitchen or pantry should be dipped in enamel paint and thoroughly dried before being screwed in. Then there will be no rust spots on towels or clothes that are hung on them when damp.

In filling gem pans with batter of any kind do not put it in with a spoon, which is apt to leave drops on table and pan, but pour from a small pitcher which is kept for the purpose. It is more easily and quickly done.

THINGS IN THE SHOPS WORTH KNOWING ABOUT.

A fetching princess gown made entirely of alternate rows of narrow white satin ribbon and insertion with a yoke effect of applique in a rich floral design may be had a Broad street shop.

A novel and jaunty model for an outing suit is of all-over nainsook embroidery, with the skirt and swagger little pony jacket finished with tailored bands of linen.

Gorgeous Japanese kimonos of lustrous wash silks, in long and short lengths, with superb borders of "flash" poppies, are rich enough to delight the most fastidious.

In millinery for midsummer wear the Vesta Tilly and Gainsborough models with their soft, gracefully flowing coque feathers, are steadily gaining in popularity.

Exquisitely dainty, gauze silk hosiery, with hand embroidered roses and blocks in colors to match light summer gowns, are ultra-fashionable.

The shops are showing a varied and unique line of "dog collars" consisting of dull gold links inlaid with the different colored stones.

In footwear there are endless numbers of attractions for my lady this season, among which the most favored are the hand-ebroidered canvas pumps, colored suede oxfords and the court ties in gun metal kid and patent leather. The trim French heel so long esteemed, as indispensable to dainty feminity has been replaced by the new covered regulation Cuban heel.

Beautiful beyond description are the parasols so much in vogue this season. The white ones with huge bunches of hand-painted violets and roses are particularly artistic.

Filmy lace handkerchiefs continue to gain in importance and beauty, and are carefully chosen to conform with the toilette of the well-dressed woman.

VINES FOR THE VERANDA.

Every possessor of a house with a porch, whether in city, suburb or country, should realize the opportunity he has, with the help of nature, to make it a beautiful, shady retreat in summer. In the woods many wild vines may be found. There are the Dutchman's pipe, the wild grape, the moon seed vine, the trumpet vine and others. The wild grape vine is especially useful and easily obtained. The silk vine is very fine, with dark green luxuriant foliage of neat habit. It belongs to the milkweed family of plants and derives its name from the silky contents of its seed pods. A number of the clematises are well worthy of a place on the most beautiful verandas, especially the flowering varieties, such as clematis jackmanii, which has purple flowers, and clematis henryi, which has great white flowers, both producing a mass of rich color.

Safe.

Puffer—Phew! this cigar you gave me—

Subbubs—That cigar, sir, was made by a very worthy man out my way who—

Puffer—O! that's all right then. I was afraid it might be for sale in some store downtown that I might happen into.

THE HALL OF FAME.

Sir Gilbert Parker, the novelist member of parliament, does most of his writing nowadays while standing up.

Asa Dekluge, who has been chosen chief of the Apache Indians to succeed Geronimo, is a graduate of the Indian school at Carlisle and has great influence with his tribe.

Dr. Lynn, of Pana, I., the oldest physician in that State, celebrated his one hundred and first birthday. More than a thousand persons attended a reception given in his honor.

Francis MacMillen, the American violinist, who has been playing with great success for many years in Europe, will come to this country in the fall. He left Ohio in his boyhood.

Some say that men of genius are always thin, but among the fat and famous may be mentioned Renan, Dr. Johnson, Rossini, Balzac, Henry James, Dumas, St. Beuve and W. D. Howells.

Richard T. Greener, a negro, formerly United States consul at Vladivostok, has been given the decoration of the Red Dragon by the Chinese government for his humanitarianism during the Russo-Japanese war.

Sir Purdon Clarke, director of the Metropolitan museum, has gone to Europe and while abroad will make arrangements to get copies of certain masterpieces which the museum may never hope to obtain possession of.

Professor Wilhelm Ostwald has resigned the professorship of chemistry at the University of Leipsic as a result of his displasure at the lack of support accorded to his chemical researches. He will establish a private liboratory.

Claude Kemper, whose father is a vice admiral of the British navy, has enlisted in the United States marine corps and is now stationed at the Norfolk navy yard. He is twenty-five years old and saw hard service in the Boer war.

General J. C. Jamison, a Missourian of the old school, is probably the greatest bird lover in Oklahoma, his present home, and is advocating that the State adopt as a part of the curriculum the study of birds and their protection in the public schools.

Miss Nina Horanady, president of the Daughters of the War of 1812, for Georgia, has discovered in Ocean Park, Cal., Daniel Turner, who, she claims, is the only survivor of the war of 1812. He is a full blooded Cherokee Indian, born in Georgia and fought against the British during the battle of New Orleans.

The Rev. John Aldis, once the most prominent minister of the Baptist denomination in England, has reached the age of ninety-eight. He began life in a shoemaker's shop. Afterward he was sent to Horton college, near Bradford, now known as Rawdon college. Later he became pastor of Maze Pond chapel, London, and in 1866 he was elected chairman of the Baptist Union.

Sunday Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

There is no more popular resort for a Sunday than Mauch Chunk, and to reach it entails a delightful rail journey, and at Mauch Chunk there is a diversity of amusements, the chief of which is a ride over the Switchback. This journey occupies more than one hour, and leads over and around the mountains with widely changing scenes at every turn. The Switchback is a gravity road, and the speed attained is close to a mile per minute. Another feature is Flagstaff, the summit of which is reached by trolley, and from its pinnacle point there is a view extending over miles and miles of beautiful country. An interesting spot close at hand is Glen Onoko, a short distance above Mauch Chunk, and, as its name implies, is a beautiful glen, with falls, cataracts, mountain paths leading to cool and delightful places. On July 15, 1906, the New Jersey Central is to run a popular excursion to Mauch Chunk from Plainfield by special train leaving at 8.20 a. m. Returning train will leave Mauch Chunk at 5.40 p. m., and the round trip will cost but $1.50. Frequent train service will be in effect between Mauch Chunk and Glen Onoko, and trains on the Switchback run every few minutes.

Summer Shore Book.

The New Jersey Central has just issued an interesting booklet on the New Jersey coast resorts. It is replete with information desired by the vacationist. The book contains 64 pages of reading matter and has about 75 illustrations together with maps of the various routes to the shore. New Jersey always popular as a vacation resort has become doubly popular since the New Jersey Central has put in operation its fast Sea Shore trains in addition to the famous Sandy Hook route. If you are interested in a vacation, be sure you have the New Jersey Central "Sea Side Resorts of New Jersey," it will be sent to any address upon receipt of 4 cents in stamps by C. M. Burt, General Passenger Agent, 143 Liberty street, N. Y.

COPS' NINE WILL PLAY TRENTON BLUECOATS.

Chief Kiely's Pets Get Ready for Another Active Season on the Diamond.

After two years of inactivity the Cops' nine will re-enter the diamond this summer. The cops of Trenton will be their opponents.

Arrangements have been made for a game in Trenton on July 31. The bluecoats are getting in shape for the contest as fast as they can round stiffened muscles and ball-slow eyes into athletic quickness. Light practice has been held this week, and heavy field practice will begin next week.

Detective F. S. McCarthy is manager of the nine. The final line-up has not been decided upon, but Patrolman Dobson will probably pitch. The nines will be strictly from inside the departments. All ringers will be barred from both combinations.

This is the first game Plainfield bluecoats have ever arranged with Trenton. Most of their games have been with Newark and Elizabeth cops. Early this year the chase after Charles Long, the negro murderer, brought officers of the two departments closely together, and the friendliness that developed led to the game. The Plainfielders will be entertained at supper after the game in Trenton and a return of the hospitality will be made after the Trenonites play here.

PLAINFIELDERS AFTER GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

MESSRS. GLENNEY BARROWS AND ABBOTT IN NATIONAL TOURNEY.

H. Chandler Egan, the amateur golf champion for the past two years, arrived at Englewood yesterday and will be at the links daily in preparation for the defence of his title in the national tournament to begin on Tuesday. Egan made an 80, very good for the first glimpse of the 6,203 yard course, and was accompanied by John Hobens. The club's pro was so inspired by the presence of the amateur champion that he reeled off 73, breaking all records for the course.

The Plainfield Country Club will be represtned in this tournament by W. Lester Glenney, Dudley H. Barrows and Robert Abbott. Great things are expected of Abbott, who holds the intercollegiate golf championship, and as he is playing an exceptionally strong game at present, he should be able to make the entire field play the best to beat him.

Glenney and Barrows are also strong factors to be counted on in the tournament. The latter is a member of the Princeton 'Varsity golf team and his work during the past year has been of a high order. The same can be said of Glenney, who was formerly a member of the Columbia University golf team, and who has not lost any of his enthusiasm or playing ability since leaving college. It is a sure thing that these three Plainfielders will enter the tournament and possibly there may be more.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The regular Sunday afternoon and Thursday night devotional meetings of the W. C. T. U. have been discontinued until September.

The second-hand sale at the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue will be continued this afternoon and evening and also Monday afternoon and evening.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church, will combine its meetings with those of the mid-week prayer service for the rest of the summer.

The Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church has invited the Seventh-Day Baptist church and Sabbath-school to join it on the annual excursion to Asbury Park in July. A similar invitation was extended and accepted last year and it is more than likely that it will be accepted this year.

The Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday night to consider and adopt plans for the coming year. Last year the club gave a successful series of entertainments and the programme for the ensuing year will probably be along a similar line.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Michael Moynihan, of Bound Brook, has returned home after a visit with borough friends.

Miss Lucille Ewart, of Fairview avenue, has been confined to the house by an attack of tonsilitis.

Patrick Kenney, of Florida, has been visiting his brother, Andrew E. Kenney, of Watchung avenue.

Mrs. H. B. Dennis, of Watchung avenue, has gone to Northfield, Mass., where she will spend a few weeks.

Mrs. McIntyre and son, Vale, of St. Louis, have been visiting at the home of H. G. Black, of Fairview avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Neeley and family, formerly of the borough but now residents of Pittsburg, are spending the summer at the Gramercy, Asbury Park.

Harvard Law Teacher Dead.

Cambridge, Mass., July 6.—Christopher Columbus Langdell, LL. D., Dane professor of law, emeritus, at Harvard University, and an authority on law, died suddenly at his home in this city yesterday from heart disease. He was born in Hillsborough county, N. H., in 1826. Professor Langdell was appointed Dane professor of law at Harvard in 1870. Later he became dean of the law school faculty. He remained an active teacher at the Harvard Law School until 1900. Professor Langdell has been called the most famous teacher of law of his time. The case system of teaching law, now used in many law schools throughout the country, was inaugurated by him at Harvard.

ADDS 3 MILLIONS TO TAXABLE VALUES

Development of Big Tract in South End of City About to be Begun.

THE CAPITAL IS $250,000

Deal Made By Doane & Doane—C. A. Hyde President of the Concern.

Millions of dollars of taxable property will be added to the city borough through an exceptionally large deal which has just been effected by Thaddeus O. Doane, Jr., and John H. Doane, comprising the real estate firm of Doane & Doane. The firm purchased what is known as the Leonard tract being the site of the old golf course on Plainfield avenue, and then sold it for the South End Homes Company, who has been organized for the purpose of development of this large and attractive property in the South End of the city, and through the New York Chartered Company, will improve the streets, construct sidewalks and sewers and build beautiful and attractive homes on this tract. Doane & Doane, together with Charles A. Hyde, who is president of the New York Chartered Company, are the incorporators. Doane & Doane are the real estate sales agents and will jointly occupy offices with the South End Homes Company in the end store of Charles W. McCutchen's new building, 222 Park avenue.

The South End Homes Company is incorporated under the laws of the State, the capital stock being $250,000, with five year six per cent. guaranteed coupon bonds of $250,000. The officers of the company are as follows:

President, Charles A. Hyde, president of the New York Chartered Company; vice-president, George B. Kelly, director of the Aeolian Company; secretary and treasurer, C. E. Coloney, manager John and James Dobson Carpet Company.

The principal and interest of bonds will be payable at the Plainfield Trust Company. Craig A. Marsh has been engaged as general counsel for the company.

The Leonard tract is well-known. Since 1835 it has been in the Leonard family and before that in the family into which Oliver B. Leonard married, so that, as expressed by one who knew, "the title runs back in the family to the very beginning of things." During all these years Plainfield has grown and developed into one of the most attractive suburban cities about New York, with advantages second to none. By the growth and development the tract has become almost entirely surrounded by residences of architectural and artistic beauty and is one of the most desirable sections of the city.

The elevation is the highest in the city, next to the Netherwood section. A topographical map and survey has been made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer, from which a subdivision has been made, giving a total street frontage of 10,280 feet, bounded by Stelle, Plainfield, Sherman, Grant and Spooner avenues, with two new streets running through the property to be named Leonard place and South End avenue.

In subdividing care hase been exercised to conform to the general character of the surrounding and abutting property, so that the lots are all of good frontage and substantial depth—the smallest being 50x137 feet, thereby making it possible only for high-class development.

The company has retained as architect John V. VanPelt, of New York, one of the leading architects of the metropolis. Owing to the fact that there is a lage unfilled demand in Plainfield for high class residences, which the South End Homes Company aims to fill, owing to its ample resources, it will be enabled to do so upon terms to meet the conditions of all intending desirable purchasers.

Only a few detached parcels of property adjacent to the company's holdings are on the market and at what would probably be an average price of $60 per front foot, a conservative estimate, particularly when it is remembered that no property will be sold unimproved, but only in connection with attractive homes built theron—the total amount received in this way for the property will not be less than $500,000.

The New York Chartered Company has guaranteed the principal and interest of the bonds of the South End Homes Company and is largely interested in the local company, and will supervise its management. Doane & Doane are the sales agents.

Electric Light and Fire Alarm Wires Crossed.

The cross of an electric light wire with that of a fire alarm wire at West Second street and Spooner avenue, was responsible for the incessant blowing of the fire alarm whistle yesterday. The trouble was discovered by the telephone company which has charge of the fire alarm system, but the department is not absolutely certain that all of the boxes are in working order, as the cross may have burned some of them out. The inspection of the system will be continued until it is found to be all right.

An Early Morning Blaze.

A blazing oil stove at the residence of A. B. Davis, of 172 Duer street, started a fire at 5:45 this morning that caused $200 damage. An alarm was turned in by Mr. Davis from box 152 and the borough department prevent a much heavier loss by its quick response and good work. A hydrant stream and the chemical were used but practically no damage resulted from water.

GETTING EVIDENCE AGAINST THE ICE COMBINE.

Baltimore, July 7.—State Attorney Owens is hot after the Ice Trust. He has made a thorough investigation, and will furnish the Grand Jury the information he has gathered. A member of the combine turned State's evidence yesterday and told how the price was put up.

Several meetings were revealed to the State Attorney, at which it was understood the minimum price of ice was fixed. Evidence was given that it cost not over 63½ cents a ton to manufacture artificial ice with intelligent management, and that a profit of 100 per cent. could be made even on heavily inflated bond issues and watered stock at the price of $2.50 a ton.

It was also said to Mr. Owens that while an ice famine was supposed to exist and prices had been raised supposedly on account of this ice shortage, one company alone had on hand in Baltimore at least 8,000 tons of ice in storage and was positively refusing to sell ice at any price to dealers who were not in the combine to raise the price to consumers.

DAVENPORT CONVICTED.

Jury Finds He Did Send Poisoned Candy to His Daughter.

Trenton, N. J., July 7.—Charles F. Davenport was yesterday convicted in the Mercer county court of sending poisonous candy through the mails to his twelve-year-old daughter Josephine.

Davenport's wife was first suspected of the crime, and arrested. In the Judge's summing up the testimony of the handwriting experts was bitterly attacked. The Judge said it seemed to him there was no doubt, according to the testimony, of the identification of the handwriting on the box of candy.

Davenport wept when he heard the verdict.

FAST TROTTING AT PARK

Perrins "Easter Bay" Goes Under Wire First in 2:18 Trot Event

CONTEST FOR PLACE

Lively Heats Between Prince and Harry Dawson—Powder Boy First in 2:24 Trot.

Before a good-sized crowd of enthusiasts, the postponed races of the Plainfield Driving Association were held at the Driving Park, Saturday afternoon. There were three events as scheduled but owing to the heaviness of the track neither brought out any exceptionally speedy work or the competing animals were not seen to their best advantage. The heavy rains of last week had left the track with about three inches of dust and although the sprinkler was used generously it failed to help matters to any extent.

The best race of the day was the 2:18 trot and it went to J. H. Perrin's "Easter Boy," who had been picked to win. The real contest was for second place and the struggle rested with the Belle Meade Stock Farm's bay gelding, "Prince," and Adam Blair's "Harry Dawson." Both animals were in good trim and there was some very lively going. "Prince" was third, second and fourth respectively in the three heats while "Harry Dawson" was fifth, third and second. "Easter Boy's" time was 2:23 1-4, 2:19 1-4 and 2:20 flat.

The second race ,a 2:24 trot, went to A. S. Case's black gelding, "Powder Boy," the animal getting it through some very good stepping. The third and last race was captured by a local horse, J. H. Green, Jr.'s black mare, "Lady Trivol." A bay horse, "Allen Beck," belonging to E. V. D. Skillman, of Trenton, was a favorite, but Green went into win and sent his animal under the wire first in all three heats. In the final heat "Allen Beck" finished second but had to give way to that position in the previous two to Theodore Pope's "Judge Vincent."

The meet was one of these in the New Jersey Circuit and was attended by many well known horsemen from Trenton, Flemington, Three Bridges, Somerville and New Brunswick. The next meet will be at New Brunswick next Wednesday under the auspices of the Raritan Driving Asssociation.

Rev. Charles H. Fountain, of this city, who has not yet completed his theological studies at Crozier Theological Seminary, and who is spending the summer at home, occupied the pulpit at the First Baptist church last night, assisting the pastor, Rev. OPENING SERVICES AT THE NETHERWOOD HOME

REV. DR. J. A CHAMBLISS ADDRESSES THE 215 POOR CHILDREN.

Marking the beginning of the fourth year's work of Miss Sara Curry in the Fresh Air Camp at Netherwood, formal opening services were held at the camp yesterday afternoon. The meeting was held outdoors under the trees on the lawn and was in charge of George A. Chapman, a member of the board of directors of the camp. More than 200 children were present, who are now at the camp from New York and there were many Plainfielders who are interested in the work Miss Curry is carrying on in New York.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, was the speaker and gave an interesting talk to the children. The subject of his address was: "And he listened to the voice of the lad." Dr. Chambliss used several illustrations from the scripture in connection with his remarks, which were essentially to the children.

Miss Sara Curry, the matron of the camp, spoke briefly, touching upon the success of her winter's work at the East Eighth street, New York, nursery and the needs of the camp for the season. Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church, led the prayer.

A feature of the service was the singing. The children took part heartily in the gospel hymns and were accompanied by the melodian and by Whitney C. Frazee on the cornet. In addition there were three duets sung by Miss Luella Harris and Miss Gertrude Heins, soloists of the Park Avenue Baptist church choir. Violin solos were rendered by Miss Wohlfert.

The house and grounds were elaborately and beautifully decorated with small American flags and with wild flowers. At the conclusion of the services, many of the visitors remained to inspect the home and make a tour of the grounds, which have been much improved since last season.

Miss Sara Curry left early this morning for New York and will return this evening with fourteen crippled children from the tenement districts, who will remain in Plainfield for two weeks. There are now 215 children at the camp.

SUNDAY MORNING FIRE DAMAGES ROTH'S BUILDING

TOTAL LOSS MAY REACH $1,000—FULLY COVERED BY INSURANCE.

A fire that had probably been smouldering for several hours, broke out at 10:50 yesterday morning in the former Meeker building on East Front street, now owned by Roth & Co., and occupied by this firm and Bodine & Stires on the ground floor. It gave the city department a hot fight for an hour and was stopped just in time to prevent a bad conflagration. The loss cannot be estimated at present but will be at least $500 on the building and perhaps the same amount on the stock of Bodine & Stires and goods belonging to C. M. Meeker who leased the upper story.

The building is of frame construction and was recently overhauled by the new owners, who purchased it from the Meeker estate. No one had been about the place after closing hours Saturday night but shortly before 10 o'clock yesterday Patrolman Morris Higgins noticed smoke issuing from the rear of the part occupied by Bodine & Stires, a grocery firm. He turned in an alarm from box 12 and Chief Doane and the apparatus from headquarters were quickly on the scene.

The flames were then just creeping into the Roth store and thick volumes of smoke were pouring through the windows of the Hotel Waldorf, leading many to believe that this building had caught fire. Four streams of water were laid in and the seat of the trouble was located in a short time, though the firemen were beaten back several times. They experienced much difficulty in putting out the blaze because of the great quantity of packing boxes and groceries in bulk that were in the Bodine & Stires' storeroom.

Chief Doane made an investigation but beyond finding that the blaze evidently started in t ehrear of the grocery firm's place he learned nothing of the origin. The tenants themselves have no explanation.

The building is insured for $5,000 and Roth & Co.'s contents for $4,500 though these were not damaged. Bodine & Stires carried $1,000 on their stock but they have reached no loss figures as the goods are in such condition that it is impossible to tell if they have all been rendered worthless. C. M. Meeker has $500 insurance on his property.

When the alarm was turned in by Patrolman Higgins, the house tappers sounded all right but the gong gave but one blast. Believing that he might need more call men, Chief Doane had the whistle sounded from the house station and the double call brought out the West End company. The apparatus was afterward sent back but the call men remained.

To Exhange Pulpits.

Rev. George Shaw, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, will exchange pulpits on Saturday with Rev. E. F. Loofboro, pastor of the New York Seventh-Day Baptist church. Mr. Loofboro will soon leave for Riverside, California, where he has accepted the pastorate of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. His successor in New York has not yet been chosen.

Mrs. Walter S. Pound.

Mrs. Lydia A. Pound, wife of Walter S. Pound, died yesterday at her home on West Fifth street, aged fifty two years. She was the daughter of the late Valentine and Catherine Sauerman and had resided in this city all her life. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Thaddeus O. Doane, Jr., and one son, Walter Pound, who lives on West Fifth street. The funeral will be private.

PLAINFIELD IS DEFEATED

Cuban X Giants Win in Rattling Good Contest the Score Being 2 to 1.

PHIL SMITH IN THE BOX

School Boy Pitcher Allows Visitors but Three Hits—Sensational Plays.

Fandom was permitted to witness an exceptionally fast game of ball at Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon, when the Plainfield team met its first defeat of the season here. The Cuban X Giants were the opposing players and all agreed that the contest was one of the best ever played on the oval. It was replete with brilliant sensational plays on both sides, although the visitors had a little of the best of it. It was one of those hair-raising exhibitions with a garrison finish, and not until the last man was retired in the ninth inning was the contest decided.

Manager Lamar picked Bustamente, the fast infielder, to do the slab work, his other pitchers failing to come to town, and the little Cuban pitched remarkable ball, allowing but one hit, which Goodman had the honor of making. Things looked dubious for the visitors in the first inning, when Bustamente filled the bases with free passes, but in quick succession he fanned the next three batsmen. In the first stanza the Cubans scored a run on a free pass given Winston, a sacrifice by Wilson and a single by Garcia. Smith made Plainfield's only run in the second inning, after two men were out. He got a pass, as did Connolly, who followed him and then Goodman drove the ball into the outfield, bringing "Phil." home. Bustamente was generous with passes, giving eight, but the brilliant sharp fielding of his team saved him. He struck out ten batsmen.

"Phil." Smith was not far behind his rival for box honors. He allowed but three hits and was strong at all points of the game. Unfortunate errors by Leonard and Connolly helped materially to lose the contest. It is not often that Michael makes a misplay and he is gratefully excused. Connolly's failure to catch Valdez's fly in left garden, which was an easy out, is not so readily explained.

During the contest there were two double plays of the lightning variety. In the seventh inning Reardon caught a difficult fly, between his territory and that of Connolly and returned the ball quick enough to put Williams out at the middle station. The other double was made in the fifth inning, when Valdez nipped a hot one off Snow's bat and caught Heffron at first. The remarkable quick fielding of the visitors shut off several runs in several innings, when Bustamente did not have the Indian sign on the batsmen.

Snow, at short, played a fast, snappy game, retiring two runners and accepting four chances in clever style without an error.

Such contests as that of Saturday will do much toward reviving interest in the game and increasing the attendance. Although there was a marked improvement in the crowd, it was not what it should be to properly support the game. It is hoped that on Saturday there will be a further improvement. Manager Daab expects to have the Invaders from Elizabethport here, with Linderman, Farmer, Driscoll and many of the old-time favorites.

BARROWS WON LEG ON THE JULY CUP

GOOD FIELD OF PLAYS ON THE COUNTRY CLUB COURSE.

The favorable weather conditions together with the number of attractions brought out a large field of golfers at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday. It is seldom that the course has been in such fine condition and it is an exceptional pleasure to play on it. It is pronounced unusually fast.

In the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup, Dudley H. Barrows showed his old-time form and won first honors with a net score of 73, while Charles A. Stover finished second with a 75 and J. P. Murray third with a 78. These scores were returned:

Dudley H. Barrows, 73, 0—73; Charles A. Stover, 87, 12—75; James P. Murray, 98, 20—78; Edward J. Patterson, 97, 17—80; W. Lester Glenney, 79, plus 2—81; Stuart H. Patterson, 93, 11—82; J. A. Hutchinson, 104, 19—85.

There was also the initial play for the July cup and Dudley H. Barrows won a leg on it with a score of 73. These scores were posted for the cup:

Dudley H. Barrows, 73, 0—73; Charles A. Stover, 87, 12—75; James P. Murray, 98, 20—78; W. Lester Glenney, 76, plus 2—78; Edward J. Patterson, 97, 17—80; Julius E. Erickson, 92, 10—82; Stuart H. Patterson, 93, 11—82; J. A. Hutchinson, 104, 19—85.

For making the best gross score in this competition, an 87, Charles A. Stover scored a win for the semi-scratch cup. The remaining players in the first eight Men's championship cup tournament were unable to play the semi-final round, but those left in the competition for the Consolation cup, second eight, played the semi-finals. Charles A. Stover beat Stuart H. Patterson, 2 up and 1 to play, and George T. Van Boskerck beat Edgar I. Serrell, 6 up and 4 to play. The other semi-final round will be played off on Saturday or next week.

The weekly competitions for the President's and Park Golf Club cups were the only events at the Park Golf Club on Saturday. John L. Watson, Rev. C. L. Goodrich and Charles B. Morse won the points for the President's cup, while Rev. J. O. McKelvey, Mr. Goodrich and Charles A. Reed captured the points for the scratch cup. The leading scores were as follows:

John L. Watson, 104, 24—80; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, 98, 9—89; Charles B. Morse, 106, 16—90; Rev. J. O. McKelvey, 93, 2—91; Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, 106, 15—91; Charles A. Reed, 102, 10—92.

A BIBULOUS VISIT.

Colored Woman Has Too Good a Time in the Borough.

Kate Stevens, colored, had an outing to this city from her home in Westfield Saturday and was found on Somerset street late at night in a talkative state of hilarity resulting from a too free use of liquid refreshment. Marshal Dooley took her to the borough lockup, where she was a guest for the night. Kate says she used to live in Plainfield and speaks highly of the city as a place of refreshment. The Bishops' law had no terrors for her, for, with a small sized portable saloon on her person she didn't care who saw her drink—till the marshal saw her. Mayor Smalley will decide upon her punishment at the session of court tonight.

WILLIAM FARRIER SUMMONED BY DEATH

END CAME WHILE HE WAS VISITING AT SOMERVILLE.

Following an illness that had afflicted him the greater part of the past year, William Farrier, the well known bridge builder whose home was in New Market, died yesterday morning at the home of his brother-in-law, William Johnson, of Somerville. He had been failing rapidly recently but two weeks ago he made the request that he be driven to Mr. Johnson's place and it was complied with. Chronic dyspepsia was his original complaint and it led to stomach complications.

Mr. Farrier was born in Scotland county sixty-two years ago, almost in the shadow of Skibo Castle, Andrew Carnegie's estate. He came to this country in middle life and twenty-five years ago located at New Market. He became a contracting mason and later made a specialty of bridge foundations with the result that the greater part of the structures in this part of the State was started by him. The last contract he received was for the bridge now being built over Green brook on West End avenue and which he was to construct entirely. When he found that his illness would not permit him to do it, he turned the job over to his foreman, Magnus Johnson, who now has it well under way.

Mr. Farrier was a typical Scotchman, quiet and unassuming yet very observing and ready at all times to give counsel to his friends. He was a member of the First Baptist church at New Market and enjoyed the respect and confidence of the entire village. He is survived by a widow.

The funeral will be held from his late home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

FORMER SCHEPFLIN HOME PREY TO INCENDIARY FIRE.

Fire Which Broke Out Saturday Afternoon Causes $2,000 Loss.

The former home of the late Christian Schepflin on Grove street, Dunellen, and one of the largest houses in that borough, was badly damaged by fire Saturday afternoon. The place has not been occupied since the first part of the year and incendiarism is suspected. The Seventh-Day Baptist Memorial Asssociation, of this city, owns the property.

When first noticed, the flames were bursting from three or four places but they undoubtedly originated on the first floor. The Dunellen department was summoned and under the direction of Chief Wyhuskey did splendid work in quelling the blaze. They saved the place from total destruction and it can be repaired, though the loss will reach at least $2,000.

Thrown From an Auto.

Dr. T. W. Bebout, of Stirling, accompanied by Frederick W. Moffett, the well-known marksman of Bloomfield, had a narrow escape from serious injury in an automobile accident near Stirling yesterday afternoon. They went out for a spin in Dr. Bebout's big auto and while running along at a rapid rate the machine came to a sudden stop, hurling both men to the ground. Moffett, who was thrown a distance of twenty feet, turned a complete somersault, and landed on his back and one hand. Dr. Bebout escaped with a few bruises and was able to attend to his own as well as his companion's hurts. The two men were taken to Dr. Bebout's home in Mr. Whitney's auto.

COULD NOT QUENCH THIRST

Plainfield Excursionists to Suburbs Found "Dry Sunday" General.

THE BAR ROOMS CLOSED

New Bishops' Law Works Wonders—Saloonkeepers Want to Sell Out.

Though Plainfield has known the meaning of a "dry Sunday" for years, it remained for the enforcement of the so-called Bishops' bill yesterday to remind the regular "excursionists" to the suburban resorts that thirst quenching on the Sabbath is a thing of the past. The hotels at Scotch Plains, Watchung, Dunellen and New Market that have always been wide open from Saturday night until Monday morning were closed tight and though dusty looking Plainfielders hung about the places "spitting cotton" they couldn't even purchase a bottle of soda water or a cigar. The villages were never infested by a sadder lot of mortals and if the persons responsible for the Bishops' bill had hove in sight their lives wouldn't have been worth a moment's purchase.

To the law-abiding Scotch Plains residents who have grown callous to the sight of drunks reeling through the street on Sunday, it seemed as if the millenium had come. Families gathered on the porch to observe and comment on the absence of "package" laden individuals and to the oldest inhabitants it seemed as if time had sped back a few decades. Every hotel in the place closed promptly at 12 o'clock Saturday night though they were doing a rushing business and those who failed to clear out when the order was given, were assisted to the door with the necessary force. The law was certainly observed in that village and will continue to be, though it is sure to result in some of the proprietors going out of business.

In recent years, the hotel keepers in the suburbs have depended on the Sunday trade to tide them through the week and without exception the profits on this one day have been large. Plainfielders contributed the bulk of the coin and with the supply cut off, a place of any size cannot meet expenses. Already two owners have offered their business for sale at a price way below what they paid for it a short time ago.

There is no doubt but what the provisions of the Bishops' bill will continue to be enforced in the suburbs as the power does not rest alone in the hands of the authorities. Private citizens can prefer complaint and the case will be taken up and prosecuted without causing them any undue notoriety or inconvenience. One Scotch Plains resident said yesterday:

"This is the first time since I have lived here that Scotch Plains has had a quiet Sunday and I am certainly going to do all in my power to keep it just this way. The Bishops' bill has done something for us that Law and Order Leagues and police were powerless to stop and it seems almost too good to be true."

In Plainfield proper, the bill has made no material difference in the conduct of saloons, in fact, the local ordinance covered most of its provisions. Such a thing as keeping open on Sunday has been unheard of for years and the interior of barrooms has always been open to view from closing time Saturday night until Monday morning. In this respect Plainfield has been a model for the entire state and it even has gone ahead of any other municipality in establishing a saloon "zone." It also stands alone as the one city in New Jersey that demands a $1,000 license fee for selling liquor and previously makes the applicant get the signatures of the reputable persons before he is given the privilege.

But speaking of the suburbs is another matter an the camp of the regulars is filled with woe.

All over the State yesterday the liquor law was obeyed strictly, excepting at Atlantic City where it was said to be wide open.

Joseph McGrath.

Following an illness of a year with catarrhal trouble, Joseph McGrath, aged twenty-nine years, died yesterday at his home on South Second street. He was employed as a machinist in one of the local shops and leaves a wife and three small children. The funeral will be held from his late residence tomorrow morning at 8:30 and from St. Mary's church at 9. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

HER BANK A DISH.

Better Than a Bed, Miss Lamb Thought, but It Made Mischief.

There was excitement Thursday night in the neighborhood of Fifth and William streets, Harrison, when it became noised around that Mrs. Ann Lamb, of Fifth street, had been robbed of $500.

It appears that Mrs. Lamb gave the money Thursday morning to her daughter Margaret to hide under a mattress. At evening before going to bed the mother thought she would have a look at the greenbacks and, going to the bed, could not find the money.

Both women ran to a neighbor's house and reported their loss, and after receiving all the consolation that the neighbors could give them, went home, but not to sleep. Yesterday morning Miss Lamb went to get her pocketbook, which she had hidden under a dish in the pantry, and there found with it her mother's $500, which she then recalled she herself had put there, thinking the dish a better bank than the bed. Now all is smiling again in the Lambs' home.

Trenton, July 9.—Every farmer in New Jersey will be invited to meet with the State Board of Agriculture at a special summer session of the board to be held on the farm connected with the State Agrucultural College at New Brunswick, August 17. Ground has been broken for the new buildings to be erected at the college and under the appropriation short practical courses in agriculture are to be established for the sons of the farmers who are unable to attend the college for the full term.

For the meeting August 17 a formal programme will be prepared designed to give a complete exposition of what is being done experimentally at the college, by Dr. E. B. Voorhees and his assistants. Dr. Voorhees is president of the State board and professor of agriculture at the college.

RARE MONUMENT FOR WARD.

It Is Huge Glacial Quartz Boulder Studded With Jasper Pebbles.

Rochester, July 9.—Mrs. Lydia Coonley Ward, widow of Prof. Ward, who was killed in Buffalo Wednesday, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon. She will assume charge of the body.

Several years ago Prof. Ward brought a huge glacial quartz boulder studded with jasper pebbles from the northern shores of Lake Superior, having conceived the feeling that he would like his ashes to lie beneath so lasting and beautiful a monument. Its rarity is great, for the stones were imbedded with glacier flows that cleft the Lautorntian Range of Canada; and the beauty of the mass of glistening quartz is heightened by the opaque dull reds and yellows of the jasper pebbles. In accordance with his wishes the ashes of Prof. Ward will rest under this glacial boulder in Mount Hope cemetery in this city.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Funeral services of Mrs. Hannah Marsh, widow of the late John R. Marsh, who died Wednesday, were held from her late home Saturday afternoon at 3:30. Rev. T. Moore-Smith, pastor of the Baptist church, of which the deceased was a member and active worker for many years, had charge of the obsequies. The home was filled with the relatives and friends who had known and loved the deceased for her lovable character and many kind deeds. Mr. Smith chose for his text, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from henceforth." During his remarks he spoke of the departed's active church work during the many years she had been a member of his church and a regular attendant until her last illness, the many deeds of charity she had done in her own quiet way would probably never be known, but by those who were the recipients. This would make her missed not only in the church but in the town. The floral tokens of sympathy and respect were many and beautiful, nearly covering the casket. Interment was made in the family plot in the Baptist cemetery, the palll bearers being Dr. F. W. Westcott, A. D. Beekon, David Hand and Charles R. Vincent, all deacons or former deacons of the old church the deceased had been identified with so many years.

With Pfender, of Elizabeth, in the box, the Newark A. A. team went down to defeat Saturday afternoon at the hands of the 'Plains team by the score of 9 to 5. The game was a slugging contest in which the home team carried off the honors, knocking three home runs off Pfender. Johnston, of the local team, was in fine form and was suppored well at critical stages of the game. The game itself was a pretty contest and pleased the local fans. The two teams meet again later in the season and the visitors will make a strong effort to redeem themselves at that time, as they han contemplated an easy victory with Pfender and Sauers as the battery.

TOLEDO ICEMEN OUT OF JAIL ON BAIL NOW

Sentence Suspended Pending Action on the Cases by Higher Courts.

Toledo, July 9.—"It's just as I feared," said Prosecutor Wachenheimer at the conclusion of the day's hearing of the icemen and their attorneys. "The defense has now liberated the icemen from jail by suspension of sentence and that is about all they care for at this time. They are already showing intentions of delaying the further prosecution of the case till fall, when the public interest has died out. But come when it may, these cases both of the icemen and the contempt against the attorneys will be pushed to the limit with vigor."

Prosecutor Wachenheimer was led into his declaration when Clarence Brown remarked that the defense would not touch the ice cases till their contempt case was out of the way. Since the Circuit Court has got into the game all that has been accomplished has been the conclusion of the hearing of a mandamus to compel Judge Kinkade to sign a bill of exceptions and to say what the bill shall contain. The decision in that will be given in the morning. Then the case itself must be heard by Circuit Court, from whence it will go to the Supreme Court. Then writs in mandamus in all the ice cases must be heard to compel the signing of a writ in mandamus and then the petitions in error themselves are to be argued if the Circuit Court allows the admission of the cases to their court.

When the court opened yesterday afternoon Clarence Brown was given this advice by Judge Parker:

"We wish to inform the attorneys that any statement made here reflecting on the judge of the lower court will be considered as against this court. We will give no further warning."

This was caused by several contemptuous statements by Brown prior to noon adjournment.

The morning session was spent in arguing the suspension of sentence in the cases of Miller, Breining and Watters, and ended with their release from jail on $5,000 bail. The Court maintained that they should be released on the same grounds of the release of Beard and Lemmon. This action now leaves all the sentenced men at liberty in spite of the fact that they admitted to the lower court that they were guilty and subject to the sentence.

Tobocco Smoke.

The composition of tobacco smoke is complex. Analysis gives nicotine, pyridic bases, formic aldehyde, ammonia, methylamin, pyrrol, sulphuretted hydrogen, prussic acid, butyric acid, carbonic acid, oxide of carbon, the steam of water, an etherized empyreumatic oil, and tarry or resipous products, among which we detect small quantities of phenol. Of all the products of tobacco the most venomous are nicotine, pyridic and methylamin bases, prussic acid, sulphuretted hydrogen, oxide of carbon and empyreumatic oil, and all that we draw into our lungs with more or less satisfaction.—Harper's Weekly.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

There are hot weather meats as well as hot weather clothes and hot weather drinks. Not necessarily hot meat, you know, for luncheons and supper these days. And when you are planning the picnic basket give an order to Fred Endress and get the best.

Light, crisp fancy cakes with berries make an ideal summer desert. Demolli, the West Front street caterer, can supply them.

Flies are a nuisance, aren't they? Louis Beck, the South avenue carpenter, can make screens for all the windows.

Keep your watch free from dirt in the hot weather. William Brown, the jeweler, does that work at his Watchung avenue store.

Good driving weather this. Why not have rubber tires put on the single rig and get the acme of pleasure. Conroy, the carriage man, will do it.

Did you see the folks drinking at Hodge's soda fountain in the Y. M. C. A. building after the band concert? That must mean good soda.

The wise buy coal in the summer, for it's cheaper. John Johnson, South avenue, will deliver winter supply at once.

When you dress in light-weight clothes for this sunny July weather, don't forget light-weight shoes, too. Van Arsdale, the East Front street shoe man, has the newest and best when it comes to "clothes for the feet." Low shoes in canvas and light leather—white, black or tan—look stylish and at the same time feel cool and comfortable.

Woodhull & Martin, the East Front street dry goods' firm, is showing a very large stock of summer goods in every department, including dress goods, men's furnishings, carpets, rugs, housefurnishing goods, furniture and white goods. The firm buys carefully only such things that can be fully guaranteed to give entire satisfaction and the customer gets the benefit of its experience in this line.

A. M. Griffen, the East Front street hardware merchant, not only carries a full line of hardware and builders' materials, but is always prepared to sell the best line of garden and farming implements and household utensils.

William Hand & Sons, of East Second street, general truckers, move goods to all parts of the country quickly and carefully. The firm's prices are right.

A. LeVine, of Watchung avenue, cleans and presses men's clothes so that they look as good as new. Prices low.

Though I. H. Boehm's department store makes a specialty of dry and fancy goods, household articles and millinery, one department is given up to men's furnishings. It is in charge of a competent buyer who knows what young and old men want and who can get it for them at the right price. Stop in some time and see the new arrivals of underwear, cravats and outing shirts.

William H. Pope, the North avenue electrician, makes a specialty of installing electric fans. He will furnish prices and estimates upon request.

A. E. & A. L. Giddes, the West Front street shoe dealers, have a large line of those white ties and shoes so much worn by women this summer. They are in all styles and sizes. Their store is headquarters of the best makes of footwear for men, women and children.

When that straw hat gets so badly spattered by dust and rain that you are tempted to cast it aside, go around to U. B. Crane's West Front street haberdashery and have him clean it for you. He will make it look like new in a few minutes and charge you only a small price.

Stephen H. Schleif has been installed as foreman of Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., having been chosen for the office because of the resignation of the one holding it.

Careful Housewives

when getting ready to put away your stoves for the summer, give each stove a coat of 6-5-4 to prevent it from rusting; it is applied like paint, so requires No Polishing. 6-5-4 is better than an enamel for Stoves, Pipes or Wire Screens, it is easier to apply and dries in 10 minutes.

6-5-4 Kills Rust

If your dealer hasn't it H. E. Gayle Hardware Co. and Woodhull & Martin have it.

AZIENZA

cures pimples and all inflammation of the skin. Used by people of refinement. Medicinal and toilet—25 and 50 cents.

Plainfield, N. J., July 9, 1906.

Now that the saloon business is properly regulated, the Legislature can well afford to give its attention to Sunday baseball.

Plainfield congratulates itself that the other cities of the State are at last compelled to do what it long since did voluntarily for the betterment of the liquor traffic. The Bishops' law is an infringement on the local ordinances and a welcome one at that.

Judge Booream, of Middlesex, says he will make no order regarding screens in saloons on the ground, as he takes it, that the new liquor law is ambiguous on that point, yet the statute is quite simply when one peruses it carefully. The act states that all parts of the interor of a saloon must be in full view. By that it means that there must be no screens, booths, side rooms and the like, to obstruct the view of one entering the place. The latter part of the same paragraph deals with screens that prevent a view from the public street and it is so stated. It is specially provided that such screens may be removed also during the hours of business, but only when ordered by the body having power to grant licenses. Consequently it is an entirely optional provision and can only be taken advantage of by the power in whom authority is vested to issue licenses in the first place. As we take it, therefore, the local saloonkeepers cannot be compelled to remove their screens during the hours of business until ordered to do so by a resolution of the Common Council.

The effort of Edwin S. Hooley to ascertain whether there is any agreement or understanding among the local ice dealers to regulate prices in restraint of trade will certainly be watched with considerable interest. All over the country investigations are being made of alleged ice trusts and in more than one instance dealers found guilty have been sentenced to serve time. In referring to the situation generally, the Philadelphia Press today says:

"The Ice Trust is decidedly in a bad way. Not only have its heads in Toledo been convicted and sentenced to prison, but here in Philadelphia they are under indictment. Indianapolis has an investigation under way of complaints of short weight, while many cities of Massachusetts are making investigations along the same line. In St. Louis, Hartford, Conn., and Springfield and Lynn, Mass., the people are rising in revolt against the extorionate demands of the trust, and in several of these cities, if the charges of short weight can be sustained, a number of greedy Ice Trust officials will land in prison."

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, of Watchung avenue, returned home yesterday from Williamstown, Mass., where their son, Brockholst Kip Miller, was a graduate of Williams College in June.

GAME LAWS VIOLATED.

Five Plainfielders Before Judge Mundy for Net Fishing in Pond.

Violation of the fish, game and bird statute is to cause trouble for a party of five local pond fishermen at Justice Mundy's court this afternoon. Goldson Smalley, his sons, and Frank Warren and James Benson, fished with a net in the pond off Green Brook near Jefferson avenue on June 9. The party, it is alleged, had a big net, and were pulling in the fish in large numbers. During the afternoon's sport, Frank Marensbeck happened along, and believing that the law was being violated, remonstrated with the fishermen. He said they ought to throw the fish back in the pond. Words ensued and in the course of the argument, Benson mistook Marensbeck for a fish and attempted to follow his advice. Then there was a fight. Marensheck was somewhat worsted and sought legal retribution, bringing action against Benson in charges of assault and battery.

The matter was reported to Game Warden George H. Miller and V. W. Nash, Jr., has been retained as counsel for the State. Robert Clark, Jr., Esq., will represent Marensbeck. The case is set for 2 o'clock before Justice Mundy at the borough court.

ARREST ON WARRANT.

After Several Days Hunt Totten Was Caught Saturday.

Borough Marshal Joe Flack was right on his job Saturday night and nabbed a man on a warrant, as he was making his first visit to town since the Fourth. The man was George Totten, Jr., who has been avoiding arrest by staying at home in Watchung since the warrant was sworn. Totten was drunk on the Fourth and in a pugilistic frame of mind went to the Natural Ice Company's stables on Somerset street, where he wsa employed, and tried to raise a row with "the Boss." The warrant was sworn that night, but Totten "beat it" home and has kept dark since. He thought he'd take a chance on a trip through town Saturday and sneaked in via Watchung avenue. Flack pinched him and he was later released by supplying $10 bail. The case comes before Mayor Smalley tonight.

NEWARK ICE TRUST ENDS.

Members, Alarmed by Toledo Decision, Disband.

The Newark Wholesale Ice Dealers' Association has been disbanded. Internal discussion is said to have been the cause, but it is generally believed that the recent action of a judge in Toledo in sending several ice barons to prison may have caused some alarm. Owing to the disbanding of the association there is likely to be a break in the price of ice which may benefit the consumers.

Sad Story.

"Good morning, Lord Brokewood," greeted the society reporter on the English pier. "I hear you are just back from America. Deuced clever place. Did you meet any famous heiresses?"

"I met one!" sighed Lord Brokewood.

"Ah, and you won her?"

"Far from it! She invited me to play a game of 'bridge' and before I left the table I had lost my family castle, my steamship ticket and everything but my debts. Had to come home on a cattle ship."—Chicago Daily News.

Lucky for Paul.

Paul Revere was about to start forth on his famous ride.

"Gee," he said, as he lightly vaulted into the saddle, "I'm glad the locomotive hasn't been invented yet. As it is, I'll not have to slow up at any railroad crossings."

Then he chirped to his horse and was away like the wind.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Method.

"No matter what opinion is offered, you express a contrary view," said the impatient friend.

"Well," answered Mr. Bliggins, "that's a way I have of acquiring knowledge. A man is more likely to give up all he knows on a subject if you get him to warm up with a little controversial indignation.—Washington Star.

Safer.

"Yes, he started life as a burglar."

"And reformed?"

"That's as you happen to look at it; at his first trial, when his lawyer took the entire proceeds of the robbery he had committed to defend him, he thought he saw a better and safer graft than burglary; so he studied law."—Houston Post.

Through the Ice.

"Well, well, and what did your father whip you for, little boy?" asked the wise old man.

"Fur swimmin', I guess," blubbered the urchin.

"What! You didn't go swimming this weather?"

"No, I went skatin', but I wound up swimmin'."—Philadelphia Press.

More Ambitious.

Phroogle—If you want to get ahead, why don't you cut down your personal expenses?

Wrounder—Because anybody can do that. I'm trying to get ahead without cutting down my personal expenses, and let me tell you, old fellow, that's something that requires genius.—Chicago Tribune.

Natural.

"So you're going fishing with Bob next summer. Well, he's a great story teller."

"Yes, and his stories get bigger every summer."

"How's that?"

"Why, the fish he's caught grow during the winter, I suppose."—Detroit Free Press.

Better Measure.

"Here's a piece in de paper," said Weary Willie, "dat says dark beer is always best. I never liked pale beer anyhow, did you?"

"Sure," replied Ragson Tatters, "yer git more dat way."

"W'at way?"

"In a pail."—Philadelphia Press.

Not New Wealth.

The prima donna said: "My face
My fortune is." "Then you,"
Remarked her rival for the place,
"Are not a parvenu."
—Philadelphia Press.

'TWAS NOT ON HIS MIND.

Nan—What makes you look so worried, dear? Is there something on your mind?

Cliff—O! no, nothing on my mind.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Telepathy.

No word is spoken, neither need there be,
Across the board a message comes to me;
I catch its meaning—there is no mistake—
My wife informs me we've run out of cake!
—Puck.

Her View.

"Yes," said the young man, "my ears are rather large, I must admit; but large ears are a sign of generosity, I believe."

"That's right," rejoined the fair maid. They indicate that nature has been quite generous."—Chicago Daily News.

Also Knew Her.

"Going to kill him on sight? Why you astonish me!"

"Astonish you? Why the scoundrel ran off with my wife!"

"I know it."—Houston Post.

No Kick.

"Tommy, that's the worst cold you have had this winter, isn't it?"

"Naw! It's the best. I don't have to go to school."—Chicago Tribune.

Scientific Men in England to Celebrate in Honor of Dr. W. H. Perkin.

London.—Among the romances of science few appeal more strongly to the imagination than the discovery, 50 years ago, by Dr. W. H. Perkin, when a youth of 18, which started the great coal tar industries that now absorb many millions of dollars of capital and afford a livelihood to thousands. Unlike many inventors who have made vast fortunes for others, Dr. Perkin reaped a substantial reward from his discovery. He is still living, hale and hearty, happy and prosperous. He soon will celebrate his sixty-eighth brithday anniversary. To commemorate the occasion and the jubilee of aniline dyes, he is to be presented with his portrait in oils; a marble bust is to be made of him for the Chemical society, and a fund is to be established,

DR. W. H. PERKINS.
(He Discovered the Process of Making Dyes Fifty Years Ago.)

to be known as the Perkin research fund, for the promotion of chemical research. Many of the most famous scientific men in England have taken the matter in hand.

Dr. Perkin's father was a builder and wished his son to be an architect, but the lad wanted to go in for chemistry, and, fortunately, his father let him have his own way. When 15 years old he entered the Royal College of Chemistry, and made such rapid headway there that two years later he was appointed assistant to Prof. Hoffman, who had charge of the college. One day the professor suggested to him that he should endeavor to produce quinine by artificial means. He failed, but his experiments led him to treat sulphate of aniline, a product resulting from the distillation of coal tar, with yellow potash bichromate, and thus he obtained the dye stuff called mauve.

For many years after its discovery mauve pervaded the ribbons of civilized womanhood, and under the names of lilac and heliotrope is still recognizable among the latest triumphs of the print works and the looms. It is still the favorite color of Queen Alexandra. But its chief title to distinction is that it was the first of the long series of coal tar colors, more than 100 in number, and rivaling the hues of the rainbow, which have utterly revolutionized the dyeing trade. Dr. Perkin patented his process, and with his father and brother established works near Harrow.

FRANKING IS ABOLISHED.

Postage Stamps Must Be Used Upon All Mail Matter in the Philippines.

The postal administration of the Philippines has taken the step advocated so strongly by Edwin C. Madden, third assistant postmaster general for the United States government, to-wit: the franking privilege has been entirely abolished on the islands, and every piece of mail matetr, whether private or official, must bear a postage stamp.

The motives actuating the insular government in taking this step were the same that suggested to Gen. Madden the desirability of abolishing the franking privilege in the United States; a deficit in the postal bureau. The Philippine officials were satisfied that the postal department of the islands would take care of itself provided it could be placed on a business basis. Under the old regime vast quantities of official mail was being transported and handled from which no revenue was derived; the matter simply bore the usual "penalty card" and was carried free.

The insular bureau is in a sense a law to itself and has authority to handle its postal affairs according to the desire of the department without invoking legislation by congress. The postal department, weary of its regular annual deficit and the unfavorable comment that naturally followed, took the matter into its own hands and issued an order that hereafter all mail of the insular government must carry the requisite stamps. The order went into effect and the various bureaus of the insular government are paying their good money to the post office department of the island and affixing postage stamps to every piece of mail deposited in the office, whether it be a domestic or foreign mail.

The method employed is this: The bureaus of the insular government buy quantities of stamps of various denominations and with a rubber stamp overprint them with the initials "O. B.," which signifies "official business." Money to purchase the stamps is taken from the insular treasury, paid to the postal department, which in turn deposits the money in the insular treasury. It is literally a case of taking money out of one pocket and putting it into the other, yet it enables the postal department to obtain credit for the business it actually does and requires the other departments to charge themselves with a legitimate expense. The insular government as a whole has not made nor lost a cent, beyond the actual cost of printing the postage stamps, which is about ten cents per 1,000 stamps.

In his annual report to congress, Gen. Madden recommended that the franking privilege be abolished and that members of congress and officials in the departments be required to affix postage stamps to all mail sent out. He proposed that specific appropriations should be made which should cover the amount of the cost of stamps used by members of congress and the departments in official correspondence or for prepayment of postage on documentary mail. It was not expected that this scheme would result in any net saving to the government, but it would enable the post office department to wipe out its annual deficit of about $15,000,000 and this amount would be added to the expenditures of the other departments according to the amount of postage stamps required.

It is not expected that action will be taken along the line by congress at this session, but the matter has had attention at the hands of the house post office committee, and it is acknowledged that there is great force in the recommendations of the post office department. The campaign in this direction will be continued and it is only a question of a few years when all departments and officials will be using postage stamps.

CUTTING INTO OUR MARKETS

Italian Manufacturers Putting Forth Efforts to Build Up Trade in Philippines.

Consul Dunning reports to the bureau of manufactures from Milan on the methods of Italian manufacturers in building up their trade in the Philippine islands. Lombardy shipped $380 in goods to Manila in 1903, $4,000 in 1904, and for the six months ending December, 1905, the shipments from Milan to the Philippines amounted to over $38,000. Every article sent by the Italians, the report says, is being made in the United States, including hats, paper, cottons, umbrellas, boots, milk, macaroni, paint, hemp, lamps, medicines, preserves, linen, soap, pottery, and wearing apparel. Many of the "Manila" hats coveted by travelers and collectors, the consul adds, are made in Milan and shipped into the east by the gross.

"American shoes" are also made in Italy. Vice-Consul Schlemmer writes from Mannheim, Germany, that he visited a number of shoe stores in that city, which advertised American shoes. Some of the merchants admitted that their stocks were from Milan. One of the shoe store managers was an Italian, who said he saw no reason why American shoes should not be made in Italy just as well as in Massachusetts.

Hawaiian Surf Birds.

That birds of the family termed surf birds in the Hawaiian islands should leave that paradise of the Pacific to go and rear their young in the tundras of Alaska would seem to many as an extraordinary proceeding. Yet the turnstone and the black-bellied plover and the Pacific golden plover make the long journey of about 4,000 miles thither annually.

The Constant Wearing of a Hat Propogates Dandruff Germs.

There are many men who wear their hats practically all the time when awake, and are blessed with a heavy shock of hair; yet if the scalps of these same men once became infested with dandruff germs, the parasites would multiply all the quicker for lack of air. Baldness would ensue as the final result. Newbro's Herpicide kills these germs and stimulates unhealthy hair to abundant growth. Herpicide is a pleasant hair dressing as well as a dandruff cure and contains not an atom of injurious substance. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

DON'T FORGET IN SUMMER.

To give pure cold water to the baby two or three times a day.

To prevent sore mouth by rinsing with a little cold water and borax.

To shade the baby's eyes from strong light, especially from full sunlight.

To avoid saffron tea for bleaching the baby, for it has a tendency to produce scrofulous sores.

To apply hot clothes to the little feet and stomach for colic, and leave the peppermint in its bottle.

To use good common sense continually and in large doses; and the baby will be a joy and comfort to the household, no matter how trying the weather.

Chocolate Caramels.

Put into a granite sauce pan one cup of finely broken or grated chocolate, one cup of molasses, the same amount each of rich milk and sugar and two heaping tablespoonfuls of butter. Stir over a slow fire until thoroughly mixed, then boil slowly until it cracks when dropped into ice water. Turn into greased tins and mark into squares before the mixture becomes cold.

Coffee Caramels.

To one pound of brown sugar allow one cup of strong coffee, a half cup of cream and an ounce of butter. As soon as cooked sufficiently to be brittle when dropped in cold water, pour into buttered pans and mark with a buttered knife into squares before the mixture gets quite cold.

Soft Caramels.

For one pound of brown sugar allow a cupful of milk, a tablespoonful and a half of butter and half a cake of grated chocolate. Cook nine minutes, take from the fire and stir steadily for five minutes, but not until too stiff to pour. Turn into a buttered pan and mark in squares. This candy will be crumbly and rich.

Nut Caramels.

Put into a sauce pan a quarter of a pound of grated unsweetened chocolate, four ounces of butter, one pound of brown sugar, half a cupful of molasses, the same of cream and a half teaspoonful of vanilla. Cook until a little dropped in cold water is brittle, then ad da pound of nuts chopped fine. The nuts may be of one kind or mixed as preferred.

WHEN PACKING A TRUNK.

Don't pack clothes in a trunk which has not been used for some time without airing the latter; it may have been lying in a damp corner.

Don't begin to pack before you have collected together all the things required, else you may, at the last moment, be obliged to squeeze some heavy article in the top of the trunk, and thus crush lighter articles.

Don't forget that a dress bodice or blouse must have the sleeves stuffed with soft paper, and any crushable trimmings, such as lace or chiffon should be stuffed out with rolled-up paper; otherwise all the freshness will be gone when brought to light again.

ENGLISH ETCHINGS.

In England a man can take out an insurance policy against twins.

Less than $5 per week is earned by three our of every four Englishman.

Fully one-third of the land in Great Britain is owned by members of the House of Lords.

Great Britain, it is said, eats in thirteen weeks all the 73,000,000 bushels of wheat which it grows.

Since the sixteenth century twelve churches, a convent, a hospital and many hundreds of acres of land have been swallowed by the sea in the vicinity of Aldenburgh.

For every ton of genuine ivory imported into Great Britain there are imported three tons of vegetable ivory. The latter comes chiefly from the republic of Columbia, in South America. It is obtained from the seeds of the ivory nut palm.

PITH AND POINT.

Some people can't listen unless they have their mouths open.

It is sometimes easier to figure the other man's profits than your own.

Unfortunately a man with an easy going disposition is apt to be "no account."

The reason a good many of us do not show bad taste in dressing or do ridiculous things is because we have not the money to spend.

One of the things the average girl cannot explain is why when she announces her engagement the world does not stop going around.

Children cannot lay claims to having any sense until they admit that their parents know best, and they are no longer children when they admit it.—Atchison Globe.

The Delayed Cackle.

"I see Jerome K. Jerome says the English sense of humor is best."

"Yes, and I guess that's true. I told a good joke to a party of fellows last night and there was one Englishman in the crowd."

"Well?"

"Well, you know the old saying 'He laughs best who laughs last.'"

Friday Fish-Fasting.

"Yes, indeed, Mrs. Flaherty, fish is terribly dear now. We have to go without eating for two or three days before we can afford to observe a fast day."

TO AVOID SEASICKNESS.

Scientifically, the cause of seasickness is the disturbance of the pneumogastric nerve actuating the digestive tract caused by the change from the firm and stable footing furnished by solid land to the yielding and insecure surface of a ship's deck. Many persons experience the same symptoms while travelling in a rapidly moving, swaying train, says the Boston Traveler.

The effort to maintain the body's equilibrium in these changed conditions brings on nausea.

In the first place, common sense should direct one, at the outset of a voyage, to seek the part of the ship that is least affected by the motion of the sea. This is amidships, where a gentle rising and falling motion is nearly always apparent, even in the calmest weather, but where pitching and rolling motions are the least noticeable.

But in taking such a position, on deck or in a stateroom, one should be careful to keep away from greasy and disagreeable odors from the engine room. When on deck, the companionway is especially to be avoided.

While some passengers successfully ward off dreaded attack by lying full length of by reclining with eyes closed on a deck chair, others find it better to remain erect, to fix the eye on the horizon or a distant ship, to walk about, hum a tune, talk, breathe deeply, timing the inhaling and exhaling of the breath, with the rise and fall of the ship. It is, however, a bad thing to fix the eyes on the water rushing past the side of the vessel, the sense of motions thus aroused often upsetting persons who would otherwise have undertaken the voyage in comfort.

A remedy which has stood nearly half a century's trial is the spinal ice-bag invented by a Dr. Chapman. After carefully studying the subject e came to the conclusion that the vomiting was caused by an excess of blood in the nervous centres of the bavk, "especially in those segments of the spinal cord related to the stomach and the muscles concerned in vomiting."

To lower the temperature, and so lessen the amount of blood locally, he designed a long, narrow bag with three pockets, so that the ice should not fall to the bottom of the bag. The mouth is closed tightly by a clamp to prevent the escape of water, and the spinal ice-bag is attached to the back by means of tapes.

A more practicable remedy, and probably a more efficacious one, is the wearing of a tight abdominal belt. Medical men are agreed as to the necessity of compressing the abdominal regions, at least in the early stage of the voyage, until the stomach has become accustomed to the pitching of the vessel. An ordinary handkerchief will do equally well, provided it is tied very tightly.

The Snob's Progress.

"This is Mrs. De Style's at home day, too," remarked Mrs. Snobberly, who was calling upon Mrs. Planeman.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Planeman. "I suppose you will call there, also."

"O! my, no. I'm not sufficiently well dressed for that."

Interested.

"Miss Anteek seems very deeply interested in that ugly old musician," remarked Miss Gaddle.

"Yes," replied Miss Knox, "I guess she mistook my meaning. I just told her he frequently made overtures."

Hopes.

Tess—Mr. Mugley has actually asked Miss Passay if he might call upon her.

Jess—You don't say? I'll bet she's got her bridesmaid picked out already.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

A Sane Fourth.

So far as can be learned from imperfect reports, the Fourth of July just endured was probably less fatal to children than some of its predecessors, but it was as noisy and as nerve racking as any that have ever been celebrated since John Adams advised the people to "solemnize the day with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations, from one end of the continent to the other, from this time forward and forevermore."

Adams doubtless meant what he said, but if he were living in this age he would learn that the solemnising part of his advice had become utterly obsolete, and that noise of the most diabolic characcter is by far the most pronounced feature of all Fourth of July celebrations. The firing of guns, cannons, etc., is undoubtedly a reasonable part of such a day's amusement, but it should be done decently and in order, not promiscuously and everywhere.

What possible excuse is there for ten or fifteen million of boys and girls getting up at 3 a. m. and letting off the biggest dynamite crackers under the bedroom windows of tired, peaceful slumberers? What motives have young men, really smart young men, not idiots, in rushing through city streets, firing off revolvers and repeating guns until the eardrums of unsuspecting citizens are fairly cracked and until nervous people are verging on collapse?

If noise is all that is wanted, let these youngsters go where they can raise fulminating bedlam all day long without injury or annoyance to those who love peace. But no, they must tear the welkin into tatters where people who don't want to hear them are obliged to put up with the continuous din, and may have to suffer days and weeks of sickness in consequence. To scare nervous people is one of the keenest delights of the owners of cannon crackers and revolvers. This isn't celebrating or solemnizing the day, it is simply indulging in brutal cruelty.

In some cities—Paterson and Jersey City for example—the ordinances prohibit the discharge of firearms and of cannon crackers on the Fourth of July, as well as on other days; but the ordinances in this city remove all restrictions by the words "except on legal holidays." This is why the weak, the sickly, the aged and the nervous suffered such tortures on Wednesday last. In other cities they were better protected.

There is a sentiment in favor of a safe and sane celebration of Fourth of July, and it receives a new impetus at every anniversary of Independence Day. The number of fatalities seems to have been reduced through laws and ordinances passed in compliance with this sentiment. Why cannot the constant, uninterrupted fusillade from 3 a. m. to 10 p. m. be relegated to some place where it will please those who like it and not hurt those who abominate it? With some such arrangement as this successfully carried out, the Fourth of July might be made a tolerable holiday instead of a pandemonium to be dreaded—Newark Evening News.

MUTINEER HANGED.

Negro Who Murdered a Ship's White Crew Is Strung Up.

Wilmington, N. C., July 9.—For the murder of the white crew of the schooner Harry Berwind, off the North Carolina coast last October, Henry Scott, a Baltimore negro, was hanged here Saturday afternoon in new Hanover county jail.

Scott mounted the scaffold unassisted, but accompanied by two spiritual advisers of his race.

He acknowledged his guilt. He exonerated Arthur Adams and Robert Sawyer, the other two condemned negroes.

On the strength of this confession President Roosevelt will be asked to pardon Scott's supposed accomplices.

Scott's deel was committed on October 10, 1905. Beside Capt. E. B. Rumill, of Maine, master of the Berwind, he murdered the steward, mate and engineer.

TOOTH-PULLING MATCH IN THE STATE HOUSE.

Young Dentists Who Desire Diplomas Must Show Dental Board What They Can Do.

Trenton, July 9.—An unusual sight will be presented in the Assembly Chamber at the State House when the July examination is held by the New Jersey State Dental Board. The prospective dentists will be required to give a practical demonstration of their ability in teeth making and teeth extracting.

Chairs and apparatus will be installed in the Assembly chamber and invitations issued to all who have troublesome molars to come and let the young aspirants practise on them free of cost. Tooth pulling contests will be in order. It is expected that about fifty candidates will undergo the tests.

BOROUGH TEAM WINS AT RAHWAY THE SCORE BEING 8 TO 3.

The Somerset A. C., of North Plainfield, defeated the Riverside A. C., of Rahway, at the latter place, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 8 to 3. MacLaughlin pitched a steady game for the visitors, allowing but six hits. A feature was a home run by G. Conover, the first man up in the first inning. The Clinton Avenues will probably be scheduled for a game soon. The score:

Invaders Will Play Here.

Manager Daab has completed arrangements for the appearance of the "Invaders," of Elizabeth, on Crescent Oval, on Saturday, and as many of the old favorites are members of the team, there should be a large crowd. This will be the first game in the county championship series. Linderman and Farmer will be the battery for the visitors and among the other well known players on the team are "Dave" Driscoll, who plays first base and "Kid" Brogan, who covers second. This will be the first appearance here of "Al" Farmer since he played with the locals.

Raritan, 1; Bound Brook, 0.

The Laurel A. C., of Bound Brook, was defeated in a ten inning game by the Invincibles, of Raritan, at the latter place Saturday afternoon by the score of 1 to 0. Harney and Matthews formed the battery for the Laurels and Hickey and Schein for the Invincibles. Lamie at third played a star game for the Laurels.

ROD AND GUN.

Frank Hull, Charles Lowry and Jersey Campbell were at Boynton yesterday on a boating trip. They went fishing, but will go again for fish.

A Day of Pleasure for All.

The committee in charge of the First Baptist church and Faith chapel excursion on Thursday, July 12, is leaving nothing undone to make the day one of great pleasure for all who go. This will be the first excursion from Plainfield to the shore this year and there is every indication of a big crowd. The train will leave Plainfield at 8 o'clock in the morning and returning leave Asbury Park at 6:40 o'clock in the evening.

"WILLIE" DEEGAN STILL MAKING POOR SHOWING.

Touched for Ten Hits and Daabsters Are Again Easily Defeated.

Following up their winning streak of Saturday, the Cuban X Giants defeated the Hobokens at St. George's Cricket Grounds, Hoboken, yesterday, by a score of 8 to 2. "Willie" Deegan was in the box for the home team and he was touched for ten hits, including a home run and a three base hit by Polomino. He was opposed by Munoz, who held his opponents down to seven hits and Captain Leonard touched him for a two bagger. Coupled with the heavy hitting by the Cubans, the Hobokens made five errors which materially helped the visiting team to victory. The score:

In Big Golf Tourney.

Frank C. Talmadge is another member of the Plainfield Country Club, who will represent it in the championship tournament to be played at the Englewood Golf Club, beginning tomorrow. This will make a quartette of strong players from Plainfield scheduled for high honors, Dudley H. Barrows, W. Lester Glenney and Robert Abbott also being entered.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Plainfield Baseball Association as well as Manager Daab had a severe attack of heart trouble on Saturday for a time. Just when everything was in readiness to call the game, but three members of the visiting team could be found and they being Cubans and unable to talk good English, could not explain where their team mates were. They left New York early and did not see Manager Lamar or the other players. During this time Manager Lamar and his remaining players were in New York chasing around for the three missing men. In consequence they missed the train they should have taken and were late in reaching Plainfield. Becoming anxious, Manager Daab and Geo. Voehl, in the latter's auto, made a record trip to town to hunt up the missing players. They found them aboard a trolley car on their way to the grounds. For awhile many thought it was to be a repetition of the opening game and were about to say all sorts of things about Cuban ball players. Clarence Williams, the funny man, smiled about the incident afterward and said that the team could be depended upon, even if it had been obliged to walk from New York to Plainfield.

He Saved Girl's Life.

A feat of heroism was performed by twelve-year-old Walter Dwyer at Ye Olde Mountain Camp, Berkeley Heights, yesterday. Miss Gertrude Wright, who is stopping at the camp with her family from Newark, was dam, and accidentlly fell in. Walter Dwyer heard the splash, and seeing Miss Wright's plight, jumped in without waiting to remove his clothing, and brought her safely to the bank. The girl's father presented Walter with a fine knife and a substantial check was presented to him by the company.

John R. Sickler.

John R. Sickler, aged fifty-one years, died yesterday afternoon at his home on Spooner avenue. He had been ill a long time with a pulmonary complaint. A wife and family survive him. The funeral will be held from the residence Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

Dismissed Complaint.

In the city court, this morning, Judge Runyon dismissed the complaint preferred against Edward Dooley by Charles Treat. The latter alleged the use of improper language but the testimony brought out the fact that one did as much as the other.

Requirements of N. Y. Building Department Complied With.

New York, July 8.—Architect Ernest Flagg has filed with Building Superintendent Murphy the completed plans for the mammoth office building to be erected for the Singer Manufacturing Company at the corner of Broadway and Liberty street, the striking feature of which is to be a tower of forty-one stories, making it the highest building in America. The tower will be 625 feet high.

The plans have been designed to meet the technical requirements of the engineers of the Building Department in the matter of the stability of the tower walls to resist the wind pressure.

The main building will be fourteen stories and will be remodeled from the present fourteen story Singer building and the eleven-story Bourne office building adjoining it on Liberty street. It is to cost $1,500,000, including the tower.

CAME BACK RICH TO WED

L. D. Gordon, a Miner, Betrothed Poor, Made His Fortune in Nevada.

MARRIES MISS WINDSOR

Ceremony at Holy Cross Church Early This Afternoon—Dean Rodman Officiates—To Live in the West.

As the culmination of a typical love affair of two years' standing, Louis D. Gordon, a westerner, and Miss M. Windsor, of this city, were married early this afternoon at Holy Cross church. The ceremony took place at 1:15 and in the absence of the rector, Rev. George A. Warner, Dean Erskine M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church, officiated. The church was tastefully decorated with cut flowers and potted plants and the service was a simple one; a few of the friends and relatives of the bride and groom being the only ones present.

The bride was gowned in white habitui silk, simply made, and trimmed with rose point lace. She was attended by Miss May Serrell as bridesmaid. Mr. Gordon was unattended. A simple bridal luncheon and a quiet informal reception followed the ceremony at the home of Charles H. Smith, of Grove street. The couple left in the afternoon to spend their moneymoon in Maine. Among the presents were many remembrances from local friends of Miss Windsor and a handsome set of engraved silverware.

Gordon has recently realized a fortune from a gold mining claim near Salt Lake City. Three months ago this claim seemed hardly worth working, but the few tents on the spot have now given place to the site of Gordontown, numbering 600 inhabitants, and gold has been discovered in such quantity that the Gordon claim is now capitalized at $1,000,000.

Gordon met Miss Windsor at Pleasant Point during the summer of 1904. He had come on from the West for the summer and was at that time employed as cashier in a bank at Austin, Nevada. He was poor, but fell in love and became engaged to Miss Windsor during that summer. He then returned to the West where he has been working for two years.

From the Nevada bank, he was made manager of a mine on Round Mountain owned by a Pittsburg concern. This claim was worthless and Gordon lost money. Prospecting for himself in the south side of the mountain he discovered a valuable surface deposit of "pay dirt," which has brought him his fortune. The discovery was not secured by Gordon without a long conflict of rival claims, but the title to his fortune is now clear in his name.

Miss Windsor has been a resident of the borough for some time past, living at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, on Grove street.

The couple left this afternoon to spend a two weeks' honeymoon at a Maine resort, and will then take up their residence at Salt Lake City near Gordon's claim.

Branch School Continues.

The fate of the school at Branch Mills has been settled for another year, and the old school is safe. Children from Springfield, Mountainside and Westfield attend the school, though it is in Springfield township, and it is necessary for the three municipalities to join in maintaining it. Westfield Board of Education was the last of the three to decide to maintain an interest in the school, and passed resolutions at its last meeting that the school was a necessity. It would not, however, concur with the Board of Education of Mountainside in declaring it a first-class school.

Hand Caught in Press.

J. Madison Drake, Jr., publisher of the Elizabeth Sunday Leader, and son of General J. Madison Drake, nearly lost a finger of his right hand early Sunday morning by getting it caught in a large printing press. Mr. Drake was pointing out some defect when his finger got caught between two cylinders. The press was stopped, but it was twenty minutes before his finger was freed.

Plainfielders at N. Y. U.

Plainfield will be well represented at the New York University during the next few years. Martin Stutsman, Clarence Heaume and Milton St. John will enter the college in the fall, Heaume and St. John having won scholarship at the Plainfield High School. Norman Hill, also of this city, will be graduated next year.

Joseph McGrath's Funeral.

The funeral of Joseph McGrath was held at St. Mary's church this morning, a gathering of relatives and friends being in attendance. The mass was conducted by Father Bogan and interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

BOY "BANDIT" ON TRIAL

Thomas Reardon and His Pal Facing Burglary Charge at New Brunswick.

OTHERS ARE PENDING

Youthful Defendant Alleged to Be the Purloiner of $300 From Baker John Wirth's Safe.

Thomas Reardon, the former New Market boy, who quit the hum-drum life of a baker's assistant to become a burglar, was put on trial at New Brunswick yesterday, technically charged with robbing the home of Abram G. Nelson, of New Market, one of the Fair heirs. The crime was committed on March 8 and goods to the value of $25 were taken. It is also alleged that Reardon is the boy who stole $300 from the safe of baker John Wirth, of this city, and afterward made off with a horse and wagon belonging to Charles S. Day, of New Market.

Standing trial with Reardon is James McCall, alias John Coleman, many years the boy's senior, who is looked upon as his tutor in crime. The hearing began yesterday morning and is still on today though it is likely to be concluded this afternoon. The evidence offered so far indicates that McCall and Reardon had made confessions to various parties but their lawyer, H. B. Cook, of New Brunswick, succeeded in keeping most of the testimony out on the ground that inducements had been made.

The witnesses put on yesterday were Mr. Nelson, Mrs. Catherine Britton, of Caldwell, for whom McCall worked at one time; Warden Rogers, of the New Brunswick jail, and Postmaster Charles S. Day, of New Market.

Mr. Nelson was first on the stand and testified to the articles that were stolen. They consisted of $7.50 in money, half a dozen silver knives, a derby hat, gold bracelet and a pair of scissors. He also said that he accompanied "Mayor Bill" Smith to the jail one day and overheard a conversation between Smith and Coleman in which the latter was asked why he broke into Nelson's house and Coleman replied that he didn't do it, but that he was in the town that night and might have trouble proving it.

When Postmaster Day was called, he testified as to Reardon's making a settlement with him for the stolen horse as the boy was being brought from Morris Plains, where he was captured, to Plainfield. This was objected to because Reardon was practically under arrest and the objection was sustained.

The trial is being closely watched by Chief Kiely who will begin proceedings on the Wirth robbery charge at the first opportunity. Reardon was a protege of "Mayor Bill" Smith and secured a position at Wirth's bakery. It is alleged that he kept a close watch on the safe in the store until he learned the combination and then opened it at night, getting $300.

MR. AND MRS. DUNAVAN WERE SURPRISED.

Relatives Call Unexpectedly In Honor of Their Wedding Anniversary.

In honor of the tenth anniversary of their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. David S. Dunavan, of East Second street, were tendered a very pleasant surprise by a party of relatives, last night. The celebrants had no inkling of their coming but the affair was none the less enjoyable. Games and music were enjoyed and refreshments were served. Mrs. Dunavan received a number of appropriate presents.

Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Slater, of Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Humes, of White Plains, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bush and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Dunavan, of this city.

Arranged for Timbo Club's Outing.

The Timbo Social Club's outing committee composed of Thomas Timbo, William Doud, Frank Schuck and George Voehl, went to Lake Hopatcong Sunday and made all arrangements for the third annual junket on July 22. The club has engaged three special cars to be attached to the regular Sunday excursion train and from present indications 150 members and friends will be carried. The day's programme will include athletic sports by the lake and a course dinner at the American House.

Flowers Wanted.

The evangelistic committee of New York city has made an appeal for flowers to be distributed at the flower service to be held at Abingdon Square on Thursday, July 12. Anyone desiring to contribute flowers for this service will kindly send them on Wednesday afternoon to 520 Central avenue, Plainfield.

WATCHUNG HUNT CLUB MAY ERECT CLUBHOUSE

PLANS TO BE DISCUSSED AT DINNER GIVEN TOMORROW NIGHT.

At the subscription dinner which the Watchung Hunt Club will conduct at the Casino tomorrow night, the members will discuss plans for the erection of a suitable clubhouse for the organization. The membership has been increasing steadily and an improvement of this kind has been in contemplation for a long time. It is proposed to erect a structure at some convenient point and have it fitted up with a restaurant, reading and relaxation rooms and accommodations for members living out of town who may want to remain overnight.

At the dinner also, ways and means for adding still more names to the club's roll will be taken up and some plan may be agreed upon for those who do not care to take part in the principal diversion—the regular Saturday and holiday chases.

Although Dr. Knott resigned as master of the hounds for the club because of demands upon his time made by professional duties, he has not severed all connection and will still be on the active list.

USED A DRAG NET; 4 FINED $20 EACH

PARTY OF FOUR VIOLATED GAME LAW IN DUNELLEN POND.

For three hours the hearing of the game warden case was continued yesterday afternoon at the borough court before Justice Mundy and at its conclusion Golsen Smalley, Charles Smalley, William Smalley and James Benson were imposed with a fine of $20 apiece for fishing without permit from the game warden with a net in a pond back of Rajotte's brick yard on Jefferson avenue in June. The case has been appealed to the county court of common pleas and will come up again in September. The principals were obliged to furnish $400 bonds, Albert Rajotte and Golsen Smalley being the bondsmen. Frank Warren, the fifth member of the fishing party, left town before he could be served with a warrant and was not at the hearing.

A feature of the case was the testimony of 9-year-old Walter Maronsheck, son of Frank Maronsheck. The lad happened along while the party were at the pond and got some of the fish, taking them home. When his mother heard where the fish had come from she made him take them and throw them back in the pond. His father then went and remonstrated with the fishermen for violating the law.

In connection with the action brought by the State and Game Warden Miller, was action brought by Frank Maronsheck against James Benson for assault and battery at the pond and on June 16, when he learned that Maronsheck had reported the violation of the law. Benson was held under $50 bail to await the action of the grand jury.

V. W. Nash, Jr., represented the State and Maronsheck and William G. DeMeza represented the principals in the fish case and Benson in the assault and battery case. Both counsels will be retained for the appealed cases.

Sisters-in-Law In Court.

Alleging that she had been called improper names and abused in other ways, Martha Johnson appeared in the city court this morning, as complainant against her sister-in-law, Pauline Johnson. Martha's side was represented by Lawyer Fred Huff and Louis O. Barton represented Pauline. When the matter had been thoroughly threshed out it appeared that Martha hadn't been so awfully shamefully treated and the case was dismissed.

Miss Josephine Petrie Will Speak.

Miss Josephine Petrie, secretary of the Young People's Association of the Women's Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian church, will give an illustrated lecture this evening at Warren chapel. Miss Petrie is in demand as a speaker throughout the country and her return here will be of unusual interest. An offering will be received.

A Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hayward, of Hunter avenue, gave a dinner to a few friends on Sunday. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Quass and family, of Newark; the Misses Ford, of Perth Amboy, and Mrs. Johnson, Miss Miner, Mr. Quass and R. J. Shaw, of this city.

BABY CAMP SEASON ON

King's Daughters City Union Institution on Mountainside Opens.

INSPECTION, JULY 17

Mrs. DeLancy in Charge As Matron and Miss DeLancy As Nurse—Day Nursery's Work.

The King's Daughters' Baby Camp on Johnston's Drive, was opened informally yesterday for the season. It is expected that by the last of the week there will be fourteen children at the institution. Mrs. DeLany and her daughter, Miss Olive DeLany, the city nurse, will be in charge as usual. Owing to the fact that the Day Nursery will be closed during August the demands upon the mountain resort will be even greater than ever.

Since the opening of the Day Nursery 1,254 children have been cared for there, showing the great need for such an institution. The purchase of the property by the City Union taxen the funds of the organization heavily, and by reason of this it will need more help from the people of the city and borough in carrying on the work at the camp on the mountain. Among things needed at the camp are hammocks and swings.

The camp will be formally opened on Tuesday afternoon, July 17, between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock. At that time a stage will be operated between the end of the Somerset street trolley and the camp, for those wishing to visit the camp. A nominal fare will be charged for the round trip in the stage. This mountain work has grown to a large extent since its inauguration a few years ago and is now considered as one of the most important charities in town.

RUFUS S. ROWLAND ENGAGED TO MISS MARGARITA FREW.

Popular Pittsburg Debutante to Be the Bride of Plainfield Man.

Society of Pittsburg and Plainfield is interested in the announcement of the engagement of Rufus Story Rowland, son of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Rowland, of West Seventh street, and Miss Margarita Frew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Frew, of Pittsburg.

Miss Frew, who made her debut last winter, is one of the best known young women in Pittsburg's exclusive social circles. No date for the wedding has been set, but it is understood that it will take place in the fall.

Mr. Rowland was graduated from Yale this year and is very popular in the younger society set of this city and New York. He has been a prominent figure in many leading social functions.

MORE CHILDREN ARRIVE

Now 225 At the Home—Donations Needed.

Miss Sara Curry, in charge of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, spent yesterday in New York city among the poor people of the east side tenement districts in the vicinity of the Little Missionary's Day Nursery. She returned to this city in the afternoon, bringing with her a dozen small children for a vacation at the camp. This makes a total of 225 children at the camp. Friday fourteen little crippled children will be brought out.

Miss Curry reports much sickness among the poor in New York; she spent the day visiting the sick in the vicinity of the nursery. At the camp things are going smoothly despite the large number of children there.

There is great need of two or three baby carriages or go-carts at the camp, for many of the younger children. If there are any who care to donate vegetables, fruit or food of any kind, a telephone message to the camp will bring the camp wagon for the donation.

You Will Always Regret It.

If you do not go with the First Baptist church and Faith chapel on the annual excursion to Asbury Park on Thursday, July 12, you will always regret it. This first outing at the seashore from Plainfield will afford an opportunity for hundreds of people to enjoy a day's outing at very little expense. Train leaves North Avenue station at 8 o'clock in the morning and Asbury Park at 6:40 o'clock in the evening.

His Life Was Threatened.

Samuel Klein, of West Third street, appeared before Justice Mosher today and had a peace warrant issued for the arrest of J. White, colored, and a former tenant of his property, charging that he had threatened his life on several occasions. White was dispossessed some time ago and it is believed that he has had a grudge against Klein in consequence.

DR. BOONE RESIGNS FROM HOSPITAL STAFF

PHYSICIAN HAD SERVED ON BOARD FOR QUARTER OF CENTURY.

After a quarter of a century of attention to duty as a member of the medical board of Muhlenberg Hospital, Dr. William C. Boone, of West Seventh street, presented his resignation at the July meeting of the Board of Governors, last night. It was accepted with regret and resolutions were ordered prepared expressing the feelings of the board.

Dr. Boone has been connected with the hospital from the time of its establishment about twenty-five years ago and during that period has rendered valuable assistance as a physician and surgeon. He told a reporter of The Daily Press that he believed that he was entitled to the rest after a service of twenty-five years.

The report of the medical board, last night, was as follows:

Patients admitted during the month, 46; discharged cured, 47; improved, 7; died 1; total number treated, 85; remaining, 30. In the dispensary, patients treated, 57; visits of patients, 99; X-ray examinations, 2; operations, 2.

TWENTY-FIVE PROTEST AGAINST ASSESSMENTS

BOARD HEARS TAXPAYERS COMPLAINTS AT MAYOR'S OFFICE.

The Plainfield Board of Assessors are in session today for the purpose of meeting any and all property-owners who desire to make anw kick about their assessments. This morning about twenty-five taxpayers appeared to make protests.

The board announces that where it is shown that an unjust assessment has been made, it will willingly correct it. This applies to the value placed on real or personal property.

The members of the board have experienced no little difficulty in arriving at the true value of personal property, for the reason that many persons have refused them permission to go through a dwelling and examine the contents. When they have been unable to see the property, the assessors have been obliged to guess at the value and assess accordingly.

After the assessment is finally made, it will be far more difficult to have changes made by the new County Board of Taxation. This board will have about one month to go over the assessors' books from the various places in the county. According to the new law each assessor is obliged to make a duplicate of assessment book, to be filed with the County Board of Taxation.

The Plainfield assessors will continue in session this afternoon until 5 o'clock, and tomorrow from 9 to 5 o'clock. This work in a measure takes the place of that formerly done by the Commissioners of Appeal.

WANTS $300 DAMAGES.

Levine's Suit Against Father and Son Postponed.

The case in tort of Aaron Levine against Eugene M. Laing and Allen B. Laing was to have been tried in the District Court this morning, but Francis J. Blatz, representing the plaintiff, said, that the defendants' counsel desired a postponement because of the absence of an important witness, Henry Leifke, who is in Europe, and who is not expected home until July 20. The trial was postponed until July 24.

The action is brought by Mr. Levine to recover $300 damages. He has occupied a portion of the building in West Second street, now being remodelled by Eugene M. Laing and Allen B. Laing. The plaintiff claims that the front and roof were removed while he occupied the premises and he suffered considerable damage.

Borough Court Session.

Kate Stevens, the Westfield colored woman who was found intoxicated in the borough Saturday, was released with a reprimand by Mayor Smalley at the session of borough court last night. It was a case of "I'll never do it again, Judge," and now Kate has gone to Westfield on the water wagon. George Totten, Jr., whom Marshal Flack arrested Saturday on a drunk charge, was fined $2 at his hearing.

Squiffy in the Borough.

Thomas O'Connor and his brother, James, who live on this side of the county line, had a pugilistic debauch on Somerset street last evening and were arrested by Borough Marshal Dooley while engaged in a heated drunken argument. At headquarters they were released under bail of $10 apiece and will be brought before Mayor Smalley for a hearing tonight.

HALL DECLINING SUGGESTS BARROWS FOR MAYOR

YOUNG MAN REPRESENTS HIMSELF AS A DETECTIVE

CHIEF KIELY CAUSES HIS ARREST AND JUSTICE MOSHER HOLDS HIM.

Louis Miller, twenty years old, who resides on Lake street, was arraigned before Justice Mosher, yesterday afternoon, charged by Mrs. A. A. Chandor, of East Ninth street, with violating Section 36 of the Crimes act in representing himself as a member of the local police force. He waived examination and was held in $100 bail to await the action of the grand jury. He spent the night in a cell and today the amount was furnished by his mother.

In some way Miller learned that Mrs. Chandor and her family were making preparations to go away on their usual summer vacation and he called at the house. He told Mrs. Chandor that he was a detective attached to Chief Kiely's staff and that for a nominal amount he would watch her premises while they were absent. He is youthful looking and she thought it rather strange that so young a man should be employed as a detective and she refused his offer. He called around several more times and seemed so persistent that she finally informed Chief Kiely.

At the chief's request, Mrs. Chandor preferred the complaint and Miller was arrested. The case is one of the first of its kind that the local police have had in a long while and the alleged "detective" will receive their full attention as a warning to others.

"NO LADY, THAT'S WHAT SHE AINT," SAYS TENANT.

Two Women Act as Their Own Lawyers in District Court Case.

"She's no lady, that's what she aint. I did not pay the June rent but I did spend $35 for the repairs of her house and I don't consider myself in debt to her." These rather plain remarks were directed to Judge William Newcorn in the district court, this morning, by Mrs. Emma Bush, against whom dispossess proceedings were instituted by Mrs. C. D. Iseman for possession of the latter's property at 1207 West Seventh street.

The two women appeared before the court to fight it out, neither having retained counsel, and it was after Judge Newcorn decided to give Mrs. Bush three days to get another place to live, that she began to explain her case. She also said that it was at the request of the landlady that she remained on the premises as a care-taker. This assertion was denied by Mrs. Iseman, who said she had no use for such a person, that Mrs. Bush owed her the rent for June and part of July.

After the decision in the case Mrs. Bush left the court agreeing to do as directed, but declaring that Mrs. Iseman "was no lady."

No Permanent Pavement This Year.

Councilman W. L. Gloak, chairman of the street committee, says that there will be no attempt to lay brick, wooden or any other similar kind of pavement in the business part of the city this year, owing to the fact that the appropriations for streets this year will not permit it. It was hopel that a permanent pavement would be laid in Park avenue, between Second street and the railroad, but the committee has decided to macadamize this part of Park avenue when the widening work is taken up. The street committee hope to undertake permanent pavement work next year.

He expects to preach in various Baptist churches on Sundays during the summer.

Former Councilman Boomed By Anti-Organization Men as the Ideal Candidate.

WHY MR. HALL REFUSES

Says Business Interests Would Not Permit Him to Devote Necessary Attention to Office.

Deeming that the duties of the office demand the undivided attention and time of the incumbent, and firmly believing that his own business interests elsewhere would not permit him to devote the necessary time to it, if elected, Henry L. Hall has decided not to allow his name to be considered in connection with the mayority nomination. Against the urgent pleadings of his friends, particularly those identified with the anti-organization movement, the man commonly considered as the choice of the Colbyites to succeed Mayor Buckle has announced that he cannot accept the honor.

Mr. Hall and his friends are now booming former Councilman Elliott T. Barrows for the nomination. They point to him as an ideal man for the place. Mr. Barrows' experience in the Common Council, where he was a leading figure for a number of years, the anti-administration men say particularly qualify him for the position.

When seen by a representative of The Daily Press last night, Mr. Hall confirmed the report that he would not lead the anti-organization forces as their standard bearer in the coming municipal campaign. He said that he deeply appreciated the sincere action of his friends in suggesting his name but that he could not accept the nomination. His time, he said is much taken up in his business and that he is apt to be called away to distant points as his business demands, he did not feel that he would be the man for the place. Mr. Hall stated that mayorlity is a position of unusual responsibility and the incumbent should be able to devote a large part of his time and attention of its duties.

Mr. Hall told the Daily Press man that he much preferred to stay in the ranks and work for the cause in which he has enlisted. In fighting against bossism, he declared, he has been prompted by no selfish motives, and so long as the battle continues he will not be a candidate for office.

It is not known whether Mr. Barrows will comply with the wishes of the anti-organization men and allow his name to be used in connection with the mayoralty. One of the leaders of the Colbyite movement, stated, however, last night, that it would be definitely known in a day or two.

Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, city chairman of the regular organization, who is the organization favorite for mayor, has given no intimation as to his position. He is now at his Easthampton home and is likely to remain there during the summer season.

On Thursday, July 26, all of the Methodist churches of Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen will go to the shore, and on Thursday, August 2, Trinity Reformed church and Marconnier chapel will take their annual outing at Asbury Park. The other dates have not yet been announced.

District Court Cases.

In the district court this morning, Judge Newcorn announced that the case of William J. R. Thiers against Arthur Masters, on contract, was adjourned to July 17, and the contract case of Ernest T. Hand against Firman Gise was adjourned to August 7. The case of Simeon M. Lambert against D. R. Dunn, on contract, was put over to July 24, owing to the absence of the plaintiff from town. This is a jury case and the clerk presented each juror with fifteen cents, with instructions to be present on July 24.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Speculation as to the cause of the fire at the Schepflin estate Saturday has been rife in the borough since the place was destroyed. The general opinion through the town is that the fire was started by tramps and this seems pretty well supported. The building is owned by the Seventh-Day Baptist Memorial Association and at the time of the fire was untenanted. Miss Minnie Smith, proprietress of "The Ellsworth," which adjoins, has been robbed of eggs and food supplies for a fortnight past and men have been seen loafing about the premises. Tramp sneak thieves, it is believed, have been living in the place. Marshal Owen Mohan had the house watched Saturday night, but no one was seen about the premises.

The improvements at the Methodist church parsonage, which were begun last week, are now well under way. The work on the two story addition is now well started and is being carried on by certain of the parishioners. This addition is two stories in height and is to measure 16 by 18 feet. It will consist of four rooms,—pantry, kitchen, study and bath-room and will be completed within two weeks.

Miss Daisy M. Brouard, a graduate of the Plainfield High School in the class of 1901, has been appointed by the Board of Education as teacher of the fourth grade for next year. She will take the place of Miss Elizabeth H. Dodd, who will leave to teach in the North Plainfield schools. Miss Almee Minturn, of Warwick, N. Y., will be in charge of the second grade when school opens in the fall.

John Gardiner, who lives at Elizabethport, was found helplessly intoxicated at the railroad station late Saturday night and was taken in charge by Borough Marshal Owen Mohan. The W. T. Kirk Co., of Plainfield, has been awarded the contract for three steel doors for the cells in the town lock-up. These doors are to be of steel, two by six feet, and the contract will be carried out immediately.

The lad resides in South Plainfield and no doubt will be dealt with according to law and sent to the reformatory.

NO INSURANCE PROBE BEGUN YESTERDAY

CORBIN HAD OTHER BUSINESS, SO SESSION WAS POSTPONED.

Trenton, July 10.—Although Senator Thomas J. Hillery, chairman of the special committee appointed by the Senate to investigate the life insurance companies of this State, directed Scott Snyder, the secretary, to give public notice that the committee would resume the investigation in the Senate chamber this morning, there was no session of the committee yesterday. Clerk Snyder, Sergeant-at-arms Lovett and Mayor Fred Gnichtel, of Trenton, the stenographer of the committee, were in the Senate chamber at the time set for the meeting, but Senators Hillery, Minturn, of Hudson, and Wakelee, of Bergen, the investigators, were not present.

As no instructions had been sent to Clerk Snyder that the investigation had been postponed, there was speculation among those in the Senate chamber as to whether there would be any probing today. This was all set at rest at noon, when Senator Hillery arrived and said that there would be no session of the committee yesterday, and that he could not tell exactly when the investigation would be resumed.

He had directed the secertary of the committee to give notice of today's session, he said, in good faith and confidently expected that the investigation would go on today and that David Parks Fackler, the New York actuary, who has been examining the New Jersey life companies for the State department of banks and insurance, would be examined.

Last Saturday, however, he had received word from William H. Corbin, of Jersey City, the chief counsel for the committee, that the Long Branch water case, in which he was counsel, would come up in the Court of Errors and Appeals yesterday and would probably take two or three days.

He would be obliged to be in the court during that time, and would not be able to attend to the investigation until the case had been disposed of. Senator Hillery further said that he came to Trenton yesterday to consult with Mr. Corbin and fix a day when he would be able to go on with the investigation. The Morris Senator did not find Mr. Corbin in the room of the Court of Errors or anywhere else about the State house, and started to get into communication with him by telephone. Mr. Hillery also said that when Mr. Corbin informed him on Saturday that could not be here yesterday he immediately notified the other members of the committee that there would be no meeting yesterday.

The Senator succeeded in getting into telephone communication with Mr. Corbin and conversed with him some time through one of the private booths of the State house. When he left the booth he said that Mr. Corbin had requested that the further investigation be put off until next Monday, when he would be on hand and have his affairs so arranged that nothing in his private business would interfere with his giving his attention to the investigation.

Mr. Corbin, the Senator further said, had requested that the committee meet in his office at Jersey City tomorrow and there arrange the details for a meeting next Monday. He also requested that some of the witnesses it is proposed to examine be present also at tomorrow's meeting. It was likely, Mr. Hillery said, that the conference would be held in Mr. Corbin's office tomorrow and that the investigation will proceed next Monday.

COLBY, VICE-CHAIRMAN.

Essex Senator Has Office in West Orange Equal Tax League.

The organization of a West Orange branch of the Republican League for Limited Franchises and Equal Taxation was completed Saturday night when about seventy-five citizens met in Hedges Hall. At a previous meeting George Burgess was elected permanent chairman of the organization, but he submitted his resignation Saturday night, giving as a reason that he would not have the time to give to the work. Freeholder Charles D. Cleveland was accordingly elected chairman, with Senator Everett Colby as vice-chairman, George Sims as secretary and Charles Pearce as treasurer.

On the advisory board were chosen Mr. Burgess, G. Howlett Davis, A. J. Reinhardt, George Levenguth and Clifford Force, together with the officers.

Blow Open P. O. Safe.

Cranford, July 10.—The Kenilworth post office was broken into at an early hour yesterday morning and robbed of $75 in cash and $300 worth of stamps. The robbers came to the building in a carriage. The outside door of the safe was open, but the thieves were compelled to blow open the inside door of the safe to get at the money and stamps. Postmaster John Kanane fortunately had over $00 stamps at his home. He notified Washington of the robbery yesterday morning.

—George W. Hayes, who has been employed for several years by J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, has resigned and moved to Richmond, Va. His successor is Frank M. Harder, of Williamsport, Pa.

CRACK HORSES FOR ATLANTIC CITY SHOW

Alfred Vanderbilt will be one of the chief exhibitors in road, harness and saddle classes, and will bring down four-in-hand teams as well as the pick of his stables for the honor events. Among the New York exhibitors in the saddle classes will be Mrs. Gerken with Peter Pan. Katzenjammer Kid, from the Elsinore Farms, will be shown; Piccolo, owned by Mrs. Knierem, and Lolita, owned by Mrs. W. Elliott.

Among the new exhibitors from New York this year are Hans George Van Chorus and Hans Von Schmid, both of whom will bring down some good animals for exhibition. In the spectacular hunt club classes the Cameron Hunt Club, of Virginia, and two clubs under the name of the Union County Hunt, a new organization formed in Upper New Jersey, will compete.

Much interest will be taken in the outcome of the challenge event for tandems, twice won by Mrs. Gerkin's Newsboy and Shopgirl, which are entered again this year. This cup was also won twice by Lord Golden and Lord Golden II., entered once by Dr. John L. Wentz and once by the Elm Court stables of Mrs. Burke Roche. This team is not entered this year and the chief competitors of Mrs. Gerkin's entry will be the Vanderbilt team, Youngster and Polly Prim, and the two entries of C. W. Watson.

SENATOR STONE QUOTES ODDS ON W. J. BRYAN.

Stone, of Missouri, Offers Three to Two Against Roosevelt.

St. Louis, July 10.—Three to two on Bryan against Roosevelt; even money Bryan against Taft. This is the way that United States Senator William J. Stone figures the "dope" on the 1908 Presidential campaign.

Senator Stone has just arrived in St. Louis from Washington.

"There is no question in the world that Bryan will be the Democratic nominee by unanimous vote of the next national convention," said Senator Stone.

"In common with the friends of Mr. Bryan all over the country, I should be overjoyed to see Roosevelt renominated by the Republicans. Three to two conservatively figures the Bryan chances against President Roosevelt in the election.

"If Taft should happen to be nominated by the Republicans the race would be somewhat closer. The odds would be nearer even, but at that Bryan would have a shade the best chance."

BELIEVE THEY HAVE A BAND OF TRAIN-WRECKERS.

Four Men, Also Thought to Be Bank Burglars, Captured at Millville, N. J.

Millville, July 10.—In arresting James D. White, Joseph W. Riley, Thomas Fonotaro and William Deluca, of New York, Detectives Curtis, Lore, Woodruff and Smith believe they have captured a band of post-office robbers as well as men who have made several attempts to wreck trains in South Jersey. The prisoners are in Bridgeton jail in default of $1,000 bail demanded of each.

Fonotaro has admitted that he was connected with the wrecking of an express train on the New Jersey Central Railroad last May and has implicated Deluca. He has also admitted connection with the attempt to wreck the Cape May Flyer near this city about a month ago, and the attempt to wreck a Bridgeton and Millville trolley train three weeks ago.

On searching the men the detectives found six revolvers, three sand bags and a kit of burglars tools. The officers have been on their trial several weeks.

MILK ADULTERATION AS A RESULT OF HIGH ICE.

Health Board of Paterson Orders An Investigation—To Fight the Ice Trust.

Information has been received by the Health Department of Paterson that dairymen are using unhealthful preservatives in milk since the Ice Trust increased the price of ice, and Health Officer Green has been directed to make a thorough investigation.

As a result of the adulteration of milk scarlet fever, typhoid and diphtheria among infants have been on the increase. The health officer said yesterday he had several cases under consideration.

A number of Paterson citizens have decided to fight the Ice Trust, and Prosecutor Emley will be asked to take the matter of the recent increase in price before the next Grand Jury. Mr. Emley announces that his office is ready to perform any duty within its scope.

SEA GIRT ORDERS FOR THE SECOND.

Issued by Adjutant Rogers on Behalf of Col. Collins.

The following order relative to the Second regiment at Sea Girt has been issued and is self-explanatory:

National Guard of New Jersey,
Headquarters Second Regiment,
Trenton, July 3, 1906.

General Orders No. 17.

1. In compliance with General Orders No. 2, c. s., Headquarters Second Brigade, N. G., this regiment will encamp upon the State camp grounds, at Sea Girt, from July 14 to 21, 1906, inclusive, for practical military instruction.

2. The command will appear in khaki uniforms, blue shirts, campaign hats, leggings and black shoes for enlisted men. Officers will wear olive drab uniforms and campaign hats.

3. Following is the detail for guard Saturday, July 14, 1906:

Officer of the day—Captain Robert W. Watson, Company H.

Commandant of the guard—First Lieutenant John A. DeRoche, Company G.

Supernumerary officers of the guard—Second Lieutenant Harry B. Kitchell, Company K; Second Lieutenant Augustus Dohm, Company L.

Companies A and B will each furnish one sergeant and five privates; Companies C, D, E and F will each furnish one corporal and five privates; Companies G, H, I, K, L and M will each furnish five privates; the drum major will detail two musicians (buglers).

The guard will be employed on the trains to preserve order and prevent the soldiers from riding on the car platforms. Upon arrival at Sea Girt the guard will be marched in the rear, and as the regiment marches past the guard tents, will fall out from the column and post sentinels.

First Lieutenant Walter A. Morton, Company A, is detailed assistant instructor of guard duty, and will report to First Lieutenant Richard F. Cross upon arrival at Sea Girt.

4. Commandants of Companies A, B, D and E will each detail three privates to report to Lieutenant Charles W. Stark, battalion commissary and quartermaster, at the Clinton street station, on Saturday, July 14, at 8:57 a. m., to proceed to Sea Girt.

5. The regimental quartermaster will forward requisition for haversacks, mess-kits and transportation.

6. The commandants of Companies C, H, K, M and L will issue haversacks and mess-kits to the non-commissioned staff officers and musicians residing on their stations, and will also carry them on their transportation.

7. Officers holding transportation will arrange with the local ticket agent for transportation on Sunday, July 15, of enlisted men who cannot report for duty on Saturday, July 14.

8. The regimental commander expects every officer and man, able to perform duty, to be present at this encampment. It is especially enjoined on the company commandants to make a vigorous effort to secure a large attendance on the part of their men.

9. Company commandants will, on their arrival at camp, report in person to the commanding officer, turning over to him field return of their commands. This return will show the number of officers and men present, the absentees being carried on it by name.

10. The troops while en route will be under the direct charge of the battalion commanders, who will see to it that the necessary guards are posted at the ends of the cars; that proper discipline is maintained throughout, and the comfort and safety of the men looked after. This will apply also to the return movement from Sea Girt on July 21.

11. Movement of organizations from home stations and other details will be noted in subsequent orders.

By order of Colonel Collins.
JOHN M. ROGERS, Adjutant.

FOR BRYAN ALL ALONG.

Williams Says Democratic Party Is Not "Coming Back to Nebraskan."

Memphis, July 10.—Congressman John Sharp Williams has made public a statement in response to many requests for his opinion on the recent rather sudden movement back to W. J. Bryan as a prospective Presidential candidate. He said:

"I do not think it is coming back to Bryan, for there has never been a moment since 1900 that a majority of the Democratic party could not have nominated him. They looked for other nominees in hopes that those might possibly win, while Bryan might possibly fail again. But they wanted Bryan. He has faults, of course.

"Sometimes he holds to an idea when hope of a practical outcome has ceased. But he is honest in act, speech and thought. He is sincere where few national politicians are sincere, altogether and in all things; he firmly grasps the fundamental principles of the apostles of Democracy, and a man who does that can be forgiven some vagaries. He is no Socialist, but rather an inherent individualist. He may make some mistakes about the means, but never about the ends he wishes to attain. Those who once trusted him trust him yet; thousands who distrusted trust him now and other thousands are beginning to trust him. He will be elected."

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Manager Counihan has interrupted his pursuit of big shows for next season long enough to hie himself to Atlantic City and get in trim for greater efforts later on. He writes friends that the bathing is "swell" and that he is "having the time of his life."

"The Duke and the Dancer," a new four-act comedy by Charlotte Thompson, author of "The Strength of the Weak," in which Florence Roberts appeared in this city last spring, was produced by the Bradford Hunter-Reid- company in Hartford, Conn., last Monday night. Julia Dean appeared in the leading feminine role.

Marie Dressler, the buxom comedienne, who suddenly withdrew from Joe Weber's Music Hall Company a few weeks ago and went to London with the hope of securing an engagement in one of George Edwardes' musical comedy companies, has not realized her expectations there and has decided to return to the Weberian fold. The fact that Manager Weber let Manager Edwardes know that his contract with Miss Dressler had two more years to run had a deterrent effect on the comedienne's soaring ambition.

Jess Dandy, who has played the part of Hans Wagner, the brewer from "Zinzinnati" in Pixley & Luder's evergreen musical comedy, "The Prince of Pilsen," over 1,000 times, and in which he was seen at the New Plainfield, will again be featured next season in that production. Henry W. Savage has engaged for his support Henry Coote, George Lydecker, Marie Welsh, Wilmer Bently and Jeanette Bageard.

Charles Dalton and Elizabeth Kennedy will appear next season in "Mizpah," Ella Wheeler Wilcox's play, which was briefly exploited by Charles Frohman last season.

George M. Cohen, the comedian, composer and producer, whose versatility has been exploited in "The Governor's Son," "Little Johnny Jones," "Fifty-five Minutes from Broadway," and "George Washington, Jr.," celebrated his twenty-eighth birthday on July 4. A dinner given in his honor by Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger, at the Hotel Astor, New York, was not the least of the festivities marking the occasion.

ONLY BRYAN, SAYS CROKER.

Most Available Man for Democratic Nomination, Declares Chieftain.

Dublin, July 10.—"The most available man, in my opinion, for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency," said Richard Croker, in an interview Sunday in his garden at his beautiful home, Glencairn, on the spur of the Dublin Mountains, "is William Jennings Bryan. His ideas are all coming to the front now. He is a Democrat all over, and his policy was bound to come to the front.

"He was always opposed to all these trusts. Bryan has never been in favor of breaking up good, honest businesses to give millions to monopolists and to deprive the people of their right of living. He was always opposed, too, to the trusts getting unfair advantages, such as rebates from railroad companies controlled by the same monopolists."

Mr. Croker was looking well and strong. He spends all his time traveling around the country to race-meetings, and is devoting his whole life to his favorite sport.

Plainfield, N. J., July 10, 1906.

Plainfield has plenty of good material for its mayoralty, but no one seems willing to become a candidate or at least to announce his willingness at this stage of the campaign. Mr. Fisk is conceded to be the choice of the regular Republican organization, though he has not intimated whether he would head its ticket. Mr. Hall, suggested as the probable selection of the anti-organization men, firmly declines to run. Either of these two citizens would make an admirable mayor. So would Mr. Barrows, who is now mentioned as the probability in opposition to the organization ticket. To him, more than to any other man, is due the present high standard of the police department. In a great measure the excellence of the street department may also be credited to him. His services in the Common Council have been signal and there is every reason to believe that he would give a most creditable administration as chief executive of the city.

LONGS FOR THE AGE OF THE MINCE PIE

PROFESSOR TYLER, OF AMHERST, DECRIES PHYSICAL DEGENERACY.

America's climate, regarded by scientists as the prime factor in the country's marvellous growth from Colonial days, may be the cause of its degeneracy, according to Professor John Mason Tyler, of Amherst College, a brother of Col. Mason W. Tyler, of this city.

"Every decade," he explained to students at the University of Chicago yesterday, opening a series of lectures, "our climate has been drawing the strings on our nervous system tighter and tighter, until now they are ready to snap."

Physical degeneration was noticeable now in the children of the business and professional men, he asserted.

"Americans a hundred years ago," he said, "lived on pork and doughnuts to a great extent. Before going to bed they were not satisfied unless they ate a large piece of mince pie. We say today, 'What a barbarous bill of fare!'—we who can't stand anything stronger than tea and crackers."

THE FORUM.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP TICKET.

Editor Daily Press:

Despite the fact that the people of Plainfield expressed their sentiment at the polls some months ago by a big majority in favor of the municipal ownership of a water plant, there has been nothing done toward providing for the special election. It is common report around town that Herbert Buxton, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Common Council, has smothered the matter. Whether this be true or not the public should be given the opportunity to vote on the matter.

It seems to me, as well as others, that the proper solution of this idea, is for the adherents of the municipal ownership idea to band themselves together, and nominate a straight out and out municipal ownership ticket for the next city election. There could be no better standard bearer found to lead the fight for this principal than the Hon. James E. Martine.

Make it a non-partisan ticket with the issue solely municipal ownership and I am confident that such a ticket would win out by an overwhelming majority. The only method, I see, to bring it to a successful issue, is for the voters to elect a mayor and a board of councilmen who believe in the idea, and who will pledge themselves to put ti through.

Plainfield should, I believe, own its electric and gas light plants, water plant, and an ice plant too, if necessary. If outsiders can roll in wealth at the enormous profits these utilities turn out, why can't the city run the plants at a profit. It appears to be a "tax reducing" idea.

EXCISE BOARD FOR ASBURY.

Common Council Passes the Ordinance Over Mayor's Veto.

Asbury Park, July 10.—Mayor Atkins last night vetoed the ordinance adopted last week by the Common Council creating an Excise Board to be elected in November. At a meeting of the Common Council last evening, the ordinance was passed over the veto by an unanimous vote. The Mayor in his veto said:

"I regard as radically unfair the enforcement of an Excise Commission upon the citizens of this city without their first having had an opportunity to express their desire to break away from the traditions and principles on which the foundations of this city were laid."

The action of the Common Council last night will precipitate a fight in the courts to test the constitutionality of the so-called 'one-mile-limit' law, which forbids the sale of liquor within one mile of any incorporated camp meeting resort.

THIS BILL A LAW, OR IS IT A DEAD ONE?

Senate Journal Says Spring Election Measure Was Passed, 11 to 5.

Trenton, July 10.—Gross carelessness to say the least, came to light yesterday in connection with the career, in the recent session of the Legislature, of Assembly bill 268. This bill was introduced by Mr. Morgan, of Essex, and was intended to restore spring elections in towns, townships and borough. It was particularly interesting to South Orange, and delegations from that township came to Trenton to advocate or oppose its passage. The bill passed the House March 12 and went to the Senate. It was taken up there on April 5 and lost. Senator Colby, who was looking after the bill, by hard work succeeded on April 12, the last day of the session, in having the vote by which it was lost reconsidered by this vote:

Ayes—Ackerman, Bradley, Colby, Creese, Horner, Jackson, Martens, Minch, Plummer, Price, Shinn—11.

Nay—Wakelee.

The bill was then put on final passage again, and, according to the official record, as printed on page 1035 of the Senate journal, it was passed by this vote:

Ayes—Ackerman, Brown, Colby, Creese, Horner, Jackson, Martens, Minturn, Plummer, Price, Shinn—11.

Nays—Bradley, Hillery, McKee, Minch, Wakelee—5.

On this record the bill should have been sent to the Governor as a passed bill for his action. Instead of that, however, it now reposes in the cemetery of dead bills in the State librarian's office marked lost, 4—11.

The peculiarity about this bill is that those who recall its experience in the Senate declare that it was lost and that the error in the case is in the printed minutes, which evidently has some Senator recorded in favor of the bill who was either absent or voted against it.

The situation, however, has raised the interesting question whether the bill is not a passed bill on the record and whether it should not be taken from the librarian's office and given to the Governor for his action thereon.

That cannot be determined until it can be ascertained whether the printed journal is a correct copy of the official minutes of the secretary.

BIG COLBY BOOM IN BURLINGTON.

Lincoln Republican League Launches New Ideaists Sentiment in South Jersey.

Burlington, July 10.—Colbyism in South Jersey was given its greatest boom last night, when a big mass meeting of the new ideaists was held here in the Auditorium theatre, with Senator Everett Colby, of Essex county; Mayor Mark Fagan, of Jersey City, and Corporation Counsel George L. Record as the leading speakers.

The meeting, held under the auspices of the newly organized Lincoln Republican League, of Burlington county, marked the launching of the Colby campaign, which has been planned for Burlington county and other districts in South Jersey. General E. Burd Grubb, president of the Lincoln League, presided at the meeting, which was well attended.

Senator Colby was enthusiastically received. He said in part:

"Two years ago I stood on this same platform, then as a 'regular' Republican candidate and an advocate of equal taxation.

"I am still a Republican, but my position is somewhat different in that I am to speak of something new in politics. Some people call it the 'new idea.' By the 'new idea,' we expect to restore absolutely representative government, such as is not enjoyed at present by the people in this State because of the infamous control held by the corporations."

IN UNION COUNTY 2 SALOONS DEFY LAW

ONE OF ELIZABETH'S STATUTE BREAKERS IS THOMAS FITZGIBBONS.

Sunday was the dryest Sabbath Elizabeth has ever known, so far as the liquor business is concerned. Out of 300 saloons in Elizabeth only two, so far as can be learned, were open, and these are located at Elizabethport. Only one arrest for drunkenness was made, and that was Mary Roberts, an old offender. She was charged with disorderly conduct. Not an intoxicated man was seen on the streets.

One of the places that kept open is owned by Thomas Fitzgibbons, who is treasurer of the Elizabeth Liquor Dealers' Association. He did an immense business and sold more than fifty half barrels of beer alone, not to speak of large quantities of stronger stuff.

There was a regular stream of thirsty mortals pouring into his place all day long, and at 10 o'clock Sunday night he ran out of beer and then closed.

No attempt was made by the police to interfere with him, but the Law and Order League, it is said, will make a formal complaint against him in the police court and to Prosecutor English. The action of Fitzgibbons in keeping open and defying the law was a great surprise to the other liquor dealers, who strongly condemn the stand he took.

Police Chief Tenney denies that any one sold liquor Sunday excepting Fitzgibbons. No steps will be taken by the police to prosecute him this time.

In the Polish and Italian quarters of the city, where it was thought attempts would be made to sell, there was nothing doing.

A large wagon belonging to Breidt's Brewery and driven by John Stark, was struck by a trolley car at 8:40 o'clock Saturday night. The wagon, which was loaded with bottled beer, was wrecked and the driver hurled to the street and injured. He was removed to the Alexian Hospital. The beer was scattered over the street and in less than ten minutes' time not a bottle was to be seen, it being all carried away by small boys and men, who had a big free feast of liquid refreshments. Some men took as many as half a dozen bottles away with them. No effort was made to make arrests.

There was a big exodus from here to Staten Island Sunday, the rush beginning early and continuing late. The little Arthur Kill ferryboat that plies between Staten Island and Elizabethport was packed on nearly every trip.

Many Newarkers and Elizabethans got stranded Sunday night at Port Richmond owing to the giving out of the power that runs the trolley lines on the island. Quite a number who stayed until late at South Beach found to their dismay on reaching Port Richmond and crossing to Bayonne that the last train on the Jersey Central had gone and they were compelled to wait at the Bergen Point station until the paper train came yesterday morning.

County Detective John Keron drove all through Union county Sunday to see how the law was being observed. He reports that he found the hotels, taverns and roadhouses all closed, and, so far as his observation went, there was no violation of the State law.

COL. KUSER RETAINS REED IN AUTO CASE

PLAINFIELD LAWYER INSISTS UPON TRIAL OF SPEEDING CLAIM.

Colonel Anthony Kuser, son-in-law of Senator John F. Dryden, who on the afternoon of Sunday, June 10, was held up on Union avenue, Bound Brook, by the borough marshals, on the charge that his automobile was being speeded at a faster pace than allowed by law, while on his way from Bernardsville with the Senator, to take a train for Washington at Bound Brook, and who was released on his promise to make everything all right, has not had a hearing yet. Since then he has placed the matter in the hands of his counsel, former Senator Charles A. Reed, of this city, with instructions to insist that the charge of exceeding the speed limit at Bound Brook be tried. In conservation with a reporter of a Trenton paper last Wednesday the Colonel said he was not disposed to allow the matter to drop, as the borough authorities at Bound Brook seemed disposed to do, but that he would insist upon having a trial and an opportunity to show that the charge was unwarranted.

Sunday, June 10, was the first time that the Bound Brook borough authorities had ever instructed its marshals to arrest all automobile users who exceeded the speed limit in passing along Union avenue, the continuation of the county road through Bound Brook. Accordingly all the marshals, headed by Chief Andrew Flammer, took positions along the avenue, prepared to stop all violators of the borough ordinance. To be doubly certain, a half-mile course was measured off, and marshals with stop watches were stationed at either end to take the time of all automobiles in passing over the course.

Soon after these preparations had been made Mr. Inglesbee, a member of the New Jersey Automobile Association, was apprised of the situation and hurriedly had men stationed at either end of the borough, armed with red flags and big, roughly drawn signs which read "Danger! Beware of the Cops." In consequence of this warning all autos, in passing along Union avenue, were speeded at a snail's pace, and no arrests were made during the morning.

About 2 o'clock an automobile containing Colonel Kuser and Senator Dryden, who were in a hurry to take a train on the B. and O., at Bound Brook for Washington, came along at a fast pace and at the end of the measured stretch were stopped on the charge of having exceeded the speed limit. The auto and its occupants were quickly surrounded by a crowd of curiosity seekers and all sorts of comments were indulged in at the expense of the autoists. Finally, upon the appearance of Mayor Brokaw the distinguished occupants of the auto were allowed to proceed on their way, they assuring the Mayor they would settle the matter if he'd send them the bill. Nothing since has been done about the matter by the Bound Brook authorities.

Mayor Brokaw, when seen about the matter, said he was ready for the Colonel at any time, for the speed limit was unquestionably exceeded by his auto on the Sunday afternoon in question. The Mayor said he had been in communication with Senator Reed about the matter, but he would not recede one iota from his position in the premises. In conclusion Mayor Brokaw said if the Colonel wanted to have the case taken to the courts he was ready for him, for the evidence that the colonel's auto was being run at a faster pace than prescribed by law on the Sunday afternoon in question, was unquestionable and he was prepared to stand by it.

Teething in Jersey.

Trenton, N. J., July 10.—Stifled cries and groans and the heavy breathing of persons under anaesthetics resounded through the State House yesterday. The assembly chamber was transformed into a dental office at the instance of the State Board of Dentistry to give practical tests to the forty applicants for dentist's licenses. Twelve dental chairs were installed and each candicate brought along a patient with the toothache. Four of the patients were women. They made much less fuss than some of the men who approached the dental chairs. The demonstrations were watched by a large crowd.

Enjoin Talking Machine.

Trenton, July 10.—In the Court of Chancery today argument will be heard on a rule to show cause why Oliver J. Leigh and Lewis M. Goldsmith should not be enjoined from the operation of a talking machine in front of Leigh's store at Wildwood, Camden county, after 9 o'clock in the evening. Suit against Leigh and Goldsmith was brought by J. Albert Harris, proprietor of the Edgeton Inn, Wildwood, who declares that the operation of the "talking machine" makes such a loud, harsh noise that his guests are greatly annoyed.

ATLANTIC'S CHIEF LIFTS BAR ON BATHING SUITS.

Girl in Flimsy Attire, That Guard Nabs, Stoy Waves Away as Proper.

Atlantic City, July 10.—Mayor Stoy once more makes his annual bow to the summer girl. This time it is not an anti-spooning order, nor is it an edict that skirts of the fair one's bathing suit shall be of a certain length. No, no, sweet one, for this time his Honor bobs up smiling, with the assurance that no matter what the young women who bathe in Atlantic City's ocean may essay to wear, he will make no protest.

Yesterday a chorus girl, intent upon creating a sensation as the most undressed person who ever went in the surf at Atlantic City, was led from the water before she had an opportunity to get her flimsy white suit wet. Mayor Stoy yesterday morning denied that he had issued the order ruling white suits from the beach. He didn't exactly repudiate the guard's action, but the Mayor is very desirous of having it understood that the pretty girls who come to this beach needn't be alarmed at his attitude toward the manner in which they robe themselves.

The Mayor says he does not know how much clothes the law requires fair bathers to wear. He wouldn't even suggest what he thought was a proper limit. The Mayor once upon a time took a leading part in a controversy over the length of bathing skirts that is echoing in some Western newspapers yet. Today he refused to be caught napping.

He is tired of notoriety, and the thought of frowns upon the bronzed faces of the vivacious Boardwalk lasses is disquieting to the extent that Mayor Stoy has decided to forever wash his hands of problems likely to ruffle girlish tempers. So his bow today is one of adieu, as he makes an exit as the beach censor, which position in past years has brought to him world-wide fame.

May Extradite Ice Man.

Philadelphia, July 10.—District Attorney Bell yesterday ordered the arrest of Henry Behrenberg, president of the Mountain Ice Company, on a charge of conspiracy. Mr. Behrenberg is in Jersey City, but if necessary to insure his appearance here the District Attorney says he will make requisition on the Governor of New Jersey. Warrants were recently issued at the instance of Mr. Bell for the arrest of thirteen ice dealers, who are charged with entering into a conspiracy to maintain an exorbitant price for ice. All of the defendants waived hearings and entered bail for their appearance at court.

Fire In Long Branch.

Elberon, N. J., July 10.—Temporarily threatening the business district of Long Branch, fire early yesterday morning destroyed the two story hardware establishment of A. M. Townley & Co., one of the oldest firms here. Several firemen narrowly escaped death in fighting the flames, due to the constant explosion of cartridges, kerosene and powder, with which the store was stocked. It is believed that some one who had a grudge against the firm is responsible for the fire, and a scandal is threatened when the name of one of the men suspected of the crime is made public.

TRAPPER LOST IN MOUNTAIN STORM

WANDERS FIVE DAYS AND NIGHTS IN BLIZZARD.

SUCCOR FINALLY REACHED.

Falls Unconscious in Snow at Door of Mining Cabin—Is Taken In and Nursed Back to Health.

Denver.—Lost for five days and nights in the mountains, wandering blindly and half starved in the terrible blizzard that whirled down the bleak, cold canyons of Arapahoe pass, Robert Stuart, the most prominent and oldest trapper and prospector in Middle Park, or in the state, came near forfeiting his life in a bold attempt to get out of his cabin before he became snowbound. When he finally covered the five miles that lay between his lonely little cabin and the Lonesome mines, the distance of which in ordinary weather could easily be traversed in less than half a day, he was in a raving delirium from the cold and exposure and the half-starved condition in which his wanderings without food had left him.

The other day "Bob" Stuart resolved to leave his cabin and spend the rest of the winter at the Lonesome mines. It is usually Stuart's habit to winter at Eldora, but Arapahoe pass was snowed in and considered very dangerous for travel. His stock of provisions was low—barely enough for one good meal. He scraped together what he could to eat and set out for the mines Saturday night. When he left, the snow about his cabin was about seven feet deep and was of the soft, flaky sort that refuses to pack. The snowshoes he wore were small, and every step he took brought him floundering to his knees. To make matters worse, about nightfall a blinding snowstorm came up and the old trapper, for the first time in his life, lost his way. All that night he wandered aimlessly around the mountain tops, striving in vain to come upon the trail.

Speaking of the night, Stuart said that "if he had a million dollars he would have given it for one biscuit," so great was his hunger. All day Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and half of Friday the old man wandered. Twice he was within a few feet of the cabin of the mine bosses, but it was so completely covered up by the heavy fall of snow that he passed right on by. On Tuesday he lost all consciousness and can remember no more. Instinct guided him to safety the rest of his perilous journey.

THEY FOUND HIM IN A DEAD FAINT.

Late in the afternoon of Friday three men were eating in the little cabin near the workings of the Lonesome mine. In the middle of the meal a faint knock was heard at the door. Opening it they found Stuart in a dead faint and half frozen, lying on the doorstep.

Hastily summoning Dr. W. E. Rammel, of Denver, the owner of the mines, the man was given stimulants. For days he remained in a stupor, unable to tell where or who he was. Part of the time he was raving mad and in his delirium would imagine that he once more was wandering about the bleak mountain passes half starved. For five days he had gone without food, and, according to Dr. Rammel, had he gone one day more he surely must have perished from the pangs of hunger.

Robert Stuart is 55 years old and is one of the oldest prospectors that the state has. Just how many years "Bob" has lived in his little cabin at the foot of Arapahoe peak is not known, but every fisherman, hunter and prospector that has ever had occasion to enter Middle Park knows "Bob" Stuart. He is guide, mine locator, fisherman and prospector. He has several claims now near his cabin that may prove to be valuable some day. The grizzled prospector was taken to Eldora, where he will spend the rest of this winter.

Walks Two Miles in Sleep.

Nashville, Ind.—All known records for sleep-walking have been broken by Ora Taylor, who lives near here, and who, the other night, dressed only in his nightclothes and in his bare feet, walked two miles to the home of a friend. On the way he waded through an icy stream, but even the cold water failed to awaken him. Believing him to be mentally unbalanced, the friend put Taylor to bed, where he slept soundly until daylight, and was surprised beyond belief to find himself in a strange bed. He said that he was conscious of nothing from the time he went to bed at home until he awoke in the morning.

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair, too. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy Nature intended. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

WORDS OF WISDOM TO THE MALE FLIRT.

Young men, do you realize that when you pay attention to a girl for months with no idea of asking her to marry you, you are spoiling her chances with other men?

Of course, you may argue that she does not have to waste her time on you unless she wants to, but perhaps she has grown fond of you and hopes that you are in earnest.

Deep in every girl's heart, whether she acknowledges it or not, is the hope some day she will marry and have a home of her own, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

The dearest game of her childhood is "playing house," surrounded by her beloved doll babies.

All her girlhood's day dreams are clustered around the man who some day will come into her life and win her love.

And so she feels that any man who shows her attention, and in whom she feels an interest, may possibly turn out to be the hero of her dreams.

When a man begins to pay what looks like serious attention to a girl other men keep out of the way.

On every side the girl hears remarks which indicate that her engagement is looked upon as a sure thing.

Can you blame her if she allows herself to drift into caring a good deal?

And then perhaps the man either wearies of the friendship or grows interested in some other girl.

He drops the whole affair as calmly as he would discard a worn-out glove.

To him it has been merely an incident, a flirtation.

But how about the girl?

She has to bear the brunt of all the gossip and comment.

People look on her as jilted, and men are not as keen about her as they used to be. They feel that one man has grown tired of her and think that she cannot be very attractive or she would have held him.

I do not for one moment mean to infer that there can be no friendship between a man and a girl without the girl thinking that the man is in love with her.

There are many good, firm friendships between men and girls where neither side has the faintest idea or desire that love should enter into the question.

The friendship that I criticise is the one where the man makes deliberate love to a girl, leading her and the world in general to believe that he is in earnest, while all the time he knows that he is not.

Such a friendship hurts a girl immeasurably.

Not only does it keep eligible men away from her, but it embitters her.

The best time of her life, the time when she should be marrying and settling down in a comfortable home, is wasted on a man who is trifling with her.

Remember this, young men, and in your friendships with girls don't lead them to think that you are serious unless you really are.

SPAIN.

It is the Iberia of the Greeks.

Carthagenian influence began to be felt in the middle of the third century, B. C.

From the time of the complete supremacy of the Romans till the death of Constantine it was prosperous.

For three centuries it constituted the richest province of the Roman Europe.

In 409 B. C. hordes of barbarians crossed the Pyrenes and desolated the peninsula.

About 412 the Visigoths invaded the country, and their king, Athaulf, established the Gothic monarchy of Catalonia.

In 711 the Moors obtained mastery and held Spain as a dependency of North Africa.

Ferdinand II (last sovereign of Aragon by his marriage with Isabella, Queen of Castile,) and the conquests of Granada and Navarre, put Spain under one rule.

Ferdinand VII was forced to give up the throne by Napoleon, whose brother, Joseph, was made King of Spain and the Indies from 1808 to 1813. After Waterloo he retired to New Jersey.

The reign of Isabella II, daughter of Ferdinand, was disturbed by the Carlist religion (1834-1839).

Wars, revolts and annexations followed until in 1868 Isabella was driven from the throne, and in 1870 the Cortes elected Prince Amadeo of Italy as King.

Amadeo abdicated in 1873 and the form of government was changed to that of a Republic, anarchy and general bloodshed following.

In December, 1874, Alfonso, son of Isabella, was declared King. He died in 1886, his widow, Queen Maria Christina, and Austrian by birth, becoming regent. She bore him a posthumous heir, now King Alfonso XIII.

PAYING OFF AT PANAMA.

Handling of the Money for the Workers on the Great Isthmian Canal.

No more interesting scenes could be imagined than those in the various camps on the Panama canal, when the great army of laborers employed by the United States government are paid their wages from a special train filled with money—chiefly bags of $1,000 each, weighing about 60 pounds. The skilled white laborers and office employes, about 2,500 in all, receive their pay once a month, amounting to about $250,000, in much the same way as ordinary government clerks are paid in Washington. Of the laborers, however—largely Jamaican negroes—there are at present 15,000 at least, and they draw about $60,000 a month in fortnightly payments.

One might think that the pay clerks in their train load of specie would feel uncomfortable among this army of dusky giants, especially when the train halts in some small tropical camp and great sacks of silver are unloaded in the jungle. The other day, writes a correspondent at Panama I saw $60,000 put on the pay car for the so-called "silver men" working at Tabernilla, San Pablo, Cristobal Gatun and Bohio. Some Jamaican colored police were watching the negro boys bringing out the sacks of silver, and others stood by the wagons while the money was put on.

"Sixty," exclaimed Mr. Waldrop, the chief cashier. A policeman climbed onto each truck, the whips cracked, and off went the teams of mules with the cashier and pay clerks bringing up the rear in cabs. Mr. Waldrop did not seem to be afraid about leaving the $1,000 bags unguarded on the railway station, where altogether there must have been nearly two tons of coined silver. The pay car is, of course, specially constructed, and three lines of laborers face its side doors. These are in pairs, and the men climb up on the car trucks to one of the double doors, receive their money, pass out at the other, and leap down.

The pay counter runs the entire length of the car, close to the doors, and only one man can stand in front of it at a time. Each applicant presents a pink pay certificate giving his number, the amount of wages due to him, and the signature of an official, who certifies that the bearer is the proper person to pay and has given a receipt by signing his name on the certificate.

For further security the laborer shows his diamond-shaped metal tag with his number stamped on it. This usually hangs from his belt, but at the pay counter he holds it up in his left hand, puts down his certificate, grabs off his hat, and holds it out for the showed of silver. The pay clerk compares the number, glances at the signature, and then reaches under the counter and throws rolls of coin and loose silver into the extended hat.

The rolls usually contain $25 done up in packages by Chinese boys whom the disbursing office, after having tried white clerks and girls, have found to be the most rapid and accurate money counters on the isthmus. Two of them are champions—Chong and Leon. These will count and roll up in $25 packages over $25,000 worth of silver dollars in a day, and never make a mistake. These two Chinese boys have counted and wrapped millions of dollars, and not one package has ever been found wrong. Their pay is about $75 a month.

The scene in the traveling pay train is most interesting. The canal laborers are paid at the rate of eight a minute at each door, or 24 minutes for the entire car. This rate can be kept up, provided no forged or imperfect certificates are presented. Forgeries there are, of course, but of a very stupid kind. Thus three dollars will be altered to $13 in the figures on the order to pay and not in the receipt! Detection and arrests occur every pay day.

These Jamaican negroes would never dream of stealing money from the pay car in the ordinary way, but such of them as are not wholly illiterate simply glory in trying to demonstrate to their less "cultured" brethren what a valuable thing "education" is, and how it can be turned into money.

On goes the pay train into the jungle at Tabernilla and Gatun, as well as the smaller camps, where the negroes, after getting paid, run screaming with delight into the bush, and play like children or monkeys with the glittering silver. The matter of currency in the isthmus is most intricate. Heavy Mexican dollars are furnished by the Panama government to the canal paymaster for the "silver" men; but the "gold men" are paid on the 4th of every month in different currency altogether. The pay certificates are returned to the divisions for redistribution once more to the men; and the time books, time rolls, and pay rolls are sent to the disbursing officer to be checked and examined.

This official is under heavy bonds, and must audit every figure on the rolls. He is therefore obliged to go carefully over 32,500 names on the 1,700 big sheets every month before he will pay out a dollar. In a few weeks' time thousands of other laborers will be imported into the isthmus, when the actual work of "making the dirt fly" begins, and then the pay train will be longer and its staff larger than ever before.

Jamaican Finances.

Jamaica is now apparently out of her financial difficulties. The governor reports a surplus of $80,000, and the six per cent. surtax on imports

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Ike Richards, of Somerset street, will pay highest prices for second-hand clothing.

Do you own a home? If not consult M. F. Gano, Park and North avenues, and he will explain how you can.

Coal ordered now need not be delivered till fall, but you'll get it cheaper. Call up L. A. Rheaume, the coal man and place your winter order now.

Laury & Daudt, the contractors, of East Front street, have the reputation for doing first-class work. The firm also carries a full line of mantels.

Kirch & Zimmerman, the Somerset street cash grocers, carry an exceptional stock of groceries which the firm sells for cash. Trade here and save money.

Don't run any chances of having to wait for your trunks at the depot when you go off. See Wierenga, the reliable North avenue truckman, and get them there on time.

While you are away at the country it's a good time to have the interior of the house "spruced up" by the painters. Woolston & Buckle, painters, on North avenue, can handle the job.

There's a big display of fancy porch jardinieres at Gavett's, on West Front street. Living so much on the piazza these days, why not beautify it with potted plants in neat jars?

Hardware of all kinds is sold by Worth & Marsh, of Somerset street. See them before making purchases; they can save you money. They make a specialty of cutlery and garden utensils.

One of the best ways of getting relaxation after the day's work is to take a bicycle ride. If you do not own a wheel, you can get one for a very small outlay at Frucht's West Front street store.

For the very best groceries at reasonable prices you need go no further than W. W. Dunn's grocery at Duer street and Lincoln place. Orders sent by telephone will be delivered to any part of the city.

Smalley Brothers, the North avenue market men, make a specialty of only the very best meats, provisions and poultry. They have been in business in Plainfield for many years and their patronage has increased steadily because they never fail to give satisfaction.

James R. Blair, the Park avenue men's haberdasher, has just received a new line of men's outing shirts. Better see them before they are all "snapped" up as they are sure to go fast. Blair's store is the place where you get everything up-to-date in men's furnishings.

Vacation time is here again and those who are going away for longer than the usual two weeks need a trunk to carry clothing, etc. Shirley & Johnson, in the Babcock building, are showing a big line of these. They are in all sizes and the prices are sure to meet with your approval if you happen to want one.

SAYS HE THREATENED TO CUT HER THROAT.

On This and Other Grounds Hoboken Woman Has Applied to Courts for Partial Divorce.

Trenton, July 10.—Mrs. Christina Schultz, wife of John H. Schultz, of Hoboken, has brought an action in the Court of Chancery for separte maintenance by her husband upon the ground of extreme cruelty which, she says, makes it impossible for her to live with him longer. The Schultzes were married in 1899. The husband was then a barber, but, according to his wife, has not worked at that or any other trade since their marriage. She says on the contrary that he has simply been living upon her income, and attributes his ill-treatment to her refusal to have her property recorded in his name.

The bill recites a long list of alleged cruelties on the part of the husband, culminating about two weeks ago when, she asserts, he threatened to cut her throat, saying: "I'll make a better job than the Park avenue man." This reference, Mrs. Schultz says, was to a man who had recently cut his wife's throat. A neighbor came in at the time, and while he was there Mrs. Schultz hastily packed up a few belongings and left the house. Prior to that she alleges she was frequently beaten and ill-treated by her husband, on several occasions being driven from the house. One of these times was at night, when she was scantily clad, and twice she said she had to seek refuge at the homes of neighbors.

Mrs. Schultz says the first property over which trouble arose between them was situated on Seventh street, Hoboken. This she purchased with her own money, and after frequent threats and coaxings by her husband, she says she finally sold it and purchased a property at Bloomfield and Fifth streets, having the title recorded in both their names. The annual rental is $1,200, and Mrs. Schultz says her husband has been collecting this and refusing to give her any of the proceeds.

There was a big improvement in the attendance at Saturday's game, and the association hopes it will continue and thereby encourage the sport.

Linderman, Farmer and "Dave" Driscoll, as well as Brogan and Curley, all well known favorites, will get a big reception on Saturday when they meet the Plainfield team.

The fans say "give us good attractions and ye will support the game." The Cuban contest was a top-notcher and there was some encouragement. Let there be more of the same kind.

There were many new faces at Crescent Oval on Saturday and it was also noticed that a large number of local fans were present for the first time. It looked like the old days to see Freeholder Wilbur, L. B. Woolston, Councilman Gloak, Amos Andrews, Mayor Buckle and others at the game.

"Dave" Driscoll told a Plainfielder that his team will come to town Saturday and clean up the locals. His aggregation has been playing great ball since opening up at Elizabeth in opposition to the Elizabethport Stars. On Sunday it defeated the Frankfords, of New York, by a good margin.

Saturday's game will be the first in the county championship series. Let all the fans turn out and encourage the sport.

Bustamente makes no pretension to being a pitcher, but he certainly has all the ear-marks of a first-class twirler. He has steam, all sorts of twisters and does not lose his head.

Comparing the Saturday and Sunday games, "Phil." Smith certainly did have it on "Willie" Deegan. The High School boy pitched winning ball and if it had not been for a couple of misplays it is safe to say that he would have added another victory to his string. It was Smith's first real test and he proved worthy.

Treasurer Charles W. Runyon, of the Plainfield Baseball Association, was much pleased with the increased receipts on Saturday, and hopes that this week they will be doubled.

The Elizabethport Stars lost to the Manhattans on Sunday, making the third straight defeat for Manager Burke's sparklets. "Red" Waller was very easy and was banged to all parts of the lot. It is hoped that Manager Daab will be able to get a game on with the Stars before the season closes. The locals would like a chance at Waller.

Snow is becoming very popular with the fans. His sensational stops and accurate throws stamps him a player of the first class.

Choir Boys Win.

Adding another scalp to their belt of baseball victories, the Holy Cross choir nine had an easy time of it Saturday, defeating the Imperial A. C. by a score of 17 to 4. The game was played on the cricket field and was the last scheduled by the team before going into camp. Vail and Moran were the points for the choir boys while Miller and Rubenstein acted for the Imperials. Vail played the last inning all by himself, striking out the three men who faced him.

GOLF.

The outstanding feature of the week in sports will be the amateur championship tournament of the United States Golf Association, which began this morning at Englewood, and Plainfield is particularly interested because among those entered are W. Lester Glenney, Dudley H. Barrows, Frank Talmadge and the intercollegiate champion, Robert Abbott. Rarely, if ever, has the national fixture attracted such widespread interest, and never, perhaps, has the field been such a strong and representative one. It will be a week of feasting for golfers, and to them, at least, everything else in the sporting line will pale into insignificance.

It is doubtful if there is another golf club in this part of the country or in the Metropolitan district, at least, where ministers take such an interest in the game of golf as at the Park Golf Club, and play the game so steadily. At the borough course there are Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, Rev. J. O. McKelvey and Rev. C. L. Goodrich who follow the game every week. Each one is a consistent player and the scores are as low as a rule as any posted. Mr. McKelvey frequently wins points for either the President's or club cup. Aside from the proficiency attained, the divines find the game very desirable as a means for exercise when cares and other duties can be forgotten.

An oculist has examined the eyes of Braid, Vardon, Taylor and Herd to ascertain whether their sight is normal or of a keenness to be a special help to their golf. He was puzzled to find that only Herd has normal sight, while the others have more or less defective vision.

Latest of golf ball patents is one for a ball with mercury in the hollow core, the binding and shell to be of any sort. The claim is especially steadiness in putting.

Many golfers have wondered why Findlay S. Douglas did not enter for the amateur championship tournament which begins today at Englewood. The champion of 1898 and the runner-up in the two following years, has received a two months' leave of absence, which will give him an opportunity to visit Scotland in the fall. Under the circumstances he did not consider it fair to take a week off from business at the present time. James Robb, present amateur champion of Great Britain, is an old schoolmate of Douglas' and the latter expects to have a match with Robb while abroad.

GOLF CLUB STANDING

Abbott, 4½; D. H. Barrows, 4¼; F. O. Reinhart, 4; W. D. Riggs, 4; W. B. Tyler, 3; H. D. Hibbard, 3; E. E. Iremonger, 3; E. B. Shoemaker, 2½; Arthur Peck, 2; W. L. Glenney, 1½; Alex. Gilbert, 1½; C. B. Morgan, 1½; J. A. Lane, 1; J. P. Murray, 1; E. T. Willson, ¾; L. L. Tweedy, ¾; D. W. Taylor, ½.

MRS. W. L. SAUNDERS DEAD

Mrs. William L. Saunders, of Rockview avenue, died at noon today, following a long illness. She has spent much time in travel abroad in the hope that she might regain her health, but she failed to derive any benefit. She has been at home for some time, but her health was such that she was not able to go out much.

Mrs. Saunders was at one time a leading spirit in the social affairs of the city and borough, having taken prominent parts in amateur dramatics. She was also an active member of the Holy Cross church, where she very often sang. During the Lenten recitals at the church she was heard with much pleasure. In charitable enterprises she always did what she could to assist. No arrangements have been made for the funeral as yet.

She was the wife of former Mayor Saunders, one of North Plainfield's leading citizens. He is president of the Ingersoll-Rand Drill Company. She is survived by a husband and two children.

Nineteen of the twenty-four American members selected to represent dissatisfied policy holders in the coming fight for the control of the New York Life and the Mutual were present at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the committee was called to order in the College Hall of the Waldorf-Astoria in New York city.

Races Tomorrow.

In addition to the classes already announced for the Raritan Driving Association's big meet at New Brunswick tomorrow, there will be a farmers' clas for local horses. Entries are still coming in for this, and it will be one of the features of the afternoon. All the horses in the other classes are at the track and in fine shape. The track is being put in good condition and the indications are that extraordinary fast time will be made.

Express Engine Derailed.

Atlantic City, July 10.—An engine drawing the Buffalo express, arriving here last night at thirty-five minutes after six o'clock, crashed into a shifting engine in the Pennsylvania yard and both were derailed. Passengers were shaken up by the sudden stoppage of the train, but no one was hurt. They alighted and walked to the station. A mistake in signals is said to have brought the engines together.

NO ASSEMBLY DISTRICTS

Highest Court Upholds Decides That Perkins Law is Unconstitutional.

HELPS ITS AUTHOR

Knocking Out of Redistricting Bill, Materially Betters Chances of Westfield Candidate for Renomination.

The Assembly district law, introduced and fathered in the Legislature by Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, of Westfield, has been declared unconstitutional by the Court of Errors and Appeals, which confirms the opinion of the Supreme Court. Although Lawyer Perkins thus finds that the measure, which he introduced for the State Republican organization's sake, is in violation of the constitution of New Jersey, he has the satisfaction of knowing that the action of the Court of Errors materially increases his chances for renomination. Thirteen of the fourteen judges held that the new law is unconstitutional.

Had the statute been upheld and the decision of the lower court reversed, Assemblyman Perkins would have had to fight it out in Plainfield, Westfield, Rahway and the rest of what would have been known as the third assembly district for a renomination. Pitted against him is Judge William N. Runyon, of this city, the candidate of the anti-organization Republicans. Friends of the Plainfield candidate were sanguine that he could defeat Perkins at the primaries.

As it is the assembly candidates will be picked without reference to locality and there will be voted for all in all sections of the county. Perkins, Tillman and a third selection will be the candidates of the regular Republican organization. Runyon will be one of three independent Republicans placed on the Colbyites ticket. Perkins has a much better show of being nominated since his statute has been knocked out.

The Court of Errors announced its decision yesterday. Perkins Assembly Redistricting act was favored by Gov. Stokes.

The measure was put through by the Republican organization in the hope of carrying Hudson, a strong Democratic county, and in the belief that it would seriously embarrass the Colby reform movement. Thirteen judges voted against the constitutionality of the act, and one judge—G. D. W. Vroom—upheld the measure.

The failure of the act, it is believed, will have an important bearing on the next elections, as Hudson county, which through unusual conditions went Republican last election, may be whipped back into the Democratic line. It may defeat the ambitions of both George L. Record and Senator Dryden.

PREPARING FOR CAMP.

Company K Starts for Sea Girt Next Saturday Morning.

The members of Company K are making preparations to start on their bi-yearly visit to the State camp at Sea Girt. They will leave Plainfield Saturday morning and will be met at Elizabeth by Companies C and I, from where all three will proceed by special train to their destination. They are to remain in camp a week. From present indications the greater part of the local company will go though the new military law gives the members the privilege of remaining home.

The entire Second Regiment will be in camp next week. Besides the companies from Elizabeth and Plainfield there will be four others from Trenton and one each from Somerville, New Brunswick, Freehold, Lambertville and Princeton. The Third Regiment is now on the ground and its companies will remain over Saturday afternoon for a joint inspection by General Grant of the regular army.

John Taylor's Natal Day.

In honor of his thirty-second birthday, John Taylor, of Plainfield avenue, gave a "stag" party to thirty-five friends at his home Monday night. Musical selections were furnished by Professor Hankinson and the Black Diamond Quartette contributed vocal numbers. A special feature was some sleight-of-hand tricks by George Ruggles who greatly mystified the gathering by his miraculous agility, his five-ace trick being the piece de resistance. A supper was served in conclusion.

New Postal Operator.

Mrs. R. M. Ward, of McKeesport, Pa., formerly an operator for the Postal Telegraph Company at that place, has been transferred to the company's office here, to take the place of A. J. Coleman, who will take a position in the company's main office in New York after a week's vacation.

TWO DEALERS SOLD POOR GRADE OF MILK

AFTER TESTS BY HEALTH OFFICER OFFENDERS WERE REPRIMANDED.

At the postponed meeting of the Board of Health yesterday it was reported that during the past month the city was practically free from contagious disease, there being one case of scarlet fever, two of measles and two of tuberculosis. There was one death from tuberculosis and one from diphtheria.

Health Officer Thurlow made seventy-three visits to dairies, twenty-five samples of milk were exampled. Two dealers were reprimanded for selling a poor quality of milk.

Permits to sell ice were granted to the Natural Ice Company, Frank T. Ostrom and John Morton, and Alexander Gordon was given a permit to sell milk. Permits were granted to William Grattan and George Christiansen to collect garbage, and the application of Mary C. Scudder to sell milk was denied.

It was reported that the ice sold in Plainfield is of good quality, and that it comes from two sources, Watchung Lake and the artificial ice plant. It is sold by the Natural Ice Company, F. T. Ostrom and John Morton, the report says.

Extracts from the report of Inspector William Addis showed the number of inspections made in all departments and the results were very satisfactory. The vital statistics showed that during the month there were twenty-marriages, thirty-four births, one still-birth and twenty deaths. Of the twenty deaths, twelve were persons over twenty years of age.

SEEBER AND NUGENT COMPLETE DEAL WITH M'VEY.

Deny That They Will Open Wholesale Liquor Store in North Avenue Place.

George Seeber, president of the Rising Sun Brewing Company, and Edward Nugent, Esq., counsel for the company, of Elizabeth, were in Plainfield yesterday effecting a transfer of the deeds for the property, whereby Mr. Seeber exchanges his property on West Front street, formerly known as Goff's Hotel, for J. H. McVey's Annex property on North avenue, and a residential property on East Front street, also owned by Mr. McVey and occupied by Theodore French.

When questioned as to what he proposed to do with the property, Mr. Nugent replied that it is not the intention to open any wholesale liquor store, but that John Madden, who now conducts a pool and billiard room on the first floor, would remain there and Mrs. McAndrews, who leases the upper part, would continue to have the use of the floors. Further than that Mr. Nugent and Mr. Seeber had nothing more to say.

There was a rumor current that in making the trade, Mr. Seeber expected to apply to the Common Council next year for a license to sell liquor in his North avenue property, failing to secure such a license for John Goff for the West Front street property. If he has any such intentions he is not disclosing them at present and in all probability the property will remain as it is for this year at least. Mr. McVey is now in possession of the West Front street property and will open a restaurant and boarding-house there.

Old Offender Caught Again.

John Higgins, of Stone street, is in the police toils again. He went on a spree last night and was found weathering along Somerset street in a choppy sea with an immense cargo of beer on board. Marshal Dooley towed him to headquarters, where he is lying at anchor today, waiting for somebody to bail him out before Mayor Smalley comes alongside tonight and collects duty on last night's cargo.

Accused of Striking Boy.

On complaint of Rosa L. Miller, Maude Washington, of East Third street, was arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court, this morning, charged with striking the complainant's four-year-old son Herman. At the request of the defendant's counsel, William G. DeMeza, the matter was adjourned until Saturday morning. Both parties in the case are colored.

Forty Days Hangs Over Sachar.

Meyer Sachar, a well-known West End character, was arraigned in the city court, this morning, charged by Louis Schiff, with calling his names and flinging a screen door against his head. Meyer denied the charges but a suspended sentence of forty days was placed over him, the evidence showing that he had been making life miserable for Louis.

Dr. and Mrs. B. VanD. Hedges, who were married in Chicago a few weeks ago, are expected to arrive in Plainfield tomorrow.

J. SMYLIE TUCKER HAS PASSED AWAY

ORGANIZER OF M'KINLEY CLUB; WELL-KNOWN IN COUNTY POLITICS.

James Smylie Tucker, one of the best-known of the younger citizens of Elizabeth, died at noon yesterday at his home in that city. He had been acutely ill for several months. His sickness dated back from the time that he enlisted in the Spanish-American War.

Mr. Tucker came of a family that is prominent in that city—a family that has lived here almost from the time of the settling of the city before the War of the Revolution. His ancestors fought in the Revolution. His father was the late Wm. B. Tucker, and his mother is Mrs. Mary Smylie Tucker.

Mr. Tucker was born in Elizabeth on June 30, 1870. When the war broke out with Spain in 1898 he enlisted and served on the U. S. S. Badger, doing marine duty. After the war he went with the Metropolitan Trust Company and was employed there till June, 1905, when his health began to give out.

Mr. Tucker was prominent in many activities in Elizabeth, taking a deep interest in politics and being a member of many societies. For many years he was secretary of the Republican County Committee, and was a member of the Republican City Central Committee of Elizabeth. He was a candidate for councilman-at-large in the year before that office was abolished, and ran for member of the City Council from his ward—the Ninth. He was one of the organizers of the McKinley Club, and was its first president.

He was a trustee of the First German Presbyterian church. He belonged to Washington Lodge, No. 33, Free and Accepted Masons; William A. M. Mack Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.; Court Childs, Independent Order of Foresters; Camp Sewell, Spanish-American War Veterans; the U. S. S. Badger Veteran Association, the McKinley Club and the Board of Trade. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Smylie Tucker, three brothers, Assemblyman Everard K. Tucker, Raymond W. Tucker and Earl D. Tucker, and a sister, Mrs. John K. Ricketts.

Arrangements for the funeral will be made later.

HEARING POSTPONED.

Young Beerman, Abused by Regan, Seeks Retribution Through Father.

The hearing in the assault and battery action brought by Charles Beerman against Patrick J. Regan, which was before Justice Snape at the borough court yesterday afternoon, was not held because the police were unable to serve summons on Regan. Beerman appeared and the case was postponed until a week from today at 2 o'clock in the same court.

The plaintiff, Beerman, alleges that his son was brutally treated by Regan on the evening of July 2. Young Beerman, whose name is Charles, is a lad sixteen years of age. He was at his home on the evening mentioned when Regan came along and accused him of trespassing on an adjourning lot, which he owns, and destroying fences. Charles denied the charge, but Regan, thinking he knew who had done the mischief, shook him and struck him to make him tell, it is alleged. Young Beerman was badly abused, it is alleged, his clothes being torn and his face bruised. Regan is a special officer in the borough and it is alleged that he was drunk that night. When Beerman saw his son, he had a warrant sworn out for Regan's arrest and he is anxious to get retribution for his son's mistreatment, declaring that he is innocent and did no damage on the land.

'Phone Company's Costly Building.

According to a contract filed at the county clerk's office, the new building now being erected for the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company on East Fourth street, will cost $51,885. This is exclusive of the site and will make it one of the costliest structures in the city. The entire work is being done by L. W. Seaman, Jr. & Son, a Brooklyn firm.

Camp Children on Outing.

In two large stages and a big touring auto, 150 New York children and Miss Sara Curry, of the Neitherwood Fresh Air Home, made a trip to the Beckstein farm at Oak Tree. Miss Margaret Hayes, Mr. Beckstein's granddaughter, entertained the children at the farm, where bountiful refreshments of ice cream, cake and candy were served.

Reprimanded and Freed.

Sentence was suspended with a reprimand by Mayor Smalley upon P. H. Green, who was found helplessly drunk by Borough Marshal Dooley on Somerset street early yesterday morning. Green promised to climb up high on the water wagon and be good.

MRS. SAUNDERS' FUNERAL TAKES PLACE TOMORROW

SERVICES AT THE HOUSE IN ROCKVIEW AVENUE AT 4:30 O'CLOCK.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Bertha Louise Saunders, wife of former Mayor William L. Saunders, will be held at the home, No. 112 Rockview avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in Hillside cemetery. Rev. George A. Warner, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, in which Mrs. Saunders was a devout communicant and active worker, will conduct the services at the house and will say the committal services at the grave.

Mrs. Saunders was a native of New York city. Her maiden name was Bertha Louise Gaston and her marriage to Mr. Saunders at Narragansett Pier, R. I., in 1877 was a society event. In 1889, Mr. and Mrs. Saunders removed to North Plainfield and since that time both have been prominent in local affairs. Mrs. Saunders took an active interest in all benevolences while her husband has been a leader in civic affairs.

Surviving her are the husband and two daughters, the Misses Louise and Jean Saunders.

In the passing away of Mrs. William L. Saunders, Plainfield has lost one of its most active and potent influences for good works. During the seventeen years of her life here no worthy cause seemed to appeal to her in vain. Impulsive, warm-hearted, enthusiastic; full of the fire of genius and of an abounding energy, in whatever cause she enlisted she proved a power in herself and a stimulus to others.

All Plainfield knows the many enterprises in support of its charities to which she gave her time, her brilliant talents and her industrious labors. All Plainfield knows how ready and helpful she was in every emergency of the church, club or hospital. It is superfluous to recount in detail what is ever-present in the minds of all.

But while the public dwells upon this phase of her life, many a sad heart in private mourns the loss of a friend and benefactress whose spontaneous sympathy and help came unsought and were doubly precious.

Beautiful in person, gifted with rare accomplishments, of a tender and loving nature, Bertha L. Saunders leaves an enduring imprint upon this community, to her friends a sweet and lovely image and a noble example of charity in thought, speech and action.

ROBERT ABBOTT MAKES GOOD SHOWING AT GOLF

RETURNS SCORE OF 84 IN THE FIRST ROUND AT ENGLEWOOD.

Robert Abbott, of the Plainfield Country Club, made the best showing for the local players in the opening round of the annual meet for the National amateur championship, which began at Englewood, yesterday. His score for 18 holes was 85. W. Lester Glenney finished with a score of 89. Dudley H. Barrows returned a score of 91 and F. C. Talmadge returned a score of 97. The low score for the day was a 75 made by Dwight Patridge, of Bedford, the former interscholastic champion and now a student at Yale.

Golfers from all parts of the United States and one former Canadian champion assembled yesterday and over 130 contestants started in the opening medal-play round, a record-breaking field. It was considerably after 6 o'clock before the last pair holed out on the home green. During the early part of the day it was excessively hot, but in the afternoon a violent thunderstorm nearly broke up the play. It was a veritable deluge in the amount of water that fell, for more than one of the greens was temporarily flooded, and half a hundred golfers were forced to keep on driving and putting away in the rain and soaked to the skin in the bargain. Travers was one of the last ment to start, and he had scarcely reached the fifth green when the storm broke in all its fury. The wisdom of dividing the thirty-six hole qualifying round into a two-day event was proved by the late hour required to finish, for it was after 6 o'clock before the last pair landed on the home green. All will play another eighteen holes today and the best thirty-two will then be picked from the lot and they will be drawn for the first championship match-play round tomorrow morning. The result of the day's play gives a total of thirty-nine golfers who have a score of 86 or under and this average will probably qualify.

STATE SENATOR GETS SOME SOMERSET BONDS

FRELINGHUYSEN AND MESSRS. STOKES BEST BIDDERS.

The Somerset County Board of Chosen Freeholders met in the "new court house," at Somerville, yesterday afternoon, the First Reformed church chapel, and did a great amount of business. The county collector, Edward B. Allen, made a report of the bids received for the county bonds for the erection of the new court house, as follows:

John D. Everett & Co., of New York, for $280,000, $281,596; Somerville Dime Savings Bank, of Somerville, for $25,000, $26,120; First National Bank, of Somerville, for $24,000, $24,427.20; H. K. Stokes, of New York, for $180,000, at the rate of $102,521; J. S. Frelinghuysen, of Somerville, for $100,000, at the rate of $102,522; Plainfield Trust Co., of Plainfield, for $14,000, $14,000; J. A. Bullock, of Philadelphia, for $2,000, $2,020; H. V. Davis, of North Branch, for $1,000, $1,010; David Rinehart, of Potterstown, for $1,000, $1,001.

By resolution the board awarded the issue to Messrs. Stokes and Frelinghuysen. These bids give a premium of about $7,000.

A report of the condition of the Rock Hill road was placed on file. A letter from F. A. Pope asked $500 damages for Mrs. Jennie Milliken for her horse breaking through a bridge at Hillsborough township. Members Hoagland, Baird and Gibson were appointed a committee to investigate. Dungan & Reger claimed $140 for William Eiltzer for injuries to his horse in Bernards township on a bridge. Messrs. Bunn, Demler and Philhower were appointed to investigate.

Bids as follows were received for the bridge (Skillman) in Montgomery township: W. T. Kirk Co., $198; Canton Bridge Co., $220; J. W. Scott, $253. The former was awarded the contract.

The board will meet at Rocky Hill July 18.

TRUCKMAN'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Pinned Against Wall When Heavy Machine Slipped.

While engaged with several other men in removing a plumber's heavy, pipe-bending machine from the cellar of the new Plainfield High School, yesterday, John Wierenga, brother of Henry Wierenga, the local truckman, had a narrow escape from being killed.

The machine, which weighs 3,500 pounds, was half way up a steep stairway when it suddenly slipped from the grasp of the men holding it and it fell to one side, pinning Wierenga against a wall. At the same instant the lower end struck against a projecting post, which held it, otherwise it would have slid, rolling Wierenga along with it.

The imprisoned man was released after several minutes' effort and the machine had to be let back to the basement floor. The stair rail was broken when the weight went against it.

Hit Doctor's Turnout.

An automobile being driven by Frank A. Fuller, of Woodland avenue, ran into a horse and carriage owned by Dr. A. Wanser Love, which was standing on the right hand side of East Fifth street, Saturday night about 12 o'clock, completely wrecking the carriage and injuring the horse to such an extent that it will be a long time before he can be driven.

Funeral of John R. Sickler.

With a gathering of relatives and friends in attendance, the funeral of John R. Sickler was held at his late home on Spooner avenue, this afternoon. Rev. READY TO BUILD SCHOOL

Contract Awarded to John Abbott & Son For Erection of Convent Institution.

ESTIMATED COST $200,000

Building On Watchung Mountain Will Be 192 by 150 Feet In Depth—D. T. Kenney Donated Site.

Following a conference held at Trenton, yesterday, between the officials interested, contracts were awarded for the construction of the new St. Mary convent which is to be new St. Mary convent school which is to be erected on a plot of ground on the side of the mountains back of North Plainfield, for the Sisters of Mercy of the Trenton Diocese. The site was donated by David T. Kenney, of the borough, and he has been assisting Bishop McFaul and others in preparing the plans.

The building will represent an outlay of $200,000 and the general contract for all the work went to J. H. Abbott & Son, of this city. It was understood that Den J. Galbraith, also of Plainfield, would install the heating and plumbing requisites, the same aggregating a large part of the cost. The structure is to be three stories in height and for the most part will be of stone, the material being secured from William E. Bartle's quarry, located a short distance from the site. In dimensions it will be 192 feet front by 150 in depth.

At present it is the intention to have the building lighted by electricity, the power to be furnished by an individual plant. This is a matter of extreme importance as electricity is to be used in other ways and should it be generated on the ground, it would represent a considerable saving in the running expenses. It is a matter, however, that has not been fully decided.

Mr. Kenney felt highly elated that a Plainfield firm secured the main contract as he was anxious to have the first benefits from the building left in this community. The construction will give employment to a large number of mechanics for a long time and practically all will be Plainfielders. Mr. Kenney was in consultation with Bishop McFaul at the episcopal residence in Trenton, yesterday, and they will arrange all the preliminary details before Abbott & Son take charge.

The convent will be erected on one of the prettiest spots overlooking Plainfield in the midst of what is known as "The Picture Lands." Mr. Kenney purchased the property especially for the purpose and the bishop and his associates have been highly pleased with it. The convent is now at Bordentown, where it has been for many years, but the present quarters have been outgrown. It was the desire to move to a more central portion of the State and Plainfield was selected. When the structure has been fully completed and ready for occupancy it will bring many people to the city and borough who would otherwise never see them and they will benefit accordingly.

It is said that the work will be started at once.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Borough Marshal Owen Mohan has as yet been unable to trace the identity of the men who broke into and robbed the loop lunch stand Monday night. The thieves must have been foxy, for they didn't take long to clean out anything of value they found in the place. The wagon ruts found leading right up to the door of the restaurant showed that the burglars must have easily gotten away with the stuff in a wagon. The proprietor, James Tieman, figures his loss at about $175 and his place was pretty well cleaned of stock. Several attempts have been made to break into the stand since Tieman has taken the business and the man thinks he has enemies in the borough who did the work.

With a jump in real estate value of nearly $200,000 in the year, local Tax Asesssor John Peters has found the value of Dunellen property to aggregate $703,975, of which $592,525 is real estate value and $111,450 personal estate valuation. The poll tax assessment numbers 379. The realty increase is a result of decisions of the State Board of Taxation but will be counter-balanced by a decrease in the Dunellen tax rate in proportion.

James Tevan, who lost two fingers of his right hand by the premature explosion of a giant firecracker on July 4, is getting along well. The hand is healing nicely and seems free from poison since the operation of partial amputation has been successfully completed. LITERARY.

In the sense that Attorney-General Hadley, of Missouri, did not seek the office he holds he is an iccident. Leader of a faction in one of the forlorn hope conventions, as it was supposed, of the Republican party in the State, his mission was to defeat the nomination of a certain man for attorney-general. He was successful, but in the confusion which followed he was himself named against his will. While a handful of his friends swept him like a football in the midst of a flying wedge to the rear of the hall, he was chosen by acclamation. His first impulse was to decline at once, but he heeded the warning of his best wishers not to imperil his political future by refusing to make a campaign. That he would be elected seemed hardly a possibility. He worked hard, canvassed the state from end to end, voted and then went quail hunting. When he returned to civilization three days later he was greeted by the greatest surprise in his career. He had been elected with the remainder of the Republican ticket, except the candidate for governor, and by a safe majority.—American Magazine.

For an Invalid.

Beat a new laid egg with a little water, heat a glass of sherry, and add to it half a glass of cold water, and a little sugar. The amount of sugar is to be regulated by the taste and condition of the invalid. Pour the beaten egg, sweetened wine and water into a saucepan, set in a larger one of boiling water. Set over the fire and stir one way until thoroughly heated, but do not allow it to boil. Serve in a high tumbler set on a plate, accompanying it with a piece of thin, dry toast or plain crisp biscuit.

Heyzer, of 903 Sixth avenue, New York. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hugh B. MacCauley, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, in the parsonage.

Young Edison, with his prospective bride on his arm, appeared at the parsonage, gave his name, and requested the clergyman to officiate.

"This is not a runaway match," Mr. Edison said, "but we want no publicity."

John H. Gill, of Orange, was best man, and Miss Eugenie MacCauley, daughter of the officiating clergyman, attended the bride. Edison gave his residence as Llewellyn Park; his father's name as Thomas A. Edison, his age thirty, and his occupation mechanical engineer.

According to the license, the bride is twenty-four, the daughter of Charles and Elizabeth Lackey Heyzer. The marriage license states that she was never married before. Mr. and Mrs. Edison left town immediately after the ceremony, presumably for New York.

Edison's first wife was Marie Tuohey, an actress. They were married in 1899, and lived together for about eighteen months when they separated, apparently by mutual consent. This wedding created a stir in the Edison family, and the inventor refused to acknowledge either his son or the latter's wife. She died February 18 last.

HYPNOTIST THERE, TWO GIRLS GONE.

Two Tottenville Fathers Seek Missing Daughters and a Strolling Svengali.

Two young girls who were recently graduated from the high school in Tottenville, S. I., have disappeared and their parents believe they have gone to join two young men who were employed as musicians by a hypnotist who gave exhibitions there last week. The missing girls are Grace Hemstreet, fourteen years old, and Eleanor Balliet, fifteen.

Miss Hemstreet's father is a confectioner and Miss Balliet's father is connected with a business house in Manhattan. The "professsor" and his two musicians were in Tottenville last Tuesday and Wednesday and gave performances in the Knights of Pythias Hall. The girls attended the performance on Wednesday, and after it was over they were seen talking with the young musicians. Both girls have considerable musical talent. The performance of the "professor" caused much comment in the village, and the hypnotic influence he is said to have exercised over those who came under his power was the talk of the place. The two girls were among those who were greatly impressed by the performer's apparent mesmeric power. The day after the hypnotist and the musicians had left Tottenville the girls, their parents have learned, went to the hotel where the man had been staying and made inquiries that showed they were anxious to learn in what direction the "professsor" and his companions had gone.

After Sunday-school last Sunday the girls did not return home. Their parents notified the police and a general alarm was sent out.

Unique and Liberal Plan.

The very unique and liberal home furnishing plan of Scherer & Crown, of 74 and 76 Market street, Newark, which has been exploited by the firm in this publication for the past few weeks, has been receiving considerable attention. The proposition is such that it permits the furnishing of the workingman's home at a very low cost, on the most accommodating of terms. The earnestness and sincerity of Scherer & Crown in their endeavor to give satisfaction to everybody is attested by the fact that they deliver into the home absolutely without charges, the entire outfit on the customer's approval, and if not satisfactory one does not obligate himself to take it or pay for its return. This feature has been the means of many people making an investigation of the offer which otherwise would not appeal with such force. The announcement appears in this issue.

LENIENCY FOR JERSEY CITY SALOON KEEPERS

CHIEF OF POLICE EXTENDS TIME LIMIT FOR ALTERATIONS TO JULY 28.

Jersey City, July 11.—Chief of Police Benjamin Murphy has ordered the removal of all the backroom partitions and interior screens from the saloons throughout this city. He has extended the limit within which saloons may be altered to July 28. If any saloon-keeper has failed to remove the last vestige of an obstruction or mode of concealment within his place at that time he will be arrested and steps will be taken to have his license broken.

"The most beneficial clause in the entire law, from a moral standpoint," declared the chief yesterday morning, "is that which compels the removal of interior screens and backrooms. With the backroom eliminated the police can enforce the other portions of the excise law and prevent disorderly conduct in licensed places. It is one of the best laws ever enacted."

The chief differs from Police Judge James Manning and has instructed his policemen that a saloonkeeper, under the law, has no right to sell liquor on any portion of the premises occupied by him except in the barroom proper.

The order issued by Chief Murphy is as follows:

"Commencing today, captains will make or cause to be made a personal investigation of all places where liquor is sold, that are not inns or taverns, restaurants where meals are served on more than one floor, picnic or recreation grounds, bowling alleys or buildings entirely occupied as clubs or associations, and notify the owners to remove all screens, doors, shades, side or back rooms or any obstruction in said rooms before the 28th instant.

"Such saloon-keepers as are referred to will also be told that no drinks of any kind can be sold or served in any part of the building except in the bar or business room. This order does not relate to screens in windows."

The Excise Board will meet Thursday evening and will receive an additional communication from Chief of Police Murphy regarding places which should not be licensed. In view of the decision of Judge Manning that screens in saloons need not be taken down Sundays unless a resolution is passed by the Board of Excise Commissioners ordering them down, Chief Murphy may request the board to aid the police in enforcing the Sunday law by ordering the screens removed.

AMUSEMENTS.

There can be no mistaking the quality of A. H. Woods' "Chinatown Charlie" as a melodramatic sensation, and therefore it is not at all surprising to note the uncommon interest being manifested in the coming of this spectacular theatrical enterprise to the New Plainfield theatre on July 28. In fact the splendid reports which have reached here regarding the character and substance of this highly successful play, as a thriller of gigantic force, as well as a stage entertainment of fine moral significance, is sufficient to arouse the keenest possible anticipation of a trial somewhat removed from the conventional. "Chinatown Charlie," A. H. Woods' latest offering, claims to give a more graphic account of New York's hidden life than is usually found in plays and besides aims at a great moral lesson in providing that "it is never too late to mend" especially the ways that are dark and dangerous.

EXODUS OF WHITES AS NEGROES ARRIVE.

Harlem Residents Declare They Will Go Elsewhere if African Colony Is Planted.

Indignation meetings were held yesterday and last night throughout the neighborhood of West 135th street, New York, where thirty-five white families are to be ejected today to make room for negro families.

Not only will the white families in Nos. 168 and 170 West 135th street obey the command of a negro real estate agent to vacate, but it was said last night that there would be a general exodus of whites from that locality.

Residents in adjacent streets believe that there is a defined plan on foot to plant a large negro colony there, and they say they will get out at once. Real estate men who own or have charge of new apartment houses in the vicinity say the influx of negroes will greatly diminish the value of property in that part of the city and that eventually all buildings will have to be rented to negroes or stand idle.

Philip Payton, a negro, who controls the houses in 135th street, declared that he was acting entirely within the law in driving the white out, as none of them held yearly leases. They received their notice to vacate on July 6 and have only until July 10 to make room for the negroes.

—St. Mary's T. A. B. Society will give a dance Thursday night, July 26, for the benefit of St. Mary's School.

Plainfield, N. J., July 11, 1906.

New Brunswick people say a storm passed over that city yesterday afternoon, but the "boss of Middlesex county" believes they are mistaken. Mr. Strong heard distant peals of thunder last night and he blames it all on that naughty Mr. Fordyce.

Assemblyman Perkins has possibly saved his own political skin, the Court of Errors and Appeals having declared his Assembly redistricting law unconstitutional. Instead of having his fight for renomination confined to this section where both he and his opponent, Judge Runyon, are best known, he will have to convince the majority of the voters in the whole county that he is a better man than Runyon for the place and that his ideals are superior to those of the Plainfield candidate. But can he do it?

BLAMES WIFE FOR TROUBLE.

She Refuses to Leave Another Man, Says Paterson Husband.

Paterson, July 11.—Thomas Cockroft, formerly of 40 West street, endeavored to commit suicide early yesterday by jumping into the Passaic River from the West street bridge. He might have been successful but for the prompt action of Patrolmen Connell, Keys and Smith and a farmer, whose name could not be learned. The rescue was an exciting affair, for it was dark, and the men who made the rescue had hard work finding the body.

Cockroft Monday night secured a room in Godwin street. He was surprised, he told the police, when his wife and another man secured a room next to his. He says that he went in and argued with his wife, that she refused to leave the other man, and that the stranger threatened to kill Cockcroft if he did not get out. Cockcroft then went to Broadway and River streets, where he plunged into the river.

A farmer saw Cockroft jump into the water, and he informed Patrolman Connell. He secured the assistance of Patrolmen Keys and Smith, and the three policemen jumped into the river. They finally found Cockroft's body bobbing around the water. The water was pumped out of the would-be suicide and he was sent to the General Hospital. The police failed to find Cockroft's wife and the other man.

BABY CARRIAGE AFLOAT.

With the Baby in It—Caught by the Tide at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, July 11.—The rising tide yesterday afternoon picked up the perambulator in which lay Bettie Davis, eight months old, and began to carry carriage and baby out to sea.

The baby was asleep, and the nurse was talking to some others near by. An unusually high wave caught the carriage and carried it seaward. A bather met the wave and rescued the child, which was restored safely to the nurse, who promptly fainted.

STORM WRECKS TWO NEWARK BUILDINGS

CHINAMAN CAUGHT IN THE DEBRIS OF ONE—TREES UPROOTED BY THE WIND.

A fierce storm of wind and rain attended by electrical pranks struck Newark at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The tempest was driven from the east, and hit the city with great force. Trees were uprooted in all parts of the city. Foliage of all kinds was destroyed in a trice.

Two buildings, one at Fourth street and Bloomfield avenue, and the other, a new construction at No. 1 Washington avenue, were blown down. The former building was a one-story affair occupied by Charlie Yee, a Chinese laundryman, who was buried under the debris and was pulled bruised, frightened and almost unconscious. He was taken to the City Hospital.

A heavy plate-glass window in the store of Goldberg Bros., at the southeast corner of Broad and Market streets, was shattered by the blast. A large electrical sign on the building of the Lauler Piano Company, No. 657 Broad street, was torn from its fastenings and demolished.

Several guests at the Kensington Hotel, Mulberry and East Park streets, were injured by splinters of glass from a shattered plate window at the hotel entrance.

The storm passed away to the west in less than a half hour, leaving a trail of destruction in its wake.

Storm in Warren County.

Washington, July 11.—A severe hail storm swept across Warren county yesterday afternoon. It was about a mile wide, and its course is very marked for about nine miles. Hailstones as large as hickory nuts lay on the ground after the storm had passed so thick that it was almost one sheet of ice. Thousands of acres of onions and celery have been beaten to ribbons by the hail and many market gardeners have lost their entire season's work. Some of the orchards in the path of the storm were swept bare of fruit and the bark was cut from the trees by the ice.

Hail Ten Inches Deep.

Morristown, July 11.—Wind and hail wrought sad havoc in this vicinity yesterday. Corn and grain were beaten into the ground. About the residence of Robert T. Foote, on James street, the hail was ten inches deep on the lawn after the storm. Many trees and small buildings were blown down and fruit trees were stripped of their fruit.

Fell from "Shoot-the-Chute."

Playing on a home-made "Shoot-the-chute" in a neighbor's yard, last evening, C. Edward Glaentzer, the seven-year-old son of Charles Glaentzer, of New street, fell to the ground and sustained a broken arm and several bad cuts on the face. He was carried to his home and the injured member was set by Dr. Currie.

ANTI-MACHINE MAN CHOSEN CHAIRMAN.

D. T. Howell Succeeds Fell as Chairman of Essex County Democratic Committee.

David T. Howell, of the Eighth Ward, Newark, has been elected chairman of the Essex County Democratic Committee to succeed Lawrence T. Fell, of Orange, who was appointed a member of the Essex County Board of Equalization of Taxes.

Howell is one of the most influential members of the Democratic League, formed after the last election to fight the party machine, and when Fell was elected county leader early this year Howell was his opponent. By the capitulation of the machine to the League through the election of Howell, Democrats believe that party harmony has been restored and that the party will go into the approaching campaign united.

COURT TAKES FLING AT THE STEPMOTHERS.

Aged Vice Chancellor Says He Never Knew One to Make a Good Mother.

In denying an application made by Frederick A. G. Schultze, of Rutherford, in the Court of Chancery at Newark, yesterday, for the custody of his fifteen-year-old daughter and nine-year-old son, Vice Chancellor Pitney volunteered his opinion of the motherly qualities of stepmothers and his views of the influences of Ocean Grove.

The parents of the children were divorced four years ago. The Court then awarded the custody of the children to the father. When Schultze remarried the Court gave the two children to his former wife. In his petition to have them restored to him Schultze said his present wife was kind and motherly. The boy and girl, he said, are now living at Ocean Grove with their mother.

"She could not keep them in a better place," interrupted the Vice Chancellor. "If there is one place in the State of New Jersey where the children would be brought up in a clean atmosphere, it is Ocean Grove. It is a religious community, and no liquor or anything like that is sold there, I believe."

eighty years old and has been decidthe two children privately, and then announced that he would decline to take them from their mother.

"In the case of the girl," he said, "I will make no order. She is fifteen years of age and if she wants to go with her father she can do so. She says she does not want to be under the control of her father's wife, and I certainly honor her for it. I never knew a stepmother who was a good mother. There may be such instances on record, but I know of none, and I have had some experience."

The Vice Chancellor is nearly eighty yearsr old and has been deciding cases growing out of family troubles many years.

After the case had been decided and the opposing parties were in the corridor, the present Mrs. Schultze tried to take hold of the boy. The lad's mother sprang forward and so did Schultze, his oldest son, who has taken sides with him, and several relatives of each of the parties. The encounter was exciting while it lasted, but the mother triumphed and took her son and daughter with her.

Police Chief Says Perkins Violates Auto Laws.

Hackensack, July 11.—Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, of Union county, a lawyer in Jersey City, leader of the Republican forces in the Legislature at the last session, now living in a country residence at Woodcliff, charged with being a violator of the new automobile law, came near being arrested by Chief of Police Dunn here yesterday afternoon.

"The law is no respecter of persons," said Chief Dunn to a reporter. "Assemblyman Perkins is an expert autoist and he should learn to obey laws as well as assist in making them. He is delinquent in three leading respects, according to the new law. He has no number painted on his headlights, his signs are not stationary and they are too near the ground. If I get a chance I will certainly arrest him."

Mr. and Mrs. Justin Almont, of Somerset street, left today for Skowhegen, Me., to spend the summer.

EMBRYONIC DENTISTS FILL TEETH FOR NOTHING.

Gives Opportunity For Practical Work in Taking State Examination.

Trenton, July 11.—For two days a standing invitation has been extended to members of the various State departments to have their teeth filled free of charge by the candidates in dentistry who have been taking the practical examinations conducted by the State Board in the Assembly chamber. Some of the forty candidates who presented themselves for examination had been deserted by their prospective patients at the last moment, and, in order to fill their places, a canvass was made of the State house to find persons having the prescribed kind of cavities in their teeth who were willing to have a gold filling inserted for demonstration purposes. The search was not unavailing, and several of the stenographers in the building accepted the invitation and sat patiently for hours while their teeth were attended to by the young dentists. The experiment of the State Board in conducting the examinations proved a marked success, and it was the unanimous opinion of the examiners that the plan was much preferable to the old system of requiring each candidate to demonstrate his practical fitness to perform dental work in a private laboratory. Besides enabling a close supervision of the work throughout every stage, the new method proved a decided saving in time and money to the candidates by enabling them to take the entire examinations at one time. The operations in the Assembly chamber, where the work of filling was performed, and in the ante-room, where each candidate was required to show his proficiency in soldering, were watched throughout Monday and yesterday with interest by a number of spectators. The results were so satisfactory that it is believed that when the next examinations are held there will be patients on hand to spare instead of its being necessary to go out in the highways and byways and gather them in. Of the forty candidates taking the examinations six were born in Russia. The complete list of applicants for licenses follows: G. J. Shapiro, Harry Wild, Joseph W. Chandler, Bernard Feldman, F. B. Schiener, Ralph Waldron, Henry Kaufman and Joseph Elin, of Newark; Walter F. L. Berry, of Orange; Edward C. Galbraith and Ray S. Stevens, of Plainfield; Isaac Pollock and W. B. Schuetz, of Jersey City; W. B. Van Riper, James W. McKeon, T. K. Hayward and W. B. Lutton, of Paterson; Carl Ferrell, Joseph H. Wagner and Rufus K. Morgan, of Elizabeth; E. H. Peplow and William Buchanan, of Trenton; Philip B. Sussman, of Bayonne; F. F. Haverstick, of Belmar; Charles Harper, Stewart B. Gleason and H. B. Zendel, of Passaic; A. L. Blaisdale, of Long Branch; W. R. Conrad, of Hackensack; Milton J. Waas, of Hammonton; V. L. D. Stultz, of Bridgeton; Oland Bradford and Peter Cosier, of Newport; W. H. T. Collins, of Philadelphia; E. B. Hutchinson, of Greenville, Va.; R. C. Wormley, of Washington, D. C.; I. L. McGee, of Worcester, Mass.; Morris Tepper and Harry C. Dehn, of New York.

Run of Hard Luck in Rahway.

Rahway, July 11.—Mrs. George Hawthorne's servant yesterday mysteriously disappeared, after throwing the ashes all over the kitchen floor, upsetting the parlor furniture and tearing up the parlor carpet. At the same time some pieces of jewelry also left. No clue has been obtained to her whereabouts. At about noon a young son, Roy, came home with a badly wounded arm, having fallen on a piece of glass, gouging out a large piece of flesh. Later the six-months-old baby went tumbling down the front stairs head first, receiving severe bruises.

GIANT DRYDOCK "DEWEY" AT THE PHILIPPINES.

Successfully Towed Half Way Around the World to Destination.

Washington, July 11.—Officials of the Navy Department are greatly pleased over the news received early yesterday from Manila of the safe arrival of the drydock Dewey at Olongapo, P. I. When it was first proposed that this immense steel structure be towed half way around the world many of the wise old sea dogs shook their heads and predicted that the expedition would meet with disaster. As it was, the trip was marked by several mishaps, but none of them was so serious as to damage the big craft. The tow lines were broken several times in the heavy weather encountered in the Atlantic Ocean and Mediterranean Sea, and on one occasion the dock was lost for part of a day. The towing machinery became wrenched, and part of it had to be replaced by new sections.

The expedition started from the plant of the Maryland Steel Company of Baltimore at Solomon's Island, in Chespeake Bay, on December 28 last. One hundred and ninety-six days were occupied in making the trip, or about six and one-half months. It had been estimated at the Navy Department that the dock would reach the Philippines in five months, and the trip would doubtless have been accomplished in this time had it not been for the stress of weather en route. Commander Hosley, who managed the towing expedition, is being warmly praised today for his achievement in getting the dock safely through to its destination.

The Dewey cost $1,124,000, is 500 feet in length, and is capable of docking the largest United States battleship in four hours. The cost of towing the drydock to the Philippines has not been made public. It cost upward of $25,000 in fees to go through the Suez Canal.

Rear-Admiral Train, commanding the fleet in Philippine waters, did not waste any cable tolls apprising the Navy Department of the arrival of the Dewey at Olongapo. His dispatch read simply: "Dewey arrived."

JERSEY CREAMERIES IN A "JUNGLE" STATE.

Some, Says State Health Board Secretary, Rival Packing House Conditions.

Trenton, July 11.—According to statements made today by Dr. Henry Mitchell, secretary of the State Board of Health, conditions in some of the creameries of New Jersey rival those discovered in the Chicago packing houses.

Dr. Mitchell is preparing to issue licenses to the creameries in the State under chapter 139 of the laws of 1906. There are about 200 creameries in New Jersey, but licenses will be issued only to those which are found to be complying strictly with the law. George W. McGuire, chief food inspector, has conducted an investigation of all the creameries, and thus far but sixty-six have been passed as entitled to licenses.

The new law relates to the cleanliness of the creamery buildings and all utensils used, provides how the milk must be handled, and directs that no portion of any creamery shall be used as a dwelling nor as a laundry or kitchen. No creamery can be conducted without a license from the State Board of Health. The penalty for violation of the law is $200.

Dr. Mitchell said today that the inspections made show that there is the most urgent need of improvement in the conditions as to cleanliness in many creameries. In many of them, he said, the milk is handled as "any old stuff," with no attempts being made to observe sanitary or healthful regulations. There is an entirely different class, Dr. Mitchell stated, that conduct their creameries properly, and these are doing what they can to aid the State board in the enforcement of the new law.

Until Chapter 139 was placed on the statute books the State board had no authority to proceed against creameries improperly conducted. Now, Mr. Mitchell says, the law will be rigidly enforced.

The Jersey creameries handle about 400,000 quarts of milk a day.

Dr. Mitchell states that the enforcement of the law will result in increasing the confidence in the New Jersey milk in New York, Philadelphia and other foreign markets.

CALLED THEODORE STRONG A "DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE."

Fordyce Attacks the Boss of Middlesex County at Colby Mass Meeting.

The "new idea" campaign in New Brunswick was opened last night at Columbia Hall, in that city, under the auspices of the Independent Republican League of Middlesex County, of which ex-Congressman George J. Corey, of Stelton, is president. Meetings were held there and at Perth Amboy at the same time, and the speakers appeared at both meetings, using automobiles for transportation.

The meeting was advertised by a brass band and was well attended. Few officials were in attendance, the audience being mostly workingmen. Ex-Assemblyman Fordyce, candidate for Senator, declared his platform was not that of any boss, but that he stood for the best interests of the people. He reiterated the charges he had made against ex-Senator Theodore Strong as "Boss of Middlesex," whom he referred to as "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and declared that Mr. Strong did not dare answer the questions asked him about his lobbying for certain corporation bills because Strong knew the charges were true.

Mr. Corey introduced Senator Colby as a man known throughout the United States as a fit companion to Roosevelt.

Senator Colby explained some of the alleged doings behind closed doors at the State House by the legislators for the interests of corporations and said he knew whereof he spoke, because he had been there. He explained the "new idea" in politics, and said the aim was to restore an absolute Republican government to the people.

Senator Colby was frequently applauded, and Mr. Fordyce, who lives in this county, received a demonstration of welcome.

An Interrupted Game of Poker.

Talking about America, here is a story I heard the other day. I can hardly believe it is true. I wouldn't only a citizen of the great United States told it to me.

John B. Bloggs and Silas K. Shuttle tre both canned goods packers in Chicago. They are firece rivals. They both happened to start off to "do Europe" at the same time. The other Sunday morning chance threw them into the same pew in a London church.

When the collection plate came round Bloggs took it in his hand, put in a $5 bill, held it under the nose of Shuttle, and said: "I'll raise you on anything you like to go."

Shuttle deposited a $10 bill.

Bloggs sat down, put the plate on his knee, and with a cheerful alacrity took out his wallet to find $15.

And they might have been at it still if the horrified church warden had not interfered.

Of course, if you don't understand the American national card game of "poker" you won't understand this story.—M. A. P.

Chicago Summer Resort.

The young man from the city, while taking his first stroll around the popular summer resort, had been inveighed into a large pavilion which was comfortably filled with men, women and children.

After listening a few moments to the remarks of one of the speakers on the platform he turned to the young woman whom he had traveled a long distance to see.

"You told me this was a vaudeville," he whispered. "It's more like a Chautauqua."

"Chautauqua is the word I was trying to think of," she answered demurely. "Did I say vaudeville." Chicago Tribune.

"Depot Dan."

"Tat old fellow dreadfully disappointed," remarked the sympathetic stranger at the village station.

"Yes," said the baggageman, "he missed the train."

"Oh, that was too bad. Where was he going?"

"Nowhere. He just missed seeing the train come in."—Detroit Free Press.

STORE CHAT IN SUMMER.

Random Jottings From a Shopper's Notebook.

A very attractive violet pattern, with a dimity to match for curtains, bureau-scarfs, etc., is among the most summery-looking and dainty of bedroom papers.

A new style tooth-brush holder for the bathroom fits over a tumbler, thus saving fastening to the wall, is of nickel and is priced at only 25 cents.

Most attractive are the Colonial candlesticks on view, with dull finished brass bases and tall Sheffield glass globes, hand chiseled in delicate conventional and floral designs. These may be had with electric fitments, also, but to so modernize them seems to take away all the glamour of the old Colonial days. A rather taller model along the same lines is adorned with the prisms, made familiar by the girandoles, so high in fashion's favor at present.

Brass desk fitments blend admirably with the dark oak of Arts and Crafts furniture and are very much used on the table desks so often seen in Craftsman living-rooms. A recent addition to these fitments is a perpetual calendar, with elaborate hammered brass frame and leaves of celluloid printed in black and red.

The price of a silk-covered eiderdown comfortable is perhaps prohibitive to many, so that an inviting one of silkoline, with a silk border, filled with wool and priced at $10, will make a pleasing substitute.

Suggestions for travelers fill the shops these going-away days. A yellow pigskin case that rolls up holds four nickel chain coat-holders, in convenient fashion for stowing in a trunk. An emergency case is also offered for the convenience of the summer sojourner. This contains about a dozen little necessities never to be found when needed, yet so often desired at odd times. Twine, a tube of paste or glue-gummed labels, baggage tags, clips, eyelets, etc., are among the various fitments of the case.

An upper compartment for cigars alone is the feature of one of the newest cellarettes, just offered for masculine convenience.

A little screen to protect the lamp is now the universal accompaniment of the fashionable copper or nickel coffee percolator. This stands on a tray to match, in case the guaranteed "dripless" spigot does drip.

A "rose" by any other name would smell as sweet." The "thread and thum" rugs, so much discussed in papers and magazines and talked about and advertised, is only another name for our old friend, the rag rug.

An out-of-the-ordinary rug, because it is to be had in few of the shops, is a so-called "prison" rug from India. These rugs come in red, tan and black and are durability personified.

HINTS TO THE HOUSEKEEPER.

The wise housewife will be on the qui vive for the midsummer sales of the delightfully cool bamboo furniture and grass rugs, which furnish up the piazza so comfortably and artistically.

A summer bedroom has an unfinished appearance without those exceedingly dainty scarfs of white dotted swiss with fluted edges for the bureau and chiffonier.

One way of solving the problem of how to keep one's bureau drawer in order is to make trays of various sizes that will not only keep things in their places, but that are pretty and attractive looking. Pasteboard boxes of any size may be used, and they should be covered with silk or cretonne or any other fancy material that may be on hand, with bits of ribbons for handles. A little care should be taken to have the trays fit the drawer as nearly as possible, so that no space is wasted, and it is easy, of course, to cut them to a uniform height. In cutting the material for the cover it should be just a seam larger all around than the boxes, so that it may be turned under. The boxes should be interlined with a layer of cotton batting.

HERE AT HOME.

Plainfield Citizens Gladly Testify and Confidently Recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

It is testimony like the following that has placed "the old Quaker Remedy" so far above competition. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Plainfield citizen:

Albert Naylor, music teacher, of 436 East Fifth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I was afflicted with a dull aching in the small of my back and sharp pains when stooping or lifting. I resorted to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills for same, as I had been told that they were a cure for such pain as I had been having. I think that I took only two boxes before the pains left me, and I was soon feeling first-class in every respect. I have often endorsed and recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to those suffering from backache as I was."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average baldheaded man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

"Destroy the cause—you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

TOLD GIRLS HOW TO PICK GOOD HUSBANDS.

Take a Man Who Has Been Good to His Mother, Rather Than a Rich Fellow.

Rev. J. F. Shaw, of New Brunswick, in his sermon on "The Wedding Ring", or "Choosing a Husband," gave considerable advice to young women the other evening at the First M. E. church on the marriage relation. He took the stand that too many marriages are made from the commercial standpoint, that the seriousness and religious intent of the relation is entirely overlooked. He held that, as the first marriage had its origin in heaven, all marriages are most sacred and they should be prayerfully considered.

He thought that considerable of the lack of morality in young people of today is because of the false view they take of marriage. Society looks upon marriage as a commercial undertaking. The greatest ambition of some mothers is to have their daughters marry wealth. He said that as a minister of the gospel he had had many mothers frankly express such a wish to him, that a girl's first concern is to see that the man she marries is rich. He thought that much of the immorality in the world could be traced to just that reason, to the degrading idea of putting dollars above virtue and social standing above religion.

Dr. Shaw thought that marriage was a much more serious thing for a girl than not being married. Thousands of women in the country have remained unmarried, to their credit and honor, he said, because of the great responsibilities resting upon them. They had rejected men who were not worthy of them.

He advised girls to marry a young man who had been good to his mother. He advised them to marry young men of religious character.

He said that he once asked a couple who had been married a long time and who had never quarrelled how they managed to get along so well. The man replied that when he went home ill-humored he would cock his hat a certain way, while when his wife went home ill-humored she would throw her shawl over her left shoulder. Then they would keep their silence, and as a result never quarrelled.

A KANSAS MAN'S FLINGS.

When a man plans a trip for his wife she immediately grows suspicious and refuses to go.

About six weeks after a horse has belonged to a woman it stops three times in going up a hill to give her a chance to admire the view.

The average girl thinks she would make an excellent wife if she had a chance to try it.

A woman's idea of good management is to have the dinner promptly on the table so that the men folks can "eat and run."

As a rule, a woman has to wear the wedding clothes her parents bought her for so many years it is a wonder her grandchildren don't find rice in her clothes.

The attention of the women who can't afford silver-backed hair brushes is called to the consoling fact that you can hammer nails and tacks with the wooden-backed ones.

When a married man tells a woman his troubles with his wife, it is time for her to run up a six-foot fence between them; getting on dangerous ground.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

TWO CHILDREN PREVENT A DISASTROUS WRECK

St. Paul Boy and Girl Discover Missing Rail and Former Flags Oncoming Train.

St. Paul.—As the Wisconsin Central flyer, passenger train No. 3, bound from Chicago to St. Paul, neared the Edgerton street crossing the other morning, running at 40 miles an hour, the engineer saw a little figure on the track a few rods ahead of the oncoming train. It at first appeared to be an animated red rag, but as the train drew nearer developed into a small boy with a maroon flag which he waved frantically.

With grinding brakes and the hiss of escaping steam the engine came to a stop, and in another second the engineer was making his way toward the youngster who was standing motionless on the track a few yards away.

"What's the matter, sonny?" he asked. "Got a washout on the line."

"No, sir," piped the boy as soon as he could regain his breath. "but there is a rail gone out of the track at the Edgerton street crossing. Me and my sister saw it, so we thought we would flag the train. She went down the track the other way."

As the youthful hero modestly concluded his story the conductor and several of the passengers hurried forward.

"This kid saved us from a nasty mix-up and perhaps something worse," was the engineer's explanation.

For the next ten minutes the boy was kept busy telling how he first noticed the defective rail and then how he had stopped the train. Nothing was too good for the young man, and the news agent's store of fruits and candies was transferred almost in a body to the hero.

"The men in the yards told me there would be no train coming from St. Paul till one had come the other way," she explained to her brother, "so I came back to help you; but I guess you don't need me now," she added regretfully.

While the section men were repairing the track the girl related the whole story to the trainmen and passengers.

"My name is Lucy Ambrosini," she began. "My brother's name is Johnny, and we live on Edgerton street. We were walking along the crossing this morning when we saw that a rail was out. Johnny said we ought to flag the train, so I ran home and got two flags that my brother got when he went to school. Johnny took one and went one way, while I walked down the track with the other.

"I am 14 years old," she replied to a question put by the conductor, "and my brother is 13."

ATTACKED BY A WILD CAT.

Commercial Traveler Has Lively Encounter with Animal in Pennsylvania.

Dunkirk, N. J.—Harvey J. Jackson, representing a New York wholesale clothing house, reached Dunkirk en route home, and during a short stop here told of a thrilling encounter which he had with a wildcat.

Mr. Jackson had been covering Irvineton, Pa., and that evening, having missed his train to Youngstown, a few miles away, started to drive to that village.

On the way he stopped a moment to cut some plug tobacco for his pipe, and as he was doing so became aware of an animal in the branches of a tree at the roadside. Mr. Jackson reached for his whip and struck at the beast.

Like a flash the wildcat hurled itself into the buggy, and began to claw the driver's legs. Luckily, Mr. Jackson still had his long-bladed knife in his hands, and a few slashes killed the cat, but not until the victim had been severely scratched and bitten.

Mr. Jackson had the beast skinned and intends to have the skin mounted. It measures more than three and one-half feet from tip to tip.

Girl Seizes Rabid Dog.

Cleveland, O.—After grappling with a dog supposed to be suffering with rabies Miss Louise Wetherholt, 17 years old, held down the animal while Patrolman Mears shot it. The dog was the property of Mrs. Emma Bonner, with whom Miss Wetherholt lives. The animal had shown symptoms of hydrophobia and was locked in the cellar. Patrolman Mears was called in and requested to shoot the dog. Miss Wetherholt opened the cellar door and the enraged animal, frothing at the mouth, leaped out and attacked her. To prevent the dog from biting her she bravely seized it around the neck and held it until the patrolman sent a bullet through its head.

AMBULANCE DOGS.

This Government to Use Canines in the Hospital Service of the Army.

San Francisco.—With a gallant record in the Red Cross service of the kaiser's army, "Fritz," a pretty black-and-white setter, has come to the United States to teach American dogs a new usefulness. "Fritz" was imported by Col. J. W. Hardie recently at the Presidio under waiting orders. Col. Hardie, with "Fritz" as a demonstration, hopes to awaken the medical department of Uncle Sam's army to the fact that it is several years behind the European armies in seeking the value of trained dogs for seeking out and carrying "first aid" to the wounded on the battle field. Col. Hardie will take the matter up with Lieut. Charles

HOSPITAL DOG EQUIPPED FOR SERVICE.
(Regular Feature of European Armies to Be Introduced in United States Army.)

Norton Barney, of the medical department of the United States army, who is already much interested in the subject.

In the armies of Italy, France, Germany and England the ambulance dog has long been an official worker, and Italy has even provided a pension for ambulance dogs. The dogs are trained to understand military orders, and claim one order as distinctly their own. At the command "Seek wounded" the four-footed helpers are off over the battlefield to nose out those who have fallen. Attached to their collars or in pockets inside their Red Cross blankets they carry a packet of stimulant and bandages, and if the wounded can help himself this "first aid" gives him strength and fortifies him until the dog, by climbing a near-by bank or eminence and barking sharply, attracts the attention of a field surgeon or nurse. Every dog is taught to regard a prostrate man as wounded, and the intelligent animals lose no time in calling for help.

The German army has an especially fine lot of kennels, and the medical department takes great pride in its trained dogs.

The scenting powers of the ambulance dog supply a means of seeking out the wounded for which human shrewdness has no susbtitute. Many times the human searchers will pass within a few feet of an unconscious soldier hidden in a trench or brush, or fail to catch the faint cry of a badly wounded man.

A NEW NATIONAL PARK.

Revival of Movement for Setting Apart 2,000,000 Acres for Play Ground in Appalachians.

Washington.—There is reviving a movement to have the government establish a huge Appalachian forest reserve or national park to take in the most picturesque mountain section where Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina converge. About 2,000,000 acres of the most nearly virgin land east of the Mississippi river is involved.

The idea got into congress in 1902, and a bill passed the senate to appropriate $10,000,000 and was favorably reported by the house committee on agriculture. An association was formed of which Rutherford P. Hayes, a son of the late president, was the head. It has been revived by persons who have just met at Asheville, N. C.

MAP OF PROPOSED NEW NATIONAL PARK.
(Shaded Portion of Map Shows Location of Preserve in the Appalachian Mountain Range.)

Whether $10,000,000 now would buy the tract is very doubtful. However, a great deal of that land can be bought for the money if it is appropriated. The idea is to give the perhaps 60,000,000 people who are within 48 hours' ride of the region a permanent playground and nature spot, such as the Yellowstone National park is to the west. The highest mountains and most ravishing scenery east of the Rockies is included in the heart of the great watershed, from which so many rivers flow.

It is largely for the purpose of saving these rivers that the project is urged. Commercialism is making terrible inroads upon the country, leveling its almost primeval timber, and scarring the mountain sides so that the surface soil is being swept away and floods and droughts alternately are the result.

The plan, which no doubt will be fought bitterly by the many great commercial interests that are boring into this retreat of the dryad and faun, does not involve dispossessing the small farmers who now inhabit the region, but is to limit them to cultivation of 200 acres each. The country is not very adaptable to agriculture. It is claimed that only about 50,000 people are settled in this country, mostly in villages.

DIAMOND DUST.

The game at Crescent Oval on Saturday will be worth going to see and will be of the same high class as the contest last week. Manager Daab wishing to give fandom the best obtainable has booked the Elizabeth Baseball Club, better known as the Invaders, to meet the Plainfield team, and this means that the locals will have to play their best from start to finish to win. There will be many favorites on the visiting team, including Linderman, the star pitcher; "Dave" Driscoll, the popular first baseman; "Happy" Pete Kiernan, who formerly played short for Plainfield; also Curley, who played the same position on the local team; "Kid" Brogan, who played second base for Manager Daab, and Shuman, another star player, and Barry, formerly of Westfield. "Dave" Driscoll is captain of the team and he feels confident that he will be able to score a victory against his old team mates. This will be the first visit of Driscoll, Kiernan, Brogan, Curley and Linderman here since they played on the Plainfield team and they will undoubtedly attract a large crowd. Linderman is pitching great ball these days and he will be opposed by "Phil" Smith, who is also putting up a fine game.

There will be no counter-attraction to the baseball game at Crescent Oval on Saturday and there should be a record-breaking crowd. The increased attendance last Saturday shows that the fans want good baseball. Let the good work continue.

Captain Driscoll has lost none of his good playing qualities and it will be like old times to see him in the game. "Dave" always did play a good game and put forth every effort to win.

"Happy" Pete Kiernan, the lucky hitter, who was believed to be out of the game for good, is back on the diamond again and they say he is in his old-time form. "Happy" was always popular here and he will surely get the glad hand on Saturday.

Another favorite is "Kid" Brogan, who plays the game all the time and can hit the ball some, too.

Manager Daab has a very strong list of attractions booked for the coming weeks, including the Philadelphia Quaker Giants, the Philadelphia Giants, the Roeblings, of Trenton, and teams of like strength. It may be possible to get the Cuban X Giants back for a return game. They certainly would draw a bigger crowd than last Saturday.

When it is considered that there were three rainy Saturdays, three weeks of the carnival, one Saturday for the horse show and another for the steeplechase, the Plainfield Baseball Association has been hit pretty hard. During the remainder of the season the support should be liberal and of the paying kind.

There were a number of fans at last Saturday's game for the first time this year, it having been impossible for them to get off on previous Saturdays. Now that the half-holliday is generally in force such people can attend.

JOE WALCOTT KEEPS THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Boston, July 11.—Joe Walcott, of Boston, retained the welter-weight championship of the world by knocking out Jack Dougherty, of Milwaukee, in the eighth round at the Lincoln Athletic Club in Chelsea last night.

Walcott's famous punch, a left-hand swing to the jaw, defeated Dougherty.

It is estimated that more than two thousand spectators saw the contest. Until the final round of the bout Dougherty appeared to have outpointed the negro, although Walcott did not show many marks of punishment. The contest was one of the fiercest ever seen at the Lincoln Athletic Club.

Although Walcott was the favorite Dougherty's gameness called for cheers from the crowd. In the first round Walcott sent Dougherty to the mat twice. In the second round the Milwaukee fighter came up strong and evened matters up. Throughout the first and second rounds Dougherty tried repeatedly for Walcott's head and face, while Walcott used body blows to advantage.

In the third round Dougherty changed his tactics and stalled, sending rights and lefts to Walcott's stomach. Dougherty had the advantage in the third and fourth rounds.

The men exchanged punches in the fifth. At the close of the round Dougherty landed a terrific jab on Walcott's stomach, whirling the negro almost off his feet. Walcott appeared tired when the bell rang.

Walcott came up strong in the sixth and fought savagely. Dougherty showed up well in the seventh and showered rights and lefts on Walcott's stomach. Walcott was tired before the round ended and hung off.

When the eighth round opened Dougherty started in with a rush, playing for Walcott's stomach. Before the round was ended Walcott began to swing wildly. One of his swings, a left-hander, caught Dougherty on the jaw and the Milwaukee boy fell on his face. He tried to rise, and got to his knees before the count was up, but he could get no further and Walcott was declared the winner. Dougherty had to be picked up and carried to his corner.

ACCOUNTANT WINS REALIZATION STAKES.

Earns $17,850 by Finishing a Neck Ahead of Entree at Sheepshead Bay.

In a long, driving finish; with the whips playing tattoo on his ribs, Accountant beat Entree a neck for the rich Lawrence Realization Stakes at the Sheepshead Bay track yesterday. A length away, Bull's Eye finished third. The winner's share of the stakes was $17,850.

It was a desperate race between the two first horses all through the stretch. And though Accountant won he failed to gain distinction as a race horse. This, because Entree, the colt he defeated, is a $4,000 selling plater, while he has been regarded as a colt of class, a stake performer.

Although it was a poor race from a turfman's point of view, it was nevertheless a spectacular struggle. Accountant, while he failed to display high class certainty showed plenty of courage, and it was this that won him the race.

If Bull's Eye had raced straight and true he would have finished first instead of third. On all the turns he ran wide in spite of Miller's efforts to keep him in close to his field. He had an outside position and ran around his field every foot of the mile and five furlongs. Three times Miller hit him over the head when the colt showed a disposition to bolt. He showed by his actions that he was in no mood to race, and without trying to do his best, finished third.

Jim Brady was highly elated with Accountant's success. He bet $5,000 to win $12,000 on his colt, and this money, combined with what the stake was worth and previous winnings, more than made up the $40,000 which "Diamond Jim" paid out to W. Harry Brown for Accountant less than a month ago.

"RED" WALLER OUT.

Twirler Released by Manager of Elizabeth Stars.

"Red" Waller, at one time the idol of fandom at Westfield, has been released by Manager Frank Burke, of the Elizabethport Stars, and his destination is unknown. "Red" started in this year to pitch his usual good game, but during the past few weeks he seems to have lost all his old-time ability to fool batsmen and Manager Burke decided that he was not even strong enough for his Sunday games.

Early in the year Waller patched up his differences with Bridgeport, and returned to the Connecticut League. Latre he left Bridgeport and began pitching for the Long Branch team and other aggregations. It is the opinion that he has been overworking himself and thereby lost his effectiveness. Manager Burke has since signed "Flick" Luyster, of the Hartford team, to pitch for him on Sundays.

Cedar Brook to Be Represented.

The Cedar Brook Tennis Club, of East Seventh street, will be represented in the men's doubles tournament at the Westfield club this week by a team composed of Paul Collier and Vincent B. Miner. Play will begin Saturday and matches in the various rounds will be played at Westfield every Saturday. Collier and Winer have been playing together a good deal and are playing a strong, steady game.

To Stop Speeding.

Atlantic City, July 11.—With a neat little booklet containing the gist of the State automobile laws, safely tucked away in his pocket, each Atlantic City patrolman whose beat is on a main thoroughfare will start out next week to apprende those reckless chauffeurs who, even in the crowded portions of resort highways, show little or no regard for State, county or city speed laws. Heretofore dare-devil drivers have felt immune from molestation if their speed on Atlantic City streets did not exceed a mile-a-minute drive, as no attempt had been made to enforce the regulations.

Ireland is about 35 years old, and makes a rather precarious living with his axe. He bears a striking resemblance to Abraham Lincoln, and is familiarly known by that sobriquet. Ireland and his wife are already planning for better things.

TO START NEW CHAPEL

Ground to Be Broken Next Week For Warren Congregation's Brick Edifice.

GIFT OF AN ORGAN

Woman Friend Donates the Instrument—Funds at Hand for Construction of Building.

Ground will be broken next week for the erection of the proposed new edifice for the congregation of Warren chapel. The site at Fairview and Watchung avenues was purchased sometime ago when preliminary plans weer made for the new church home, and today the church authorities completed all arrangements for the immediate erection of the building.

The new chapel will be constructed of brick and stucco and will be the handsomest edifice in North Plainfield. The plans were drawn by A. L. C. Marsh, the local architect, to the ideas furnished him by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, the pastor, and the other authorities of the church.

Announcement will be made tomorrow of the name of the builder, it being understood that the contract will be awarded today. The cost of the structure has not been stated as yet, but it is said that all necessary funds are now at hand. A report that there had been one or two liberal contributions to the building fund could not be verified today.

A fine pipe organ will be one of the interior features. The instrument is a gift of a Plainfield woman who is much interested in the chapel. It was her intention originally to give a stained glass window but finally she decided to donate the organ. The name of the donor is withheld for the present. It is said that the new building will be completed in time for the Christmas services.

FIREWORKS WITH CONCERTS ARE NOW THE SCHEME.

Band Master LaVere Willing to Introduce Fireworks With the Band Music.

If financial support can be secured, Bandmaster Ben LaVere has announced that it will be an easy matter for him to arrange for fireworks display in connection with the weekly concerts by the band. The concert tomorrow will include special vocal numbers by the soloists which have proved so popular to local music lovers, Billy Redmond and Eddie Weston. Redmond will sing two selections, "While the Mill Is Turning," and "Rohe Bird," and Weston is to sing two songs from "The Social Whirl," "In My Merry Oldsmobile," and "Bill Simmons."

In speaking of the financial outlook for concerts during the summer today, Bandmaster LaVere was very enthusiastic about the introduction of fireworks at the concerts. Two weeks from tomorrow night, an elaborate display of fireworks will be given in connection with the concert, and LaVere feels that if the public would support him financially, the introduction of fireworks at the concerts say every two weeks would add greatly to the concert.

The programme for tomorrow evening's concert follows: March, "The Van Guard," Heed; medley overture, "Morse's Melodies," Morse; intermezzo, "Feather Queen," Mabel McKinley; vocal solo, (a) "While the Old Mill Is Turning," Mills, (b) "Rohe Bird," Cobb, by William Redmond; selection from Faust, Gounod; characteristic piece, "Old Heidelberg," Mills; vocal solo, (a) "In My Merry Oldsmobile," Klein, (b) "Bill Simmons," Edwards, from "The Social Whirl," by Edward Weston; descriptive piece, "Storm Centre," Braham; "America."

The wedding took place at Wyndecliffe, the beautiful summer home of Mr. Boardman and united two notable families of social and political prominence.

FIRST EXCURSION OFF FOR THE SHORE

700 PLAINFIELDERS ON BAPTISTS' OUTING TO ASBURY PARK TODAY.

With the first of the season's excursions from this city to Asbury Park this morning, nearly 700 Plainfielders took advantage of the pleasant morning to make a trip to the shore. The outing was the annual excursion of the First Baptist Sunday-school and Faith chapel, and the section of fourteen cars was well filled with excursionists when the train pulled out of the North Avenue depot at shortly after 8 o'clock.

A new departure in the management of the excursion was having the train pull into the station early and wait, on the freight track, at the east end of the platform. This was to prevent a rush for seats which always resulted last season when the train pulled into the station. There was considerable confusion in the handling of baby carriages and lunch hampers, however, as the baggage car was on the front end of the train, and there was danger as the various excursionists walked along the tracks or railroad embankment to reach this car. Most of the excursionists expected that the train would back down into the station when the 7:55 left, but it did not, so that when the final call to board came, there were several parties who had to run for it. But one family was left behind, and these didn't arrive at the platform until after the train had gone.

The committee from the local church in charge of the outing was under the chairmanship of Harold Serrell, and consisted of Warren Randolph, U. B. Crane, F. S. Thompson, J. E. Church, S. P. Case and L. W. Randolph. The train was in charge of Conductor Frank Webster, of this city, and Engineer Will Dunham was in the cab. The excursionists were due to arrive at the shore at shortly after 10 o'clock, and on the return trip will leave Asbury Park at 6:40, arriving in this city at shortly after 9 o'clock.

MISS OVERTON QUIETLY WEDDED TO A PHYSICIAN.

Daughter of E. A. Overton Becomes Mrs. Alfred Jerome Brown.

At a quiet wedding at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Augustus Overton, of 91 Rockview avenue, Miss Grace Elting Overton became the wife of Dr. Alfred Jerome Brown, of Saranac Lake, N. Y., yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. John Sheridan Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. Both the bride and the groom were unattended.

The reception took place in the drawing room. The entire house was decorated with cut flowers and potted plants, the decorations being simple, but attractive. The bride was gowned in an embroidered robe, simply made, and carried a prayer book. None but the immediate friends and relatives of the two families was present at the ceremony, at the conclusion of which a collation was served at the house.

The couple took an afternoon train for Saranac Lake, N. Y., where they will be "at home" after July 21.

Jesse L. Swem.

Jesse L. Swem, aged thirty-seven years, a bookkeeper and accountant for the Standard Oil Company at its New York offices for over twenty years, died last night at 7 o'clock at his home, 205 Watchung avenue, the borough, from tuberculosis. Mr. Swem formerly lived in Brooklyn, but moved to Plainfield April 1 in the hope that the change would be beneficial. He also spent a short time in Denver, Col., but was unable to live in that climate. Mr. Swem is survived by a wife and one son, twelve years old. The funeral services will be held tomorrow night from the former home in Brooklyn.

More Complaints Received.

While the Plainfield Board of Assessors were in session in the Common Council rooms yesterday morning, about twenty property-owners appeared and complained about the assessments laid on their property. The kicks did not amount to much, the majority of cases being of a trivial matter. The assessors will continue in session this afternoon until 5 o'clock. This will be the only opportunity offered the property owners to meet the assessors and secure an adjustment of their rating.

Death of Infant Son.

Hugh Harris, the seven-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Harris, of West Third street, died yesterday morning. The funeral will be held this afternoon and Rev. L. R. Howard will be in charge. Interment will be in the Methodist cemetery.

ALL THE CELLS OCCUPIED

Borough Jail Turned Into an Alcoholic Ward For Sobering Revelers.

FOUR FIGHTING DRUNK

John Higgins Sentenced to Two Days Imprisonment—Martin Duffy Arrested On Warrant.

The borough court is holding a "full house" today, regular house party style, every one of the suites occupied. Locked up in the neat, wrought iron apartments, are a half dozen clubbed members, and the "S. R. O." sign is hanging out before the door. The police are not looking for any more prisoners, for there is no place to accommodate them.

A party of four merry-makers were brought to headquarters early this morning, after a pleasant social time near Tier's Pond. There was an argument at a bottle party on the shores of the lake, and the police interfered, so as to give the neighborhood a chance to sleep in peace. Dennis Carney, George Traynor, John Olesten and Louis Beck had a grill party at a local hotel, and went over by the Pond to finish up some of the refreshments there. The men had disagreements there, and the result was a general free fight. Marshals Dooley, Flack and Pope of the borough force went to the spot at about 1:30 this morning and gathered in the revellers, who were pretty much "all in" anyway.

Borough Marshal Dooley did a bit of detective work among the same bunch and landed Martin Duffey, of the borough, against whom was a warrant sworn out by William Jones, a neighbor. The two men haven't been real good friends for many moons and matters came to a climax Tuesday night over in the borough. The men met, near Lincoln place, and Duffy had words with Jones, finally landing him a heavy blow and running away. Jones swore out a warrant at once, and the cops have been keeping an eye open for Martin ever since. Well, Martin was over at the party near the pond. When he saw the uniformed officers coming up, he passed over to the Plainfield side of the line, where he supposed that the warrant wasn't good, and watched the proceedings. After the bunch had been captured, Dooley sauntered over and engaged in conversation with Duffy. He had the warrant for the man's arrest in his pocket, endorsed by the "this side of the brook" authorities. Duffy knew that there was a borough warrant out for him, but thought he was safe across the line. In the course of conversation, Duffy expressed a feeling of friendliness with Dooley, but said that he hoped to give a good deal of trouble to the borough cops before they caught him over there. Dooley showed him the warrant, covering the trans-line endorsement, and Duffy read it, believing himself to be safe. Then the cop simply displayed the local police O. K. for the arrest on this side of the line, and gathered in his prisoner. The case, which is assault and battery action, brought by William Jones, is to come up before Mayor Smalley tonight, and at the same time the four revellers will also receive sentence.

Borough jail was a regular alcoholic ward this morning, and the guests all had heads and hang-overs. The occupant of the sixth cell is John Higgins. He was brought up for trial before Mayor Smalley last night but was still loaded with "red eye" and couldn't say much in defense of himself. It take him a long while to sober up, and the Mayor thought it a good thing to keep him with the rest of the boys until he was able to go about steadily again. He will be a guest at the lockup until Saturday morning, by the express invitation of the Mayor, and may be able to navigate accurately by that time.

The guests are being entertained by Mine Host Joseph Flack, for Chief George Weiss is on a driving trip today, and Flack wears the official badge.

Interhaven Park Meeting.

Following the custom inaugurated this season an outdoor meeting will be held at Interhaven Park camp on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, a scholarly speaker having consented to address the assemblage. The addresses will be made by C. B. Fairchild, a scientist of some note. His subject will be "The Magnetic Influences of the Mind." There will be some special music and all who attend are assured of an intellectual treat. The Park can be reached by way of the Somerset street trolley line to Prospect avenue. The camp is but a short distance up the hill from the terminus of the trolley line.

OFFERED A CLUB HOUSE

Watchung Hunt Club Can Have Use of House on C.D. Freeman's Farm.

MAY NOT BUILD YET

Club Members May Have Place at Iselin and Defer Building Till Next Year.

Through an offer made by Charles D. Freeman, master of hounds of the Watchung Hunt Club, the local followers of the hounds will probably have their club house and kennels for this fall at Iselin, where a farm house owned by Mr. Freeman will be refitted as a club house for the Plainfied hunters. A hunt club dinner was held at the Casino last evening to discuss the question of building a club house and kennels, and a business meeting of the followers of the hounds was held at the conclusion of the banqueting, which was managed by Maze Edwards. An excellent dinner was served to the twenty-eight members who turned out to the affair.

When the question of building was brought up there was discussion regarding the purchase of land for the erection of a club house. Mr. Freeman offered to allow the club the use of a large farm building at Iselin for a club house during the coming year. Iselin is about six miles from this city, and the only drawback to an immediate acceptance of the offer was the distance. The members were very enthusiastic over Mr. Freeman's offer, and those present were highly in favor of accepting it. The hunt club had planned to buy property near this city and erect a club house, but this would necessitate a great expense, and Mr. Freeman's offer was considered an excellent opportunity for the club until another year, when the followers of the hounds will be better able financially to build a club house and kennels. A meeting of the entire club will be called within ten days, when a vote will be taken upon Mr. Freeman's proposition.

The club has increased in membership since there has been so much interest taken among local horsemen in riding to hounds, and there are now eighty members. During the fall season just concluded, the club has held two very successful steeple chase meets, attracting a large number of entries, which include the best horses in the Metropolitan district. It is planned to have several such meets, drag hunts and early morning rides with the hounds during the coming fall season.

RECEPTION TO BRIDE AND GROOM.

Given by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Meyer to Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Muir.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Muir, who were married on June 20, were tendered a reception, last night, by the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Meyer, of Scotch Plains. It was attended by 100 friends from this city, New York, Newark, Jersey City and other places and proved a most delightful affair. The lawn was brilliantly illuminated with Japanese lanterns and many of the guests enjoyed themselves out of doors while music was a feature in the house. The bride and groom were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Meyer and Mrs. Andrew Muir.

Mr. and Mrs. Muir are at present making their home on East Kinney street, Newark.

MASONIC FUNERAL.

Jerusalem Lodge Conducts Services Over Mr. Farrier's Remains.

Funeral services of the late William Farrier, who died Sunday, were held at his late home at New Market yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The ceremony, which was impressive in its simplicity, was in charge of the Rev. W. W. Casselberry, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Dunellen. At the request of the departed, the funeral was in charge of a delegation of members from Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M., of this city.

Twenty-five members of the lodge, of which Mr. Farrier was an old and respected member, attended the funeral in a body, with George T. Caskie, of this city, as master of ceremonies. There were many beautiful floral tributes, flowers and wreaths. An especially handsome ivy wreath was presented as a tribute from the lodgement. Rev. Mr. Casselberry rendered two hymns during the course of the services, at the conclusion of which the interment followed in the South Plainfield cemetery. The following lodgemen and friends of Mr. Farrier acted as pall-bearers: R. A. Meeker, W. W. Coriell, J. C. Wilson, Walter Elliott, James Touseau and C. E. Kelley.

SCORER SAYS PRESS WON

In First of Series of Contests, Courier's Team Bites the Dust.

A NOVEL EXHIBITION

Comic Reproduction of the National Game On Crescent Oval—Squire Nichol Had Glass Arm.

Laying aside the responsibilities of getting a newspaper put together, two teams representing The Daily Press and the Courier-News, played an alleged game of baseball on Crescent Oval, yesterday afternoon and evening. There have been better contests on the field but according to everyone of the twenty-three people who lingered through the nine spasmodic innings, the exhibition was well worth the car fare both ways. The score is given as 14 to 9 in favor of The Daily Press but the runs were tallied by the circulation manager of one of the papers whose propensity for juggling figures has been the one dark spot on his journalistic career, so there is room for argument.

Every baseball game has its features and the feature of this one was the number of its features. There were more pitchers produced than The Daily Press has had "scoops" in the past month and the players were juggling around oftener than the Constitutionalist changes its last page make-up. Chauncey Colthar started in the box for The Daily Press and held the honor until the seventh inning when the opposing batsmen "pied" his curves all over the stone—beg pardon, the lot. He was then replaced by "Riverside" Scott, who had originally been brought out to look after the bats, but who proved that he knew something about baseball because he has set up the National and local scores for three years.

"Squire" Nichol was the original Courier-News twirler but his reputation fell quicker than it takes "Bish" Hoffman to cover an assignment and "Seltzer" Waters was substituted. He stayed long enough to show that he had been deluding himself that he could handle the sphere and as no one else wanted the place, the Holy Cross Choir battery, Vail and Moran, were pressed into service. They did good work and succeeded in stopping the Press men from dropping the ball wherever they wanted it.

"Tom" Lynch, wha has spent nineteen years in seeing that each copy of the Daily Press gets a sufficient amount of ink, surprised the players and spectators by his remarkable base running and Chauncey Stout, the Courier-News circulation press agent, easily led in hauling down flies. "Jimmie" Kermode had several opportunities to distinguish himself in the field but he persisted in practicing the Lancashire clog and woke up too late several times. "Willie" Lambert, the author of the Courier-News' suburban serials and editor of the query column, was conspicious by his errors(something new for him) and modest Colonel A. Hacquer, of the Daily Press staff, was seen at his best when any shouting was to be done. He also caught two flies and made one assist.

When the game started, there were two umpires, Elmer D. Cutting and V. W. Nash, Jr., but both were quickly dropped. The former kept ringing in croquet and domino terms and had the players badly confused, while his confrere had to consult a rule book after every time his opinion was asked. T. Muir, who had promised to act as scorer, was unable to be present because he had just received a copy of "The Billboard," the theatrical weekly, and had not had time to read it.

Both sides are still talking of the remarkable knowledge of the game displayed by George Ballentyne, who asked to be put in the right garden to head off the dangerous grounders and high flies that frequently go that way. He proved a most valuable man and covered his end in the same keen-sighted manner that characterized his method of landing a fat advertising contract.

The gladiators are to meet four more times and the losers of the series are to furnish a diner for the crowd. The second clash will occur some time next week.

The complete line-up for the two sides was as follows:

Daily Press—Lynch, c.f; Jeffrey and Kermode, rf; Francisco, lf; Colthar, p. and 3b; Vail, c; VanHorn, 1b; Hacquer, 2b; Scott, 3b and p; Dresselt, 3b and ss.

Courier-News—Watens, c. p. 2b; Nichols, p. c. cf; Stout, lf; Dunn, ss; Morrison, rf; Lambert, cf; Koechlein, 1b; Sullivan, 2b and c; Banghart, 3b.

The quarterly meeting and banquet of the Plainfield Medical Society will be held at the Casino tonight. No paper will be presented at this meeting.

PLAINFIELD MILK O. K; MR. THURLOW VIGILANT

HEALTH BOARD OFFICER CLOSELY WATCHES THE LOCAL DAIRIES.

While people in other cities are complaining about the poor milk supply furnished, Plainfielders are congratulating themselves that no such condition exists here. During the past few weeks newspapers throughout the State as well as in New York have been discussing at great length the importance of having a better milk supply and they are urging health authorities to take some action.

Ever since the local Board of Health took full charge of the milk supply here and secured a proper sanitary code, Plainfield has had no trouble from the supply. Milkmen are now compelled to take out a license and Health Officer Leon Thurlow is always on the alert watching for any irregularities or violations of the code. Mr. Thurlow's report presented to the Board of Health on Tuesday, shows that during the past month he made seventy-three visits to dairies and examined twenty-five samples of milk. In making these examinations Mr. Thurlow is extremely particular and if the sample shows a greater number of bacteria than it should or more than the law allows, supply from that source is shut off after the proper warning is given. In speaking of this matter, Mr. Thurlow says that all of the local licensed dealers are now anxious to co-operate with the Board of Health in maintaining the high standard set for the milk supply. While making some examinations yesterday Mr. Thurlow discovered that one or two samples contained an unusually large number of bacteria and he will at once notify the sellers of that milk of the fact with the understanding that there must be an improvement.

A majority of the samples examined showed a small percentage of bacteria and this is encouraging not only to the Board of Health, but consumers of milk. There has been no outbreak of contagious disease resulting from milk since the Board of Health took charge of the supply and this is entirely due to the eternal vigilance of the board. There are records on file in the office giving the name of every retail dealer and every source of supply in and out of town. At this time of the year it is especially important that the milk supply be watched as it is likely to carry disease especially to children, if not produced under proper conditions.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE MEETING.

Committee Appointed to Draft Resolutions On Death of J. Smylie Tucker.

At a meeting of the Union County Republican Committee Tuesday evening James C. Calvert, James White and Henry H. Drake were appointed a committee to draft ssuitable resolutions on the death of J. Smylie Tucker. The resolutions will be presented to the family and printed in the newspapers.

Referring to Mr. Tucker, Mr. Calvert said he had been a hard worker in the committee in times past. County Chairman Frank H. Smith spoke in a similar vein.

The outing committee reported that arrangements were completed for the annual outing. The primary law committee had nothing to report in the way of a draft of instructions for guidance of the voters on primary day.

James C. Calvert outlined briefly the requirements of the new naturalization law and said that Judge Atwater would sit some night in the near future to naturalize men who are employed in some of the factories.

Junk Dealers' Horse Runs Away.

A horse belonging to Sachar Bros., the local junk dealers, took fright on West Fourth street this morning and streaked it for the city limits. At Plainfield avenue, a young man driving a carriage failed to get out of the way quick enough and his vehicle was struck, with the result that both hooked fast. The Sachar horse broke away and when last seen was fading in the distance with only a pair of shafts to hamper its movements. The obstructing carriage was bady damaged.

Supreme Lodge Dismisses Appeal of Plainfield Members of the Order.

ASSESSMENT SUSTAINED

Members Must Contribute to the Emergency Fund Although Illegal When Originated.

Members of the Ancient Order United Workmen in this city, especially, and throughout the State in general, will be interested in the report of the committee on appeals presented at the session of the Supreme Lodge, held in Montreal, Canada, last month, relative to the appeal of Harvey R. Thorn, recorder, and Theodore Mason, master workman, of Central Lodge, No. 48, from the action of the Grand Lodge, of New Jersey, in establishing what is known as an emergency fund.

At the fifteen annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey, held March 8-9, last, a resolution was adopted providing that in order to promote the general welfare of the order, assessments for the general fund of the Grand Lodge are to be levied on each and every member on the first day of each month and payable on the 28th day of each month, with the understanding that the payment, collection and remittance of the same is to be subject to the same laws, rules and regulations as assessments for the beneficiary fund.

From the action of the Grand Lodge declaring said resolution adopted, an appeal was taken to the Supreme Lodge, it being contended that there is no authority in said Grand Lodge for the creation of an emergency fund and that said resolution was legally adopted, inasmuch at it was not approved by a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting, and that notice of the proposed change was not given sixty days in advance as required by law, and that the proposed change was inequitable, unconstitutional and otherwise irregular.

The appeal committee, consisting of Sam S. Blitz, Duncan McCormack and S. M. Simmons, presented the following report at the session of the Supreme Lodge:

"Your committee having fully considered the resolution in question reports that although in its opinion this resolution, strictly construed, is of such a nature, as to be in effect an amendment to the constitution of the jurisdiction of New Jersey; and that to adopt it, requires two-thirds of the votes cast; and although the resolution provides for an emergency fund, for the creation of which there is no authority under either the laws of the Supreme Lodge or those of the jurisdiction of New Jersey, whether by direct assessment on the members of that jurdisdiction or otherwise, and although for these and other reasons your committee believes the action of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey to have been, under the laws of said Grand Lodge and the Supreme Lodge as they existed at the time this appeal was taken, irregular and of doubtful validity; nevertheless your committee is of the opinion that in view of the legislation enacted at this session of the Supreme Lodge, which in effect compels each of the Grand Lodge jurisdictions to become and be self-sustaining and to care for itself, Grand Lodges have implied, if not express authority, to raise revenue for its various funds by such means and in such matter, not contrary to its State laws, as its members may direct, the resolution so adopted by the Grand Lodge of New Jersey, should be declared regular, in reasonable conformity to the present laws of the Supreme Lodge and the laws of said Grand Lodge, and valid and recommends that said action of the Grand Lodge be approved and the appeal dismissed."

CHIEF DUNN YOU HAVE CERTAINLY MADE A MISTAKE.

Assemblyman Randolph Perkins Says He Has Complied With the Auto Law.

"Chief Dunn doesn't know what he is talking about," said Assemblyman Randolph Perkins yesterday morning. This remark was occasioned by a published statement credited to Chief of Police Dunn, of Hackensack, to the effect that Mr. Perkins was liable to arrest for failing to live up to the laws governing automobiles. Here is what Chief Dunn is reported as having said:

"The law is no respecter of persons. Assemblyman Perkins is an expert autoist and he should learn to obey laws as well as assist in making them. He is delinquent in three leading respects, according to the new law. He has no number painted on his headlights; his signs are not stationary and they are too near the ground. If I get a chance I will certainly arrest him."

"If Chief Dunn is correctly quoted, then he has made a grievous error," said Mr. Perkins. "I have complied with every law in the running of my machine. There are numbers on my headlight. My sign is stationary and they are not too close to the ground. The machine is down at the door of the Commercial Trust building now so you can see." It was as Mr. Perkins said.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Though robbed of every penny's worth of his stock in trade by four men, who visited his stand with a rig Monday night, Isaac Thieman, the restauranteur at the loop lunch counter, has stock up again and reopened for business. He was unable to keep shop Tuesday as it was necessary to lay in an entire new supply of stock. His loss was $275, in tobacco, cigars, candy, souvenirs and restaurant supplies. Anxious to find who the thieves were and, if possible to recover the stolen property, Thieman today notified the Plainfield police of the robbery and has offered a reward of $25 for the capture of the thieves. He believes that the robbery was committed by local persons. His loss was total, for he carried no insurance on the stock.

Work on the new car barns to be located in the west end of town, beyond the North avenue trolley loop, will be commenced early next month. Since the purchase of the land, it has been cleared and graded and all is ready for the work of excavation. The barns will be used for the storing of the big main line cars at night, and will save the necessity of the crews travelling to Elizabeth on the last trip. Dunellenites are pleased with the idea of the new building, for it is believed that it will boom the west end of town. It is probable that many of the conductors and motormen of the main line, who are now living in the vicinity of Elizabeth will make their homes at Dunellen so as to be near the barns.

The recent heavy blasting at Garretson & Gray's stone crusher have made the boroughites feel as though each day between noon and 5:30 o'clock were the Fourth of July. The men are blasting away an immense ledge of rock for the crushers and the concussions are loud and frequent during the afternoon. Yesterday a horse belonging to Charles Bunker became alarmed at the noise and broke the check rein by which it was tied. No one was in the carriage, but the horse ran about a block before it was captured. No damage was done to either the animal or rig.

Three-year-old Annis Kochan, the only child of Stephen and Mary Kochan, of North avenue, died yesterday of acute catarrhal pneumonia. The little one had only been ill three days. The Kochans have been residents of Dunellen but two weeks, having come to this country from Australia, where the child was born. The funeral was at the house this morning at 9:30 and the interment followed in St. Mary's cemetery, Plainfield.

The local nine will mix up with the strong semi-professional team from Raritan on the Dunellen grounds Saturday. The visitors have a 1,000 per cent. record for this season's games and will bring out a strong aggregation. The old standbys will be at the points for the locals and as the boys are playing well together and hitting the ball hard at the right time, it looks like a good game.

Charles T. Rogers, of New Market, has returned after spending a week as the guest of a friend at Bayonne. During his absence from town, he made several fishing and sailing trips about the harbor near where he was staying.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Johnston and Alberts will be the battery used by the local team Saturday afternoon in the game with the Clinton Avenues. This will make the third attempt this season the two teams have made to play, the other two games being prevented by rain.

Borough Collector Charles Sheelen will hold the annual delinquent tax sale Tuesday afternoon, July 24, at 1 o'clock, in the borough council rooms. The only offender this year is The Union County Realty Co.

The advance sale of tickets for the Gold Medal minstrels Tuesday night in Excelsior Hall assures the ball team of a crowded house and a neat sum for the ball team treasury.

Richard Robison, of New York, has been visiting his parents, Freeholder and Mrs. John Robison, of Forest avenue.

Mrs. Loftus Hollingsworth and children, of Scranton, Pa., have been visiting relatives and friends in town.

The second of the series of weekly band concerts will be held tomorrow night at Concert Park, Plainfield.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., meets tonight in the library rooms.

Vanderbilt Raymond, of Brooklyn, has been visiting friends in town.

WRECKED IN STORM ON LAKE HOPATCONG.

Two Men, a Woman and Four Children Narrowly Escape Losing Their Lives.

James B. Tuttle, a Jersey City contractor, left Lake Hopatcong yesterday afternoon with his family, cutting short what was intended to be a summer residence in camp.

Mr. Tuttle and his four children —Maud, eighteen; Agnes, sixteen; Clinton, fourteen, and Raymond, twelve, and Mr. and Mrs. George B. Tuttle, brother of James, went fishing Tuesday in a catboat. They cast anchor about a half mile off shore and spent a few hours fishing.

Under a rising wind the lake became rough and the party started for shore. About three hundred yards east of Henry Raymonds private bathing pavilion they lost control of the catboat and it capsized.

Mr. Tuttle and his brother, the only ones in the party who could swim, devoted all their energies to rescuing the women and children. Mrs. George Tuttle succeeded in clinging to the overturned boat, but the rough waves swept the craft with such force as to break the hold one after another of the children.

The anchor, which had fallen out, kept the boat from drifting ashore. Finally one of the men swam to shore with one of the girls, and with two young men roved to the rescue of the others. The children were taken to shore almost unconscious.

Mr. Tuttle said he would never risk another fishing trip on the lake.

HOLDS HER TONGUE IN JAIL.

Mrs. English James, seventy-nine years old, living on her little farm at Arcola, N. J., was committed yesterday to the Hackensack Jail by Judge D. D. Zabriskie at the instanct of Surrogate D. A. Pell because she refuses to probate her husband's will or tell where it is hidden. James died four years ago.

"His last words to me were 'never probate my will,' and I will obey his last wish if I die in jail for it," said the old lady. It is said that Henry James, a grandson, has claimed that his grandfather had promised to will the farm to him. Deputy Sheriff Blauvelt searched the James homestead from top to bottom, but the document could not be found.

Noosi was with a gang of men last Saturday and Sunday whom the authorities are trying to find and vaccinate.

Ate 14 Plates of Chowder.

The Bayonne Engine Company had a little supper at the firehouse yesterday. "That clam chowder is fine!" exclaimed Driver Gus Ray, smacking his lips and passing his plate for more. It took fourteen plates of chowder to extinguish Ray's desire for more. The firemen call him "Gus, the Chowder Party," now.

Miss Sarah Hopewell, of East Fifth street, is spending a two weeks' vacation at Flemington.

AMUSEMENTS.

The street scene in Chinatown as presented in A. H. Woods' melodramatic sensational surprise, "Chinatown Charlie," is said to eclipse in point of actual realism any similar attempt made to convey upon canvas anything like the real existence of things in New York's enticing locality. Especially are the light effects employed in order to sustain the midnight atmosphere, a marvel of skillful arrangement. It is in this scene that Charles Jackson, known as Chinatown Charlie, makes a good resolve and afterwards makes matters lively for the operator of an opium den where most of his hours had been previously spent. "Chinatown Charlie" is down for an engagement at the New Plainfield theatre on Saturday, July 28, and to have its scenic magnitude alone exhibited here will be a special privilege and yet the play affords a singularly entertaining story of vice and virtue and introduce so many novel features that our people are hardly prepared for so many good things in one night.

"NEW IDEA" MEN INVADE THE ENEMY'S COUNTRY.

Senator Colby and Mayor Fagan Address Big Meeting at Morristown.

Morristown, July 12.—As the first formal step in the war against machine rule in this county, Senator Everett Colby, of Essex county, Corporation Counsel George L. Record and Mayor Mark Fagan, of Jersey City, addressed a public meeting last night in Lyceum Hall under the auspices of the local Colby Club. Not since President Roosevelt spoke upon the same platform several years ago has such an enthusiastic meeting been held in the city. Men came from every part of the county.

There was an effort on the part of the machine leaders to chill the meeting by buttonholing people on their way to the hall and requesting them to stay away, but it did no good. Nothing has so frightened the Republican bosses. Morris is considered one of the strongest machine counties in the State. Its representatives in the last Legislature were severely criticised for their subserviency to party bosses.

Senator Colby called attention to his triumphant victory over the machine candidate in Essex county for State Senator. The methods of smothering bills in the interest of the people and the passage of measures favoring corporations were reviewed by Mr. Colby. Mr. Record and Mayor Fagan spoke along the same lines. The meeting was presided over by Frederick G. Burnham, one of the most influential Republicans in the county.

As proof that the movement here was not backed by disgruntled office seekers, Mr. Burnham's alliance and that of A. A. Vance, one of the organizers of the Republican party in the State, who for half a century was editor of the Morris Jerseyman, a staunch Republican paper, were cited by the speakers.

Another meeting was held in Chatham, a few miles from here, and addressed by the same speakers.

J. F. DRYDEN PLEASED

In His Next Annual Message Governor Will Suggest Amendment to Constitution.

The opinion of the Court of Errors declaring unconstitutional the Assembly districting act was no surprise, althought a disappointment to some of the "regular" Republicans, who were responsible for its introduction.

During the session it was known as an administration measure pure and simple, having the indorsement of Governor Stokes and States Treasurer Briggs, who, as chairman of the State Republican committee, had Randolph Perkins, leader of the majority, introduce the bill in the House.

Its appearance was long deferred for two reasons. First, the leaders wanted to known the attitude of the court as near as that could be ascertained in advance before the bill was introduced. Second, the Governor had announced and everybody else agreed that the district lines submitted by the various Republican organizations should be accepted lines in the bill, and that was agreeable everywhere except in Essex.

The delegation from this county would not stand for the county committee lines, and finally the State organization, backed by the Governor, accepted the Colby lines for Essex, and the bill in that shape was introduced. When placed on final passage it was somewhat unexpectedly defeated in the Assembly. One week later it was resurrected, passed and went through the Senate and was duly approved by the Governor.

The rest was plain sailing. Just as the sponsors had predicted, the constitutionality of the act was raised before Supreme Court Justice Reed, the sole survivor of the branch court which declared the district plan void thirteen years ago. As predicted, the Court of Errors gave it precedence over other cases, and the argument began two weeks ago. The first day the promoters of the plan realized that something had gone awry.

Questions propounded by Chief Justice Gummere, Chancellor Magie and Justices Pitney, Swayze and Garrison led to the belief that these jurists did not look with favor upon the act.

Governor Stokes returned to Sea Girt from Millville shortly after noon yesterday, and when seen by a reporter and asked for his views on the decision of the Court of Errors and Appeals, he dictated a statement in which he took occasion to condemn the boss system in counties, and stated that he is just as firm a believer as ever in the districting scheme, and that the next recourse would be to a constitutional amendment. He added that in all probability he would recommend the next Legislature that that body submit the matter to the people.

The Governor's statement is as follows:

"I shall not discuss the legal aspect of the question of Assembly districts. Any comment thereon, on my part, would be highly improper. The highest court in the State has decided the question from a constitutional point of view, and their decision is law and should be unquestionably respected by every loyal Jerseyman.

"I have not, however, changed my opinion as to the merits of the system itself. The Assembly district system is representative in character and accords with the principles of our government. It secures more independence of thought and action in the Legislature than does the county system.

"Each Assemblyman then represents a constituency to whom he is alone responsible and can act without the influence of the overshadowing control of a county organization. So long as the county system prevails the delegation from the counties, especially of the larger counties, will always be controlled by some strong and dominating personality. Call him boss, leader or whatever you will, all bosses 'look alike to me.'

"Under the county system the Assemblymen might all come from one ward or from one section of the county and leave the rest of the county unrepresented. Under it the members are necessarily nominated by a large convention and by delegates with whose constituency they are not necessarily in close touch and contact.

"Such delegations in the Legislature receive their nomination at the hands of the county powers, whoever they may be, and naturally feel responsible to them for their legislative action. In my opinion this is a very serious defect in representative government, since it conducts to centralization of power in the hands of the few rather than its distribution among Assembly units to the promotion of independence of thought and action among the legislators.

"I recommended this system in my message and suggested that there were two ways in which it might be accomplished, one by constitutional amendment, which last year was impossible under our Constitution, which requires that no amendment to the Constitution can be submitted to the people except once every five years.

"The other possible way was to pass an act creating Assembly districts for the purpose of bringing it before the Court of Errors and Appeals for final review. This is necessary in view of the previous decision of the Supreme Court declaring a similar act unconstitutional.

"In my message I clearly set forth that the object of this act was to get an ultimate decision on the question, and that was well known in advance by the people of the State and thoroughly discussed. The decision of the court has settled the question so long as our Constitution remains as it is.

"I think that a very large majority of the county organizations throughout the State prefer the county system. Indeed, I personally know that to be the case, with but few exceptions. This is very natural, as it concentrates the power. To this I am strongly opposed as a policy of government, and, indeed, as a political policy, for I think the best governmental policy is the best political policy.

"I shall, in all probability, in my next annual message discuss the question, and recommend the submission to the people of an amendment to the Constitution, providing for an Assembly district system, with the proper constitutional safeguards against gerrymanded. Next year the constitutional time limitation will have so run that constitutional amendment can be considered by the Legislature."

CROSSED LOVE LED HER TO A CONVENT.

But Now the Skein Is Unsnarled Her Lover Is on His Way to Make Her His Bride.

Mrs. Catherine Daniseski, of No. 33 Broome street, Newark, complained yesterday to Police Capt. Vogel, of the Fourth Precinct, that her seventeen-year-old daughter, Frances, had been lured from home by Stanislaus Cymonsky, of No. 50 Beacon street. Vogel sent Detective-Sergeant Tuite to investigate. The following story was elicited:

Cymonsky and Miss Daniseski were engaged to be married, but the girl's parents opposed the match and had selected a young New Yorker for her husband. Miss Daniseski sought advice of the Catholic Sisters of St. Felicia, attached to St. Stanislau's Polish church, Belmont avenue. It happened that several of these sisters were about to go to Buffalo to a convent there and Miss Daniseski asked and got permission to accompany them. Cymonsky gave the girl $25 to pay her fare. They agreed that she should remain in the Buffalo convent until her parents relented or Cymonsky could go after her.

Through the friendly influences of Capt. Vogel and Detective-Sergeant Tuite, who espoused Cupid's cause, Mrs. Daniseski withdrew her opposition to Cymonsky, and the latter left for Buffalo with her consent to marry her daughter.

OIL FOR JERSEY ROADS.

To Preserve Them from the Effect of Heavy Auto Traffic.

Paterson, July 12.—The freeholders of this county are contemplating trating sections of the country roads with a preparation of crude oil to preserve them from the effect of the great traffic of automobiles. Unless it be the roads from New York to Philadelphia, no county roads in the State are more used by autoists than the roads in this county which lead to Greenwood Lake, Lake Hopatcon, Echo Lake and other inland New Jersey pleasure grounds.

The weight of the machines and the dust they create are continually laying bare the under dressing of the roads, making it compulsory on the freeholders to keep repair gangs out almost continually. The oil is said to act as a binder and will prevent the disintegration of the top dressing by the heavy tires of touring machines.

Miss Annie O. Marsh, of Madison avenue, returned yesterday after spending two weeks vacation at The New Princess Hotel, Atlantic City.

CONFLICT IN TAX AFFAIRS

State Board of Equrlization Divests State Board of Taxes of Its Powers.

THE NEW LAWS EFFECT

Union County Board For Equalization, However, Expects No Interference.

Quite a stir was created in taxing circles today by the announcement that a close reading of the act under which the State Boards of Taxes were created left them without any authority over the assessors in the several taxing districts and placed all authority in the hands of the State Board of Equalization.

Under section 4 of the act in question the county boards are to have the supervision and control of the assessors in their respective counties and provides that the assessors shall be governed by such rules as may from time to time be formulated by the county board. But the section goes on to say that "Before making any such rules, orders or directions, such county board shall submit the same to the Board of Equalization of Taxes of New Jersey for its approval, and no rule, order or direction shall be considered adopted by said county board until the same shall have been approved by the said board of equalization."

This, it was claimed, nullified the effects of the heart-to-heart talks the county board has been having with its assessors. A member of the Union County Board of Taxation claimed that while the section might seem to take the authority away from the county boards, it really affected them in no way. The county boards, he said, anticipated no interference by the State board.

Yesterday instructions were sent out from the State Board of Equalization to the effect that all books of assessors must be revised on August 7. It is said there will be scarcely any of these books ready by that time for revision by the board. The instructions throughout the State because there are several of the boards to be appointed yet. In this city some of the assessors will have a hard time to come up to the requirements of the law.

Throughout the county it is said there will be some rare fun when the day of reckoning comes and mistakes made by those assessors who have carried on their work in the old way are laid bare. One feature of the assessment of local property that will cause trouble that might have been avoided will be the jump in the assessments that will be necessary in some districts. Assessors in the past years, instead of raising the assessments as property increased in value, have gone on making their estimates from the books of the previous year. Had they made increases with the rise in values much trouble with property-owners and a great deal of dissatisfaction might have been avoided.

No one knows when the remaining boards will be appointed. Until they are the general meeting of all the county boards with the State Board of Equalization at Trenton will not take place.

Members of the Union county board feel that the only instructions that will be given by the State board at the meeting will be to impress upon the minds of the different county boards the fact that the law in all its provisions must be enforced to the letter without fear or favor.

LIGHT QUESTION STARTS FIGHT AT PUBLIC MEETING.

Warm Verbal Argument Enlivens Discussion By New Providence Residents.

New Providence, July 12.—The public meeting which the water and light committee had called in the borough hall Tuesday night for the purpose of considering the advisability of lighting the streets of the borough with electric lights turned out to be full of interest and excitement. Before it ended it turned into a discussion of the financial affairs of the borough and of school matters. The general sentiment of the meeting was in favor of the lights, but the same element that has opposed every improvement that has came into the place—the forming of the borough, the city water and all other municipal advantages—was strongly in evidence with the plea that the lights would cost money, and that taxes would be raised.

When it was shown that the borough had over $2,000 surplus and that the increase in valuation would overcome any increase in taxes that might possibly arise, the question was brought up as to whether or not all available money should be used to improve the school. There was a heated discussion on this subject, and the chairman of the committee, Councilman W. F. Brower, who occupied the chair and conducted the meeting, had to rap for order more than once, and not always successfully.

At the request of Mayor Crane, Mr. Brower explained the terms of the contract that would be arranged with the light company. The latter would furnish fifty lights of twenty-five candle-power at intervals of about 400 feet for a cost of $15 apiece and light the firehouse free, in addition to continuing the five lights that are now furnished free of charge.

Lyman Coddington, a former councilman and extensive property-holder, said he favored all improvements, and that he had been a factor in obtaining the city water. As the president of the Board of Education, he claimed that the surplus money could be used to much better advantage in the school, where room was cramped.

He said that the money could even be used to better advantage in sprinkling the dusty roads with oil. He said that if the people must have the lights, "why not have them in the populous parts of the town?" He said that Mr. Crane was in favor of having only a few lights in this manner.

Mayor Crane was then called upon by the chairman and said that he had once expressed the sentiment attributed to him by Mr. Coddington, but that he was now in favor of having the lights distributed according to the plans of the committee; that is to cover the entire borough.

At this point the leaders of the opposition left the hall and a number of others present advocated strongly the advisability of having the lights. Among the latter were Councilman W. T. Hickson, formerly of East Orange, and William Meyers, formerly of Bayonne. No definite action was taken.

FLIER HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Tree Blown Down by Storm Blocks a P. and R. Express.

Bound Brook, July 12.—The worst storm of the season passed over this section Tuesday afternoon and for half an hour the rain fell in torrents, flooding streets and cellars in the western part of town. The downpour was so great that the gutters on houses could not carry off the water as fast as it fell and streams poured from the sides of buildings. The rainfall was accompanied by high winds. The sky grew black as night and many thought a tornado was on the way and sought places of safety in the cellars of their homes. As the storm was at its height a Central road freight train standing at Bound Brook Junction had the roofs blown from four box cars in the train.

A short distance from that place on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad a large tree was blown down and fell across the tracks directly in front of a Blue Line flier. The storm was so severe that the engine driver of the express had reduced the speed of his train, and, seeing the obstruction lying across the track, brought the train to a standstill before any damage was done. A drag rope was attached to one end of the tree and the other end was fastened to the locomotive. In this way the tree was dragged into such a position as to clear the tracks. William Brofit, the engine driver of the express, said the downpour of rain was so great that he could scarcely see ten feet ahead of his engine and that was why he reduced speed.

MISS HELEN RYDER'S FAIR MADE $65 FOR THE CAMP.

Miss Curry's Home at Netherwood Aided by Local Young People.

As a result of a desire to financially aid the work being carried on by Miss Sara Curry at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, Miss Helen Ryder, of Central avenue, assisted by Miss Ethel Vail and a host of her girl friends, netted $65 by a fair and cake and candy sale held yesterday afternoon. The money will be immediately turned over to Miss Curry to be used to enable children from the tenement district in the neighborhood of the Little Missionary's Day Nursery in New York to enjoy a few weeks outing at the Netherwood Camp this summer.

The idea of the affair originated with Miss Ryder, and she was aided in carrying out the project by the hearty co-operation of her many friends in the neighborhood. The fair was held on the lawns of Mrs. Mary A. Winter's home on East Fifth street, and proved a great success. Fancy goods, ice cream, cake, candy and lemonade were sold at prettily decorated booths, and the lawns were decorated with American flags and Japanese lanterns strung between the trees. At the fancy table, articles made by the girls were sold by Miss Edith Lyons and Miss Amy Horner. Miss Gladys Edsall and Miss Marion Wean were in charge of the lemonade well and the Misses Helen George and Ruth Wean were at the candy table. Cake was sold at a booth presided over by Miss Adelia French, Miss Joan Gillies, and Miss Helen Vanderberg. The flower booth was in charge of Miss Helen Ryder and Miss Ethel Vail; Edward Ryder had the grab bag and Miss Ellen Dougherty was at the swing. In the serving of the refreshments, the Misses Emma Heidloff, Ethel Runyon, Lillian VanWinkle, Lois Dinman and Ruth Wahlig acted as waitresses. During the latter part of the afternoon and evening one of F. L. C. Martin's automobiles took parties for rides through Netherwood; the machine proved popular with the young people, and quite a little was netted in this way. H. C. Bell were the committee on decorations and photographs of the various booths were taken by Ellison Caldwell.

During the afternoon, Miss Sara Curry, accompanied by several of the mothers and twenty of the children from the camp, visited the fair. They were served with ice cream and cake. Miss Curry was very much pleased at the efforts the young people were making for the camp. The affair was made possible by the liberal donations of several of the local trades men, who supplied various articles which were sold at the booths.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning July 15.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—How can I be a true friend?—Prov. xvii, 17; xviii, 24; xxvii, 9, 17, 19; Eccl. iv, 9, 10.

Friendship is a subject upon which many have written. Some of the world's greatest essayists and philosophers have not looked upon friendship as a theme unworthy of their thought and have contributed their thoughts upon friendship to the world. Nor in so doing have they in the least lowered their dignity as great thinkers. Friendship is a very common sentiment, yet a very great and important one. It enters into practically every human life and affects it at every period from childhood to old age. It is a need of every life. "Two are better than one." It is a blessing to every life. The value of true friendship is inestimable. It is a great blessing to have one in whom we can absolutely trust, who knows us altogether, our weaknesses and our failings as well as our points of strength, and who in spite of all our limitations and imperfections is constant and unfailing, rejoicing in our successes, cheering us in discouragement, comforting us in trouble, strengthening us in weakness and not failing even in telling us our faults that we may guard against them. If every one had such a friend and if human friendships were never inconstant or betrayed, how many rough places in life would be made smooth and how many clouds would be lifted from the dark and dreary days of life!

Friendship in its strictest sense should be limited in its manifestations. The human heart and life can scarcely have more than one ideal friendship. Friendship means confidence, and he who takes many into his confidence and gives them a knowledge of his real self and life commits a serious folly. We may have many friends who esteem and respect us, but among them all there should be one above all others—"the friend who sticketh closer than a brother," the one to whom we intrust ourselves even more entirely than to one bound to us by the ties of blood. David and Jonathan had doubtless many friendly companions, but only their "two souls were knit together." The secrets of the soul are sacred and should not be revealed to every one who comes within the range of our acquaintanceship. To have one bosom friend, in whom we can put implicit trust, and but one, should be our aim, and in the selection of this one the greatest care should be exercised. Moreover this friend should be of our own sex. "Platonic love"—intimate friendships between men and women, which should not develop into love and matrimony—is next to impossible. Men and women are not made that way. What may seem at first to be but friendship almost eventually develops into the stronger sentiment, and if anything exists that makes that sentiment a wrong then such a friendship should not be entered into. A young woman especially can make no greater mistake than to give her confidential friendship to a man whom she cannot or should not marry. A man's confidential friend should be a man, and a woman's a woman. The attempt to reverse this order has in innumerable cases wrought ruin and disaster.

The only way to be a true friend is to be one. The elements of true friendship are commonly known—constancy, "a friend in need," faithfulness in sacredly guarding every confidence intrusted to us. No viler or more contemptible person exists than the one who betrays the confidences of friendship or deserts a friend in the hour of trouble. But, besides a human friend, we have the opportunity of a divine friendship. In Jesus Christ, the Son of God, we may find a friend upon condition of conformity to His divine will. "Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you." The best of earthly friends may fail us, but Christ will never fail. No one should be without the friendship of Christ or need be without it. Is He your friend?

A London Worker.

In Miss M. Jennie Street the great London (England) Christian Endeavor union found a model secretary. She is one of the most indefatigable workers in all England. She sometimes travels almost a thousand miles per week and has been able to address as many as thirty-two meetings during seven days. "I love my work," she says, "and find much joy in it and in the fellowship of my dear fellow workers." Miss Street is also the popular editor of the Band of Hope Review. She has written many Christian Endeavor articles, not a few of which have had large use in America.

MISS M. JENNIE STREET.

A Keystone Message.

Pennsylvania's new president, Rev. R. G. Bannon, D. D., of Williamsport, sends a cheerful greeting to all his fellow Endeavorers. "First of all," he says, "be true to your pledge, for in its keeping is bound up the secret of blessing and joy. Let us not carry with us the depressing memories of past mistakes and failures, but, knowing that a merciful God forgiveth the wrong, let us look up into His dear face and with a clearer faith, a stronger courage and a fonder hope live the days of this glad new year."

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.

Enjoy Using Herpicide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpicide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpicide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; in killing it, Herpicide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

July 15: "The Grace of Brotherly Love"—John xiii, 34; Rom. xii, 10; Heb. xiii, 1; John xvii, 21-23; I Thess. iv, 9, 10; I John iii, 14; I Pet. i, 22; John xiii, 35.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

The distinguishing mark of the real Christian is his regard for his fellow man. Since men appeared on earth they have congregated together in companies more or less numerous. Such association implies and imperatively demands some consideration for the well being of each other. Utter selfishness would prevent all community life. Where there is to be any sort of association it must be based on mutual assistance and interest of some kind and degree.

Often this bond of union has seemed scarcely higher in degree or more binding in force than the sexual instinct, the maternal impulse or gregarious attractiveness which rules among wild animals.

Such foundation is insufficient for human society, however well fitted for the world of beasts. Fraternity can be based alone on the qualities in man which make him a partaker of the divine nature. The impulse must not, cannot be a physical impulsion, but must be a self conscious ideal of life in companionship. It cannot be a mere intellectual conception of possible relations. That would be bare, cold, lifeless. It must have a motive impulse warm with heart blood, pulsating strong and passionate, the outgoing craving of the whole nature. The soul desires to impart itself and all its good to some one like minded and to receive in return the confidence, love and good of that other. This is in the very fiber of the human soul. It must be active. It must work out its ideal and impulse and is restless and discontent until it finds an object of affection which it can idealize and on which it can lavish its love.

This is the changeless base of human society. It is the reflex of the divine nature. It founds the family relation, but does not stop there. It is the bond of all tribal and clan affinities. It is the root of true patriotism, but—deeper, broader and higher than all these—it underlies the society of the church of Jesus Christ.

He who comes to consciousness of this fellowship, who realizes the grace of Christian love, awakens to a new world of being. The powers which used to hold him and which he sees still keep other men in servitude no longer have power over him.

The love of money sinks far below his horizon. He used to feel its power; now he cares for money only as it will serve to help lift men to a better life. He dreads no privation, feels no poverty, shrinks from no work, has no impulse to fraud, but works in order to give.

The sensual desires of the flesh cannot capture him. He lives in the atmosphere of pure love, and a perfect satisfaction of soul keeps the body in its lower place as servant.

He is bound with those who suffer, and, as able to help, he carries their burdens and cares.

He does nothing as task. It is not such. The heart is free, and he enjoys the helping of others because the heart feels for and with them.

He may be betrayed. He undoubtedly will be scorned, but the unshaken love of God abiding in the soul keeps him steadfast, immovable and always abounding in the work of the Lord.

Effect of Our Thoughts.

Every day we are becoming more like our thoughts. If they are mean and selfish, we cannot prevent ourselves from becoming so; if they are unclean and evil, our character and conduct will inevitably be shaped by them. It is true that, "as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

As Charles Kingsley says: "Think about yourself, about what you want, what you like, what respect people ought to pay you, and then to you nothing will be pure. You will spoil everything you touch; you will make sin and misery for yourself out of everything which God sends you; you will be as wretched as you choose on earth or in heaven either."

And, on the other hand, loving thoughts will produce loving acts, and a generous, kindly way of regarding others in our own minds will bring us to a generous, kindly treatment of them in daily life.—Robert E. Speer.

Christian Investment.

There is one form of Christian investment which can be made to yield sure and large dividends. There never was a time in the history of the world when a dollar could do more good or do it more quickly than today. Look at some of the diagrams that show how much is spent for chewing gum and gewgaws and then say whether or not it is an era of bountiful sowing. As has been well said, the missionary movement takes us by the throat like a highwayman and says, "Your money or your life!" This is a money esteeming age. Money represents us as no mere talk can ever do. What will you give? What will you give? What will you give? That is the question, fellow Christians, that is ever sounding in our ears.—H. A. Bridgman.

Moral Way of Growing.

When a boy wants to grow he cannot make himself taller by drawing a plan with a footrule and trying to stretch up to it. The way to grow is not to think about growing, but to seek the most advantageous conditions of life. And the moral way of growing is the same way—not to pay as much attention to details as to tone of the soul, to associate much and closely with Jesus, to breathe the pure air of prayer and eat the good food of the Bible and so by keeping in good condition get heartier spiritual vitality.—Nolan Hill Best.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

THE SUMMER COLORS.

Dyed lace will be used a great deal upon the summer dresses, and it supplies the tone so often needed. There can be a little blue lace used as an edging to a gown of blue batiste, the whole carried out in a very pale shade.

Skirts of washable dresses will be made in three ways, all of them familiar to the home dressmaker. There will be the plaited skirt, the fitted skirt and the circular skirt; and to these may be added the shirred skirt. These models have held good for two seasons, and yet there is nothing at all to replace them. They seem to cover the whole field and to supply every need that the fat woman can have, as well as all the necessities of the thinner sister.

The pretty shades for summer will be pink, which will be worn a great deal, and lobster, buff, shrimp, cocoa, biscuit, swansdown and lemon. A pure pink cloth suit, thin and made in the style of an Eton suit, will be appreciated all summer.

Brown is not supposed to wash well, yet there are shades of cocoa-brown that come out nicely. One very pretty brown is found in the batistes and also in the foulards, and it is likewise seen in the cotton challis. It is rather a soft shade of cocoa, the very color that goes well with pink, and it should be made up with pink frills and, if possible, with little touches of lace-dyed pink. Anything and everything for the preservation of what the dress artists call the harmonies.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

Only one woman in 100 insures her life.

Ellen Terry is passionately fond of cats.

Patti sleeps with a silk scarf about her neck.

Brides in Australia are pelted with rose leaves.

Sara Bernhardt has a huge bed fifteen feet long.

In Africa wives are sold for two packets of hairpins.

A woman's brain declines in weight after the age of 30.

New York has 27,000 women who support their husbands.

Hottentot women cut off a finger joint when they remarry.

Drunkenness is rare, smoking common, among Japanese women.

HAT PINS.

Aren't they beauties?
One chooses with care.
They match or contrast.
At any rate, they must harmonize.
Jet heads look well on black or white.
Pink pearls stand ready to skewer pink hats.
Crystal makes a lovely hatpin for many chapeaux.
Opals are charming with hydrangea color combinations.
Turquoise-topped pins are delightful in a blue and white hat.
While some more or less odd shapes are good style, the grotesque should be avoided.

POINTER FROM PARIS.

The scarf's the thing.
It drapes the shoulders.
The ends flutter beautifully.
It is mostly made of mousseline.
It is chosen to match the one-color costume.
It may be a few shades deeper or much paler.
With a white dress it is usually colored and matches the hat.
Chameleon mousseline in the delicate hydrangea shades was selected to wear with a white costume, the hat being trimmed with these flowers.

Restful.

Gasser—I noticed your friend Knox at my lecture last night.

Kandor—Yes, and he enjoyed himself immensely.

Gasser—Yes, I noticed he stayed until the end; he didn't get tired at all.

Kandor—No, he told me he was in a part of the hall he couldn't hear at all.

Surprised and Supriser.

Jack Huggard—Miss Boxley's father made a surprising statement to me last night.

Tom Ascum—What was that?

Jack Huggard—He sneaked into the parlor and said: "Ha! I caught you kissing my daughter."—Philadelphia Press.

Don't save your money and starve your mind.

Tens of thousands of people fail because they love their ease too much. They are not willing to put themselves out, to sacrifice comfort.

By proper training and depressing emotions can be practically eliminated from life, and the good emotions rendered permanently dominant.

A man may build a palace, but he can never make of it a home. The spirituality and love of a woman alone can accomplish this.

If we are contented to unfold the life within according to the pattern given us we shall reach the highest end of which we are capable.

"Keeping alive that spirit of youth," Stevenson used to say, was "the parennial spring of all the mental faculties."

Every time you crowd into the memory what you do not expect it to retain you weaken its powers and your authority to command its services.

No life amounts to much until it has a programme—something definite, something particular. Nothing else can take the place of it. Education cannot, talent cannot, genius cannot, hard work cannot. Until there is a definite aim, the energies will run to waste, the ability be squandered. The faculties deteriorate when working without a definite aim.

Business is not only a great civilizer of nations and of people, but also the greatest educator and developer of character in the world, for it is a perpetual school, a great life university, where we do not go to recite and hear lectures for three or four hours a day for a few years, but where we are constantly studying and practising, almost from the cradle to the grave.—Success Magazine.

EXAGGERATING HABIT.

Exageration is simply a dressy form of untruthfulness. Very often as much harm is done by exaggerating a fact as by actually telling an untruth.

It is all a matter of habit, and can be cured if one takes the trouble to try hard enough. The trouble is that with some people the cold fact never seems big enough. They must enlarge on it. Hundreds become thousands, inches become yards under this skillful manipulation. They feel that they cannot impress people unless they can make a big story.

In reality, people soon grow to place no reliance on the stories told by the exaggerator. They know that if he tells them he just saw a crowd of thousands of people, it was really only a crowd of a few hundreds. If he tells them he has met a perfectly beautiful girl, they know she is moderately pretty and so forth. His stories are of no value because they cannot be relied upon, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

Some people seem constitutionally unable to tell the truth. They lie on all occasions, even when they have nothing to gain by it. One reason for this is that they cannot bear to appear not to know everything. No matter what you tell them they will have had similar experiences.

They boast of knowing people whom they have never met. They tell marvelous tales of experiences they have never gone through. And they never seem to imagine that there is a limit to the credulity of their listeners.

The habit of telling petty untruths is a horrid one, and can't help but have its effect on character.

It grows by degrees. But it can be cured, and for the sake of a reputation of reliability and honesty, it is certainly worth while to stamp it out.

THE SUMMER BOARDER'S DECALOGUE.

1—Don't expect too much. Paradise never takes in summer boarders.

2—Don't encourage sudden friendships. Sudden friends make gradual enemies.

3—Don't attempt to take with you everything you would have at home.

4—Be a "moral monkey;" don't see, don't hear, and don't talk of the personal affairs of others.

5—Don't have elaborate cloths made especially for the summer outing.

6—Don't refer to the refinement or luxury of your own home.

7—Don't feel that because "nobody knows you" it doesn't matter what you do.

8—Take long walks and let your lungs expand—don't cramp them by leaning over your writing table.

9—If you can play or sing or help to entertain the other guests do so ungrudgingly.

10—Be punctual at meals, kindly and considerate toward those who serve you.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Five-Minute Naps.

Every housewife should cultivate the habit of five minute naps. After working hard a few hours a woman is apt to feel sleepy or "dragged out," and imagines that it is only that ordinary sin of the flesh—laziness. But if she gives in to the feeling and rests for a short time on a comfortable lounge she will feel wonderfully freshened and will do better and quicker work than if she had foregone her cat nap. A successful business man declares that he owes his long life and great youthfulness to "five minute naps," which he has always taken in his chair.

The Elizabeth Invaders will be in town Saturday to play the first county championship game and they will do their best to win. There is considerable talk among the fans throughout the county about this contest and it will undoubtedly lead to a series with the Elizabethport Stars, Summit and Chatham as well as Somerville. The players on these teams are all well-known and such contests would arouse the greatest rivalry and enthusiasm. Local fans have desired for a long time to see the Chathams and Summits play here and if it can be arranged big crowds would attend the games. Manager Burke, of the Stars, has had the idea that his aggregation is stronger than Plainfield, and Manager Daab is just as sure of the reverse order.

Persons who know say that the Roeblings, of Trenton, cannot defeat Plainfield under fair conditions. It has long been a familiar saying among outside teams that when they play the Trenton aggregation at home the Mercer county boys always get the best of the decision. The time that "Phil" Smith pitched a game there for a New York team, he declared that the distance between the home plate and pitcher's box was longer than it should be and this affected his work, not being used to it. Fandom hopes to see the Roeblings here before long and its a bag of peanuts to a cent that the locals will show their superiority.

There was plenty of genuine enthusiasm at Crescent Oval last Saturday, and the visit of the Invaders this week should help the good work along. Captain Driscoll will come to town prepared to win.

The departure of "Red" Waller from Elizabethport is regretted by the fans who attend the games. He was always popular, even if not as dependable as he ought to be.

Barry, the former star third baseman of the Westfield, will be seen at Crescent Oval Saturday with the Invaders. He is an aggressive player and puts lots of ginger into a game.

"Phil" Smith and "Jack" O'Neil form a battery that is hard to beat in this State. Their work here this season has been of the order to please the biggest "knocker."

Thus far this season Captain Leonard has made two errors, both of the excusable sort. "Mike" is as steady as clock work and when he makes a misplay every one is surprised.

The first base work of Henriques for the locals pleases the fans. He is in the game from start to finish and is always doing his utmost to win.

BERT BEERS WINS IN TENNIS AT ELIZABETH

PLAINFIELDER CAPTURES TROPHY IN CONSOLATION MATCH IN SINGLES.

By defeating W. O. Gennert, of the Danforth Tennis Club in the final round of plays in the consolation singles tournament in tennis played at the Elizabeth Town and Country Club yesterday afternoon, Albert D. Beers of the Country Club won the tournament and trophy—a handsome tobacco jar, carved to the shape of a skull, and suitably marked. In the semi-final round at Elizabeth yesterday, W. O. Gennert defeated Munroe H. Long, of the Park Club, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4, and Beers won from F. W. Goddard, of the Country Club, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-0. This brought Beers and Gennert together in the finals, which went to the Plainfielder, 6-2, 6-1, 8-6. The courses were in good condition, and the play for the most part fast, the last set being very hotly contested.

There were fifty entries in the tournament, which was begun immediately after the title tournament was concluded, when W. B. Cragin took the honors in the annual club match. Other Plainfielders entered in the consolation tournament were T. O. Gavett, of the Fanwood Club; E. M. Daniel, of the Park Club, and W. T. Glenney, of the Country Club. Match play was begun June 30 and there was also play on July 4.

With E. B. Cornwall, of Princeton, as his team mate, Beers will enter the club match to be begun at the Westfield Club Saturday afternoon.

Harry Cochran and Wylie Brown will be a team from the Country Club in the club match to be begun at the Westfield Club Saturday afternoon, and there are other local players entered, among whom are Paul Collier and Vincent B. Miner, of the Cedar Brook Tennis Club. First and runners-up prizes will be awarded and play will begin at 2:30 each Saturday until concluded. Fred G. Smith, of the Westfield Club, will act as referee in the match play.

MR. ABBOTT FAILS TO QUALIFY IN GOLF PLAY

INTERCOLLEGIATE CHAMPION ONE POINT SHY AT END OF SECOND ROUND.

To the disappointment of a large gallery of friends, who followed him around the course, Robert Abbott, of this city, intercollegiate golf championship, failed to qualify at the end of the thirty-six holes, qualifying round for the national amateur championship at the Englewood Golf Club. He was just one point shy, making a score of 170 for the two rounds and was in consequence dropped. There were thirty-two players who qualified for the first round match play today. Abbott made an 85 on each round of eighteen holes.

Dudley H. Barrows, of this city, a member of the Princeton 'Varsity team, did not do so well, his score for the thirty-six holes being 174, while Frank Talmadge, who was expected to make a low score, finished among the high men with a 193.

With a 75 returned yesterday, Walter Travis won the low score medal, a gold affair, greatly prized by ambitious golfers. The bunch crowded out at 170, who were long on the anxious seat, included D. E. Sawyer, of Chicago, last year's runner-up; F. Oden Horstman, of Philadelphia, A. L. White, of Boston, and Robert Abbott, the intercollegiate champion. Anderson, the New England collegiate champion, had better luck and qualified. It has been the best attended championship since the women's at the Country Club, Boston, in 1902. Over 1,000 persons watched the six play off the tie, the putting being on a green circled by on-lookers.

LOCAL TENNIS PLAYERS CHAMPIONS OF MERCER CO.

A. D. Beeers and E. B. Cornwall Winners of Tennis Title at Trenton Tournament Last Week.

Albert B. Beers, of the Country Club and E. B. Cornwall, of Princeton, won the Mercer County Championship in tennis last week at the match concluded at Trenton, by defeating C. L. Aitkin and E. L. Anderson, of the Country Club, in the final round, 6-3, 9-7, 6-4. In the semi-final round, the local team won from the runners-up in the recent East Jersey tennis championship tournament, W. B. Cragin and C. W. Pendergast, of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club, 6-8, 7-5, 6-3.

As title holders, Beers and Cornwall have received four-inch silver cups, gold lined, mounted on ebony stands and suitably engraved.

DAAB'S PLAYERS ONCE MORE ARE VANQUISHED.

Dover Team Puts It Over Hoboken to Time of 7 to 4.

The Hobokens journeyed to Dover yesterday and met defeat at the hands of the Lackawanna League team, by a score of 7 to 4. The defeat of Manager Daab's aggregation was largely due to the fact that it was credited with five errors and was a little weak with the stick. "Phil" Smith pitched for the Hobokens and was touched for nine hits, while Kelly, his opponent only allowed three safeties.

Hoboken took the lead early in the game, making one run in the second inning and one in the fourth, but in the latter half of the fourth, Dover tallied two runs, tieing the score. Then in the sixth Hoboken scored two more runs, while Dover scored one run in the same inning, making the score 4 to 3. Hoboken was blanked the rest of the game and Dover was held down until the eigth when a few hits coupled with misplays, allowed them to score four runs and win the contest by the score of 7 to 4. The score by innings:

Dover ...0 0 0 2 1 0 0 4 x	7	9	3
Hoboken, 0 1 0 1 0 2 0 0 0	4	3	5

Hamburg Belle Won.

Hamburg Belle is still the "Queen of the Turf." This peerless daughter of Hamburg defeated Whimsical and Flip Flap a head, in a driving finish, for the Brighton Mile at the little track by the sea yesterday. That she still retains the speed which made her famous for two years was proved by her running in the eight furlongs in 1.39.

BITUMINOUS STRIKE ENDS.

Coal Operators Secure a Great Victory for Independent Labor.

Philadelphia, July 12.—By an agreement which will be signed between the bituminous coal operators and the mine workers of the Central Pennsylvania district at Clearfield today there was not only brought to a close the strike which has been in existence in that region, but also there will be accomplished one of the greatest victories for the independent workingman in years.

The operators have succeeded in having inserted in the agreement a clause by which the United Mine Workers of America agree that employment of a non-union man shall not be a cause for grievance, and the right of the mine owners to employ or discharge whom they please is openly recognized. The operators will not longer have to collect the dues of miners in their employ who happen to be members of the union.

The miners, on the other hand, gain 5.85 per cent. increase in wages, but this rate was offered on April 1 when the strik estarted. A rough draft of the agreement was drawn up and agreed to at a meeting between representatives of the operators and miners held in this city on Tuesday night.

Col. Kuser's Hearing Today.

The hearing in the auto speed limit case of Colonel Anthony Kuser, son-in-law of Senator John F. Dryden, is to come before Justice Brampton at Bound Brook this afternoon. Former Senator Reed, of this city, represents Col. Kuser. The colonel was arrested Sunday, June 10, for an alleged violation of the speed law while passing along Union avenue, the county road through Bound Brook. He was with Senator Dryden and was on his way to the depot where the Senator was to take a train for Washington. The charges will be pressed by Mr. Inglesbee, a member of the New Jersey Automobile Association, who had distances measured off and constables posted to watch the auto speeding.

Say Glass Is Fed to Dogs.

Asbury Park, July 12.—Several residents in the vicinity of Bond street and First and Second avenues are indignant over the mysterious death of their dogs. It is alleged that cracked glass has been placed in meat thrown in such places that the dogs might easily obtain it. Wm. H. Rain, of 616 Second avenue, is the loser of an English Gordon setter, said to have been killed by eating meat which contained glass. Mrs. Sarah A. Dusenbury, First avenue and Bond street, is also minus a collie, valued at $200, which is declared to have been killed in the same manner.

Crazed Man Jamps Through Window

Newton, July 12.—Fred Barber, about twenty-four years old, became crazed last night and jumped through a window in the second floor of the home of his father, here last night. Barber had shown signs of suffering from delirium tremens earlier in the day and a physician had been called in. He was taken to his father's home, and became worse last night. Policeman Robert Price was called in and assisted in taking Barber to the jail where he was placed in a cell for safe keeping over night.

Somerville, July 12—John Lombard, forty years old, employed at the Hallig stone quarry at Chimney Rock, was instantly killed yesterday. He leaves a widow and six children.

Swear Drinks Were Served Sunday.

Paterson, July 12.—Detective-Sergeants Keppler and McInerney and Patrolman Drew appeared before Recorder Noonberg yesterday and swore to affidavits that will be presented to the Board of Aldermen in the case of "Dr." Reinhart Deutchen, proprietor of a boarding-house at 11 West street. It was at this place on Sunday that the policemen named, with Detective-Sergeant Lord and Patrolmen Holland and Vanderhoff, found Deutschen serving drinks with meals.

TO CLEAN HARD WOOD.

Especially If It Be Very, Very Soiled.

Spread paraffine oil on the soiled woodwork and let it stand for an hour or more to soften the dirt, then wash with soap and warm water and wipe dry.

Next rub on a mixture of paraffine oil and turpentine—one-third turpentine and two-thirds oil. Polish with soft old flannel. Let it rest an hour or two, then polish with soft old linen.

If the surface is very dull, dirty and scratched, instead of washing with soap and water, add more oil and sprinkle powdered rotten-stone over it. Rub gently and regularly, first with a circular motion and then with grain of the wood. When the surface is smooth and bright wipe off the rotten-stone and finish as you would after washing with soap and water.

ICE MEN DENY AGREEMENT IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE

Wholesale Dealers Frankly Answer Questions Put by Plainfield Protective Association Committee.

A POSSIBLE REDUCTION

Ice Men to Meet Tonight to Frame Statement to Be Presented at Another Conference With Plainfield Protective Ass'n. Comm.

That the Plainfield icemen are willing to do the fair thing appeared to be demonstrated at a conference between the wholesale dealers and a special committee of the Plainfield Protective Association last night. The meeting took place at the Casino and after a very friendly talk, the ice men agreed to hold a meeting tonight and see what if any concessions could be made to the public.

It was emphatically denied that there is any agreement, whatever, in restraint of trade and it was unequivocally asserted that the retailers are free to sell the commodity as they please. Members of the P. P. A. are reported to much gratified over the friendly spirit displayed by the ice men during the meeting.

Andrew Wilson and Peter McDonough representing the Natural Ice Company appeared at the meeting in response to a request for a conference. The committee present included R. Henry Depew, Henry L. Hall, F. H. Kinsman, F. T. Woodhull and A. C. White. At the outset the ice men stated that they were glad to have the opportunity of explaining their side of the case and would willingly answer any questions that might be asked.

In a general way, the ice men told of the difficulties they have encountered in their business; their reason for setting the price of ice at the present rate, and their relations with the retailers. They explained that their two largest customers were F. T. Ostrom and John Morton. Ostrom, it was explained, purchased his entire supply from the Natural Ice Company, which is the wholesale concern. There is no obligation on the part of the retailers, it was stated, to sell the commodity at any specific price, although they probably hit upon the current price as allowing them a fair profit on the business.

At the meeting of the ice men tonight, it is quite probable that a detailed explanatory statement will be drawn up. This statement will be furnished the Protective Association committee which will meet the ice men again within a week's time.

It is stated that the ice men promised to see whether any reduction could be made which would still allow them a fair profit. If it cannot be done, the ice men promise to let the public know why.

MRS. SAUNDERS AT REST; SERVICES YESTERDAY.

Wife of Former Mayor W. L. Saunders Buried in Hillside Cemetery.

The funeral services of Mrs. William L. Saunders, which were held from the late home in Rockview avenue, yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, were attended by many relatives, friends and neighbors, including a large delegation of the heads of the various departments of the Ingersoll-Rand Drill Company, of New York, of which Mr. Saunders is the president. They were from the New York, Philadelphia and Easton offices of the company and attended in a body. At the request of the family floral tributes were omitted, but in the presence of so many people there was impressive tribute to the high esteem and regard in which Mrs. Saunders was held by all.

Rev. George A. Warner, rector of the Holy Cross church, of which Mrs. Saunders was a devoted member, officiated. Afterwards the mourners were given an opportunity of viewing the remains which rested in a beautiful casket placed in an alcove of the music room. The interment was at Hillside cemetery.

DECISION RESERVED IN KUSER AUTO CASE

REED COUNSEL FOR SON-IN-LAW OF U. S. SENATOR DRYDEN.

At the hearing in the case of Colonel Anthony Kuser, who was accused by Bound Brook constables of speeding an automobile when driving with his father-in-law, Senator John F. Dryden, Justice Brampton reserved his decision in the case. The hearing was at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Bound Brook, former Senator Charles A. Reed representing Col. Kuser.

In the course of the hearing, Bound Brook constables swore that the machine was speeding at the rate of 23 miles an hour, for they claimed to have timed it along a measured stretch of the roadway. In the development of the case and the cross questioning by local counsel, the measuring tape was produced with which the distance was laid off. It showed in several places that it had been broken, adn in the mending, quite a bit had been taken in so as to make the mend strong. It was supposed to measure fifteen feet, and may have when it was new, but, it is said, it was shy several inches, which would make some difference in the measurement. The official of the stop watch, when questioned, told counsel that he had never handled "one of them things" before and it is possible that the excitement of splitting the seconds just right might have influenced the time of his thumb pressure. Senator Dryden was not present at the hearing.

Justice Brampton will announce his decision in the mase within a few days.

INVESTIGATING HIS DEATH.

That Rahway Young Man Was Murdered Is the Belief.

Preliminary steps are being taken toward solving what some people believe to have been the murder of the late August Erkson, a resident of Rahway, whose body was found by the railroad tracks, near Garwood, on the morning of June 13. Erkson's home here was with Mr. and Mrs. John A. Johnson. He left their house on the evening previous to go to town for some medicine.

On his failure to return all night, Mr. Johnson sent searching parties after him. In a couple of days the Johnsons learned that a young man had been found dead. Undertaker George Cole, of this city, who had buried the body, was interviewed and the man's clothes and a watch identified.

It has been learned that during the evening of the day he left the house, Erkson purchased a signet ring from some one. This ring the undertaker still has. His clothes were ripped and cut as if with a knife. The bruise on his head appears to have been done with a hatchet.

His money was gone, his pockets apparently having been rifled. It is rumored that he was out with a gang of young men for part of the night, and detectives are searching to find out who they were. Daniel Murphy, of East Rahway, is pushing the search. Erkson's mother, in Sweden, will receive the letter today telling of her son's death. He was to have gone to Rockford, Ill., on July 14. The county authorities may be called on to act in the matter.

Made Record Time.

Despite the fact that the cars sent up for the Baptist excursion were a little below the standard of new mess, there was a good engine on the train which took 700 to Asbury Park on the season's first excursion yesterday. Engineer Will Dunham, who was in the cab, made the run each way in an hour and forty-five minutes. This is excellent time, for with a heavy excursion train two hours is generally the best that can be done. The excursionists arrived in this city on the return trip at 8:25 last evening, reporting a pleasant, cool day at the shore, and no mishaps to any of the big party.

The "Clover Club," an organization composed of little girls living in the West End, will conduct a sale on the lawn of J. D. McAleer's home at 1012 West Third street, tomorrow, for the benefit of the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp.

Conference Concluding.

Secretary J. Harry Manning, of the local Y. M. C. A., who has been attending the association conference at Northfield, will return to this city Monday.

—Lovers of fruit and vegetables should not miss seeing the big assortment at Neuman Brothers' tomorrow. It will be one of the largest and best of the season.

WILDLY APPLAUD RUNYON

Local Leader of the Colbyites Makes Ringing Speech at Newark Mass Meeting.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM

Colby, Record, Grubb and Other Prominent Men Expound the "New Idea."

Notwithstanding the heat, the New Auditorium, at Newark, was packed to the doors by an intelligent audience that applauded wildly as the Colbyites expounded the gospel of the "new idea" in politics last night.

Addresses were made by George L. Record, of Hudson; General E. Burd Grubb, Alexander Fordyce, of Middlesex, Assemblyman Henry Marelli, of Passaic, William N. Runyon, of this city, and Assemblyman William P. Martin and Chandler W. Riker, of Essex.

Every speaker was given a rousing ovation, among those who came in for tremendous applause being Judge William N. Runyon, president of the Union County Republican League for Equal Taxation, and candidate for the Assembly.

Judge Runyon spoke as follows:

"Men and women of Essex County: "If there is any follower of the "new idea" who has become wearied with the stress of the fray, who is discouraged in contemplating the tremendous odds we must face before victory shall come to us, I hope such an one is here tonight, for if he is, there can be but one result—inspiration renewed within him to continue the work already begun, and with zeal unabated to further it, until shall be accomplished those principles which every man in New Jersey, from John Kean and John F. Dryden, down to the humblest parasite who lives on their county, knows are eternally just and right and true.

"To me, a resident of a sister county, this gathering is in very truth an inspiration, for I behold a sovereign people who realizing that those in whom they had placed their trust were betraying them, have arisen in all the majesty of their might and swept their debauchers from power, even as the money changers were driven from the temple in days of God.

"When chivalry and knighthood were in flower, when brave men went forth to joust and tourney, ready to give their lives for right and truth, each gallant knight before the fray rode up to his lady fair, and with the inspiration of her favor high within him, swept forth to battle, bravely to do or die.

"And so do we, as representatives and champions of the "new idea," come this night before Our Lady of Essex, our leader and our inspiration, and as we go forth to the fight, whether victory shall crown us or defeat be our portion, we hope and pray that at the end, it may be said of each of us that we have fought a good fight, and above all else, that we have kept the faith."

LAD'S FOOT CRUSHED AS HE JUMPS FROM TRUCK.

Young Geary, of South Plainfield, Hurt On Park Avenue This Morning.

Jumping from the wagon he was driving when the horse took fright on Park avenue early this morning, Charles Geary, the young son of James Geary, of South Plainfield, had his right foot run over by one of the fore wheels and was painfully hurt. Young Geary was driving a wagon loaded with produce on Park avenue near Second street about 5 o'clock this morning, when the horse took fright and started to run.

The young man jumped and in so doing, his foot slipped and he fell near the wheel, which passed over his foot. Seeing him fall, a bystander seized the horse's head, bringing it to a stand and probably saving the boy further injury. Geary was removed to Clifton & Campbell's store, where his foot was examined. He was able to go to his home.

BROKE HIS CELL DOOR "JUST TO GET A DRINK."

Dunellen Prisoner, Caught While Escaping, Tells Mohan He Was Thirsty.

Caught just in the knick of time by Marshal Owen Mohan, William Oliver, of this city, who was arrested at Dunellen last evening and held on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct in the borough, almost effected an escape from the Dunellen lock-up early yesterday morning. Oliver is an employe of the Plainfield Water Company, and went on a small spree Wednesday night in Dunellen. Oliver's jag was one of the destructive kind, and he was amusing himself by breaking light globes and destroying property generally in the vicinity of Prospect avenue when Marshal Mohan came along and gathered him in.

He was locked in one of the cells, which have not yet been equipped with the heavy steel doors now being made for them and was left to sober up before haling before Mayor Wyckoff this morning. But Oliver wasn't so drunk that he didn't realize that it was up to him to get away. Accordingly he started to work very quietly and soon had cut through one of the bars of his cell and gained the freedom of police headquarters. Marshal Mohan heard him walking around and came in and surprised him as he was looking for a favorable back exit.

"What are you doing out here?" said Mohan. "Just came out to get a drink of water," was the reply, in a tone which would signify that there wasn't anything especially wrong about that. He got the drink of water, but only after he had been locked up in one of the other cells. The marshal kept close watch for the remainder of the night and early in the morning he was brought before the Mayor. His sentence was a $20 fine or sixty days "down the road." He paid the fine.

FRANK H. SMITH PLEASED

Co. Chairman Glad the Constitutionality of Redistricting Law is Settled.

MR. PERKINS VIEWS

Union County Assemblyman Says Effect of Decision Means Solid Delegations in Legislature.

In Union county politicians are gratified that the decision of the Court of Errors to the effect that the law providing for the election of assemblyman by districts is unconstitutional has come early so as to clarify the political atmosphere a little. Neither the regulars nor the Colby faction, so far as outward expressions of opinion are concerned, had any particular leanings to one side or the other except in a firm belief of the principle of the law. Both organization men and anti-organization men are in favor of the principle of the district system.

County Chairman Frank H. Smith, of this city, said yesterday that all were pleased with the prompt decision by the court.

"It was not for the Court of Errors and Appeals to say which was the better system of electing assemblymen," said Mr. Smith. "The judges simply had to decide as to whether the district system was allowable under the constitution. They were always unanimous in declaring it was not.

"I cannot see that the decision is of any particular benefit to the organization or of any particular benefit to those who are warring on the organization in Union county. If the people make up their minds to dethrone the present county delegates, they will do it irrespective of districts, and if they are satisfied with our work they will elect organization representatives whether there are districts or not.

"The district plan was backed last year by the Colby people. I favored them in this matter. I think we all favor the district system as a principle, but I should state that I was not in favor of the Colby idea of having the working of the proposed new law deferred for a year, as they desired and advocated on the floor of the House. Being a good thing in principle, I was in favor of having it go into effect at once, if constitutional.

"It was probably a surprise to some friends of the Colby people that the Colby men did not take the same view. If the law's operation was deferred a year the Colby assemblymen thought it would give them an advantage. As a philosopher today, I want to bring out the point that even immaculate reformers were willing to sacrifice a principle for a political advantage."

Assemblyman Perkins said the decision would meet with satisfaction. "The effect will be," he declared," "that counties will send solid delegations to Trenton, where, if the act had been sustained, the delegations would, perhaps, have been split. In counties like Passaic and Union, where there was a chance of electing one Democratic member, the delegations will now be solidly Republican. I fail to see how the decision favors the so-called reformed party. The bill wasn't introduced with any partisan idea, but because the party leaders thought that representation by districts was truer representation. Besides, it was in line with the governor's message."

Lines drawn up by the Colby Assemblymen were placed in the districting act by the Legislature, and those submitted by the organization of Essex county thrown out. The districts were probably made as much as possible to favor the Colby Assemblymen.

"I always felt that there was a good deal of merit in the district system," Senator Colby began in reply to a question. "It brings the representative nearer to the people and makes it easier to fix the responsibility for bad legislation. The conditions in Essex county at the present time, however, are such as to make but one issue the vital one, that is, the domination of machine and corporation rule, and I believe the district system would have lent itself more readily to those who are anxious to prevent the success of the new movement."

As a Guide in Somerset.

After hearing the reform leaders in Somerville tomorrow the Somerset Republicans who want improvement in organization methods will know which way to vote to get it. To cast their lot with the "new movement" means the attainment of a higher and nobler Republicanism through the doorway of honest legislation.—New York Press, Republican.

FIRE TRUCK OVERTURNS; DRIVER BUSH BADLY HURT

AUTOMOBILE HOUSE BURNS DESTROYING A $1,500 CAR

TOTAL LOSS TO WILLIAM D. BIRD WILL APPROXIMATE $2,000.

A large-sized automobile house belonging to William D. Bird and located in the rear of his residence in West Front street, above Grant avenue, caught fire in some way shortly before 11 o'clock last night, and was totally destroyed, together with an auto-car worth $1,500 and $200 worth of sash and blinds stored in the place. A barn directly adjoining, on property owned by D. N. Force, was burning when the department arrived but was saved with a loss of only $150. The auto house was valued at $250 and was insured for $200. There was also insurance of $500 on the machine but none on the material stored in the building.

The fire was discovered by William Higgins, whose residence is situated but a short distance away, and he turned in an alarm from box 83 at Front street and Grant avenue. After it had been sounded fully and the apparatus was on the way, the watchman at the Pond Tool Works noticed the flames and turned in a second alarm from box 47 on South Second street, the gong's blows not having been heard by him. The two calls led to the belief that the Pond shop was on fire and there was a stampede from all parts of the city to get to it.

No. 3 hose company had two hydrant streams on the blaze within a few minutes after its discovery but Captain Feiring saw the auto house was beyond saving and directed the efforts of his men to the Force barn. The two places kept the West End men and those from headquarters busy until 11:45, when the recall was sounded. The fire was a hard one to fight because of gasolene in the car, the proximity of the railroad which practically barred the men from getting at it in the rear.

Mr. Bird was unable to furnish any explanation as to the cause of the fire. He informed Chief Doane that the machine had not been used at all yesterday and so far as he knew no one had been in the building since Wednesday night. It is possible that a spark of some kind may have smoldered on the floor.

TWO BOROUGHITES SENT TO THE COUNTY JAIL.

Duffy and Trainor Committed by Mayor Smalley Last Night —Others Fined.

Martin Duffy and George Trainor, two bibulous boroughites who came before Mayor Smalley for a hearing at police headquarters last night, were sent down to Somerville this morning, escorted by Chief Marshal George Weiss, of the borough department. Duffy was sentenced to twenty days in the Somerset county jail at the hearing of the assault and battery case on complaint of William Jones, of the borough, last night, and Trainor will be gone a month, spending the time with the State authorities. He was fighting drunk at Tier's pond Wednesday night, and is committed upon charges of disorderly conduct.

Of the other members of that pond "booze fight," Charles Baach was compelled to pay a fine of $3, and David Olson also paid the same amount rather than go to Somerville with the others. Sentence was suspended on Dennis Carney.

A Daisy Lawn Party.

A successful "daisy lawn party" was given last night at No. 612 East Third street by the Aeolian Club for the benefit of Grace Church Colored Mission. The lawn was tastefully decorated with Japanese lanterns and bunting. Mr. Burns furnished delightful music and dancing on the green was continued until a late hour. Miss Chase and Miss Montross Holmes presided at the lemonade booth, Miss Charlotte Karney and Miss Anna Broadnax at the candy table, and Miss Bessie Dixon, Miss Julia Holmes and Miss Lavinia Douglas at the ice cream table. Quite a substantial sum was realized.

Burkely Hotel Proprietor Dead.

Burke, who was proprietor of the Burkely Hotel, Elizabeth, for four years, died yesterday afternoon in Alexian Brothers' Hospital, Elizabeth, following a week's illness with pleuro-pneumonia. Mr. Burke was very successful in business and was one of the popular men in Elizabeth. He is survived by one child.

Vehicle Crashes Into Awning Post and Holly Freeman and John De Meza Have Narrow Escapes.

VICTIM IN THE HOSPITAL

Disobedience of Orders In Not Slowing Up At Corners the Cause of the Accident—Investigation Conducted by Chief Doane.

Disobedience of a standing order not to turn corners without first bringing horses to full control, resulted in a serious accident to No. 1 truck of the local fire department at 11 o'clock last night, in which Driver Harry Bush was badly hurt and G. Holly Freeman and John DeMeza were cut and bruised. The truck was responding to an alarm from box 83 at Grant avenue and Front street and in swinging from West Second street into Central avenue was thrown over against a post supporting a wooden awning. Bush was hurled from his seat and struck another post, breaking three of his ribs and forcing one of them into the lung on the left side. DeMeza, who was on top of the wagon directly behind Bush, landed in a confused heap in the doorway of a grocery store and Freeman fell on the sidewalk.

The horses stood stock still after the accident, despite the fact that the awning fell part way down upon them, and their display of gentleness probably saved Bush from being killed. He managed to extricate himself but collapsed as soon as he got out of the way. Freeman and DeMeza quickly recovered and after first securing the horses, laid Bush on a blanket and hailed Dr. N. W. Currie, who was passing nearby. The physician gave temporary treatment and the injured man was removed to Muhlenburg Hospital in the ambulance. He passed a bad night but it was said today that he was resting easily and that providing no complications ensued he would recover.

Though Bush was unable to give any coherent statement, it is declared by witnesses of the accident that he had urged his horses to top speed on Second street and that he did not start to make the turn until almost upon the corner. The truck is a very heavy affair and under no ordinary conditions would overbalance. There were reports that a stone in the crosswalk had broken beneath the weight of the wheels and also that one of the horses had slipped but an investigation by Chief Doane showed no truth in either one. It was simply a case of driving too fast, a practice for which the chief has frequently had to reprimand Bush and other members of the department.

The injured man is thirty-eight years old and has been in the service since 1892. He was tillerman on the hook and ladder truck for many years but of late has been stationed at No. 1 house under Captain Daley. Freeman is attached to the same company, while DeMeza is not connected with the department in any way and had no business on the apparatus. He was passing the house when the truck swung out and climbed on the rear.

The rear axle of the vehicle was badly bent and the handles and steps on the left side were damaged. The reserve wagon from No. 3 house will be used in its place while repairs are being made.

NO SHAKE-UP IN P. S. C.

President McCarter Denies Current Rumor That Departments Would Be Divided.

Newark, July 13.—Thomas N. McCarter, president of the Public Service, denies the statements in a dispatch from Jersey City that a big shake-up in the Public Service Corporation is imminent, and that it may take place the latter part of this month or early next month. The scheme was, according to report, to have the trolley department controlled by a general manager and a committee of the directors, and the gas and electric light and power departments managed in the same way, with President Thomas N. McCarter in chief control, as at present.

"The gossip in Jersey City financial circles has it," the dispatch reads, "that the heavy earnings credited to Public Service in the last annual report surprised even the officials of the corporation by their large increase over the earnings of former years. It is said that the directors, or a majority of them, are of the opinion that with each department managed separately, with the finances managed separately and with trained specialists at the head of each department, the earnings can be more largely increased and a dividend soon declared on the stock of the corporations.

"Those who speak with the utmost conviction of the scheme say that specialization has been the hobby of Public Service for some little time. They point out that when Chief Claim Adjuster John P. Feeney died and Hobart Tuttle took his place the claim department was immediately specialized, the purely business end of the department being separated from the purely legal part. That, say the wiseacres, was the inception of the idea to make the gas, electric and street railway departments three separate and distinct departments."

President Thomas N. McCarter said: "There is nothing in the story except that a change was made in the management of the claim department."

TO EXHIBIT SYSONBY.

Skeleton of Great Race Horse Will Be Placed in Museum.

New York, July 13.—James R. Keene's gift of the skeleton of the champion race horse Sysonby, who died on Sunday, June 17, to the American Museum of Natural History was yesterday transferred to the officials of the museum, who during the day exhumed the body from the temporary grave at the Sheepshead Bay race course and turned the skeleton over to the experts of the institution, who will mount it for exhibition.

Synsonby, who died of blood poisoning after a long sickness, has been buried temporarily on the grounds of the Coney Island Jockey Club, just back of the stable lot of Mr. Keene's training quarters.

Sysonby's skeleton when mounted is expected to furnish the most perfect example of the bony frame of the modern race horse in existence, as he was a horse of perfect conformation and splendid size, aside from his superior qualities as a race horse. In England the skeleton of Ormonde, in the British Museum, and in America the skeleton of Lexington, in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, are the best types now on exhibition.

Rev. Dr. Halleron, presiding elder of the Elizabeth district, has taken title to a building site at Neshanic Station, on which a handsome Methodist church will soon be erected.

DIAMOND DUST.

The baseball fans of Elizabeth seem to have it all cut and dried that in a county championship series, either the Stars or the Invaders of that city will win and they are not charitable enough to even allow the thought that Plainfield has a look in. Very kind to be sure, and it is exceedingly generous on their part to even concede that the Plainfield team has a right to play the county seat aggregations. The Palmers, also of Elizabeth, and Rahway are included in the list of teams eligible to compete for county championship honors. Francis K. Anderson, sporting writer for the Elizabeth Evening Times, says: "The teams now playing on the Star grounds is equal to any Plainfield or Westfield ever had, and the team playing on the grounds is superior to Plainfield and Westfield by a long shot." As to the superiority of the Invaders over Plainfield that question will be settled tomorrow afternoon at Crescent Oval when these teams meet in the first championship game. Plainfield has never conceded that the Stars are stronger than the locals and if a county series is arranged the county seat fans will have a chance to change their minds. It will not be pie for the Stars, Invaders or Palmers. Plainfield is ready for Elizabeth at any time and when the Stars and Invaders meet the locals it is the opinion that pride will have a fall at the other end of the county.

Another crack-a-jack game is scheduled for tomorrow at Crescent Oval, when Plainfield will meet the Elizabeth Invaders, the much-heralded aggregation from the county seat. Captain Driscoll, under Manager Neubeck's direction, has collected a strong lot of players and now seeks county championship honors. Enough is known of the players of both teams to insure the liveliest sort of a contest and no fan can afford to miss it. Many of the favorites will be on hand, including "Dave" Driscoll, "Happy" Kiernan, Barry, Brogan, Linderman and others, and it should be a royal battle. The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock prompt and let every fan be at the oval when the gong sounds.

The eyes of the county baseball fans will be on the game at the oval tomorrow, being anxious to see how Manager Daab's colts will line up with the Invaders. There is strong talk of a game between the Invaders and the Elizabethport Stars and the supporters of each will be anxious to see how the new team compares with the locals.

Manager Burke, of the Stars, is also aching for a game with Plainfield, and it is Manager Daab's purpose to accommodate him. The local manager has never been obliged to take the dust of the Stars and there is little chance of it this year.

"Phil." Smith will be in the box for Plainfield tomorrow and he is sure to keep up his fine work. Only one defeat this season stands out as a pretty good record.

Captain Leonard has returned to his old-time form and is due to get a few hits tomorrow. Following last Saturday's defeat, the genial captain has had a talk with his teammates and given them to understand that Plainfield must win tomorrow in the first championship series.

The Plainfield team is especially anxious to win tomorrow's contest, because Captain Driscoll and many of the players on the visiting team once played here. It will be a hot fight from start to finish.

GOLF.

That Robert Abbott, Dudley H. Barrows, W. Lester Glenney and Frank C. Talmadge did not make a better showing in the national amateur championship tournament at Englewood is a surprise to many of their friends. While Abbott played well, it was expected that he would surely qualify, and many thought that the other Plainfielders would be among the first thirty-two. The competition was keen, however, with such a large field, including all of the crack players of the country, and the Plainfielders would have been obliged to be at the top of their game to have found a place. It was also a surprise not to see F. O. Reinhart's name among the entries. He has been playing the game a good deal of late and his friends believe that he would have made good in the championship.

The events at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow will include play for the July cup, the Golf Committee cup, the final round for the Consolation cup, Men's championship and the semi-final play for the Men's championship among the survivors of the first eight. There is also likely to be clock golf for women.

There will be the weekly competition for the President's and Park Golf Club cups at the Park Golf Club tomorrow. The recent rains have put the course in fine condition and good scores should be returned.

CHARLES M. DOLLIVER AND BRIDE "AT HOME."

Newly-Wedded Couple Held a Delightful Reception Last Night.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marvin Dolliver, who were recently married, gave a delightful "at home" reception last night at 82 Fairview avenue, the borough, their future home, which was attended by a company of forty people. The affair was quite informal and afforded many persons unable to attend the wedding an opportunity to meet the bride and groom and extend congratulations. The home was simply, but effectively decorated with flowers.

The guests were received at the door by the parents of the groom and then escorted to the parlors where they were introduced to the bride and groom. During the evening the guests enjoyed a number of piano selections by Miss Lillian A. Force, Mrs. Fred Green and Miss Ida Dunham. Later refreshments were served. Those in charge in the dining room were the Misses Reiber, sisters of the bride; Mrs. Joseph Dunham and Miss Nellie Arnold. The large collection of handsome gifts received by Mrs. Dolliver were displayed in two rooms and were much admired by all.

Charles Marvin Dolliver and Miss Alberta Elizabeth Reiber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Reiber, of New York, were married on Wednesday, June 27, at the Thirty-third Street Baptist churrh, New York, by the pastor, Rev. E. S. Holloway. The bride was attended by Miss Mabelle Smith, of Hempstead, L. I., as maid-of-honor, and Miss Cora S. Reiber and Miss Mathilde P. Reiber, sisters of the bride, as bridesmaids. The best man was Asa F. Randolph, of this city, and the ushers were N. Douglass Drake, Joseph S. Dunham and Raymond V. Carpenter, of this city, and William J. Renshaw, Jr., of Richmond Hill, L. I. After the wedding the couple went to Maine where they enjoyed their honeymoon. They returned home a few days ago.

COMMITS SUICIDE.

She Turned on Three Gas Jets to Make Death Certain.

Newark, July 13.—While in a state of melancholy, Mrs. Sophie Simandl, 29 years old, of Elizabeth, committed suicide this morning at the home of her brother-in-law, Marx Simandl, 108 Fayban place. To make death more certain, she turned on three gas jets. When a physician arrived the woman was beyond aid.

Six weeks ago Mrs. Simandl attempted to end her life with carbolic acid at her home in Elizabeth. She drank a little of the poison and spent a week in the General Hospital in that city.

Her husband, Emanuel Simandl, and a 6-months-old baby survive the woman.

COLBYITES IN CONFERENCE

'New Idea" Republicans Form State Organization at Newark.

MARTIN AS LEADER

William N. Runyon, H. L. Hall, R. H. Depew and G. W. V. Moy Among Those Present.

One hundred or more Republicans from eleven counties of New Jersey, all identified with the "new idea" movement led by Senator Colby, Mayor Fagan and George L. Record, met at the Colby headquarters in Newark yesterday afternoon and formed a permanent State organization to make a concerted fight for control of the next Legislature, which will choose the successor of United States Senator Dryden. Judge William N. Runyon, Henry L. Hall, R. Henry Depew, G. W. V. Moy and W. W. St. John were among the Plainfielders in attendance.

Among the men present were Everett Colby, William P. Martin, Sheriff Frank H. Sommer, John S. Gibson, Lathrop Anderson, William Mungle, Gardner Colby and Frank Smith, of Essex county; Mayor Fagan, George L. Record and City Collector Edward Fry, of Jersey City; Assemblymen Theodore S. Bierch and Herman L. Berg, Comptroller Thomas McEwen, Edgar B. Bacon, Captain John Graham and Edward Mitchell, of Hudson; Gen. E. Burd Grubb, William Holt and Stagdell Stokes, of Burlington; George M. Beringer, Harry T. Wolff, George A. Waite, Newton T. B. Roney and Frank A. Burdsall, of Camden; William H. Bannard and Harold B. Ayres, of Monmouth; Col. Alexander R. Fordyce, Jr., and N. B. Frickett, of Middlesex; Henry Horelli, Walter R. Hudson and Gustav Hunziker, of Passaic; Frederick G. Burnham, Charles M. Axtell and Samuel Garrison, of Morris; Thomas Debevois, of Union, and W. W. Howland, of Somerset.

Gardner Colby, of the Essex County Equal Taxation League, was chairman of the conference. Speeches were made by the spokesmen of every county represented, closing with a rousing speech by George L. Record.

On motion of Gen. Grubb, a permanent central body was formed with William P. Martin, of Newark, leader of the Colby forces in the Assembly last winter, and director of the Colby fight in Essex last year, as chairman. In accepting the post, Mr. Martin attacked the "State House ring," and the machine bosses of the counties, naming Lentz in Essex, Dickinson in Hudson, Strong in Middlesex and Baird in Camden. He said the fight was to be one of the loyal and independent people of the State against the power and money and the corrupt influences of bossism.

Gen. Grubb was elected vice chairman. The naming of the other officers was left to an executive committee consisting of one man from each county represented, as follows: Bergen, Caleb V. H. Whitebeck; Burlington, William Holt; Camden, George M. Beringer; Essex, Lathrop Anderson; Hudson, Andrew Knox; Middlesex, W. B. Pritchet; Morris, Charles M. Axtell; Passaic, James G. Blauvelt; Union, Thomas M. Debevois. Somerset did not name its representative.

This committee was empowered to complete the organization to select a name for it from among several suggested, to assimilate the several county platforms and to prepare an address to the people of the State.

The conference adjourned to meet on call. The delegates were dined at the Continental Hotel by the local Colbyites.

Lodgemen There Will Spend $100,000 to Entertain Visitors.

Denver, July 13.—The city is being put in holiday attire for the Elks, several thousand of whom are expected in the city next week at their annual convention. The hotels are already filling up, but the city will accommodate all who come. Buildings, public and private, are being decorated with flags and streamers, and some very pretty effects are produced. Excursions to Pike's Peak and other points are being arranged, and the local Elks intend spending $100,000 to entertain their guests.

The last great celebration in the city was when the Grand Army of the Republic held its encampment here a year ago, when thousands of people were in the city. The Elks say they will have a still larger number of people at their demonstration. Valuable souvenirs are to be distributed.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Several large old elm trees near by home in the borough are having their foliage ruined by caterpillars, which are eating up the leaves. Through the columns of The Daily Press may I not hear from some one regarding a remedy which will check the harm these pests are working on our city trees. Some action must be taken right away, before it is too late and the trees become infested.

CITY ATTORNEY MAY HAVE TO PROSECUTE.

In Case There Are Any Violations of the Excise Law.

There is a possibility that in case there are violations of the excise law in Elizabeth it will be the business of the city attorney to prosecute instead of the county prosecutor. In Jersey City the chief of police has been informed from the office of the county prosecutor of Hudson that no man will be sent from that office to aid the chief of police. It is the opinion of Prosecutor Speer that the law department of the city should have charge of the cases against offending liquor dealers.

Prosecutor English was asked yesterday how it would be in Elizabeth in case Chief Tenny reported any violations. He said that he was studying the bishops' act, which he said was inartistically done, and would pronounce an opinion later, advising Chief Tenney on the course to follow.

POLITICIANS FLOCK TO THE STATE CAMP.

Guests of Gov. Stokes on Governor's Day—Change In United States Army Inspector.

Camp Stokes, Sea Girt, July 13.—Governor's Day in the encampment of the New Jersey National Guard dawned cloudy and unpleasant, but the weather did not keep politicians from all parts of the State from coming here to talk politics. The principal topic was the United States Senatorship and the relative strength of Dryden and Record. The general feeling throughout the State, all reported, was that if Mr. Dryden were re-elected the State would go Democratic next year in the Gubernatorial fight. There was a general opinion that the man who will succeed Dryden has not yet announced his candidacy. South Jersey visitors declared that there is a strong sentiment in favor of Stokes.

The Governor reviewed the troops from horseback after serving a luncheon to his guests in the Governor's cottage. He rode Trooper, his new horse, and was attired in his riding suit of blue, with a cap.

Lieut. Murphy, of the regular army, detailed to duty at this camp under the provisions of the Dick Military bill, has been relieved. His successor is Major David Shanks, of Fort Hancock. Lieut. Murphy was unpopular with the militia officers and it was charged that he was impolite even to Gov. Stokes. Major Shanks has won the respect of all the officers.

Gov. Stokes will give a luncheon tomorrow noon for Gen. Grant. His guests will include many prominent military men and State officials.

BLOW AT ICE TRUST DEALT IN WASHINGTON.

Two Companies There Indicted With Four of Their Officials.

Washington, July 13.—The Grand Jury yesterday indicted two companies and four individuals for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. It is the Ice Trust which is struck at, and the charge is a conspiracy to fix the price of ice.

This action is the result of the public indignation over the so-called ice famine that prevailed here until the dealers got frightened. While this indignation was at its height the authorities began to look into the report that a trust existed. They found that one did, and hence the indictments.

The charge is that the defendants, controlling 75 per cent. of the ice business of the District of Columbia, ended their competition with each other on or before April 20, 1906, and conspired that the two companies should thereafter charge the same price to ice dealers, all this in restraint of trade.

The penalty is $5,000 fine or one year's imprisonment, or both.

FOR BRIDGE ACROSS BAY.

Hudson Freeholders' Committee to Take Up Proposition With Union Co. Board.

Jersey City, July 13.—The first step towards the proposed Hudson-Union bridge across Newark Bay was taken Wednesday afternoon when the committee named by the Hudson freeholders met and decided to arrange a meeting with a committee of the Union County Board for as early a day as possible, for the purpose of holding public meetings for the discussion of the project in the two counties.

It was estimated that the cost of the bridge would exceed $1,000,000, and the prevalent impression is that Bayonne will be the only one of thirteen municipalities of Hudson to favor the project.

TO PROSECUTE ICE TRUST.

Paterson Butchers Will Lodge Complaint Against Dealers.

The retail butchers of Jaterson appointed last night Alden Warmoltz, P. J. Tierney and "Gus" Schnatz a committee to make a complaint against the ice trust and confer with the Mayor and the Prosecutor of the county.

The complaint is to be lodged in the name of the Retail Butchers' Association of Paterson against every ice dealer in the city. In a discussion of the extortionate demands of the ice dealers the fact was brought out that Prosecutor Emley has been getting evidence against the icemen for several weeks, awaiting a formal complaint.

SORROW AT CONEY ISLAND.

Police Sweep Down Upon All Sorts of Little Games.

A wave of virtue swept over Coney Island yesterday afternoon. As a result no games of chance, no matter how innocent their outward appearance, were in operation last night.

After a conference with the district attorney, of Brooklyn, Capt. Harkins and four plain clothes men started on a tour of the resort from Brighton to Sea Gate informing the proprietors of "cane and knife games," "Japanese ball games," "wheels of fortune," "fish ponds," and of "balls in the box" that they must go out of business at Coney from now on.

New Brunswick has four, Perth Amboy two, and one each for South Amboy, Jamesburg, Cranbury, South River and Metuchen. The oldest institution in the county is the National Bank of New Jersey at New Brunswick, which was organized in 1854, and the youngest the Metuchen National, which has been doing business for about a year.

ETIQUETTE OF THE TELEPHONE.

Telephones are now in such common usage, in private life as well as in business, that it would seem as if everybody ought to know how to handle one and how not to abuse so great a convenience.

But many do not seem to.

Women in particular, probably because their voices are, as a rule, thinner and higher pitched than the average man's, commonly speak in tones that reverberate and set up a confusing buzzing sound.

It is a common fault, too, to shout through the 'phone as if the transition of the message depended on the noise made.

In using the 'phone remember that your voice does not actually have to carry to the other end of the wire. It is simply reproduced there.

Consequently, you needn't scream.

Just speak in a low, distinct voice, and a low and distinct voice will be reproduced at the other end.

Here are some rules of telephone etiquette it might be well to master:

Never telephone in a private house too early in the morning or too late at night. The hours are governed by the customs of the household.

Never telephone during the meal hours.

Never use the 'phone of a person of slender means without at least offering to pay for its use.

Employees should never use the wire in a business office for long and protracted conversations with personal friends.

Don't forget that even if you are not seen across the 'phone wire you are probably being overheard by a third party, and possibly by others.

Don't shout out your private affairs over a public 'phone.

Don't, when some one is speaking at the 'phone within your hearing, stop your conversation. Go on talking or get out of hearing distance.

Don't talk for effect. Your conversation may be amusing to the friends beside you, but will prove puzzling to the person at the other end of the wire.

Learn to speak in well-modulated musical tones.

An invitation delivered over the 'phone is most informal and is only possible between close friends.

Don't act languid or lackadaisical when "'phoning." Speak up in a healthy tone of voice.

Keep the mouthpiece and the telephone receiver clean and sterilized by swabbing both off with a cloth dipped in alcohol.

Don't be in a hurry.

Don't lose your temper.

His Own Business.

This anecdote was told by John Graham Brooks: "One of the brightest replies I ever heard came from a lad in my neighborhood, who was being quizzed about his father's accomplishments, and was asked, 'What does your father know, anyway?' There was no hesitation in the answer: 'I don't believe he knows much of anything expect his own business; but he knows that.'"

At Chief Kiely's request, the case of John Giles, charged with disorderly conduct and resisting an officer, was adjourned in the city court this morning. It will probably not be heard inside of a month. The defendant is the man who accuses Roundsman John Flynn of brutality in arresting him.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Literary Trust Busters.

The unexampled success of Upton Sinclair in turning the Congress of the United States and the Parliament of Great Britain into billboards for the advertisement of his beef-packing novel, seems to have inspired Mr. Winston Churchill with a desire to turn a political trick or two in behalf of his novel of New Hampshire politics. Mr. Churchill is announced as the candidate for Governor of that State of the Lincoln party, and his platform is to tie the Boston and Maine Railroad up to one of its switches and let the people of New Hampshire go through its pockets and walk off with the last vestige of its political power. At this rate the novelists of 1920 will have to get up early if they expect to achieve literary success. The actors, who used to be regarded as the only artists privileged to advertise their wares in their daily lives, are left far behind. Even Bernhardt quailed before drawing an ambassador into the train of her press agents. The novelists do not stop at the portals of the highest office in the gift of the people of a State or of the country.—Brooklyn Eagle.

AMUSEMENTS.

So long as melodrama interest continues to hold popular favor, just so long will dramatic writers exert themselves in an effort to realize the most salutary results. In A. H. Woods' "Chinatown Charlie" the play underlined as the coming attraction to the New Plainfield theatre on Saturday night, July 28, there is promised the most unmistakable evidence of an imaginative dramatic brain and still no pains have been spared in order to equip its production in such a manner so as to help along the author's resourceful ideas. All that scenic environment can afford has been granted so that A. H. Woods' "Chinatown Charlie" should excel in every point of stage accessories. From a scenic point of view there is reason to believe that the production of A. H. Woods' "Chinatown Charlie" is very much superior to the average melodramatic invitation. At the same time the salient features of this play depend largely upon sensational methods and these have been most lavishly provided, it seems.

The Lawyers.

A capital story is being told of a K. C. now much in the public eye. He once took up a brief for nothing and won the case. The grateful client, however, sent a postal order for 15 shillings, which the K. C. accepted, through fear of giving offence by sending it back. At the Bar mess one of the barristers, jocularly accused him of unprofessional conduct in accepting less than gold. "Excuse me," replied the K. C., "but I took all the poor beggar had. I consider that is not unprofessional."—London Daily News.

UNHAPPINESS DISPELLED.
Men and Women Unanimous About It.
Many women weep and wail and refuse to be comforted because their once magnificent tresses have become thin and faded. Many men incline to profanity because the flies bite through the thin thatch on their craniums. It will be good news to the miserable of both sexes, to learn that Newbro's Herpicide has been placed upon the market. This is the new scalp germicide and antiseptic that acts by destroying the germ or microbe that is the underlying cause of all hair destruction. Herpicide is a new preparation, made after a new formula on an entirely new principle. Anyone who has tried it will testify as to its worth. Try it yourself and be convinced. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

Raisin Cookies.

Cream one-half cup each of butter and sugar, add one well beaten egg, two tablespoons of milk, one and seven-eighths cups of pastry flour sifted with one level teaspoon of baking powder and one-third cup of chopped raisins. Roll thin, cut in rounds and bake in a moderate oven. The dough will roll easier if well chilled before this is attempted and a trifle more flour may be needed if the egg is large.

Delicate Omelet.

Beat the yolks of six eggs and the whites of three until light, add a slightly rounding tablespoon of corn starch, one cup of cream, half a level teaspoon of salt and a dash of pepper. Melt one teaspoon of butter in an omelet and pour in the omelet and set in a moderate oven. When set, pour the stiffy beaten beaten whites of three eggs over the top, return to the oven and color lightly. Serve at once.

Escalloped Salmon.

Make a sauce of one-quarter cup each of flour and butter and two cups of milk. Cook five minutes and season with salt and pepper. Open a can of salmon and drain, also prepare two cups of bread crumbs. Arrange alternate layers of flaked salmon, crumbs and sauce in a buttered dish and have the last layer of crumbs. Set in a quick oven until heated through.

Poached Eggs.

To keep the eggs in shape the water must simmer, not boil hard. Salt the water and put in several muffin rings. Drop an egg into each water and dash the hot water over the top of the egg until the white is set. Lift out with a flat skimmer on to slices of buttered toast, dust with salt and pepper and add a bit of butter. To tempt a weak appetite lay a sprig of green parsley beside the egg.

Currant Catsup.

Weigh five pounds of currants and mash them; add six even cups of sugar, two cups of vinegar, one tablespoon each of cinnamon and cloves, one teaspoon of salt and one of pepper. Cook together thirty minutes, stirring all the time, then seal in the smallest size of fruit jars.

Cucumber Pickles.

Pick the cucumbers when not over three inches long and soak twenty-four hours in brine strong enough to bear up an egg so that the side just shows above the water. Take out, rinse in cold water and wipe with a cloth and lay in a jar. To one gallon of vinegar, add two tablespoons each of dry mustard, powdered alum, cinnamon, cloves and one cup of salt. Heat the spices and vinegar to the boiling point and pour at once over the pickles. Add a few pieces of horseradish root and half a dozen of the very small red peppers.

Meat Shortcake.

Make the cake from two cups of sifted pastry flour sifted again with four level teaspoons of baking powder and a saltspoon of salt. Rub in a rounding tablespoon of butter and mix with nearly one cup of milk. Divide in halves, roll out, brush one-half with soft water, and lay on the other half. Bake in a quick oven. Chop cold meat or chicken and heat in a little gravy, or in a cream or white sauce, seasoned well. Separate the cakes as soon as they come from the oven and spread on the meat. Cover with the second cake and serve at once.

TEACH THE BOY.

To be true to his word and work.

To face all difficulties with courage and cheerfulness.

To form no friendships that can bring him into degrading associations.

To respect other people's convictions.

To reverence womanhood.

To live a clean life in thought and word as well as in deed.

That true manliness always commands success.

That the best things in life are not those that can be bought with money.

That to command he must first learn to obey.

That there can be no compromise between honesty and dishonesty.

That the virtues of punctuality and politeness are excellent things to cultivate.

That a gentleman is just what the word implies—a man who is gentle in his dealing with the opinions, feelings and weaknesses of other people. —Mother's Magazine.

FOR THE FURNITURE.

Have you noted the coverings?

Aren't the dainty new coverings a delight?

Blossomy cretonne is one of the newer materials.

The blossoms often look the prettier for a striped background.

Garlands of rosebuds in pinky hues are dainty on a blue and white stripe.

Gorgeous red poppies are effective on a white ground with an occasional cluster of black stripes.

Considerate.

"Why does the conductor collect the fares just as we are entering the tunnel?" inquired the stranger.

"That is the company's order," explained the native. "It's to cover the conductor's confusion when he blushes for having to collect any fare at all on this line.—Chicago Tribune.

H. CHANDLER EGAN IS DEFEATED BY CANADIAN.

Amateur Champion Put Out in Third Day's Play at Englewood.

H. Chandler Egan, the golf champion, was defeated at Englewood, yesterday, in the amateur championship tournament by George S. Lyon, of Canada, in a sensational match that had to be carried to the twentieth green. The other favorites—Walter J. Travis, Jerome D. Travers and Eben M. Byers—went through their matches without being in danger.

In defeating Egan yesterday, Lyon duplicated his success in the fall of 1904, when he won the Olympic title shortly after the Exmoor crack had won his first national championship at Baltusrol. Without detracting in the least from the victory of Lyon, it must be said that Egan played far below his true form, as the scores indicate. His short game was woefully weak, and Lyon took full advantage.

Lyon plays all his shots with a forceful stroke, suggestive of cricket, a game he played before he took up golf. He is forty-eight years old, with muscles of iron, and when distance is required he puts all his power into the shots. He learned to play golf in 1896, and two years later won the Canadian championship.

Both of the matches in which Travis figured were low scoring affairs. Against Archie Reid in the morning he went out in 37 and home in the same figures for a 74, which equals the record for the links. Travis defeated George T. Brokaw without trouble in the second round. He went out in 35, playing well-nigh perfect golf and might have made a new record if he had continued for a score.

The championship play will be continued today and tomorrow among the survivors of yesterday's rounds.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

TENNIS.

The tennis courts at the Y. M. C. A. are being put in condition for summer play this week and should be ready for use by Monday. The courts have been surfaced and rolled and will be in fine condition. New netting has been stretched for the back courts and the grounds have been cleared off. Physical Director Listman is planning to arrange a boys' tournament to be commenced early next month.

ROD AND GUN.

James R. Blair and Dr. C. M. Luckey spent yesterday fishing at Sewaren and returned home last night with forty weakfish.

Meyer Breaks Bowling Records.

Charles F. Meyer, Jr., who is regarded as the city's crack bowler, broke the record of all local alleys, Wednesday night, by rolling 276 at Saengerbund Hall. He made ten straight strikes. Meyer frequently gets a 250 and is looked upon as one of the steadiest pin smashers in the county.

Telephone Company Improvements.

The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company now has a large force of men employed making underground connections in Park avenue, East and West Front street and North avenue, so that the big distributing poles can be removed. One cable has been run to a point in the rear of The Daily Press, which will take care of all the subscribers in the block between North avenue and Second street, and when these connections are made, which will probably be next week, there will be no visible wires, an improvement which will be of great benefit to the company and the subscribers, especially during heavy storms. Similar improvements will be made throughout the city, the purpose being to get rid of as many telephone poles as possible.

Repairing Park Avenue.

Street Commissioner Gavett's force of men are now at work giving to Park avenue, between Second street and the railroad, the extra width, by reason of the widening of that thoroughfare. It is the intention of the street committee to have this street macadamized during the summer, with the idea of putting down a permanent pavement possibly next year. The concrete walk is being rapidly completed in front of J. G. MacLaughlin's property, adjoining that of C. W. McCutchen, the water and gas pipes having been put underground at that point to be connected with a new building when it is erected.

Another Factory Coming.

Work has been commenced on the new factory in Dunellen on the south side of the railroad near Rock avenue. The buildings will be partly in Middlesex and partly in Union counties as the county line runs through the property. Machinery for cement construction of every kind will be manufactured and the plans for the buildings would indicate that a large force of workmen will be employed. Rumor has it that fifty houses in the vicinity of the new plant will be erected immediately for the accommodation of the employees.

WANT STORES CLOSED SUNDAYS.

Orange Liquor Dealers Ask Mayor to Enforce Law Against Tradesmen.

Orange, July 13.—Mayor Isaac Shoenthal, of Orange, yesterday received a letter from the Liquor Dealers' Protective Association of Orange, asking for a rigid enforcement of the laws against stores being open on Sundays.

The association points out that the Bishops' law requires them to expose the interior of their saloons on Sundays, and since they are forced to obey the law they see no reason why the dealers in other commodities should not also obey the old statute which forbids the transaction of business on Sundays. The liquor dealers are opposed to allowing the ice cream, candy, soda water and cigar stores to do business all day on Sundays, and they see no reason why many small groceries and retail establishments should have the privilege of selling on the first day of the week.

The Mayor will turn the letter over to Chief of Police Washer, who is charged with the enforcement of the law.

Mrs. Alexander Milne and her son, Lourie Milne, of Washington avenue, are summering at Bailey's Island, Maine.

SCREEN SECTION VOID.

Corporation Counsel Record Renders Opinion to That Effect.

The screen section of the excise law is unconstitutional, in the opinion of Corporation Counsel Record, of Jersey City. He ventilated his view of the law in a communication sent last night to the Jersey City Excise Board.

The liquor dealers are encouraged by this opinion, which sustains that of their counsel, ex-Judge Hudspeth, who has made preparations to attack the screen section. A test case will be begun next Sunday through a prearranged violation of that section of the new law.

The thirty-six saloonkeepers who were cited to appear before the First Criminal Court, Jersey City, for failing to remove screens last Sunday were discharged yesterday, as the contention of their counsel that the Excise Board had not directed that the screens be taken out was not disputed. James Waylett and Joseph Friend, the saloonkeepers charged with having sold liquor on Sunday, were also arrigned. They waived examination and furnished bail in the sum of $500 each to await the action of the grand jury.

SON OF THE REVOLUTION

William C. Stanbery's Father Fought in the Continental Army.

HAS KEEN MEMORY

Grand Old Man Has Lived in Union County All His Life—His Reminiscences.

William C. Stanbery, of Mountain road and Park avenue, Scotch Plains, is a real son of the Revolution, his father, Recompence Stanbery, having fought in the Continental Army.

He is a wonderful old man, as a reporter found who called on him a few days ago. The house is more than a century old, but one hears no creaking boards or rattling baluster as he goes from one to the other of the large old-fashioned rooms, or ascends the stairs to enjoy the homely comfort presented in the sleeping rooms on the second floor. One feels that it was a fitting abode of the fit men who lived in the days of the unrearing within its walls of the ancestry of this white-haired octogenarian. It's a house that speaks of comfort, and it holds treasures from Revolutionary and pre-Revolutionary days in every room.

Before entering the house Mr. Stanbery gave a reporter something of his history. One might listen for days to his interesting reminiscences. These are only a few of the facts he gave in a general anecdotal style. He disliked to speak of himself, preferring rather to speak of those of his house before him, running on as fancy presented to his mind the pictures of the old days.

"I was 84 years old June 17 just past," said he. "My father was Recompence Stanbery, who was in the Revolutionary War. He entered the service as a private and was afterward in the cavalry. He was an orderly sergeant. No, I couldn't say who he was under or what regiment he was in, but I have the bullet that was dug out of one side of his leg after it went in at the other in the battle of Long Island. I have his musket and cavalry pistols and the bit that he used. I had the bridle, but the leather all fell away and it's gone. My father married Major Chetwood's sister. I think her name was Sarah. I went to school for awhile in Elizabeth. It was Nuttman's school around there in Goose Hollow in East Jersey street near Scott place, and I boarded for about a year at Mrs. Meeker's at the corner of Broad and Water streets. I was born in this house, and the chairs and furniture you see in the room there are the things my father brought into the house when he moved into it on May 1, 1800, after he built it.

"I was quite a boy when father died. He left everything to my mother, but she said to me soon after, 'You might as well take it all now and manage it. You'll get it all anyhow by-an-by, and you might as well have it now.' So she turned it all over to me and I started in at seventeen as a man. I bought and sold fine cattle and horses and farmed, and nobody would guess but what I was over twenty-one. Scotch Plains was ahead of Plainfield once, but I cast my first vote in Plainfield. Henry Stanbery, who was attorney-general under President Johnson and defended him in the impeachment proceedings against Ben Butler, was my cousin.

"Why, I bought a plate of oysters from old Mrs. Commodore Vanderbilt when she kept a little stand near Castle Garden in New York. Chancellor Theodore Runyon, who took the first New Jersey troops to Washington, was a relative of my wife, and he was at one time ambassador to Berlin. The mother of Governor Henry A. Wise, of Virginia, was my cousin, she being the daughter of my uncle Jonas.

"Aaron Seeley, whose father kept the old National Hotel in Cortlandt street, New York, married my niece, and I went to Washington and had him appointed United States representative at Darmstadt.

"My father's brother, who was a doctor and lived in Wheatsheaf, came to stop here just before he started for what was then the far West and where Newark, Ohio, now is. He had nine children. After he had been gone some hours, two of his sons, Henry, who was afterward attorney-general, and William, were discovered picking hickory nuts in the back of the house here in the woods. Father hurried off with them, and when he caught up with his brother, Jonas said he had so many with him that he had fotgotten all about Henry and William.

"He had a log house 80x40 when he settled. It had three extensions on each side. He called it Oakland Hall. The main building was two stories high and the extensions one story. Now be sure and get my name right. One day when I was in

THURLOW WITHDRAWS FROM CONTEST FOR JOB

PLAINFIELDER NOT A CANDIDATE FOR HEALTH OFFICER OF JERSEY CITY.

Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow, who was being considered as a candidate for a similar position in Jersey City, his name having been presented to the Board of Health of that city by Mayor Mark M. Fagan, has withdrawn his name and will not allow it to be used any further in connection with that position in Jersey City.

The Jersey City Board of Health was divided on the question of electing Mr. Thurlow as health officer, there being an equal number of members for him and the same number against him. At a recent meeting of the Board of Health an attempt was made to elect Mr. Thurlow, but after repeated ballots it was found impossible.

Those who opposed Mr. Thurlow did so on the ground that while there were two Jersey City candidates for the office, men who were capable of filling the place, they could not conscientiously vote to elect an outside man, and they refused to join with the members who favored the Plainfielder. That politics figured in the selection there is no doubt, and the fact that Mr. Thurlow would have exacted certain conditions, such as the assurance that the position would be good for a term of five years at least, was no doubt responsible for his inability to land the position.

Mr. Thurlow will, therefore, remain in Plainfield and continue in the position he now holds. He has performed excellent work in looking after the city's health and the Board of Health considers itself fortunate in being able to keep Mr. Thurlow here.

SEASON'S RECORD CROWD OUT TO THE BAND CONCERT.

Soloists Redmond and Weston Well Received by Crowd of 3,000.

The largest crowd of the season turned out at the concert by LaVere's band at Concert Park last evening. The stand, which accommodates 800, was filled, and many of the late arrivals were disappointed at not being able to secure seats. Between three and four thousand heard the music, which was well received, especially the selections from Faust and the vocal work.

Billy Redmond and Eddie Weston were the soloists and rendered four selections. Both were well received by the crowds and the rendition of the songs was first-class. Owing to a mistake in bringing music arranged for a tenor solo of "Bill Simmons," Eddie Weston's second piece, it was impossible for the baritone to sing it. "Love Me and the World Is Mine" was substituted, and won great applause.

Somerset County Court.

The months of July and August will not be very busy ones in the Somerset county courts, as Judge Schenck has decided to hold court only on the last Friday of each of these months. The next session—on July 27—will be in the First Reformed church chapel, as by that time the old court house will be nearly torn down. Although the sheriff and his boarders have not moved out yet, Hyman Kline, who bought the building, has removed the seats, etc., from the inside. The law library from the judges' rooms has been removed to the old First Reformed chapel.

Welcome Service Tomorrow.

Among the speakers to address the meeting at the Crescent Avenue church to welcome Miss Curry at the beginning of her fourth summer's work at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church and chairman of the camp committee, Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church and Miss Sara Curry, who will attend the meeting with a delegation of twenty-five of the children from the camp. Singing will be a feature of the service, which will be held at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Bank Election.

The vacancy in the official board of the Second National Bank, of Somerville, caused by the resignation of George V. VanderVeer as president just before he left for his summer home at South Royalton, Vt., was filled yesterday at a meeting of the Board of Directors. Charles L. Voorhees, who had long been vice president, was chosen president, and Charles Schwed was made vice president. The secretary elected is James Q. TenEyck.

Next Excursion Thursday.

Don't forget Thursday, July 9. Check it on the calendar and make your plans now to go with the excursion to Asbury Park. Eight hours at the shore. Under the auspices of the First Presbyterian, Congregational and Park Avenue Baptist churches.

MAYOR KANE UPHOLDS THE HONOR OF NATIONS

GETS ARRESTED SEEKING DESTROYER OF IRISH AND AMERICAN FLAGS.

Firm in the belief that every Son of Erin is a Yankee before he is born, Patrick Kane, the "mayor of Cottage place," considered himself doubly insulted, yesterday, when someone set fire to an American and an Irish flag that he was carrying over his shoulder on North avenue. The mayor was so absorbed in displaying the emblems and announcing the fact that he had embarked in the peanut business that the flames ignited his shirt and added injury to his indignation. He declared in stentorian tones that he could not only put the husky kibosh on the man who had made light of two nations but it was within his power to wipe up the street with any man on the block.

To make good his boast, the patriot selected a local lawyer to begi operations on and had him in a tight corner when Patrolman Overbaugh interfered. Pat refused to listen to his advice to put his complaint in writing and let Congress deal with the culprit, so he was escorted to cell 5 at police headquarters.

The self-elected chief executive of Cottage place related his tale of woe to Judge Runyon this morning and exhibited the remnants of red, white, blue, green and old rose (the latter from the shirt) to show what indignities he and his two countries had suffered. The magistrate is not without patriotism and Kane was discharged, with the understanding, however, that he let the police inflict punishment on the renegade who applied the torch. He reluctantly gave his consent and hiked it for North avenue, which now numbers him among one of its leading merchants.

PLAN MEMORIAL TO GENERAL W. S. SCOTT.

Committee Already Named to Take Up Project in Elizabeth.

The first step toward the erection of a monument to General Winfield Scott in Elizabeth was taken Thursday night at the meeting of the general committee of the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument Association in Elizabeth.

On the motion of City Attorney James C. Connolly a committee was appointed to take into consideration the erection of a monument or other structure in Scott Park or some other suitable place to the memory of Lieut.-General Winfield Scott. President Bergen appointed James C. Connolly, Foster M. Voorhees, George A. Ford, John S. Sauer, W. H. Rankin, D. F. Collins and C. H. K. Halsey on the committee.

The meeting was presided over by ex-Governor Voorhees. The sum of $4,000 was voted to Thomas Jardine & Sons on account of their contract. This leaves a balance unpaid of $600 which, under the contract agreement, must be held to guarantee against possible defects until nine months from the completion of the monument.

A vote of thanks was given to A. L. Clark for the use of some stones at the ceremony of sealing the records, and also a vote of thanks to Col. Collins and officers and men of the Second regiment.

From the dedication committee Chairman MacMaster reported that letter of thanks had been forwarded to Chief of Police Tenney and Street Commissioner Thompson for arrangements at the monument site on July 4. The report recommended an appropriation of $5 to the sexton of Westminister church and $25 to the janitor of City Hall.

The meeting adjourned to meet at call of the chair.

Sunday's Meeting at Netherwood.

Rev. T. Moore-Smith, pastor of the Baptist church at Scoth Plains, will be the speaker at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home tomorrow afternoon at the 4 o'clock meeting. The meeting will be held on the lawns of the camp and music will be a feature. The choir of Trinity Reformed church will be present to aid with the singing and will render several selections.

Cripples at Netherwood Home.

When Miss Sara Curry returned from New York city yesterday afternoon she brought with her fourteen crippled children from the tenement districts. These youngsters will remain the entire summer at the camp. There are now 250 little New Yorkers at Netherwood and the camp accommodations are taxed to the utmost.

—Time to select your new trunk and suit case and the place to get the best is at Shirley & Johnston's. 7 13 2

BOY MISSILE THROWER INHERITED PRACTICE

HIS MOTHER TELLS JUDGE SHE DID IT BEFORE HE WAS BORN.

In explanation of her four-year-old son's propensity for throwing sticks and stones at the least provocation, Mrs. Rose L. Wilson today advanced one of the most novel pleas that have ever been handed to Judge Runyon in the city court.

The boy was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Maude Washington, who said he had been making her a target for all sorts of missiles and that she had given him no provocation that she knew of. She also declared that the youngster had developed a wonderfully strong right arm from continually throwing things and that no one in the neighborhood was safe.

When the mother was questioned about her son's failing, she readily admitted that he was a human slingshot but declared it was not his fault. "You see, Judge," she said, "just before Herman was born, my husband used to nag me a whole lot and I got excited almost every day. When I got real mad I grabbed anything in reach and threw it at him and that's why Herman has always been the same way. You can't blame him because he came by it honest."

Although Judge Runyon is not an expert in such matters, he expressed a belief in Mrs. Wilson's theory and the boy was discharged. Mrs. Washington declared, however, that whether hereditary or no, she wasn't going to be a backstop for Herman's missiles and served notice on him in court that he had better practice on the side of a barn.

REGULAR TRUCK DRIVERS ORGANIZE A UNION

WILL SEEK REGULAR HOURS AND UNIFORM WAGE RATE.

Forty or more local truck and wagon drivers met in Trades Council Hall, last night, and effected the permanent organization of a union. It is to be known as Local No. 336 and will be affiliated with the National Teamsters Union.

The following officers were elected: President, James Whelan; financial secretary, John Staats; recording secretary, Robert Wood; treasurer, John Dunham. Meetings are to be held once a month and inside of a short time it is thought the membership will be made 100.

A member of the union was seen this morning and stated that the organization was perfected for the purpose of protecting their interests, just the same as is done by men in other lines of labor. Employees will be asked to grant a uniform wage rate and a schedule of hours, most of them having done so already.

Colby Meeting at Cranford.

As the result of a conference held at Cranford this week to discuss the advisability of organizing a branch of the Union County Republican League for Equal Taxation, a public meeting will be held in Assembly Hall, Cranford, on Thursday night, July 26, at which time Mayor Egan, of Jersey City, will speak and explain the "New Idea," and shake up the "regulars." Other big guns, including Judge William N. Runyon, Senator Colby and George L. Record, will boom in the cause for reform.

Public Hall for St. Stephen's.

In the near future an addition will be built to the parish house of St. Stephen's church, providing for a hall, 50x25, with a stage and accommodations for 300 people. The building is to be lighted by electricity and gas, and fitted with all the necessary requirements. The hall will be used for social functions or public meetings of any character to be held in that section of the city.

Street Improvements.

Street Commissioner Gavett has had a new crosswalk laid at Park avenue and Second street, leading from the corner occupied by Druggist Schreiner to that of the Plainfield Trust Company. Owing to the widing of the street the walk is laid at an angle. Othre arrangements will have to be made for the electric light at the corner as the old pole must come down.

Boys' Club Will Camp Out.

Rev. A. S. Peck, rector of St. Stephen's church, has arranged to take the Boys' Club on an outing to Asbury Park, this summer. He has secured permission to use a certain plot of ground at the shore and is now busy getting together the necessary articles for camping purposes.

Ice Up Five Cents in Rahway.

Ice dealers at Rahway have increased the price of ice from fifty to fifty-five cents per hundred this week.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED BY HIS OWN VEHICLE

FELL BENEATH THE WHEELS AND HIS SKULL WAS CRUSHED.

Simon Matthews, aged thirty-five years, a driver employed by Mullin & Son, of Market street, Newark, fell from the seat of his truck as he was driving in the yard of Huber's hotel at Garwood, this morning, and was instantly killed. The wheels of the vehicle passed over his head, crushing his skull. Harry Hastings, who had been sharing the seat with him, made an attempt to stop the horses but was not quick enough. The fall was occasioned by his leaning to one side and losing his balance.

Matthews' home was at 138 New York avenue, Jersey City, where he leaves a widow and two children. The body was brought to Cole's undertaking rooms in this city and is being held pending the arrival of relatives. The victim had been employed by the Mullin & Son firm for a long time and was well known in this city, doing most of the local delivering.

INJURED FIREMAN'S CONDITION THE SAME

PHYSICIANS SAY THAT HE HAS A FIGHTING CHANCE OF RECOVERY.

The authorities at Muhlenberg hospital stated at noon today that Driver Harry Bush, who was injured in the overturning of Truck No. 1, Thursday night, had passed a fairly good night. His condition has remained about the same as when he was first admitted, which is to say that his chances of recovery are about equal. He was visited this morning by Chief Doane and he was able to converse with him for a short time. The puncture of the lung is the most serious of his hurts and is one that is likely to develop complications at any moment.

The Fire Committee of the Common Council will hold a meeting Monday night when an official investigation of the accident will begin. A number of witnesses have already been examined by Chief Doane and they will be summoned before the body.

The horses attached to the truck when it went over have been closely examined by Dr. Pocock and to all appearances they suffered nothing more than a few scratches.

OPENS FIGHT AGAINST ALLEGED ICE TRUST BY INVOKING AID OF COUNTY PROSECUTOR

ICE MEN'S SIDE

Dealers Association Objects to Scale Suggested by the Plainfield Protective Association.

SUPPLY NEARLY GONE

Say They Will Try to Get Ice from Wholesalers Elsewhere—Another Meeting to Be Held in Near Future.

The Ice Dealers' Association held a meeting last night and this morning President Peter J. McDonough sent the following letter to R. Henry Depew, president of the Plainfield Protective Association:

"The suggestion of your committee to raise the price of ice to butchers and other business men ten cents per hundred and lower it ten cents to private families was brought before our company at their meeting last night and was met with serious objections. First, because it would be likely to cause a raise in the price of meat, which would be greater hardship on the poor, as they can get along without ice but cannot get along without meat; second, because it would bring the wholesale and retail prices within five cents, which is something that has never been known here or elsewhere.

"The matter of a reduction in the price was taken up and as our stock is practically exhausted, our manager was instructed to communicate with as many of the wholesale companies as possible and get their price on ice delivered in Plainfield, after which he is to report to the company and another meeting will be held to take action on the same and you will be notified as to the outcome."

The suggestion, said to have been made by the Protective Association, that the price of ice to butchers and other business men be increased ten cents a hundred, was not made known by the citizens organization, whose committee held a conference with the ice men Thursday night. It astonished several members of the Protective Association when asked for their opinion regarding the reason for such action. No one seemed to know anything about the suggestion and as any member of the committee could not be found, it is impossible of explanation.

EBEN BYERS WILL PLAY GEORGE LYON IN FINALS.

Pittsburger Defeats Walter Travis in a Brilliant Match at Englewood.

An international interest is imparted to the thirty-six hole final today of the amateur golf championship, for the players will be Eben Byers, the Pittsburger entered from the St. Andrews Golf Club, and George Lyon, of Toronto, former Canadian champion. There was a rousing gallery yesterday at the Englewood Golf Club, almost the equal of the turnout for the final last year at Wheaton. Travis, after pulling his match from the fire in the morning, lost to Byers in the semi-final play by 4 up and 3 to play. Lyon, 4 down at the sixth in the morning to Tiffany, saved the match on the home green and cut rings around Knowles in the semi-final.

An army of golfing enthusiasts followed Travis and Travers in the morning and Byers and the former world's champion in the afternoor In the match between Byers and Travis, the former returned a score of 76 and his opponent's card showed an 80. Today's finals will be at thirty-six holes, the players teeing up at 10:30 a. m. and 2:30 this afternoon.

Acting on Advice of Attorney General, Mr. Hooley Consults Prosecutor English.

HE FEELS CONFIDENT

Immaterial to Him Personally, But On Behalf of Poor Banker Will Smash Any Illegal Combination.

Acting on the advice of Attorney-General McCarter, Edwin S. Hooley, on behalf of the people, has decided to have criminal proceedings brought against the ice men of Plainfield in order to ascertain whether there is any combination on their part in restraint of trade. This, of course, is providing sufficient evidence can be brought before the grand jury to warrant an indictment. That Mr. Hooley means business is established by his own statement that he has already been in consultation with N. C. J. English, prosecutor of Union county, and that he feels hopeful of producing the necessary evidence.

When seen by a reporter for The Daily Press, Mr. Hooley admitted that he had received a reply from the attorney-general of the State to his request for suggestion how to proceed in the matter. He seemed in his usual good humor when he remarked that the ice dealers would undoubtedly have an opportunity to make good their claim to the Plainfield Protective Association that they are innocent of any wrong doing. As reported in this paper yesterday, the wholesale dealers told the association's committee Thursday night that the retailers were under no agreement to sell the commodity purchased from them at any fixed price.

Mr. Hooley has received much encouragement from interested citizens and he is going right ahead on his own hook in the hope of helping the people of Plainfield get cheaper ice. He is now at work collecting evidence and it is reported that he has already laid some important facts before the county prosecutor. Just what this alleged evidence is could not be learned for Mr. Hooley told the reporter for The Daily Press that he would not divulge anything until the county prosecutor has acted. There is a deep implanted conviction in him that he has enough evidence to warrant in indictment.

To the Daily Press man, Mr. Hooley said today: "If there is any trust in the ice business and it is possible to smash it, I propose to do all in my power to break it up. Personally it makes little difference to me whether ice is twenty cents or a dollar a hundred for I can afford to pay for it. But that is not the point. There are hundreds of people who can not afford to pay exorbitant prices and I intend to see whether they will be compelled to."

Continuing, Mr. Hooley said: "I propose to lay all the facts obtainable before Prosecutor English and it will be up to him to do the rest. I know we can depend upon him. There is every reason to believe that there is a combination in restraint of trade here and if it can be proven it will not be permitted any longer."

"It is good news to hear that the Plainfield Protective Association has taken the matter up," added Mr. Hooley. "I hope they will obtain results. But whatever they do will not change my original plans in the slightest. I am going to find out for myself whether there is a trust."

Mr. Hooley also intends to do some investigating concerning the coal business in this city.

Captain Martin is to take command of the company at Elizabeth, and will be commanding officer of the Plainfielders during the stay in camp. The company shoot will probably be started Tuesday of next week.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Miss Irene Day's pupils gave a most enjoyable music recital in the chapel of the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon, which was attended by many borough music lovers as well as a throng of the friends of the pupils. The programme was well arranged and the various numbers showed excellent technique in the rendition. Miss Day his thirty-one pupils in her piano teaching and the programme, consisted of solos, duets and trios by the various pupils. The order of rendition follows: "Blumenlied," Lange, Miss Hannah Nelson; "Concert Gallop," Streabbog, a trio by the Misses Dorothy Cameron, Edith Wyckoff and Irene Day; "Fra Diavolo Phantasia," Smith, duet by Miss Edith Giles and Miss Day; "Marche de Concert," Engleman, duet by the Misses Mary Griscom and Agatha Badum; "Melody at Twilight," Martin, by Miss Gertrude Giles; "Fairies' Waltz," Ferris, duet by Miss Edna Green and Miss Helen Woodruff; "Juvenile Waltz," Streabbog, by Miss Marion Lynn; "Valse de Concert," Streabbog, trio by the Misses Lizzie Laible, Lorena Fletcher and Irene Day; "Gallop Brilliant," Holst, by Miss Susan Lowrie; "Birds of Paradise," Streabbog, duet by the Misses Dorothy and Marion Lynn; "Souvenir in F," Maker, by Miss Louise Ardern; "In Festal Array," Engelmann, by Edgar Starker and Harold Starr; "Song of the Rose," Martin, by Miss Helen Woodruff; "Orphie 2me Phantaisie," Smith, duet by the Misses Susan Lowrie and May Ardern; "Valse," Streabbog, by Miss Dorothy Lynn; "Polka de Concert," Edwards, by Edgar Starker; "Mazurka Brilliante," Reinard, duet by the Misses Lucy Clawson and Hannah Nelson; "Second Mazurka," Godard, by Miss Edith Giles; "Love in May," Oesten, by Miss Beatrice Cameron; "Society Gallop," Engelmann, duet by the Misses Merle Randolph and Lillian Garretson; "Faust Phantaisie Elegante," Leybach, by Miss Kathryn Samson; "Sonata Opus 33," duet by the Misses Gertrude Giles and Louise Ardern; "Concert Gallop," Dressler, duet by the Misses Edith Wyckoff and Ethel Coffee; "Sternenlied," Engelmann, by Miss Lillian Garretson; "Tarantelle," Heller, by Miss Agatha Badum; "Floral Waltz," Brunner, duet by Gerald Dunham and Miss Irene Day; "Les Huguenots—Grande Phantaisie," Smith, by Miss May Ardern; "Les Papillions Dausant," Stone, trio by the Misses Kathryn Samson, Beatrice Cameron and Irene Day.

Friday, the thirteenth of the month, proved a very unlucky day for Earnest Peters, an employe of the Public Service Corporation, who was painfully injured at the Lincoln hotel yesterday afternoon. Peters was stringing electric light wires in the building, and, being unable to find a stepladder for his work, used a barrel to stand on. While he was working the barrel head collapsed and he fell heavily. In so doing he grabbed for the side of the barrel and caught his right hand on a nail in the side, tearing a deep jagged cut several inches in length between the first finger and thumb. He was taken to Dr. Brakeley's office, where three stitches were taken in the hand, and disinfectant was applied to prevent danger from tetanus. He was then able to go to his home on Dunellen avenue. The injury is most painful, but as immediate medical attention was given, no complications are feared.

The rumor to the effect that the Philadelphia plant of Levering & Garrigues' shops is to be moved to a factory site at West Dunellen cannot be founded. When seen by a Daily Press reporter at his home in Plainfield last night, Mr. Garrigues said that the firm had no idea of moving the Philadelphia plant to town, but was constantly increasing the size and output of the local shops. The business of the company is now mainly centred at New York, where the central offices are, and this brings the bulk of the contract upon the local factory. The new blacksmith shop, which is in course of construction at the Dunellen shops, is now well under way, and will probably be ready for use by the first of the month.

Dunellen real estate has had a big boom during the spring and summer months. With so many men employed at the local shops and so many new manufacturing places preparing to open plants in town, houses are very easily rented and sold. The construction of the Public Service Corporation's car barns at Gallagher's corner will bring conductors and motormen with their families to live in the borough and there is talk of the erection of several new houses.

BOOK 13 UNLUCKY FOR HOST OF HEIRS.

Attorney's Revelation a Blow to Hartsfield Claimants to Gotham Land.

United States District-Attorney W. H. Atwell, of Dallas, Tex., visited the office of County Register Gass in New York yesterday for the purpose of inspecting the records in connection with the prosecution of Jos. I. Cowan, of that city, who has been indicted for the fraudulent use of the mails.

Cowan professes to represent a syndicate organized for the purpose of purchasing the interests of the heirs of one ames Hartsfield, who died in New York years ago. District-Attorney Atwell estimates that Cowan has received from the heirs mor than $100,000 in the last two years since the alleged scheme was evolved.

Cowan, according to Mr. Atwell, represented that Hartsfield, in 1795, had leased for ninety-nine years to the city of New York 160 acres of land between Seventy-fifth and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth streets, running along either side of Broadway and Fifth avenue, which is worth hundreds of millions today. According to Cowen, the lease expired ten years ago and the property should now revert to Hartsfield's heirs.

Cowan represented that the first twelve libers of the records were missing from the Register's office, and that the record of the deeds and transfer were in the eight books. This was where the greatest difficulty appeared in proving the claim. Then the heirs poured in money on Cowan.

The examination of the records yesterday by District-Attorney Atwell revealed that Book 13, the first of the existing records, recorded transfers as far back as 1685, establishing the fact that a record of the lease alleged would appear in a later book in existence. This was an important fact for the prosecution.

Cowan, he stated, was indicted about a month ago on the complaint of a Baptist minister, one of Hartsfield's heirs, who had paid him considerable sums of money.

"Cowan visited New York about a year ago," said Mr. Atwell, "ostensibly for the purpose of investigating the claim. He said that J. P. Morgan wanted to buy up the interest of the heirs for $230,000,000, but that he was holding out for $500,000,000. The story he told the heirs was believed by rich and poor among them and all contributed to the cause."

District-Attorney Atwell added that letters and remittances still come to Cowan. The latter is out on bail and the DistrictAttorney said he hoped to bring him to trial in January.

Always the Same.

"Bless you, I should say so," replied Mrs. Goldrox. "She always does. Her figger never varies at all."

GIRL MURDERED WHILE ROWING WITH A MAN.

Young Woman Found in Big Moose Lake and Companion Gone.

Big Moose, N. Y., July 14.—Lost in the heart of the Adirondack wilderness is a young man, evidently a college student, who is suspected of having murdered a girl companion with whom he registered at the Hotel Glenmore, at the foot of Big Moose Lake, on Wednesday.

At the hotel they gave the names of Carl Graham, of Albany, and Grace Brown, of Lake Otselic, in Chenango county. The couple took a boat and, asking where the points of interest were, said they would return for supper and take the late train for Utica.

Night came, and the man and girl did not return to the hotel. Thursday morning the boat was found overturned near the head of the lake. Nearby the man's hat and the girl's jacket were picked up. Late last night the girl's body was found. There was a deep cut over her right temple. The wound could not have been made after drowning. It might have been inflicted by a blow from an oar blade.

Telephonic communication was at once established with Albany and Otselic, but it was impossible to obtain any information concerning the couple. The local authorities are convinced that the couple registered under assumed names.

The man was well dressed and carried a tennois racket in his suit case. The girl's appearance indicated that she was a country girl.

About 8 o'clock last night three guides saw a man who answered the description of the missing man who was with the drowned girl hurrying through the woods on the Eagle Bay road. He was at least five miles from the Eagle Bay station and not more than five miles from the Big Moose station. He was wearing a slouch hat. The lining was torn out of the straw hat found in the water, so no identification could be made from that.

An investigation shows that a man answering that description has left none of the hotels or camps in this section. The girl is believed to be the daughter of Henry Brown, of Otselic, N. Y., who left home three or four days ago to go to work at Woodstock, N. Y.

No attempt has been made to run down the missing man, who is believed here to be responsible for the girl's death. When last seen he was in the heart of the Adirondack wilderness, and it would be impossible for a stranger to follow the trails through the forest. Unless he is an expert woodsman he will starve to death in the wilderness.

JOHN A. M'CALL DIED WITH LITTLE MONEY.

The Late Insurance President's Property in New York is Worth But $40,385.

After deducting his debts, the net personal property in New York owned by the late John A. McCall, former president of the New York Life Insurance Company, amounts to only $40,385, according to an appraisal filed in the Surrogate's Court, New York.

Mr. McCall's gross personal property in New York amounted to $74,815. From this his funeral expenses, commissions of executors and expenses of administration, aggregating $33,041, were deducted. The largest of the debts enumerated is $23,000, money borrowed on Dec. 30 last from Darwin P. Kingsley.

Mr. McCall owned no real estate in New York State but had extensive holdings in New ersey. He had a $30,000 interest in the Broadway Real Estate Syndicate and held small blocks of stocks in various New York corporations.

A Little Schoolgirl's Essay.

Here is the essay of a little schoolgirl on "If I Were Grown Up:" "If I were grown up I should get married and have jam whenever I like. And I think I shall be a dressmaker. I am not going out in a carriage, like some people; I am going out in a motor car if I can afford it. When I am married I am not going out washing clothes, like some people. I shall expect my husband to take me out when I am grown up. I shall have a baby, and I shall not let anybody spank it unless it's naughtey. If it wants spanking I shall spank it. I want plenty of money from my husband. That's all I have got to say about when I am grown up."

Wellington's Favorite Charger.

Copenhagen, the Duke of Wellington's favorite charger, is buried in a paddock at Strathfieldsaye, Hampshire. The interment took place with military honors. The inscription on the stone placed over the grave reads:

Here lies Copenhagen, the Charger ridden by the Duke of Wellington the entire day at the Battle of Waterloo.
Born 1808, Died 1836.

DEEDS, NOT WORDS.

Plainfield People Have Absolute Proof of Deeds at Home.

It's not words, but deeds that prove true merit.

The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills,

For Plainfield kidney sufferers,

Have made their local reputation.

Proof lies in the testimony of Plainfield people who have been cured to stay cured.

Mrs. Margaret Reville, of 732 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For a long time I was troubled with a lame back and never found anything which gave me relief until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's pharmacy. In a short time after beginning to take them I felt their good effects, and from then on I improved steadily. I gave a statement at that time, telling what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me, and I am glad to confirm everything I have previously said regarding the curative properties of this remedy. I used several other medicines to cure the lameness and aching in my back but got no relief until I took Doan's Kidney Pills and I give Doan's all the credit for my being cured."

A London woman had a painting which she believed to be by Turner and offered it to several leaders, who said it was nothing like Turner's work and refused to buy it. Later she found documents which proved it to be a genuine Turner and within a week she sold it for $12,250.

SHE SLEW BROTHER WHO AVENGED HER

GIRL WHO SHOT MITCHELL, WHO KILLED FOR HER, HAPPY HE IS DEAD.

Seattle, Wash., July 14.—Esther Mitchell, the seventeen-year-old girl, who shot and killed her brother, George, in the Union Station Thursday night, made a statement yesterday in which she describes the murder as deliberately planned.

George Mitchell had recently been acquitted of the murder of Franz Edmund Creffield, a "Holy Roller prophet," on the plea of insanity. He claimed that Creffield had wronged his sister, Esther, who was a "Holy Roller." Esther later planned her brother's death. In her statement she said:

"Mrs. Creffield and I talked over the matter of killing George. The one that had the best chance was to do it. Mrs. Creffield bought the gun. We were at the room about 4 o'clock this afternoon and I thought I would have a better chance to do it than Mrs. Creffield, as my brother wanted to see me, and I believed that he would think nothing about my going to the depot. Then Mrs. Creffield gave me the gun.

"We agreed that it must be done as soon as possible. My brother, Fred, was in my room and said that Perry and George were going to Portland last evening. I went to the depot and saw Perry get his ticket. At last I saw George and I shook hands with him. He and Perry were walking in front and Fred and I were walking behind. I was walking to the door and George was in front of me. That was the chance I wanted, and I shot him.

"My brother, Fred, grabbed me and I sat down on his lap and put my arms about his neck. I sat there and the officer came.

"I intended to follow him to Portland if I did not get a chance at him here. I am not sorry I did the shooting. I am glad of it."

It was a little more than two months age that George Mitchell shot and killed Franz Edmund Creffield, a religious fanatic, because he ruined his sister. He was acquitted Tuesday. It was just forty-eight hours later that he met the same fate.

Thursday's tragedy is attributed to a distorted mental condition brought about by the orgies participated in by the young woman while she was a member of the "Holy Roller" sect, of which Creffield was the self-styled prophet under the name of Joshua.

Under the guise of religion Creffield indulged in practices which several times came near causing him to be lynched. Most of his victims were young girls. The centre of his activities was in and about Corvallis, Oregon. It was there that Esther Mitchell fell under his evil influence and became one of his most abject subjects.

George Mitchell ran across Creffield on the streets of Seattle on May 7 last and shot him dead. At the time of the killing Creffield's wife was with him. She declared that he would come to life again, firmly believing him possessed of supernatural powers. This belief was shared by Esther Mitchell, who became the devoted friend of the women whom her brother had widowed.

When he had been imprisoned Esther Mitchell expressed only the deepest hatred for her brother and declared again and again that she hoped he would be hanged. The fact that he had killed the "Holy Roller" on her account did not appeal to her in any way.

At the trial the defense interposed a plea of insanity, and to show how the prisoner's mind was deranged by the indignities visited upon his sister called witnesses who were familiar with the vile practices of the leader of the "Holy Rollers" during the ceremonials of the sect. Without much delay young Mitchell was acquitted on the perfunctory plea that he was insane.

Immediately after the arrest of Esther Mitchell orders were given for the arrest of Mrs. Maud Creffield, the widow of the prophet. Mrs. Creffield, however, telephoned the police where she was to be found, and when taken to the station frankly admitted that she entered into a compact with Esther to kill the slayer of her husband. She will be held as an accomplice.

Corn Cultivation.

Opinions are strongly formed as to the proper number of plowings a corn crop should receive, writes an Ohio farmer in National Stockman. It may be wise to say that corn should be plowed as often as it needs it and never laid by. After the corn becomes too tall to be worked with the double cultivators it will be found profitable wherever possible to stir the surface with a one horse cultivator. Cultivation is corn.

Reason Enough.

THE "ICE TRUST."

It seems hardly credible that the Plainfield Protective Association should have offered the suggestion to the ice men that they increase the price of the commodity ten cents a hundred for butchers and other large consumers and reduce it a similar amount for the small consumer. Any such proposition as that is as serious a blunder as its solution of the trouble with the P. S. C. where the result was that the large consumer it is said is now compelled to pay more than he did before any negotiations were begun. What the people demand is cheaper ice all round, cheaper for the big consumer and cheaper for the little one.

It strikes us that the methods adopted by Edwin S. Hooley will be far more satisfactory in solving the ice problem. Acting on the advice of Attorney-General McCarter he proposes to invoke the arm of the law. If it can be proven that the local ice men are in a combination in restraint of trade they are not fit to sell the commodity at any price. By resorting to law ample opportunity will be afforded them for vindication from the common report that the rates in this city are fixed by agreement among those in the business. That the price can be much lower, still allowing the dealers a fair profit, is generally accepted as a fact. Whether it is true will be brought to light in the course of the legal proceedings. It is to be hoped that Prosecutor English will give prompt attention to Mr. Hooley, and that the citizens of Plainfield generally will lend their support to the man who first undertook "to do something" to break up the alleged combine.

No sooner does Elizabeth build one monument than it starts on another, it now being proposed to erect a shaft in honor of Gen. Scott. The city did always have a pretty good reputation as a graveyard.

BIBLE IN CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

Church Teachers Vote for More Extensive Reading of Scriptures.

Cleveland, July 14.—A radical departure from the established policy of Catholic education was decided upon by the convention of the National Catholic Educational Association yesterday when the prelates and priests present declared by vote in favor of a wider and more extensive reading of the Scriptures in the parochial schools. This was in fact a declaration in favor of the reading of the New Testament in those schools. At present the general rule is to give brief lessons daily in Bible history.

A message from the Pope, election of officers and the discussion of important papers made the session of the last day a highly interesting and busy one. The Pope's cablegram was a reply to the message of greeting sent to him at the opening of the meeting. It read:

"The Holy Father returns thanks for the sentiments of filial devotion manifested toward him by the Educational Association and most lovingly imparts his blessing.

"Cardinal Merry Del Val."

The papers read in the departments were profound studies of the subjects allotted to the writers. In the school department, Rev. E. A. Lafontaine, of Fort Wayne, discussed the "model school curriculum."

In the college department the paper of Rev. E. F. X. McSweeny, of Mt. St. Mary's College, of Emmitsburg, Md., on the necessity of religious instruction in the colleges provoked considerable discussion, and the members were inclined to censure the parish priest for his stand in relation to the Catholic colleges. The charge was made that some of them advise Catholic youths to go to non-sectarian or non-Catholic schools.

H. C. Krebs, superintendent of the North Plainfield schools and county superintendent of Somerset, is attending the summer school at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Commuters at this place are greatly incensed over the poor train service, and the burning of soft coal on the trains. Several parties who rented homes here have given them up and gone on a road where better train service is given, and where is the wonder, when 6:30 is the last train that stops from New York city. If a business man is delayed after that hour he could reach home if the later trains would stop long enough to let him off, but for some reason or other they fail to do so, and he is obliged to remain from his family all night.

A number of young folks will go on the excursion to Bellewood, Sunday. This is a beautiful spot on the mountain top and is well worth a visit.

Give the new pastor a hearty welcome by attending all the services on his first Sunday and bringing your friends with you.

Free ice cream and candy tonight at the opening of Mrs. Phillips' store, Lehigh Valley avenue.

THE FORUM.

Editor The Daily Press:

Through the enterprise and good taste of the Women's Town Improvement Association, apperiopsis, or better known as Japanese ivy, has been planted at the abutments of the Railroad bridge. At our street crossings in most instances it has made splendid growth, and is a source of much beauty, covering rough stone walls with a mantle of verdure in summer and a magnificent autumn coloring in the latter part of the year.

The writer observes at Park avenue bridge some vandal has severed a large stem of this plant from the wall, which will take years to replace. I feel that the authorities should take steps to ferret out these vandals and to meet out summary punishment.

The efforts of the Improvement Association are most commendable and deserve the support both moral and official of our townspeople.

Editor The Daily Press:

The inference drawn from your report of the Bush accident, is that he was approaching a corner at speed contrary to department orders. But it is reported that Bush was a valiant fireman and noted for his promptness in the department, and jealousy of his official character has created an effort at perversion of facts in this particular incident. The report quite contrary to your article, is—that Bush's team attempted to turn by habit at this particular corner, and that they got the best of Bush before he had strength to prevent the accident. If this is the case it was an accident instead of disobedience of orders. Any horseman knows that a horse or team are subject to habit and it is awkard for a driver under such conditions to make sure under high speed a safe crossing in such a place.

Oakland Hill my uncle says: 'William, how do you spell your name?' I says, 'Stanbery.' 'That's right,' said he. 'So long as you spell it that way you're welcome to stay at Oakland Hall, but there's some mongrels down here in Baltimore who spell it with a 'bury' on the end of it, and that I won't have.'

"I haven't been in Elizabeth, I guess, for nearly ten years, but I can say that I was on every grand jury from the time I was 21 years old until Billy Kirk got to be sheriff. Then, as I couldn't hear the witnesses good any longer, I gave it up. The last time I was in Elizabeth I was introduced to a clerk in one of the offices in the court house. When he heard my name he said: 'When I was a clerk in Essex there was some old woman of that name who seemed to be dabbling in everything. I met her name everywhere on the books, but never could see her. I often wondered who she was.' I asked him the old woman's first name. He said her name was 'Recompence.' 'Well,' said I, 'that old woman was my father.' He thought Recompence was a woman's name, like Charity and Grace."

Mr. Stanbery continued farming and doing a real estate business until 1870, when he quit for good. His only son died last New Year's day, at the age of forty-eight. He left one son, who is now 14 years old.

A DIVORCE TALE OF THREE CITIES.

Trouble Began in Mexico, Got Worse in Chicago, and Is at Climax In New York.

Edwin J. Johnson, of the firm of Warner, Johnson and Gallstone, lawyers, with offices in New York, Chicago and Mexico, is suing his wife, Helen B. Johnson, for absolute divorce in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn. The affidavits of Mr. Johnson were filed yesterday in the county clerk's office in New York.

The parties were married in Herkimer, N. Y., on Sept. 30, 1903. In October of that year they went to Mexico City, where Johnson took charge of the branch office of his firm. Here they lived happily together until January, 1905. Henry P. Gallagher, a prominent member of the American colony in Mexico, is named as co-respondent.

In February, 1905, Mrs. Johnson and a woman friend were spending a week at Chapala, Mex. Gallapher joined them at that resort. When Mrs. Johnson returned home her husband says he noticed that her manner had changed; she appeared cold and indifferent. He says he asked an explanation and she said:

"My trip to Chapala has given me a new outlook of life and home. I am a changed woman."

Mr. Johnson then determined to send his wife to the home of her mother in Herkimer, N. Y., hoping in this way to break up the friendship.

Mrs. Johnson left Mexico City for Herkimer August 11 last.

Johnson learned that later she went to Chicago to meet Gallagher, and he telegraphed to the branch office of his law firm in Chicago, reciting his suspicions. He directed that detectives be employed to watch his wife and Gallagher.

The detectives learned that Mrs. Johnson was stopping at the Palmer House, New York, having registered as Mrs. H. P. Gallway. Gallagher was also at the hotel. The detectives claim that they had surprised Gallagher in Mrs. Johnson's room.

Mrs. Joanson in her answer declares that she has been guilty of no wrong-doing with Gallagher or any other man. She explained Gallagher's presence in her room by saying that a friend was taken ill at a party she attended and Gallagher took the woman to her home. When he returned later for his overcoat Mrs. ohnson was alone in her room. It was then the detectives discovered them.

Pending the trial of the action Justice Truman C. White allowed Mrs. Johnson $40 a week alimony and $200 counsel fee.

MUST LICENSE AUTO "BUSSES."

Machines Will Be Stopped Until Permits Are Gotten Today.

Atlantic City, July 14.—Unless two score or more hotel men secure licenses for their electric "busses" before night, the entire number will be impounded, according to State Automobile Inspector Daniel Smith, of New Brunswick, who arrived here this morning, angry because only one automobile "bus" in the city had been licensed according to the State automobile law. This latter fact is vouched for by the inspector, who declared that the hotel magnates must obey the law as well as the owners of touring cars.

The announcement has created a furore among the hotel men, most of whom were ignorant of the provisions of the law as applied to ordinary machines used for passenger traffic. Following the raid on the hotel cars, Inspector Smith will spend several days watching along the meadow boulevard and insists that he will confiscate every car coming into the city without a license tag, as required by law. This new move will shock the autoists who have been simply paying fines when caught, and it is likely that they will fight the claims of the official that he is empowered to take possession of unlicensed cars.

Parade Finance Board Organizes.

Rahway, July 14.—The board of finance of the firemen's parade organized last night. John Farrell will take care of one ward, Henry Kip of another and W. H. Wright the remaining five, on the collections.

The Misses Randolph, of Central avenue, left yesterday for a stay at Femly Farm, Lebanon, N. J.

AMUSEMENTS.

While there are but four acts necessary in the presentation of A. H. Woods' new melodrama, "Chinatown Charlie," no fewer than seventeen scenes are employed in the thrilling development of a plot reeking with crime and generosity infused with sensation.

Among the exciting incidents that encompas a tale of trials, troubles and tribulations of a young man who after a life of shame and depravity, has found strength enough to lead him from the crooked path, none have attracted more notice than the realistic raid upon a woman's pool room and gambling house, and the performance by a bevy of pretty girl acrobats who form a living bridge over which the heroine who helps "Chinatown Charlie" to become a better man, crosses to safety.

Several of the scenes relate to New York's injquitous Chinatown and are given with rare fidelity, especially the opium den and chop suey restaurant where are congregated a variety of human specimens from the seamy side of life.

The interior of a Bowery theatre of the free and easy class, "Rat Alley," "The Secret Chamber," "An East Side Roof Garden," are also esteemed by the press as exceptional proof of the scene painter's skill, while the less depressing pictures which afford a capital view of Times Square and the new Hotel Astor are said to be marvelous achievements on canvas.

A. H. Woods' "Chinatown Charlie" with all its wealth of scenic splendor and a cast of brilliancy will invite favors at the New Plainfield Theatre on Saturday, July 28.

HOBOKEN SALOON MEN WILL KEEP UP SCREENS.

This Action on Next Sunday Decided Upon by the Retail Dealers' Association.

Hoboken, July 14—The Hoboken Retail Liquor Dealers' Association, at its meeting yesterday, voted not to remove the screens from their windows until notified to do so by the councilmanic License committee. As a result of this decision many saloon keepers who had already removed their screens and partitions have put them back in place. Secretary Boschardt stated that the members of the association will keep their places closed tight again tomorrow.

The club question waxed hot and one member after the meeting declared that "the club business will be knocked out Sunday. If the police cannot get evidence we will get it for them."

Simultaneously with the action of the liquor dealers, Secretary Dindewald, of Hoboken Lodge, No. 74, Elks, sent out notices yesterday to the 900 members of the lodge, which bore this inscription: "None but Elks admitted on Sundays and meeting nights. Be sure to bring your card." Fred Kaegebein, Peter Tivy and William Verdon, who were arrested Sunday for not removing their screens, appeared in court yesterday morning, and Acting Recorder Laverty dismissed the cases without comment. In the case of John Wilschusen, a local hotel-keeper, who was the only liquor dealer arrested for selling, testimony was taken yesterday and Wilschusen held in $500 bail for the action of the grand jury.

Jersey After Oleo Firm, Too.

Trenton, July 14.—"Our department has begun proceedings against Braun & Fitts, 24 Market street, Camden, on a charge of selling oleomargarine from an unmarked box," said Dr. Henry K. Mitchell, secretary of the State Board of Health, to a reporter yesterday. "The suit was instituted January 6, 1906, and the case is now pending." Braun & Fitts comprise the corporation in which J. Herbert Potts, secretary of the Republican State committee, is a shareholder and incorporator, according to the records of the secretary of State's office. Its Camden manager, J. W. Titus, and a driver, L. Crosby, were arrested in Philadelphia Tuesday and held for court Thursday evening, charged with violating Pennsylvania's pure food laws.

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

FASHION FANCIES.

Armlet bracelets have developed since short sleeves came to fashion. They are seen with cloth tailor-mades and kid gloves, made of leather clasped with gilt buckles. With dressy costumes, chain bands clasped with pearl studded buckles keep the armlet or long glove up.

You lace the Oxford tie from top downward, of course, since the wide silk laces came to town. The bow just at the top of the vamp of the shoe has long loops and ends that just escape getting under the foot in walking.

The fancy for dog collars, which are useful in holding up lingerie stocks, has brought out a great variety of collar-like neck fixings. Among them are bands from three-quarters of an inch to an inch and a half wide, made of gold or silver openwork braid, jewelled. The jewels come in imitation of all the precious stones and can be bought by the dozen or on tapes by the yard. The braid is curved slightly to shape it to the neck. The lacy tinsel braids are the best for the purpose. Sometimes two are sewed together through the middle, instead of one wide one being used; then the top and bottom edges are outlined with the jewels.

Lace is always more or less popular, never more so than it is right now. From little yokes and collars and undersleeves to elaborate gowns and coats, it is everywhere in evidence and always pretty.

Of course there are endless varieties that may be bought, wonderfully good imitations of the "real thing" as well as the most expensive pieces of point lace and Brussels and valenciennes, but the woman who has rare old lace at her disposal is the one to be envied this season. It is difficult to imagine anything more beautiful in the way of dress than some of the lace robes that are now worn. A new model recently shown was of French chochet of Irish design. The groundwork was of finest make, showing a beautiful raised floral design, the petals of which were filled in with the finest imaginable openwork chochet.

Another gown was of fine tambour lace of exquisite quality and superb Brussels applique. The skirt was made with three flounces edged with the Brussels lace and the elbow sleeves were treated in the same way, while a handsome bertha of applique made a charming finish. The beauty of these lace gowns and coats, too, is greatly enhanced by the linings of chiffon, for nothing sets off their light and airy appearance quite so daintily.

Combined with other materials, too, laces are used in making the most elaborate and frivolous neckwear. A rich scarf of Luxeuil lace, bordered with white ostrich feather, is suitable for either day or evening wear. A little cape of guipure lace and Marabout fastened with velvet ribbon is a pretty finish to an evening toilette.

A very natty afternoon frock is of green and white checked lawn, frilled with lace-edged ruffles and worn with shoulder straps and girdle of black ribbon.

A new blue and white checked silk just home from the dressmaker is strapped with white cloth.

A toque seen lately was of pale green straw, trimmed with a huge black taffeta bow and clusters of white cherries and foliage.

Real roses are being used in hats of ultra-fashionables here and in Paris.

The Peter Pan and tailored shirts are quite chic, and continue to be very popular.

Peacock plumes still brush the air.

"Peter Pan" things are being a trifle overdone.

Those inexpensive skirts of white linene are all right for mornings.

Why can't we have colored hooks and eyes to match the gown? They'd be less obvious.

The fashion of using big pearl buttons on the front of the tub skirt seems to be growing.

Blouses of bright Scotch plaid silk are shown in the shops—but they're not to be worn just now.

It seems that a girl really needs three white wash belts a day, to keep them immaculate.

Black patent leather ties with trimmings of white kid look very pretty indeed, worn perferably with black silk stockings.

Somehow the woman who can wear shades of brown becomingly never achieves quite such prettiness in any other color.

Wouldn't it be a good idea to give bead necklaces, jeweled dog collars, heavy bracelets, pins, trinkets and chains, a brief vacation during the hot weather? It seems too bad to perspire under unnecessary weight.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

Ir bread that has grown stale is rubbed over with a cloth dipped in cold water and then heated thoroughly in the oven, it will freshen it so that it will be most palatable.

In order to get a desirable gloss on linen articles add to every pound of starch a piece of white wax about the size of a walnut. When ready for ironing, the linen should be laid upon the table, slightly moistened, and first ironed with a flat-iron or box-iron. After this an iron rounded at the bottom, very heavy and very bright, is used for the polishing process.

Old felt hats will make good lamp-wicks and give a bright light. Care must be taken to cut them the exact width of the wick and not too narrow.

To make fly paper melt equal part of boiled linseed oil and resin and add some honey. Soak the paper in a strong solution of alum and dry and then apply the above mixture.

An admirable way to clean bamboo furniture is to wash it well in warm water containing a gill of salt to each quart. This will preserve the color.

Copperas mixed with whitewash used for store rooms will keep insect life away.

If white goods has become stained with vaseline dip the spots in kerosene before washing in water.

If the ivory handles of knives have become yellow they can be whitened by rubbing gently with fine sandpaper, then polishing with a clean chamois leather.

When making down pillows go over the inside of the case with an iron rubbed well with beeswax each time it is applied to the cloth to prevent the down working through the cloth.

FOR YOUNG MOTHERS.

Don't be afraid to touch the new baby. It won't break. Hold it head and back carefully and you will soon be able to handle it with ease.

Don't think if it sneezes after feeding that it has taken cold. Sneezing is a habit of very young babies.

Don't attempt to remove any foreign substance from the nose with a hairpin and cloth. The corner of a clean linen rag dipped in warm water and inserted in the nostril will be sufficient.

Don't use a fine comb. If patches of dirt should appear on the scalp, rub them at night and next morning remove with warm water and pure castile soap.

Don't neglect to wash out the baby's mouth after every feeding, using cold water and boric acid, forming a very mild solution.

Don't forget that you can strengthen the eyes by keeping them shielded from gas light and sunlight and by bathing them three times a day in warm water and boric acid, a cupful of water and a teaspoonful of the powder.

Don't let a draught strike the young baby. There is far less danger of its smothering than of its taking a fatal cold. The new-born infant cannot be kept too warm.

Don't wake it up to look at it, if you do you will regret it later on.

Don't rock it, walk with it or hold it unnecessarily unless you wish to make yourself a slave to its caprices as the months go on.

Don't permit its feet to get cold. Warm feet are the symptoms of a healthy baby.

Don't let it keep on a wet bib and be sure that when any party of the body is moist it must be thoroughly dried before powdering to prevent chafing.

Don't use scented powder; uncented talcum, in connection with proper bathing, will keep the baby as sweet as a rose.

Don't put its head on a pillow the way you rest yourself. The little body should be laid out straight or on its right side to keep the back strong.

Don't use soap for the face. Pure white castile for other parts of the body, together with warm water, are the essentials for the baby's bath.

Don't use the same cloth for bathing all parts of the body.

Don't begin talking in whispers. The baby will learn to sleep if you speak normally and you will nd it will make life much easier for both you and your friends if you do not accustom the newcomer to absolute silence when he sleeps. In fact, in a New York flat this condition would be hardly possible, no matter how much you might wish it.

BERRIES FOR BREAKFAST.

For the first course of a breakfast or luncheon, fill cocktail glasses half full of raspberries, turn over the fruit chilled and well sweetened currant juice, and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

For a hot day luncheon or dinner dessert, mash ripe currants, sweeten them and after they have stood for a time strain out the seeds through a sieve. Cut bananas in slices, arrange them in a dish, cover them with the currant juice and chill.

Ripe currants add to the flavor of red or black raspberries, when the fruit is used as a sauce for puddings or pies. They are excellent canned, mixed in equal proportions.

Currant cake is a delicacy from Boston. Cream together a cupful of sugar and half a cupful of butter, add the yolks of three eggs and the whites of two eggs, all thoroughly beaten, then stir in half a cupful of milk and two cupfuls of flour sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. At the last, incorporate a cupful of currants dredged with a tablespoonful of flour and bake for forty minutes.

A Fraud Exposed.

"The lines in your hand indicate," said the fortune-teller, "that you will be married a second time." "Pshaw," she angrily retorted, grabbing for the dollar she had just laid upon the table, "you're an old fraud. If I'm ever married again it will be the fouth time."

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.
Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.
Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 5, '99, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 10 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

ARE YOU A BUTTERFLY?

He wishes good value for every dollar expended and finds that by incessant labor he can only command a small salary.

Now, if he marries a girl as poor as Job's turkey, but blessed with the gift of New England thrift, even if they do no more than respect each other and love is not thought of, he and she may be happy.

But if he marries for love and the one he loves and who loves him is a shop-hunter and a bargain-buyer, and a general spendthrift, the time will come when love will seek other lodgings.

That is, if one speaks dogmatically.

As a matter of fact there are foolish, spendthrift wives who have nose-to-the grandstone husbands who are glad to wear their noses to the bone if oly their wives are happy and well dressed and get keen enjoyment from their shopping.

But to speak only to you who need the advice:

If you husband is a hard-working, poorly-paid man, why not try to ease his burdens by seeking your pleasures in other places than the shops!

An English observer and humorist now traveling in this country says that what strikes him is the mad desire of American city women for mere pleasure, their lack of a sense of responsibility.

To be sure, he has only seen a fraction of the women, but it is probable that he met you, my dear woman, one one of your purse-emptying shopping expeditions. And he saw your poor, faithful husband playing the tired ant to your butterfly.

Try being an ant.

People You Know.

Coquelin, the French actor, is a millionaire.

The Queen of England preserves in fifty huge albums a copy of every photograph that has been taken of her.

Six Queens smoke—the Empress of Austria, the Czarina of Russia, the Queen of Roumania, the ex-Queen of Spain, the Queen of Italy and the Queen of Portugal.

The daily income of the Russian Czar is $25,000; the Sultan of Turkey, $18,000; King Leopold of Belgium, $15,000; the Emperor of Austria, $10,000; the German Kaiser, $8,000; the King of Italy, $6,500; the King of England, $6,500.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Power of Flattery.

"Really, Jane," said Mrs. Simperton to her maid, who was not consumed with an overwhelming desire to work hard, "you are the laziest girl I ever knew! You can't even do what you're told. I don't think you have one redeeming quality. You must leave on the first of next month." "Law, mum," said Jane, who knew that her mistress was not proof against flattery, "'how can I do me work when I 'ear you a-singing and a-playin' on the piano that beautiful that I simply can't 'elp stoppin' to listen to you? It ain't my fault that I love good music!" "That will do, Jane! You may stay!" —Stray Stories.

Musings of a Married Misanthrope.

Some weddings can be explained on the theory that misery loves company.

Fools and women pushing baby carriages will rush where angels fear to tread.

A weak woman can weep herself into privileges that her squarejawed sister couldn't demand with an axe.

Talk about our self-made men! How about our home-made women who use pneumatic pads and upholstery?—Judge.

To Renew a Mirror.

To renew a mirror keep for this purpose a piece of sponge, a cloth and silk handkerchief, all entirely free from dirt, as the least grit will scratch the fine service of the glass. First sponge it with a little spirits of wine, or gin and water, to clean off all spots; then dust over it powdered blue tied in muslin, rub it lightly and quickly off with the cloth and finish by rubbing with the silk handkerchief. Be careful not to rub the edges of the frame.

He Had Done His Share.

He was ten years old and had gone to the dentist's to get one of the last of his "milk teeth" extracted. It was not a difficult job, and the little fellow never whimpered. Instead, he said to the dentist, when the opertion was over: "Well, we made a good job of that, didn't we?" "We?" replied the dentist. "Why do you say 'we'? What did you do?" "Why, I held the socket while you pulled the tooth, didn't I?"

Education and Ability.

Prof. Felix Adler, founder of the Society of Ethical Culture, and formerly a member of the Cornell faculty, not long ago was speaking of a position in an educational institution. It was vacant, and the professor was to select an incumbent. "I am not quite sure," he said, "whether to get a man of education from New England or a man of ability from Chicago."

Cheering.

We certainly have some right to consider ourselves a great people. Where is there another people who can cheer so long without stopping, and without knowing what for?—Puck.

For Town Travel.

A North London chemist has this window announcement: "To travelers by motor-bus, medicated, odorless food, suitable for one stopping"

To have it, she should learn today,
A Gas Heater's the only way.

ONLY ONE METHOD

There is only one way in the summer to have plenty of hot water just when you need it. A Tea kettle is out of the question when it comes to wash day. A coal fire in range or furnace is more disagreeable and just as unnecessary. A Gas Water Heater is the solution of the problem. It is inexpensive and adds materially to home comfort. Every house should have one.

NEW JERSEY.

"Oh, can't we get a drop of booze?"
The old commuter cried.
"I fear not, I fear not."
His grieving friend replied.
"But why is it that this is so,
For no one likes it dry?"
"They try it just so often,
But I cannot tell you why."

So they're closing up New Jersey,
You can hear the dirges play;
There is groaning down at Trenton,
There are tears along the bay.
Hearts are broken in Hoboken,
Newark's skies are dark and gray,
For they're closing up New Jersey in the morning.

"Shall we beat it down to Coney?"
The old commuter cried.
"I'm with you there, I'm with you there."
His smiling friend replied.
"Can we get some booze at Coney,
Or is that also dry?"
"Not in a hundred thousand years,
They never even try."

"If they're closing up New Jersey,
We will beat it to the sea.
If the nectar's not in Jersey,
Twenty-three for you and me.
When they take away our lager,
Then it's time for us to flee."
For they're closing up New Jersey in the morning.

LITERARY.

In any list of patents granted to male inventors one is sure to find a good many oddities and quite a sprinkling of positive freaks, writes Rene Bache in Technical World Magazine for August. Among those credited to the women are fewer absurdities, proportionately, but some such are discoverable. For instance there is a very funny sort of boat, which is supposed to be propelled by swallowing water at the bow and expelling at the stern. Another curiosity of febminine origin is the "hen persuader"—a simple contrivance intended to be fastened to the ankle of a chicken, to prevent it from scratching in the garden. It consists chiefly of two long prongs extending rearward in the shape of a fork. Much more sensible, perhaps, is a rocking-chair for a bald-headed man, which keeps flies off of the occupant's polished occiput by means of a tasseled cloth that swings from above as he rocks.

Sea and Sea-Power.

With the beginning of the Thames boating season, the inevitable irresponsible amateurs have appeared on the scene. A few days ago it was a matter of considerable amusement to see two ladies sculling up stream, and on attempting to pass through one of the bridges, bring their boat into it broadside on. Not understanding exactly how to get out of it, the lady who was rowing ceased to row, while the one who was steering pulled the ropes violently, both left and right. The result was at first a gentle rocking motion, that quickly changed into a more emphasized roll; but the fair occcupants could not understand why their boat did not move. An accident so easily happens that people should always have some little knowledge of matters aquatic before they venture afloat.—London Globe.

The Doctors.

Ever notice the peculiarities of a casual conversation between two medicine men whose diplomas are yet unyellowed by age. It's about like this:

"Ah, doctor, good morning, doctor."

"Good morning, doctor. How are you doctor?"

"Pretty well, doctor; thank you, doctor. How are you feeling, doctor?"

"Well, doctor, to tell the truth, doctor, I don't feel, doctor, quite so well, doctor, as I'd like, doctor."

"Sorry, doctor. But you'll soon be all right, doctor."

"Goodby, doctor."

"So long, doctor."—Albany Journal.

Hundred Tons of Rain.

One inch of rain on one acre of ground means a hundred tons of water. Rainfall is a condition which has much to do with our health. A wet district with a good deal of subsoil water, making houses damp, is a locality in which rheumatism and consumption are likely to prevail. Over England and Wales the average yearly rainfall is about 34 inches, in Scotland it reaches 46 inches and in Ireland about 38 inches. Possibly the wettest parts of Britain are in Cumberland, where the rainfall may attain 150 inches per year.—Tit-Bits.

Let Us Have Green Peas.

The farmers of Wolcott are now in the midst of the largest pea harvest ever gathered in this section. All last week the canning factory was rushed, looking after the early peas, and Saturday night did not shut down at the usual time, but continued until nearly 2 o'clock Sunday morning. Farmers are well pleased with the returns and the later peas, which will be fit to cut in about ten days, give every indication of being a record-breaking crop.—Rochester Post-Express.

As a result of the attendance at the baseball game at Crescent Oval today no doubt will largely depend the future action of the Plainfield Baseball Association. The attendance last Saturday was an improvement, but it was not what it should be to make the game a paying proposition. If Elizabeth can support three professional teams, Plainfield ought to support one, and there is no reason why it should not. Let the fans turn out today and give the association the backing it deserves.

The formation of a local baseball association this year met with the approval of fandom and everyone predicted success. It can truly be said that the association has done its part, but the public has not. Wherever possible, expenses have been cut down, and members of the association have given their services free to avoid the hiring of persons to work, yet heretofore the patronage has not been sufficient.

No fault can be found with Manager Daab or his team. The men selected to represent the city are all good players and gentlemen in every sense of the word. They are anxious to give fandom first-class ball and Manager Daab has been doing his share.

Speaking of Manager Daab, it should be said that like most people he is but human and likely to make mistakes. That the All-Cubans did not appear here at the opening game was no fault of his and if any one is inclined to charge him up with poor management, it would be best to forget it. A manager of Mr. Daab's calibre is not found every day in the week.

An enthusiastic baseball rooter in speaking of the desire among certain fans in Plainfield to "knock," says that he believes that they would find fault if the pick of the National and American Leagues represented the city. There is lots of truth in this statement.

Even if "Christy" Mathewson was pitching for Plainfield he would be the object of much fault-finding.

How would the fans like to return to former days when they would not know, until they reached the oval, who was going to pitch, and then find out that a third-rate twirler was to appear, or that a big league pitcher had been engaged for $50 to occupy the box.

No success can be attained where there is forever that spirit of fault-finding and knocking. Even the Westfield fans were not guilty of this when Plainfield won the county championship from them and made their team look like thirty cents.

Cheer up fans, root for your team and better still attend the games. It will cost you a $2 bill to witness a big league game and then you may not see as good a contest as at Crescent Oval for a quarter of a dollar.

PAINTERS END THEIR SHORE CONVENTION.

Close Yearly Gathering at Asbury Park and Decide to Meet There Again in 1907.

Asbury Park, July 14.—The New Jersey Painters and Decorators' Association adjourned its convention yesterday. The convention was eminently successful and range of entertainment so wide and varied that the association will meet here again next summer.

The banquet yesterday afternoon at the Ross-Fenton farm was especially appreciated. The members were taken to the farm on Deal Lake launches. After dinner they strolled over the grounds and were entertained with a special concert arranged for the occasion.

The closing session yesterday was brief, but interesting. E. P. Edwards, of Elizabeth, read a paper on "the specification of varnishes." President VanSickle called attention to the fact that many members had complained of excessive rates of fire insurance charged the master painters. He had read, he said, of master painters in the West, who were carrying their own risks as mutual organizations and referred to the fact that the retail grocers of New Jersey have their own insurance on the co-operative plan.

The question was discussed and a motion was carried to appoint a committee of five drawn from Essex, Hudson, Passaic, Bergen and Union counties, to confer with other organizations and report back the feasibility of a co-operative insurance fund.

J. G. Cowles read an interesting paper on "The Painters and Decorators of Other Times." Mr. Cowles, at the close of his address, congratulated the convention upon its splendid showing. In discussing Mr. Coles' paper, Mr. Lorton, of Orange, said:

"The sun is the greatest artist. The trouble with the frescoed ceilings of Rome was that the sunlight did not strike them. Harmony is the main secret, and that no picture could look right until the colors are made to harmonize."

A "question box," at the close, brought to light many hidden troubles of the painters in the matter of removing spots from polished surfaces. It was also suggested that the locals be affiliated with the international society. The question of organizing the master painters of the entire State was also considered, and will probably be taken up by the State organizer.

Ready for Red Bank Carnival.

Red Bank, July 14.—Plans are all completed for the second annual carnival, which will be held here on Thursday, August 2. In the morning there will be motor launch races. In the afternoon a firemen's parade will be the attraction, and this will be followed by firemen's contests for prizes. Forty-five companies from various parts of the State have been invited to participate in the parade and contests, and it is expected that fully 1,500 men will be in line. The visiting fire laddies will be provided with dinner by the carnival committee. At night the features will be a decorated boat parade and display of fireworks. Governor Stokes and other State dignitaries have been invited to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, of the borough, who are abroad, expect to reach London some time during August and from there they will go to Montreal, Can., and then to their cottage in the Adirondacks, returning home during the fall. They are having a delightful trip abroad and are reported to be in excellent health.

CONFERENCE ON THE HUDSON SPAN QUESTION.

Interstate Commission Plans a Parley With Railroads and Public Service Corporation.

Hoboken, July 14.—At the meeting of the Interstate Bridge Commission yesterday, McDougal Hawkes announced that he was arranging to hold a conference with the officials of the Erie, Lackawanna and Pennsylvania Railroad companies and with the Public Service Corporation next week. Chairman Hawkes has requested the different railroad companies to provide maps for the conference showing the outlay of the tracks in Jersey City. The engineers of the lines interested will also be invited to take part in the meeting.

So far no progress has been made in reference to the location of the proposed bridge, either on the New York or Jersey side of the river, and it is to determine this point that the meeting will be held. The commission, in a communication from the Jersey Central, was notified that that company favored the location of the Jersey terminal of the bridge in Jersey City at a point somewhere south of the main line of the Pennsylvania. From the opinions obtained from the different railroad sources it seems to be the prevailing idea that the bridge should have six tracks in addition to tracks for the trolley lines.

The commission will consider the employment of technical consultants, and it is probable that a practical operating railway expert will be engaged to assist the commission in its preliminary labors. Another matter that will be considered at the next meeting is the matter of handling express and baggage over the bridge. In a communication, the Lehigh Valley Railroad advised the commission that the company was not prepared to express an definite opinion on the projected bridge at the present time. A communication was received from the Henry Hudson Memorial Association of New York, asking that the bridge be built as a memorial to Henry Hudson.

Several communications from New Jersey boards of trade were read indorsing the plans of the commission. Chairman Hawkes announced that efforts will be made to interest the legislative candidates of both parties in New Jersey at the coming election for the purpose of obtaining their co-operation. In trying to determine a site for the Jersey terminal the commission has secured the maps and plans of the old New York and New Jersey Bridge Company, which suggested the territory in the vicinity of the Hackensack meadows as an available intersection point for the various railroads.

P. S. C. Improvements.

The Public Service Corporation has completed its track repair work and that of resurfacing East Front street, between Park and Watchung avenues, and the work of putting in a new switch at Front and Somerset streets and West Front street and Grant avenue. The company now proposes to resurface West Front street between Grant and Clinton avenues, after which new rails and ties will be laid in Watchung avenue, from East Front street to the trolley stand. Similar work will be done on Watchung avenue, from the railroad to Fifth street and in East Fifth street.

"Lou" Wiltse Gives Up Pitching.

"Lou" Wiltse, the popular baseball twirler, who has had trouble with his arm this year, has given up pitching for the year for the purpose of giving his wing complete rest. He has returned to the Johnstone Tri-State League Club, where he is playing a fine first base. Not only is he covering the initial sack in faultless manner, but in stick work he has a batting average that is making the other players envious. "Lou" always was good with the stick, but since he gave up pitching he has improved very much.

WELCOMED MISS CURRY

Special Service Held at Crescent Avenue Church Last Evening--Camp Speakers

CHILDREN AT CHURCH

Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, Rev. John Sheridan Zelie and Miss Sara Curry Spoke—Program By Children.

A special service to welcome Miss Sara Curry at the beginning of her eleventh years' work among the New York poor and the fourth season in charge of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home was held at the Crescent Avenue church, last evening, in place of the regular evening service. The services were in charge of Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, pastor of the church, and Rev. Dr. Erskine M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church and president of the committee in charge of the Netherwood Home, was present, together with Miss Sara Curry and a party of twenty-five of the children from the home. In introducing Dr. Rodman as speaker, Dr. Zelie referred briefly to the work being carried on by Miss Curry and its great need for the support by the people of the parish and the city. Dr. Rodman also spoke of Miss Curry's work, calling special attention to the work Miss Curry has been carrying on at the Little Missionary's Day nursery on St. Mark's place, New York city, for the past ten years. He said that to him Miss Curry had seemed pre-destined for her work, and referred to the incident which he started the nursery and the Netherwood Home—the time when Miss Curry picked up a little child which had been run over while crossing one of the down town streets in New York and took care of it until it had recovered.

Miss Curry was then called upon to tell something of her work, and spoke simply of her efforts during the years she has been in charge. She said that to a visitor at the Netherwood camp it would seem as though the work were merely with the children, and that the nursery in New York were simply for them. The work he does with the children, she said, is merely a means of getting into the homes of the poor, and of bringing influence to bear upon the mothers and families of those whom she take charge of at the nursery. She said that during the past season, 2,100 children had been benefited by vacation at Netherwood, and this had been a means of gaining a strong hold upon the lives and character of many of the mothers and fathers. She cited instances which showed how the Christian influence had changed the lives of the poor, and said that it was to effect this that the work was being carried on among the children. The party from the home then rendered a programme of songs and recitations, showing perfect confidence and careful training. One of the numbers was a patriotic recitation by four of the smallest boys, carrying American flags. Each had a verse to recite and they concluded by singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee" as they stood on the platform, waving the flags.

George Taylor, superintendent of the Green Avenue Sunday-school, Brooklyn, then made an appeal for funds to carry on the work at Netherwood and in New York.

During the service, the following musical programme was rendered by the organist and choir quartette: Prelude, Allegretto, Tours; anthem, "Evening Shadows Gently Falling," Miles; response, "Incline Thine Ear;" offertory, "Deliver Me, O Lord," Stainer; postlude, Allegro, from Mendelssohn. A service similar in character will be held at the First Baptist church, Sunday evening, July 29, at which Miss Curry and a party of children will be present.

City Park Needs Attention.

Attention has been called to the condition of the City Park, especially as regards the wire which is used about the paths intended to keep visitors off the grass. In many instances the wire is down and lays across the path and women who attempt to pass through the park have torn their dresses beyond repair. The Town Improvement Association of Plainfield and North Plainfield has been given $100 by the city to care for the park for the coming year and it is believed that the association will have this wire fixed to prevent further damage.

Supplies at First Baptist Church.

Among those who will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, in Europe, will be Rev. Dr. Clevenger, of Somerville, Mass.; Rev. Dr. Woods, of Somerville, this State; Rev. Dr. B. D. Stelle, of Philadelphia and Rev. Dr. Woods, of New York.

THESE INVADERS DID NOT INVADE

PLAINFIELD FANS DUPED BY AN ELIZABETH AGGGREGATION.

If there are any other baseball aggregations in Elizabeth, besides the Invaders, that are looking for county championship honors, they do not want to appear at Crescent Oval unless they have the "goods." The Invaders came to town Saturday looking for scalps and instead they made a miserable showing. Such an aggregation hasn't the license to meet Frank Burke's Stars, to say nothing of numerous other teams in the county. They are more in the class of the Garwood A. C. and similar teams and how they had the nerve to leave Elizabeth in search of the county championship is beyond explanation.

President Rath, of the Elizabeth Baseball Club, known as the Invaders, telephoned Manager Daab early in the week and told him that in his lineup for Saturday there would be Driscoll, Kiernan, Curley, Barry, Linderman, Brogan and Schuman. Believing him, Manager Daab sent notice to that effect to The Daily Press and on the strength of it the team was believed to be all right. Manager Neubeck, of the Elizabeth team, declared on Saturday that he did not know that the players named were to play here and said that it would be impossible to get them for a Saturday game now. If the county seat aggregation hopes to be successful in baseball the club will have to adopt different methods, Manager Daab believed that the players mentioned to him by Mr. Rath would appear here or he would have notified the papers to the contrary before Saturday. The Invaders may have a good team on Sunday, but their Saturday team is not much better than the amateur class.

The fans will be repaid for the disappointment on Saturday, when the famous Philadelphia Quaker Giants, with "Mistah" Monroe, will appear on Crescent Oval.

"LITTLE SHIPS" THE TOPIC AT NETHERWOOD HOME.

Rev. T. Moore-Smith Addressed 300 Children Yesterday Afternoon.

Despite the lowering weather, open air services were conducted yesterday afternoon at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home and about 150 Plainfielders interested in the work of Miss Sara Curry, of the camp, is carrying on among the poor of New York city, were present. The meeting was in charge of George F. Hall, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, chairman of the camp finance committee. The speaker of the afternoon was Rev. T. Moore-Smith, pastor of the First Baptist church at Scotch Plains. Mr. Moore-Smith took as his topic, "Little Ships," speaking from the text: "There were also with them other little ships." In the development of his theme the speaker referred to the children as little ships of the voyage of life. He spoke of the precious cargo of kind words and good deeds carried by each and every one and referred to Christ as the pilot and captain of each one, guiding them through the treacherous trip past rock and shoals of temptation and sin to the haven of eternity. The allegory was well worked out and the children showed much interest in its development.

Music was a feature of the service, as it usually is. George Taylor, of Brooklyn, superintendent of the Green Avenue Baptist Sunday-school and for many years a friend to Miss Curry in her work among the New York poor, was present and was in charge of the singing as leader. Several of the more familiar gospel hymns were sung by the children, led by a delegation of the Trinity church choir. Mrs. H. D. Young sang a soprano solo, "Beside Still Waters," and with her husband rendered "God Is Love" as a duet. Miss May Randolph, organist of Trinity church, was at the melodian.

The accommodations at the camp are now taxed to the utmost, as there are nearly 300 children from the tenement districts spending a brief vacation there. The last delegation from New York came out Friday, and included about a dozen crippled and sick children. In speaking to a Daily Press reporter at the camp, Miss Curry said that she knew that the camp was crowded, but that she had not the heart to keep the children away, for the summer season in New York is most unbearable among the poor. She said that when she left the nursery on St. Mark's place to come to Netherwood, many mothers and children followed her all the way to the ferry, begging to be allowed to come out with her. All at the camp are well, and those who have spent the week at Netherwood are strong and active.

ROBT. ABBOTT COVERS 18 HOLE COURSE IN 67

REINHART HELD RECORD WITH 66 BUT COURSE WAS SHORTER.

Closely following his play in the national amateur golf tournament at Englewood, Robert Abbott, one of the most promising local players and the intercollegiate champion, made the low score record for this year at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday. Weather and course conditions were perfect and the young golfer played a brilliant match in the semi-final round for the club championship. His opponent was W. Lester Glenney, who was beaten by 5 up and 3 to play. Abbott made the 18 holes in a 67, the lowest score made in a long while.

Frank O. Reinhart held the low score record with a 66, but the course has been lengthened since that time, so Abbott's score of 67 will stand for the present at least.

In the other semi-final match, Frank C. Talmadge beat C. B. Morgan, by 2 up, after a hard-fought round. This puts Abbott and Talmadge in the final play for the coming week and some fine golf is looked for, which will no doubt be watched by a large gallery.

In the finals for the Men's championship, consolation cup for second eight, George T. VanBoskerck was the winner, beating Charles A. Stover 1 up in 19 holes and C. B. Morgan won a leg on the semi-scratch cup with a score of 81.

In the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup, C. F. Abbott won first honors with a net score of 74. T. E. Stockton finished second, and W. B. Tyler and J. P. Murray were tie for the one point. These scores were returned for the Golf Committee cup:

C. F. Abbott, 97, 27—70; T. E. Stockton, 82, 10—72; W. B. Tyler, 92, 19—73; J. P. Murray, 93, 20—73; Edward J. Patterson, 92, 17—75; W. D. Riggs, 89, 13—76; Robert Abbott, 75, plus 2—77; A. H. Chamberlain, 107, 27—80; H. D. Hibbard, 85, 5—80; J. W. Lane, 91, 11—80; C. B. Morgan, 81, 0—81; W. Lester Glenney, 79, plus 2—81; Stuart H. Patterson, 93, 11—82; J. A. Hutchinson, 101, 19—82.

There was continuation of play for the July cup and Robert Abbott scored a win for it with a 69. The scores were as follows:

Robert Abbott, 67, plus 2—69; Stuart H. Patterson, 84, 11—73; W. B. Tyler, 92, 19—73; James P. Murray, 93, 20—73; Edward J. Patterson, 92, 17—75; W. D. Riggs, 89, 13—76; Morris J. Dumont, 86, 7—79; Henry D. Hibbard, 85, 5—80; J. W. Lane, 91, 11—80; W. Lester Glenney, 79, plus 2—81; J. A. Hutchinson, 101, 19—82.

PLAINFIELDERS DEFEATED IN WESTFIELD TENNIS.

But One of the Four Local Teams Entered Still In the Open Tennis Tournament Begun Saturday.

In the first day's play of the men's championship doubles tournament played at the Westfield Club Saturday afternoon, three of the four local teams entered were defeated in matches of the first and second rounds. The courts at the Westfield Club and the Westfield Golf Club were used for the match play, and were in fair condition at both places. There were thirty-two teams entered, from various golf and tennis clubs in this part of the State and some closely contested matches were played.

In the play of the first round at the Westfield Golf Club, Vincent B. Miner and Paul Collier, the team from the Cedar Brook Tennis Club, were easily trimmed by F. E. Ferris and L. H. Ferris, of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club, in two love sets. Wylie Brown and Harry J. Cochran, of the Plainfield Country Club, won their match in the first round, defeating A. L. West and R. A. West, of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club, after three hard-fought sets, 6-3, 5-7, and 8-6. Fred W. Goddard and Harry Carter, another team from the Country Club, beat H. L. Dohrman and H. L. Robinson, of the Ilderan Outing Club, Rahway, after three sets, 6-3, 3-6, 8-6. A. L. Randall and Otto Heincke, of the Crescent A. C., won from H. C. Anderson and F. W. Merrihew, of the Netherwood A. C., 6-4, 5-5, 6-2.

But one match was played in the second round at the Westfield Club courts, and in that the Plainfielders, Harry Cochran and Wylie Brown, were defeated by the Ferris brothers, who put the Cedar Brook Tennis Club team out of the running, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4. Play will be continued Saturday and the following week.

Baptist Excursion Successful.

The annual excursion of the First Baptist church and Faith chapel last week was successful financially. There was no deficit and what was still better the receipts exceeded the expenses, leaving a little balance.

WARREN CHAPEL STARTED

First Sod Turned by Rev. J. O. McKelvey When Work Began This Morning.

IT WILL COST $25,000

Edifice of Mission Gothic Style Designed by Architect A. C. L. Marsh—Contracts Awarded.

Ground was broken this morning for the new Warren chapel edifice to be erected at Watchung and Fairview avenues, North Plainfield. The first spadeful of sod was turned by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of the church. The building, which is to measure 90 by 93 feet has been staked out and the work of excavation is now under way. Architect A. C. L. Marsh, of Hillside avenue, drew up the plans, which are of a different design from those announced several months ago. The building has been modeled on the most up-to-date plans for church buildings.

The exterior will be of brick and stucco and the chapel is to be of mission Gothic style of architecture. Inside is to be the main hall, surrounding which are to be fourteen large sunday-school and Bible class rooms. These rooms are so constructed around the main auditorium that they can be connected with the main hall by rolling aside the doors.

The seating capacity of the auditorium will by this means make it possible for 800 persons to be accommodated. In the wing of the building off from the auditorium, which will be but a single story in height, will be two large society rooms, one for the meeting of the larger societies in connection with the church work, and the other to be finished off for a reading room and library for the young men. Here will be the tables and book shelves and religious literature and periodicals will be kept on file. The entire interior is to be finished off in hard wood.

Architect Marsh has announced the various building contracts as follows: Tallamy & Bros., for the mason work; Wyman & Haberle, carpentering work; A. M. Griffin, plumbing and heating; Woolston & Buckle, painting, and Allen B. Laing, electrical work. The total cost of the new building will be about $25,000, and the contract calls for its completion by Easter. The edifice will face Watchung avenue, and is set twenty feet back from the street.

OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING SURROUNDED BY CHILDREN

MR. AND MRS. J. W. MURRAY, SR. FIFTY YEARS MARRIED.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, Sr., of Central avenue and West Eighth street, are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary today at Wolfboro, N. H., where all their children and many friends, including a number of Plainfielders who compose the summer colony at that place, are gathered.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray have been residents of Plainfield for a great many years. They were married fifty years ago in New York, where they both lived prior to that time. Mr. Murray was president of one of the largest fire insurance companies in New York for a number of years, and was considered an authority on insurance matters. He retired a few years ago.

By the union five children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Murray, five sons and three daughters. The sons are William D. Murray, a New York lawyer; John W. Murray, Jr., tax collector; Roger Murray, who is engaged in fire insurance business in New York, and James and Walter Murray, both of whom are engaged in business in New York. The daughters are Mrs. Townsend Rushmore and Mrs. Joseph W. Sandford, of this city, and Mrs. Robert Tilney, of Boston. There are also several grandchildren.

The couple were the recipients of many costly and useful gifts from the children, other relatives and the many friends present, and the occasion is being made one long to be remembered by all present.

Reardon and His Pal Sentenced.

Thomas Reardon, the New Market youth, and his pal, James McCall, who were convicted of robbing at A. G. Nelson's home and the Lehigh Valley station at New Market, were sentenced to four years in prison at New Brunswick, Friday. They are to begin the terms at once.

—J. E. Randall, formerly with A. E. Force & Co., has taken a position in the men's furnishing department at Woodhull & Martin's.

CIRCUS WITH 600 PEOPLE TO VISIT VILLAGE OF 100

SEEMINGLY QUEER ACTION OF PAWNEE BILL'S ROUTING AGENT.

The unusual spectacle of a circus showing in a settlement that has one-sixth the number of inhabitants carried by the tented organization will be witnessed at Picton next Thursday when Pawnee Bill's Wild West plays an afternoon and evening performance in that little hamlet. It carries 600 employes and Picton can scrape together about 100 natives all told.

When the date was first announced almost everybody exclaimed, "why, what could the routing agent be thinking of," and others are still firm in the belief that this same gentleman is a fit subject for the "Forget Factory!" Nevertheless, Pawnee Bill and his horde of tame and untamed savages, East Indians, buffaloes, band wagons and calliope will invade the sleepy Middlesex village and give its residents something to talk about for years to come. The lot selected for the location of the tents is already being proudly pointed out by young and old and will be the chief point of interest in that locality so long as a wisp of straw or the imprint of a wild steer's hoof remains.

An explanation of the Picton date was given a Daily Press man today by one of Pawnee Bill's representatives. As is known to Plainfielders, the show has been at Brighton Beach the past few weeks and was to have remained all summer but the head of the enterprise got in a huff over some advertising contracts and suddenly declared he would leave that resort. He naturally had to pick out a route quickly and he decided to follow the Lehigh Valley road up into Pennsylvania and New York State. If a circus holds to the one line, its transportation expenses are considerably lessened and so only towns along the Lehigh were designated for performances. Next Thursday remained as an open date and it seemed as if there was no way of filling it except by jumping from Newark to Elizabeth or Plainfield and thus get on another road. The agent cut the Gordian knot by hitting upon Picton and trusting to luck to draw crowds from places surrounding it. The village is but a short distance from Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Rahway, Woodbridge, Perth Amboy, Cranford and many other small places. Consequently, the show will have a population of 125,000 to draw from and those who have been laughing at the bills which read: "Picton, July 19," are not such wisenheimers after all.

FORTY DAYS' RAIN.

Yesterday Was St. Swithin's Day and It Rained.

Yesterday was St. Swithin's day and it rained, and that means that we are to have forty days of rain.

There is an old saying that if it rains on St. Swithin's day, July 15, it will rain for forty days thereafter. The old legend is that St. Swithin, bishop of Winchester, who died in 862, had expressed a desire to be buried in the yard of the minister so that the "sweet rain of heaven might fall on his grave."

At canonization the monks intended to honor the saint by removing his body into the choir, and they fixed on July 15 as the day for the ceremony. But it rained that day and for forty days thereafter, and the monks abandoned their project. Thence comes the belief about the forty days' rain.

Sues for Value of Dress.

Miss Anna Schwartz, of this city, has brought suit in the District Court against Aaron LeVine, the local cleaner and dyer, to recover the full value of a silk dress which was given him to clean. She asserts that after a spot of dirt on it had been removed it was placed in a window for display purposes and that its color was ruined by the sun. She refused to accept it when it was returned and claims that the garment was worth $70. Summons in the case were served Friday and it will be heard by Judge Newcorn next Tuesday.

Truck Driver's Funeral Today.

The body of Simon Matthews, the young Jersey City man who was crushed to death by his truck at Garwood, Saturday, was forwarded from this city to his home Saturday afternoon. The funeral was held at Jersey City today and was attended by several Plainfield friends. Matthews was twenty-five years old and was employed by Mullin & Son, the Newark housefurnishing firm.

LOANED FATHER $30 GOT RAIN CHECK FOR IT

NEW FORM OF LEMON THAT WAS HANDED MEYER SACHER, A LIBERAL YOUTH.

Meyer Sachar, the irrepressible West End youth who was arraigned in the city court last week on a charge of slamming a screen door against his uncle's head, again faced Judge Runyon this morning. His father complained against him this time, stating that the son was as fractious as a Wyoming pony and that he has a habit of calling members of the family "things which they aint," as he expressed it. A sentence of forty days was hung over Meyer's head at his last appearance and it was about to descend when friends arrived and explained some matters to the magistrate.

"You see, Judge," said one of the intercederers, "Meyer loaned his father $30 some time ago and when he asked for its return he was handed a rain check for a baseball game. Beside that, everybody in the house, including uncles, aunts and cousins, take a crack at Meyer every chance they get. Ain't that enough to make a fellow mad, Mr. Runyon?"

His Honor agreed that it might have been provocation and Meyer is once more at large.

"EV'RY LITTLE BIT HELPS."

"Clover Club Presents Miss Curry With Sum as Result of Fair.

"The Clover Club," an organization made up of ten boys and girls of the West End, has fallen in line with others which have given fetes to raise money to help Miss Sara Curry in the work she is carrying on among Manhattan's poor at her nursery in New York city and at the Netherwood Camp. Russell Cratsley, the club treasurer, turned over $11.76 as the net result of a lawn fair and party held at the home of John D. McAleer, of West Third street, Saturday afternoon and evening. The affair was worked up entirely by the club, of which Richard Scott is president and Fred McAleer, vice president, and Joseph Pennington, secretary. Tents decorated with bunting were erected on the lawn and the little people gathered up the stray pennies of the neighborhood for the good work. The entire club was present at the services at the camp yesterday afternoon.

Those in charge of the various booths at the fair were: Miriam Emery, Bessie McAleer and Madeline Pennington, in the ice cream tent; Bessie Gunzelman and John S. McAleer, at the cake and candy table; Fred McAleer and Joseph Pennington, at the lemonade and root beer tent; and Theodore Martin and Richard Scott at the moving picture tent, where a stereopticon was worked in the evening. Russell Cratsley and Louis Nelson were in charge of "Happy Hooligan," at the baseball shooting gallery. Benjamin Wainwright acted as sergeant-at-arms for the club affair.

HOLY CROSS CHOIR OFF TO SUMMER CAMP.

Thirty-two Singers, Accompanied by Rector Warner, Leave To-day for the Berkshires.

Accompanied by the rector, Rev. George A. Warner, thirty-two men and boys, members of the Holy Cross church choir, will leave this afternoon to spend several weeks at the church camp, "Camp Comfort," in the Berkshires. This is the first season the church choir has had a camp, but it is planned to make the summer camp a feature of the choir, and the camp will be conducted every summer. The choir will be absent from the church for two Sundays, and the rector begins his summer vacation at the camp, and does not expect to return to this city until the first of September. The pulpit at Holy Cross church will be filled by a supply from New York city, and the same rector will have charge of the services until Mr. Warner's return in the fall.

This summer the camp will be on Hedge's lake, near Shushan, N. Y. The choir boys will live in tents, six of which are being taken with the party. The time will be spent in fishing, tramping, swimming and camp sports.

Prominent Elizabeth Citizen Dead.

Former City Treasurer James Morrison, of Elizabeth, died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William A. Gray, of Salem road, Elizabeth, after a few days' illness. He was born in New York in 1836, and moved to Elizabeth in 1871. He served three terms as city treasurer of Elizabeth. He was an ardent Republican and was a member of both the Elizabeth city and the county Republican committees. He was also a member of the 7th Regiment, New York, and served during the Civil War. A wife and five children survive him.

TAX BOARD FEELS HURT

Union County's Board Resents Derogatory Statement Made By George L. Record.

VINDICATES GOVERNOR

Messrs. Andrews, Scudder and Pollard Tell Candidates to Confine Himself to Facts.

The Union County Board of Taxation has come out with a statement in answer to an attack made by George L. Record on the integrity of the members of the various boards. At a meeting held in Jacobs' theatre on June 28 in the interest of the Colby wing Mr. Record made an attack on the county tax boards. The members of the Union county board—C. C. Pollard, M. M. Scudder and F. H. Andrews—resent Record's remarks. The statement from the Board of Taxation is as follows:

"We have learned that in a speech in Jacobs' theatre, Elizabeth, June 28, Mr. Record is reported to have said that the law passed by the last Legislature creating county boards of taxation was a good law, but that the governor was perverting the intentions of the law by appointing men on the county boards who were in sympathy with the railroads and corporations, and who would protect interests in making assessments of property.

"We, as members of the Union County Board of Taxation, wish most emphatically to deny any such influence, and believe the statement is not borne out by the facts.

"When we called upon Governor Stokes before our appointment, he was unequivocal in his statements that he was most axious to appoint men to the several boards who would faithfully administer the law according to its intent, and that no interest should suffer at the expense of any other, but that all should bear alike their share of the burden of government.

"He was clear and honest in his statements to us, with nothing ambiguous in them, and we believe the charge it without foundation in fact, and unjust to the governor and his appointees.

"It will be well for Mr. Record to confine himself to facts.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL SUPTS. TO ADDRESS MEETINGS.

Week Day Meetings at Miss Curry's Camp to Be in Charge of Local School Superintendents.

This week will be "superintendents' week" at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home and all the weekly evening meetings will be in charge of various Sunday-school superintendents from the local churches. The first of these meetings will be held at the camp Tuesday evening, and will be in charge of George H. Batchellor, superintendent of the First Baptist church Sunday-school. He will make the address of the evening and will be accompanied by a delegation of the Sunday-school teachers and pupils from the church. Thursday evening, Fred Smith, superintendent Reformed church, will lead the meeting, and will be accompanied by a party of church and Sunday-school workers. On Friday, Superintendent Fred H. Andrews, of Warren chapel, will be in charge of the evening meeting. Music will be a special feature of all the meetings of the week.

Next Sunday afternoon, the meeting will be in charge of Rev. F. H. Jacobs, the evangelist, who will lead the service and will also make an address to the children. Mr. Jacobs is well known in this city, having made frequent evangelistic addresses here. He is an excellent speaker and will personally be in charge of the singing.

Recalls Some Politics.

Runyon is pressing Perkins so closely in Union that his nomination for Assemblyman is practically conceded. In the light of past events and present antagonisms it would have been better had Runyon, instead of Cross, represented Union in the Senate four years ago. There would have been no Dryden, for whom Jersey Republicans are asked to apologize, and less trouble now for Perkins to return to the Legislature. —New York Press.

Baby Camp Opening Tomorrow.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

With pedestrians' lives endangered by the constant passage of big touring automobiles along North avenue and other macadamized roads through the borough there is talk of forming a road protective association in the town. Dunellenites have always been troubled by the speeding of motorists through town and it is believed that this could be effectually stopped for the summer by the formation of such an association, as many of the smaller Jersey towns has organized. The roads could easily be policed by constables, and speeding notice signs made more effective by a few arrests and fines. Chickens, dogs and cats are frequently killed and women and children have some close calls when the big machines come speeding through.

Rev. E. C. Dutcher, pastor of the Methodist church, gave another one of his lectures on Biblical rivers at the evening service yesterday. This week the topic was the river Jordan, and spoke of the influence of this river upon Biblical history, as well as mentioning the various instances in which it is referred to in the Bible. The lecture was one of a course upon the historical rivers of Bible times, and was well attended.

No clue has yet been found to the men who looted the lunch room at the trolley loop last week. Marshal Owen Mohan is patrolling the place at night now, for the proprietor, Isaac Thieman, is stocked up again, and more anxious than ever to find out who the robbers were.

All July building and loan dues must be paid to Treasurer John W. Moynihan by 9 o'clock this evening, for beginning with tomorrow, fines will be imposed upon the delinquents.

The council has had a new electric light installed on Centre street, at the corner of Depot street. This has heretofore been a particularly poorly lighted district.

Mrs. Edward Hart, of New York city, has returned home after spending several days as the guest of her brother, William Jenner, of New Market.

Mrs. Daniel L. Gulick, who has been confined to her home for the past week with an attack of erysipelas, is able to be about again.

Mrs. Alexander Herlick and son have returned to their home in Warrenville after spending the week with Mrs. Herlick's parents.

Miss Minnie Naylor, who has been a guest of Mrs. Charles Day for a few days, has returned to her home in Lincoln.

Miss Laurita Meeker, of Plainfield, has returned home after having been the guest of Miss Alice Pierce for the past week.

A. N. Randolph has returned after a week's visit with relatives in Jersey City.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The 'Plains team continued its winning streak Saturday afternoon by defeating the Clinton Avenue team by the score of 5 to 1 in a fast, snappy exhibition of the national game, the home team playing without an error, while Johnston, who was in fine form, allowed the Clinton Avenues but three hits. The 'Plains team settled the game in their half of the first inning, when by finding Scott's delivery for a two base hit and several singles three runs were scored. After this Scott settled down and pitched fine ball. The game itself was an interesting contest and doubly so on account of the rivalry which has existed between the two teams, as the followers of each team has believed that theirs was the best amateur team in this section. Saturday's game was the third attempt the teams have made to decide the question, but rain prevented the meeting, one game being called in the third inning with the score 3 to 0 in favor of the 'Plains team. The two teams will meet again in the near future, when Clinton Avenue will make a desperate attempt to redeem themselves from Saturday's defeat.

The 4 o'clock meeting yesterday afternoon at the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp was led by Rev. T. Moore-Smith, of the Baptist church. Mr. Smith was accompanied by a number of the members of his church, who are interested in Miss Curry's work and an enjoyable meeting was held.

The game put up by the Invaders, of Elizabeth, at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon hardly put them in the county championship class, the Daubsters winning by the score of 9 to 5.

The Bishops' law was in full force here again yesterday. Neither friend or foe was able to get a drink, the hotels all closing promptly at 12 o'clock Saturday night.

The new Bishops' law has made Sunday clambakes popular. Two were held yesterday on the mountains near Washington Valley.

Mrs. Anthony Fales and child, of East Sixth street, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Frentz, of Westfield avenue.

The Gold Medal minstrel troupe will be greeted with a full house at the baseball team benefit to be given tomorrow night in the hall.

The Berkeley Heights ball team was defeated in the game Saturday afternoon with the Chathams by the score of 3 to 2.

The weekly meeting of the Epworth League was held last night at the Methodist church.

Mrs. William Deegan entertained friends from out of town yesterday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

An express leaving New York with dining car attached, was delayed here for sometime, owing to the fact that the water tank for washing dishes was found to be empty.

Mrs. Walter Harris is entertaining out of town friends.

Miss Maude Smith has returned from Larchmont.

TO WASH SILK STOCKINGS.

In washing silk stockings they should first be soaked in borax water, afterward washed quickly in soap suds which is no more than blood warm.

If the water is hot, the result is that the silk becomes harsh and crinkley.

Instead of wringing the stockings out, simply squeeze them well, afterward rinsing in two waters the same temperature, hanging out to dry without wringing.

A little blueing should be added to the water if the silk stockings are white, but not if colored.

There is another little wrinkle which should be kept in mind, and that is that knit silk should never be sprinkled.

Instead wring out a towel from hot water, fold stockings up in it and leave for an hour.

In ironing them smooth out all the wrinkles on the ironing board and press quickly.

Turn inside out and press again.

White lace stockings should be cleansed in benzine.

Turn inside out and lay in a deep dish and pour the benzine over.

When the soil has been removed turn the stockings right side out and with a fresh supply of benzine wash again. Dry thoroughly and they are ready to wear.

Some women find that their black stockings and those in bronze fade.

One of the best things to freshen the color is to make a black pepper tea and soak them for an hour.

Also is there is any chance for the color to fade it will be well to soak thme in salt and water before they the washed.

Occasionally small boys get their stockings very dirty so that it is almost impossible to cleanse thoroughly with soap and water alone without injuring the fabric in rubbing.

For such as these soak the feet or the soiled portions in kerosene, allowing them to lie for half an hour.

Then cover with hot water in which some soda or ammonia has been dissolved, use a small stick of wood to stir them thoroughly, then remove and wash in clean suds.

Explaining It.

"What do you think of Mr. Bragg, anyway?" exclaimed Nell.

"What's the matter?" asked Belle.

"He told me he could marry any girl he please."

"That's about correct, for I don't believe there's a girl living that he could please."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Troubles, But Different.

"Why, when I last saw him he was living in a back street in our town and was having trouble keeping the wolf from the door!"

"Indeed? Well, now he has trouble keeping his poor relations from the porte cochere."—Philadelphia Press.

This Summer's Fiction.

Patience—Have you read that new society novel?

Patrice—Not yet.

"Well, don't. It's the most exasperating book I ever read. Why, he never kisses the girl till the last chapter."—Yonkers Statesman.

AMUSEMENTS.

As a sort of climax to the many very wonderful scenes presented in "Chinatown Charlie," A. H. Woods' latest production, the living bridge episode deserves mention as being a very decided innovation from the usual sensational stage methods. Several acrobatic young ladies are employed for this purpose and they clearly demonstrate what skillful training will accomplish in the direction of musical development and dexterity of movements. It would hardly seem possible that a human bridge built so rapidly and so cunningly could withstand the strain of the heroine's escape over it, yet the crossing made by Annie Gordon as she eludes the villain's persecutions, and which enables her to lend future assistance to Charles Jackson, whom she saved from a dope fiend's grave, tells how cleverly this acrobatic feat is performed. A. H. Woods' "Chinatown Charlie" will offer a number of other and equally startling surprises at the New Plainfield theatre on Saturday night, July 28, likewise a dramatic story of strength and moral flavor.

Lowest Bidders to Certiorari.

Elizabeth, July 16.—B. Jacobson & Son, of this city, whose lowest bid for supplying coal to the public schools of this city was turned down by the Board of Education on Wednesday, when the contract was awarded to Charles Pountney and the firm of Zior & Townley, whose bids were higher, has determined to certiorari the action of the board to the Supreme Court, and steps to that effect will be taken today. The Jacobson firm claims that its act in rejecting the firm's bid was unlawful.

Tragedy.

"No, George, I can never, never be your wife."

Despair written upon his every feature, George Worthington reeled and clutched at the mantel for support. The blow had fallen.

"Then," he muttered hoarsely, "there is but one thing left for me to do. I must die."

Going out in the back yard he stabbed himself with a can of corned beef.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

—Albert V. Utzinger, who has been employed as a clerk at L. W. Randolph's pharmacy in West Front street for several years, has resigned his position to take effect about September 1. He is planning to engage in another business.

Convention of States to Be Held and This State to Be Represented.

New Jersey will be entitled to five delegates at the conference called by Governor Cummins, of Iowa, at Des Moines on September 5 next. These delegates will be appointed by Governor Stokes, and they will represent New Jersey's attitude on the question of the popular election of United States Senators.

The Des Moines conference is a political event of great importance. It may result in completely overriding the Senate of the United States, and in establishing a new method of choosing Senators in spite of that body. The constitution, article 5, provides that on the application of the Legislature of two-thirds of the several States, Congress shall call a convention for proposing amendments to that document, and these shall become valid when they shall be ratified "by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by Congress."

Thirty-two State Legislatures have at different times signified to Congress their desire that steps be taken to amend the constitution and provide for the popular election of Senators.

Pulls Her Leg, Off It Comes.

Camden, July 16.—While Policeman Stow was dragging unconscious Mary Kelly, twenty-five years old, of 416 Faighn avenue, from a patrol wagon outside the Homeopathic Hospital, yesterday afternoon, her right foot caught in the vehicle. The policeman gave a vigorous yank and almost sat down because of the suddenness of the release. He had jerked the woman's leg off between the knee and ankle. The leg was one she used to replace the natural member lost years ago. The reason the policeman was in such a hurry was that a little girl had informed him the women had taken laudanum. The doctors said there was no poison in her stomach, only whisky, so the woman was locked up.

Miss Martin, of Newark, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Garret Powers, of Jackson avenue.

Miss Ethel Bennett, of Brooklyn, is visiting at the home of H. S. Fowler, of Fairview avenue.

Manager Daab has certainly been traveling in hard luck, but "while there's life there's hope."

Nice time for the ice men to be looking around for a supply. Just like locking the stable door after the horse is gone.

George L. Record has been told to confine himself to facts. His rebukers are the members of Union County's Board of Taxation. The Jersey City candidate for office, in a speech at Elizabeth some few nights ago, attacked the Governor on the personnel of his appointments for the various county boards and this prompted the Union county members to tell the plain truth regarding Mr. Stokes' policy. Now will Mr. Record be good?
